

Sidelines

Tomorrow is the most eventful day in Penn State's winter sports season so far as the number of teams engaged in competition at home is concerned. When the freshman cage quintet starts off the day by meeting Dickinson Seminary, Nittany men encounter Western Maryland in a pummeling session, Lion grapplers tangle with Syracuse, and the Blue and White court team clashes with Bucknell. It is the only time that the winter sports schedules provide for the appearance of all teams at home the same day.

Here's some news which should be good tidings to every Nittany sports follower. Merrill Morrison, who showed great promise as captain of State's 1930 freshman football team, has returned to school and will be out for a back position with the 1932 Blue and White eleven.

The new semester also has meant losses to Nittany athletics, however, for five athletes were lost through graduation last week. Johnny Givan, letter winner in soccer and boxing, Charley Blowers, who earned a basketball award, Wilby Hobbs, one of the baseball letter winners, Willis McCabe, included in the winners of tennis awards, and Hugo Bezdek, Jr., who won his "S" in golf, will no longer be eligible to represent Penn State as undergraduates.

Nate Cartmell's present trackmen will not be the only Penn State runners entered in the Millrose games at New York City tomorrow night, for Dick Detwiler '31, a local boy who made a name for himself on Nittany track and cross-country teams, will compete as a representative of the Meadowbrook A. C. of Philadelphia.

You just can't keep these statistics out of mischief even over a vacation period of only three days. Now they've figured out that in the first four games of the season, the Lion basketballers have run up a total of 118 points to their opponents' 114 for an average of 37 counters in each game to the enemies' 28. The Lions trail their opponents in foul shooting, however. They have sunk only 38 out of 65 free tosses for a 58.3 per cent, while our opponents record is 28 out of 48, which is a 58.3 average.

Not content with that, the mathematicians have deduced the following: The winners in the Lions' first three games won by scores ending in 7-11, 37, and 27 in order, while the losers in the last three games lost by scores ending in 7-13, 23, and 33. The straw that could break any camel's back is the fact that the winner and loser, respectively, in the odd games won and lost by scores ending in 1-11 and 21. Oh, well!

Boxers Meet Terrors, Matmen Clash With Syracuse Tomorrow

Mitmen Favored Over Western Maryland Here at 2:30

By ROBERT E. TSCHAN '32

With nothing in sight but continued fighting, clinched by a swing at the intercollegiate championships and the Olympic trials, Nittany boxers tie on the gloves for Western Maryland mitmen in Recreation hall at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The Green Terrors had a penchant for ties until their rout last Saturday when Army marched through them 6-to-1. In their opening meet Dartmouth and the Terrors finished even, and tomorrow the Lions ate after a score to offset last year's deadlock.

Stoop To Begin Bout

Captain Davey Stoop will lead off the Lion show when he pairs against either Murchison or Catania, for the Terrors, in the 115-pound division. Murchison suffered a technical knockout at Davey's gloves last year but Catania constitutes a threat if he gains the position. By the knock-out route he secured the lone point for Western Maryland against Army.

Johnny Napoleon is Coach Leo Houck's hope in the 125-pound class and should have little difficulty in tying up Myers, of Western Maryland, with his quick attack-and-escape technique. Johnny McAndrews will aim his cleverly-launched blows at either Tuckerman or Boyd, 135-pounders for the Green Terrors.

In the welterweight class, Al Edgworth for the Lions will have first rate competition in Borcheis who comes to the Nittany ring with a decision and a loss on his record this year. Al gained a decision from him last year after sending him to the boards twice in the bout.

Updegrave May Box 153

With the plot thickening in the upper divisions, Coach Houck is undecided on whom to start. For his 155-pound boxer he will probably use Pete Updegrave, who has distinguished himself as an all-around fighter in the ring. To offset Pete's versatility with both left and right, Gritsavage, the other bidder for the berth, has a sparkling decision in his Dartmouth debut. Western Maryland has Keyser to darken the hope of the selected Lion boxer.

Ed Polak seems to have a little edge over Jack Henry for gaining the 165-pound position, although, as in the 155-pound class, Leo has yet to decide Ed has had the experience and has rounded into a capable boxer with a menacing left. Jack, on the other hand, is clever and a fairly hard hitter who makes up for any other handicap by speed. Wallace or Hunter, both used ineffectively so far this season, will box for Western Maryland.

Tom Slusser will be seen in the light heavyweight class when he faces Kaplan, Western Maryland's find of the season. Both are inexperienced but will probably furnish a slugfest to delight the hearts of the more brutal spirited spectators.

Lafayette Cancels Lion Wrestling Tilt

Lafayette has cancelled its wrestling meet with the Lions, scheduled for February 19, at Easton, Arthur H. Masters, jr., '32, wrestling manager, announced yesterday.

Since the State Boxing commission has placed regulation on collegiate wrestling, Lafayette has refused to conduct its meets in the State Officials of the Maroon said that they canceled the meet because they did not want to impose too freely upon the kindness of the Phillipsburg, N. J., high school in whose gymnasium they are holding their other home meets.

TRACKMEN TO RUN IN MILLROSE MEET

Cartmell Names Baird, Van Keuren, Hughes, Dunaway as Nittany Medley Relay Team

Penn State will be represented by a team in the medley relay race at the twenty-fifth indoor meet of the Millrose athletic association at Madison Square Garden in New York City tomorrow night.

Coach Nate Cartmell announced Wednesday that the Lion team will be composed of Baird, Van Keuren, Hughes and Dunaway. Baird will start the race for the Blue and White team and will run the quarter mile. Van Keuren will receive the baton from Baird and will sprint 220 yards.

The third man on the team, Hughes, will run 660 yards, passing the baton to the anchor man, Dunaway, who will finish the relay with a half-mile run. This will be the first indoor meet of the season for the Nittany athletes.

In addition to the Millrose meet, Penn State will enter runners in a meet sponsored by the New York Athletic association February 17. Following this they will compete in the Meadowbrook games at Philadelphia February 20, and close indoor season with the I C 4-A championships at New York City, March 5.

Grapplers Place Hopes For Win in 3 Light Weight Bout

By R. D. HETZEL, Jr. '32

When Rosenberg scrambles off the mats after his bout in the 135-pound weight tomorrow afternoon, Charlie Spindel will know whether or not Lion wrestlers will be able to hurdle the Orange, first dangerous obstacle in the championship highway.

The first three bouts, if won by State wrestlers, would practically clinch the meet; won by grapplers from the Syracuse Hill would leave the decision to the 175 and heavy-weight classes. Turnbull, Lorenzo, and Reytitz are depended upon by Charlie for a mainstay of victories in the 145, 155, and 165-pound divisions.

The meet begins at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when Captain Maize wrestles Captain Forward of Syracuse in the 118-pound class. Maize was thrown by Forward last year in less than three minutes, but his supporters claim it was a quirk, a bad break, and that Maize can prove they're right tomorrow.

Ellstrom, sophomore battler who performed brilliantly against Chicago, will go after Bery, Reindeer 126-pounder. Rosenberg, with odds in his favor, will take on Red Anderson of Syracuse for honors in the 135-pound weight.

When Barry downed Stein of the Lions last year, he did not know that he would have to face Turnbull for a 1932 reckoning in the 145-pound class. Turnbull has his eye on a clean state of victories for the season, but Barry was captain of the team last year as a junior.

There'll be a battle when Lorenzo takes on Carpenter for the honors in the 165-pound weight because Carpenter defeated Mike in the intercollegiate last year. However, Lorenzo is on the hard-to-beat list this year. Crafty and shifty, Reytitz will be expected to outsmart Herb McKoon, 165-pounder and powerful oarsman from Syracuse.

A strong-shouldered junior, Jackson, and a determined senior, Prosen, will make their first appearance on the mats in the 175 and unlimited classes. The Orange brings no outstanding grapplers for these weights and the outcome is a gamble.

After taking a defeat from Lehigh, intercollegiate champions, in their first meet, Syracuse suddenly loomed dangerously when they smashed the Columbia mat team by a 31-to-3 score to hand the New Yorkers their first defeat in four meets. Syracuse, however, has never won a meet from the Lions since the series began in 1923. They came nearest to a victory last year when they registered a 19-to-11 score against the Nittany team.
