

Penn State Collegian

ESTABLISHED
1901

VOL. 28, No. 34

STATE COLLEGE, PA., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1932

PRICE FIVE CENTS

COMPLETE CAMPUS
COVERAGE

BYRD TO NARRATE POLAR CONQUESTS TOMORROW NIGHT

Admiral Will Describe Antarctic Expedition in Auditorium At 8:15 O'clock

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION SPONSORS APPEARANCE

Motion Pictures Filmed During Flight Over South Pole Illustrate Lecture

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, the only man to reach both the North and South Poles by airplane, will describe his two-year expedition to the Antarctic in a lecture sponsored by the Christian association in Schwab auditorium at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow night. Tickets for this lecture may be secured tonight and tomorrow afternoon at the Christian association office and at Co-op Corner. The lecture will begin immediately following the basketball game in Recreation hall, which has been advanced to 7 o'clock.

Explored Antarctic Region
Admiral Byrd will illustrate his talk with motion pictures taken during the expedition to the South Pole. The films which will be shown here are different from those shown in the commercial picture, "With Byrd at the South Pole," with the exception of pictures of the flight to the South Pole, which is taken from this production.

The main purpose of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition was to explore and photograph for scientific purposes unexplored Antarctic regions. It is estimated that in the two years that were spent in Little America, 150,000 square miles were surveyed by aerial camera. The total distance flown by the explorers was about 7,100 miles.

Flew to Paris
Although the most important accomplishment of the expedition was the successful flight to the South Pole and back to the base at Little America, a number of oceanographic observations were made between the Ross Shelf Ice and New Zealand. In addition to the plane which was used to navigate over the South Pole a smaller plane was taken for exploration purposes.

Admiral Byrd recently announced that he would sponsor another expedition to the Antarctic in the near future with the hope of making more contributions to science. In addition to his South Pole flight, Admiral Byrd was the first man to reach the North Pole by airplane. He also backed a non-stop flight from New York to Paris and was successful in landing on the coast of France.

DANCE TO FOLLOW GAME TOMORROW

Student Union Will Sponsor Second Function of Series After Bucknell Tilt Here

Student Union will sponsor the second of a series of basketball dances to be held in Recreation hall following the game here with Bucknell tomorrow night.

Bill Bottorf's orchestra has been secured to furnish music for the affair, which will start at 9:30 o'clock, immediately following the lecture to be given by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd in Schwab auditorium. As at last week's affair, the only requirement for admission will be the athletic association card.

Owing to the success of the dance last Saturday the committee arranging the functions has decided to continue giving them next year on a more extensive program which will include dances following football games and other athletic events.

A third dance has been announced for February 20 when West Virginia will engage the Penn State basketball team. The orchestra to play at this affair has not been selected.

Who's Dancing

Tonight
Architects Club at Delta Sigma Phi (Invitation)
Varsity Ten
Tomorrow Night
Phi Kappa Psi (Closed)
Varsity Ten

Morse Traces Penn State's Attitude on Junior Colleges

Dr. Hetzel Discusses Topic at Session in Harrisburg

Following an address on the junior college movement by President Ralph D. Hetzel last Friday, executive secretary Adrian O. Morse traced the College's attitude on this matter over the past two years in an interview yesterday.

President Hetzel, in speaking before the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania in Harrisburg Friday, commented on the eastward trend of junior colleges and proposed the question for joint consideration by the association members. Following some discussion, forty of the college presidents voted as not favoring junior colleges.

"For the past few years, the College has been approached at various times by high schools in the State who desire to have Penn State establish a junior college in their school system," Mr. Morse said. "The matter was an entirely new one, so investigation was necessary."

"Research was carried on to determine the merits of junior colleges in general and the desirability of having such a project in the cities which had made requests. The results of this research were reported to officials last year."

Following this report, the Council on Public Relations of the College decided.

BOUCKE WILL GIVE LECTURE TUESDAY

Selects "Repairs" as Topic for First Speech of 1932 Liberal Arts Series

Opening the twenty-second annual Liberal Arts lecture series, Dr. Oswald F. Boucke, of the department of economics, will speak on "The Reparation Question" in the Little Theatre, Old Main, at 7 o'clock Tuesday night.

The lecture is the first in a series of six to be given principally by members of the Liberal Arts faculty on every second Tuesday night until April 19. In addition to members from the Liberal Arts School, Mr. Raymond H. Smith, College comptroller, and Dr. George W. Hartmann, of the Education school, are scheduled to speak.

Came Here in 1908
Treating on a subject which is confronting the world for solution at the present, Dr. Boucke will make a thorough presentation of the reparations problem. He has been associated with the department of economics and sociology at Penn State since 1908.

Varsity Debating Team Defeated by Juniata

Critic Judge Votes Against Strohl, Baldinger Wednesday Night

Composing a negative team, Milton I. Baldinger '33 and Karl H. Strohl '33 lost to the Juniata College debaters by a critic judge's decision in an oral style contest on capitalism at Huntington Wednesday night.

The Juniata pair, composed of Joseph MacCarroll and John H. Wenger, received the decision of the critic judge, Dr. J. Stanley Gray, professor of psychology at the Johnstown Center of the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. Gray is the originator of Oregon plan of debate, which was used in the contest.

DISCUSSES Penn State's Part in Junior College Trend

ADRIAN O. MORSE

I. F. C. POSTPONES CONFERENCE DATE

Mathews Sets February 26-27 As Time Better Suited for Meetings

Penn State's Interfraternity Conference, originally scheduled to be held next Friday and Saturday, has been moved back to February 26 and 27, Francis L. Mathews '32, president of the Council, announced Wednesday.

This action was taken, Mathews said, because many of the leading fraternity executives invited to attend found it inconvenient to come here next week. It is thought that the later date will meet with the approval of more of the outside delegates, the president of Council said.

Duerr May Attend
Paul W. Henderson '32 has been appointed general chairman in charge of arranging the program. Invitations are now being sent to the men who were unable to come next week and they are to be notified of the change in the date for the conference.

If original plans are carried into effect, the conference will begin Friday night with a dinner, probably at Nittany Lion Inn. Discussion groups will be held Saturday at fraternity luncheons and during the afternoon.

The two-day conference will close with an assembly for the entire group on Saturday night.

ALUMNI TO CONVENE JUNE 1

The alumni council will hold its annual meeting here on June 4, according to a decision made by the executive board of the alumni association Saturday morning in Old Main.

Interfraternity Council is making a special effort to obtain Alvan E. Duerr, chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference, to lead the discussions here. Thomas A. Clark, former Dean of Men at the University of Illinois, has also been invited to speak at the third Interfraternity Conference.

Interfraternity Council is making a special effort to obtain Alvan E. Duerr, chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference, to lead the discussions here. Thomas A. Clark, former Dean of Men at the University of Illinois, has also been invited to speak at the third Interfraternity Conference.

Interfraternity Council is making a special effort to obtain Alvan E. Duerr, chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference, to lead the discussions here. Thomas A. Clark, former Dean of Men at the University of Illinois, has also been invited to speak at the third Interfraternity Conference.

Glee Club Begins Concert Tour of State on Monday

To Enter Intercollegiate Contest in Philadelphia Thursday at Music Academy

Will Compete with 7 Pennsylvania Schools

Director Grant Selects 31 for Harrisburg, Elkins Park, Ardmore Recitals

With the annual intercollegiate contest at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia as a climax, the Penn State Glee club will open a four-day concert tour of the State Monday, appearing at Harrisburg in its first engagement.

Following the initial concert, the gleemen will sing at Elkins Park Tuesday night and at Ardmore the following night. The club will take part in the State intercollegiate contest Thursday, seeking to regain the title which was lost to Lafayette last year.

Seven other Pennsylvania colleges will compete in the Philadelphia concert, this number including Lafayette, Franklin and Marshall, Juniata, West Chester State Teachers' College, Moavian, Haverford and the University of Pennsylvania. The contest will be held under the auspices of the Philadelphia Forum. The right to represent the State in the national glee club contest at St. Louis, Mo., in March will be awarded the winner.

An invitation to accompany the club as guest soloist has been accepted by Miss Marie Kopp, 28 of Philadelphia, who will sing with the club in this capacity during her four years in College. It is considered one of the most promising young sopranos in Philadelphia, according to Director Richard W. Grant.

Four additional members of the club will be taken on the tour and will sing in the concerts at Harrisburg, Elkins Park and Ardmore. The illness of Richard C. Schlaack '32, first tenor, will prevent the appearance of the varsity quartet at these concerts, although solos will be offered by Robert H. McFalls '33 and William H. Stone '33, baritone.

List Gleemen Making Trip
First tenors who will make the trip are Thomas W. Averell '33, Robert E. Carey '32, John H. Good '32, Clayton R. Page '33, Hylan J. West '33, John H. Treder '34, Marvin L. Eshelman '35, William C. Harmon '35, and Robert H. Woolton '35. Second tenors include Charles M. Hanna '32, Charles A. Kline, jr., '32, Matthew C. McNeary, jr., '32, Walter E. Eshelman '33, Peter J. Fletcher '34, Curtis J. Patterson '34, Rudolph W. Treder '34, and Charles T. Pitts '35.

Edwin Longcope '32, Earl J. Brubaker '33, William H. Linde '33, Robert H. McFalls '33, William H. Stone '33, and Harry Weile, jr., '35 compose the baritone group while basses are Donald C. Fiew '32, John N. Garber '32, Roy F. Gesler '32, Herbert E. Appel '32, Robert G. Boyer '33, Carl M. Fiske '33, Herbert E. Longenecker '33, Wayne R. Varnum '31, Henry E. Warren '34, and J. Fred Getz '35.

LEWIS RATES GOOD RESEARCH LIBRARY HIGH IN HOLDING, SECURING VALUABLE INSTRUMENTS

College Librarian Believes Such Institution Has Curricular, Cultural Functions

"A good research library is one of the biggest temptations a college can offer to keep its good professors and to attract more of high grade to its staff," Willard P. Lewis, College librarian, believes.

With this thought in mind, Mr. Lewis, as the moulder of the Carnegie library policy, is placing as much emphasis on building up such a research library as he is on adding to the shelves books purely of cultural interest.

In explaining his policy, Mr. Lewis shows how two equal functions belong to a college library. The one has to do with supporting the curriculum and promoting research. It fills the gaps between the students' studies and provides the material for original work in extending the bounds of knowledge. The second function of a library is solely to provide works for general culture reading, in the

Warnock, Mathews Approve Fraternity Mentor System

Dean Would Carry Recent Proposal Further Exempting Graduate From Tuition

Should college fraternities have graduate mentors living in the chapter houses? Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock and Francis L. Mathews '32, who heads Interfraternity Council, answer a vigorous affirmative to the proposal considered at a recent district meeting of Kappa Sigma, national social fraternity.

Dean Warnock goes further than expressing mere approval, however. He urges that colleges offer such a person free tuition in return for the educational influence he would have on the undergraduate members of the chapter. The fraternity too would aid the College by contributing free room and board.

"It must be emphasized, of course," Dean Warnock pointed out, "that this man would in no sense be a policeman accountable to any administrative authorities for anything that occurred in the house. I would no sooner think of questioning such a man in regard to chapter developments than I would consider stopping any undergraduate fraternity man and delving into chapter secrets."

The man selected would have to be chosen by the fraternity and approved by the College under the proposed arrangement, the dean believes. He would not have to be a former undergraduate of the chapter or even a member of the fraternity, although if he were, it would not weaken the plan to any extent.

"Any approved graduate student would be eligible," Dean Warnock said. "In return for his free tuition, however, it would be wisest to require him to take a course, possibly prepared by the School of Education, in which problems confronting the College fraternity might be discussed at a weekly seminar."

Mathews' approval of the proposed plan was enthusiastic. He felt certain a mentor living in the chapter house would have a sobering influence on undergraduate escapades, which would justify the fraternity's expenditures for his room and board. He revealed part of the plan is being tried by at least one Penn State fraternity at present and has proved eminently satisfactory.

SUMMER SESSION HOUSES APPROVED

Dean Chambers Announces List of Fraternities Chosen for 1932 Students

Twenty fraternity houses have completed with the requirements and have received tentative approval as women's dormitories for the 1932 Summer Session, according to an announcement yesterday by Dean Will G. Chambers, Director of the Summer Session.

Varsity Hall and Prael Hall will be reserved for the use of the Institute of French Education, but all other dormitory facilities will be available as living accommodations for other women students.

25 TO SERVE ON INSTITUTE BOARD

Pinchot, Schwab, Senators Reed, Davis Included in Urban Problems Group

Governor Gifford Pinchot, Senators James J. Davis and David A. Reed, Smedley D. Butler, and Charles M. Schwab are a few of the twenty-five people to accept positions on the advisory board of the urban problems institute to be held here in June.

Former Governor John S. Fisher, Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish, and Mrs. Worthington Stanton member from Pennsylvania of the Republican National committee, also have written to Edward L. Keller, of the engineering extension department and secretary of the committee on organization, announcing their willingness to serve on the board.

State Officials Accept
Louis T. McFadden, member from Pennsylvania of the United States House of Representatives, and Henry P. Fletcher, member of the National Tariff Commission, are other officials in the government at Washington who will give aid to the institute, which was organized here recently to help solve municipal problems in the State.

Several heads of departments in the State government have also accepted positions on the board. Clyde L. King, secretary of the department of revenue, James N. Rule, superintendent of the department of public instruction, and Mrs. Alice T. Liveright, secretary of welfare, will serve on the advisory body.

Bankers To Assist
Mrs. Richard J. Hamilton, president of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, E. B. Dorsett, master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, and Stanley P. Ash, warden of the Western Penitentiary, will also assist the group which is to meet here this summer from many communities.

George W. Norris, of the Federal Reserve bank of Philadelphia, John W. Chalfant, of the Colonial Trust company of Pittsburgh, and Alva B. Johnson, of Philadelphia, are figures high in finance who have consented to assist the institute.

A. W. Robertson, of the Westinghouse Electric company, P. J. Poole, of the Carpenter Steel company, of Reading, F. R. Phillips, of the Philadelphia company of Pittsburgh, and Paul D. Wright, of the Reed Manufacturing company of Erie, have accepted positions on the board of advisors.

Vance C. McCormick, member of the College Board of Trustees, and J. B. Warner, former member, are to assist the institute.

TO SPEAK IN SUNDAY CHAPEL
Prof. John H. Fluzell, acting College chaplain and head of the department of public speaking, will be the speaker at the first chapel services of the second semester in Schwab auditorium, 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

REGISTRATION FOR SECOND SEMESTER PASSES 1931 MARK

Enrollment in Assigned Periods Surpasses Record Figure Reached Last Year

Mont Alto Expected to Make 1,100 Total

Tuesday, Wednesday Afternoons Attract Most Students, Hoffman States

With an increase of almost 100 over the corresponding period last year, the total of 1,121 at the end of the regular two-day period this year broke all previous records for second semester registration, Registrar William S. Hoffman announced yesterday.

By the corresponding time last year 4,021 students had registered during the regular period. This semester's figures increased 93 from the total for the two-day period last year. With the registration at Mont Alto still unaccounted for yesterday, Mr. Hoffman expects that 300 more will be registered before tomorrow. This would bring the total registration for the second semester to over 1,400.

Total Approaches 5,000
A total of 850 students registered Tuesday morning, and 1,078 registered during the Tuesday afternoon period Wednesday morning. Registrants numbered 1,021, while the Wednesday afternoon figures mounted to 1,191.

Compared with the total for the regular period during the first semester this year, the registration figures have fallen off 232. But this is due to the fact that students have dropped out of College, the Registrar pointed out. The year's total will be nearly 5,000, he said.

Errors in class cards this semester were few, according to Mr. Hoffman, and mistakes were found in only two inches of cards. The alphabetical system, in use for the second year, proved effective in preventing congestion and at no time were there lines in front of any desks, and the Registrar said. The same number of helpers were employed as has been used in previous years.

HETZEL TO LEAVE ON SOUTHERN TRIP

College President, Wife Will Depart Next Week by Motor for Month's Vacation

President Ralph D. Hetzel, accompanied by Mrs. Hetzel, will leave State College Monday or Tuesday for a vacation to be spent in the South. "It is expected that Dr. Hetzel will be away for at least a month," Arthur O. Morse, executive secretary, said.

He is planning to drive South by car and to stay, probably, in Florida. No definite date for his return has been set.

The informal at-home receptions each Wednesday afternoon and night for faculty and students will be discontinued until further notice, Mrs. Hetzel said.

Tomorrow's Events

Tomorrow Afternoon
Freshman Basketball
Dickinson Seminary
1 o'clock
Varsity Boxing
Western Maryland College
2:30 o'clock
Varsity Wrestling
Spawess University
4 o'clock
Tomorrow Night
Varsity Basketball
Bucknell University
7 o'clock
Byrd Lecture
Auditorium
8:15 o'clock
Student Union Dance
Recreation Hall
9:30 o'clock

WILLARD P. LEWIS