Lloyd Jordan, Colgate basketball and assistant football coach, has been offered the post of head coach in both football and basketball at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

Jack Mazess '31, Lion basketball player lost by graduation last year, captained the Hahnemann Medical College quintet in Philadelphia this season.

When Penn State's yearling courtmen engaged Dickinson seminary here last week, the two forwards scored jointly 32 of the freshmen's 45 points Saturday night.

Early forecasts should give Penn State an edge over Cornell, long-standing rival, whom the Lions meet next week.

In the indoor track meet at West Virginia University Saturday, Chamberlain of Michigan State broke his own record in the mile run.

Penn was in the same position last Saturday that Penn State had emerged unscathed the preceding Saturday.

Pete Updegrave, Penn State 155-pound matman, has something to look forward to in his prospective bouts with Jack Schrieker, Pitt boxer, and Joe Moran, who was defeated in the intercollegiate here last year.

Three of Bucknell's football stars will leave that institution this semester.

The fallacy of comparative scores is well shown in the results of games among four of Penn State's court opponents for this season.

Pitt continued to mould its worst court record in years, by falling before Army, 29-10-22, Saturday.

Harvard officials have just announced cancellation of their annual baseball training trip in the South.

Judging from comparative scores, Lion wrestlers should be little difficulty in overcoming Princeton in Saturday's meet.

LIONS WILL MEET CADETS TOMORROW

Lose First Home Encounter of Season to Colgate, 34-29, On Saturday Night

This story might well be labeled "Twenty Years Ago." For, twenty years ago, one "Dutch" Hermann captained a Lion quintet to a 30-to-16 victory the last time Penn State and Army met on the basketball court.

Whether or not the same "Dutch" Hermann can bring victory to the Lions as coach will be proved tomorrow afternoon when he leads the Lions into battle against the Cadets in the first game of the Nittany basketballers' mid-week forage into New York state.

Although the McFarlane-Thomas-Band-Conn-McMinn combination proved unable to stop Colgate from handing the Lions their first defeat on their home floor Saturday night by a 31-to-29 score, Heilmann is almost certain that this quintet will get first call at West Point tomorrow afternoon.

"Watch Ray Stecker" was the admonition Coach Lloyd Jordan of Colgate left with the Lions in the dressing room when he learned that they face Army tomorrow.

Like the Lions, Army has been downed twice this season, and one of these defeats was encountered at the hands of Penn, who also gave the Nittany five its first defeat.

Although Army has one of its best teams in years, Fordham's court five this year is not up to the usual Maroon standard.

The sad tale of Saturday's defeat is simply that the Lions chose an unfortunate night to be off on their shots. It is certain that if only half the shots that rolled off the rim had been tallied, that home record would still be unmarred.

Defeat Wyoming Passers, 38-37, For Second Victory—Hold Lead From Start

It was in ancient times that David slew Goliath, creating an upset Saturday night the freshman basketballers executed a Goliath-slaying act of their own by upsetting a veteran giant Wyoming Seminary team 38-to-37 for their second straight victory.

After Games' foul goal for the Seminary had opened the scoring, the freshmen took the lead and were ahead 6-to-3 at the end of the quarter.

Accurate shooting from the foul line gave the Lion cubs their one-point edge, for they were outscored 14-to-12 in field goals.

Turnbull, carrying a wrenched ankle into the bout, showed an improvement in his upright attack, where he has looked least competent of late.

Bob Byers met an inexperienced man for the second time in succession.

Mountaineer Wrestlers Throw Opponents in 125-Pound, Unlimited Bouts

By R. D. HETZEL, Jr.

Flays in the metal of the Lion wrestling structure appeared as it downed West Virginia at Morgantown Friday by a 20-to-10 score.

Friday's showing entrenched four of the Lion standbys more securely in the undefeated list.

In the Mountaineer town, Captain Maize took control of Sharpe in the 118-pound bout and had his own way pretty largely the whole time.

Reybitz Wins by Fall Bob Ellstrom took a fall from the skilled Captain Fletcher of West Virginia in the 126-pound class.

Trackmen Win Places In Mountaineer Meet

Although unable to win a first place in the indoor meet at West Virginia Saturday, Penn State's trackmen placed second in both the high jump and the 2-mile relay.

Alhe Morrison's Yearling Wrestlers Register 23-to-15 Triumph in Dual Meet Saturday

With seven out of the eight bouts ending in falls, Coach Alhe Morrison's freshman wrestlers scored an impressive 23-to-15 triumph over the junior varsity grapplers in a dual meet Saturday afternoon.

The 130-pound match between Mazer and Eisenman went the full ten minutes, with Mazer carrying the decision.

Seelye gave the junior varsity its first victory with a fall over DiRito, freshman 120-pounder, in 6 minutes and 29 seconds.

Captain Stoop, Updegrave Register Knockouts As Southerners Down Clare, Slusser

By ROBERT E. TESHAN '31

An avalanche of boxing power swept over North Carolina University and added southern experience to its mounting strength as the Lions shook the Tar from their Heels Saturday, 5-to-2.

Two North Carolina gladiators fell by technical knockouts and one Lion was victim to the referee's counting.

Captain Davey Stoop set the pace in the 115-pound division when he subjugated Glover, of North Carolina.

Lewis Sturdy, Speedy Marty Levinson, star sophomore 125-pound boxer for the Tar Heels, sent heavy body punches against Bas Clare and laid a barrage which sent the Lion featherweight down for the count after one minute and thirty-eight seconds of the third round.

Johnny McAndrews, with his consistent punching, made slaughter of Raymer, North Carolina 135-pounder.

Although he managed to land several well-directed blows, Hudson, Tar
