Lions Gain 6 Entries For Ring Tournament

Stoop, McAndrews, Lewis, Updegrove, Slusser, Napoleon or Minnich Selected by Association Delegates

Six Lion boxers will seek titles in the Eastern Intercollegiate tourney at Syracuse Friday and Saturday as a result of selections made at a meeting of representatives from member colleges in Philadelphia Sunday night.

Captain Stoop, McAndrews, Lewis, Updegrove, Slusser, and either Napoleon or Minnich will make a bid for individual crowns and the fifth title for Penn State since the organization of the league. Army with a complete team of seven entries leads the list, with Penn and Syracuse each having six, Western Maryland, five, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, two. Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, and J. Fred Winstead '32, boxing manager, were the Penn State representatives at the meeting.

Six welterweights named

Captain Davey Stoop will meet Nicholson, 115-pound Penn boxer in the preliminaries, as Howell, of Army, and Paulus, Syracuse boxer, compete in the other preliminary bracket. A choice between Napoleon or Minnich is provided Coach Leo Houck in naming a 125-pound candidate to meet Cleveland, strong Army entry. Westheimer will defend his title for Syracuse against Davis, of Penn, in the other semi-final bout.

Johnny McAndrews starts out against Mason, Pennsylvania 135-pounder, as Tuckerman, Western Maryland, faces either Hagan or Coft for the Army, to determine the finalists.

Six welterweights were selected with Lewis, present title-holder, and Ross, of Syracuse, gaining byes for the first fights. Borchers, Western Maryland 145-pounder and Carey, M. I. T. boxer, will meet to determine who will oppose Ross in the semi-finals as Harrell, of Army, and Lord, of Penn, compete for the post against Lewis.

Updegrove To Meet Moran

Pete Updegrove starts right out against Moran, Syracuse glove specialist, in the 155-pound bouts. Clark, strong Army boxer, is paired with Hunter, of Western Maryland, for the selection of the other finalist.

With six men entered in the 165-pound class, Slusser and Cooper, of

ORATORS TO MEET WASHINGTON TEAM

Herpel '32, Myers '31 Will Face St. Louis, Mo., Debaters Saturday Night

With the Penn State team attacking the idea of centralized control of industry, Coleman Herpel '32 and Charles A. Myers '31 have been selected to engage debaters from Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., in a contest here Saturday night.

In the split-team Oregon plan debate with Seton Hill College here Saturday night, Kathryn Bream, of Seton Hill, and Myers from Mary Schmidt, of Seton Hill, and Scott Keyes '38 by an audience vote. Prof. John H. Frizzell, of the public speaking division, was chairman of the debate.

The winning team supported the negative in the question of centralized control of industry. With the Seton Hill women presenting the case for each side in the opening speeches, the Penn State debaters conducted the cross-examinations and summaries.

Lincoln University orators will furnish the opposition in a debate at Philadelphia on March 21. Western Reserve University, Cleveland, O., will be the opponent here on April 4, and a debate with the University of Pittsburgh is planned for the second week in April here.

HALLER '32 NAMED HEAD OF CO-ED FRATERNITY LEADERS

M Lydia Haller '32 was elected president, and Gladys A. Kaufman '32, secretary, of the women's fraternity presidents' council at the first meeting of the organization Friday afternoon.

The council was formed for the purpose of bringing about a better spirit of cooperation among the women's fraternities, and will consider and discuss problems arising in fraternities.

PRIESTLEY SERIES TO BEGIN APRIL 13

Dr. Victor K. LaMer, Columbia Professor, Will Deliver Annual Lectures

Dates for the sixth annual series of Priestley lectures have been set for April 13 to 19, according to Clifford O. Jensen, president of Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemical fraternity, which is joining with the department of chemistry in sponsoring the talks this year.

Dealing with the interconnections between physical chemistry and biological sciences, this year's lectures will be given by Dr. Victor K. LaMer, associate professor of chemistry at Columbia University. Dr. LaMer has contributed to the present knowledge of vitamins by his study of vitamin C through physical chemistry methods. Begun in 1926

The physical chemistry of solutions will be the general theme of Dr. LaMer's talks. Included in the subjects of the five lectures scheduled are the electrical origin of forces disturbing chemical processes, the ionic attraction theory of electrolytes; and an extension of the Debye-Huckel theory.

Chemical kinetics in ionic systems and acidity in non-aqueous solvents complete the list of subjects announced. The department of agricultural and biological chemistry of the School of Agriculture will cooperate with the sponsors in presenting the talks.

The Priestley lectures were begun in 1926 by the department of chemistry as a memorial to Joseph Priestley in recognition of his contributions to early American chemistry. This year Phi Lambda Upsilon has undertaken to lend financial support to the project.

LOAN FUND WILL RECEIVE AUCTION SALE PROCEEDS

Committee To Dispose of Lost, Found Articles, Texts Tomorrow

Unclaimed lost articles turned in to the campus police department during the past several years will be auctioned off in the Little Theatre, Old Main, at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Andrew Zarger, chief of the campus police, has planned to give the proceeds to the student loan fund. Dean Arthur R. Warnock, the student loan fund committee, and Student Union have sanctioned the project. William S. Stemple '34 will act as chairman of the committee chosen to supervise the auction.

All articles may be claimed in the Grounds and Buildings office in Old Main before 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. After that time no claims will be honored.

MEMBER OF TRUSTEE BOARD TO GIVE TALK HERE FRIDAY

Edward S. Bayard, editor of the Pennsylvania Farmer and a member of the College Board of Trustees, will address students and faculty members on "After School," in Room 100 Horticulture building, at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Mr. Bayard became editor of the National Stockman and Farmer in 1895. When that paper was merged with the Pennsylvania and Ohio Farmer a few years ago, he continued as editor-in-chief of the Copper-Harmon-Slocum, Inc., farm papers.

GREEN PLANS NATURE CAMP

Two sessions for the Penn State Nature camp have been planned by Prof. George R. Green, head of the nature education department. The first camp opens June 29 and the second on July 19. Each session will last for three weeks.

M'CASKEY TO END DUTIES AS R.O.T.C. COMMANDER HERE

Head of Military Department Will Terminate 4-Year Detail in June

ANNOUNCEMENT FOLLOWS WAR DEPARTMENT ORDER

Colonel May Work With Active Troops—Captain Sharp Transferred

Colonel Walter B. McCaskey will end his duties here as R. O. T. C. commandant at the close of the present semester according to War Department orders released yesterday.

The Colonel's four-year detail will expire in June, and he probably will be transferred to active duty with regular troops. No successor to his post has been named.

Receiving his bachelor's degree in electrical engineering here in 1896, Colonel McCaskey entered the employ of a railroad company. Soon after, he launched out on his military career which has taken him to many parts of the world and numerous posts in the United States.

Came Here in 1928

In 1898 he enlisted as a second lieutenant in the Twenty-first Infantry. Thereafter he was advanced rapidly until he reached the rank of colonel, which position he held during the World War.

Honorably discharged after the war, he re-enlisted and was again advanced to the rank of colonel. From September, 1923, until he was transferred to Penn State in 1928, he was the commandant of Fort Douglas, Utah.

Sharp To Leave

Recently, the Colonel has been doing active research work on the question of military training curricula and was on the committee that drew up a report on the status of compulsory basic military courses.

A second member of the military science department, Captain Robert O. Sharp, will also complete his detail here in June, but he has not received any further orders concerning the location of his new post or successor.

LEHIGH PROFESSOR TO LECTURE HERE

Metallurgists To Hear Stoughton in Talk on 'Heat Treatment' at 7:30 O'clock Tomorrow

Prof. Bradley F. Stoughton, head of the metallurgical department of Lehigh University, will deliver a lecture on "Heat Treatment, Past and Present," in Room 119, Mineral Industries building, at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

After graduating from the Sheffield Scientific school in 1893, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1896, he taught at the latter school, Columbia, and Lehigh.

Besides holding important metallurgical positions with various companies throughout the country, he has served on special committees of the National Council of Defense, and the National Research Council.

He is the author of several text books, including "Metallurgy of Iron and Steel," and was awarded the Grasselli medal of the Society of Chemical Industry in 1929. His lecture here will follow an informal dinner given in his honor by the Penn State Metallurgy society.

DEAN SACKETT WILL SPEAK AT CORNELL ON ATHLETICS

Speaking on "The Penn State View of Athletics," Dean Robert L. Sackett of the Engineering school, will address a meeting held annually at Cornell University for the discussion of athletics, Friday, March 25.

Dean Sackett will also address Cornell undergraduates in the mechanical engineering curriculum on "Art in Engineering" the same afternoon.

TO DELIVER MINING LECTURE

"Silver, Seapogout or Panacea?" will be the title of an open lecture to be delivered by Dr. Henry Mac Payne, consulting engineer of the American Mining Congress of Washington, D. C., in Room 315, Mineral Industries building, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

WILL COMPLETE 4-Year Detail Here in June

COL. WALTER B. McCASKEY

ALUMNI TO ELECT COUNCIL MEMBERS

Will Vote on 151 Representatives For Ruling Group—April 1 Set as Date of Poll

Fifteen thousand ballots will be mailed to alumni of the College in the election of new representatives to the Alumni Council April 1.

Each district is entitled to one Council member for the first fifty alumni in its territory and an additional member for each hundred alumni thereafter. Nominations were made through the district presidents, who were authorized to submit the names of all persons endorsed by at least ten alumni from their district.

The alumni Council is made up of 151 members whose terms expire each year. The executive board is elected each year from the Council membership. This election will be held when the Council meets here in May.

15 Alumnae Districts

There are forty-five alumni districts in Pennsylvania and twenty-four sections outside the State. The Allegheny and Philadelphia-Delaware districts are the largest in Pennsylvania, with respective memberships of 1,180 and 1,033.

Alumnae are organized in fifteen separate districts, ten within the State and five outside Pennsylvania. The Philadelphia and Pittsburgh sections lead in number of members with 212 and 210 respectively.

REDMAN WILL ADDRESS MEETING OF CHEMISTS

Society Head to Discuss 'Research' in Talk Here Tomorrow Night

Dr. Leonard V. Redman will address the forty-second meeting of the Central Pennsylvania section of the American Chemical society in the Chemistry amphitheatre at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

Besides being president of the American Chemical society, Dr. Redman is vice-president and research director of the Bakelite corporation. He will speak on some phase of the economics of research.

After graduating from Toronto University in 1908, Dr. Redman later took a research fellowship at Kansas University, working on synthetic resins. This work led him into the field of plastics, and eventually to his association with Dr. L. H. Bakeland and in the formation of the Bakelite corporation.

LIBRARY TO SEND OUT NEW PUBLICATION ON BOOKS HERE

"The Highlight on Books at Penn State," a new library publication, will be sent out to faculty members, fraternity houses, and students who have placed their names on a special mailing list, within the next week, Willard P. Lewis, College librarian, has announced.

Containing news and brief reviews of recent books, clippings of interest, announcements of feature exhibits, and notices of library regulation changes, the publication will again be issued this year in May.

HONORARY TO HOLD SMOKER

Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalism fraternity, will hold a smoker for junior publications men at the Theta Chi house at 8 o'clock tonight.

PETITIONS ASKING DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME CIRCULATED

College Administration, Borough Officials Will Consider System Here

FACULTY GROUP STUDIES PROPOSED ARRANGEMENT

Citizen Opinion Favoring Change Quoted in Weekly Paper Campaign Here

Petitions gathering the signatures of students, faculty members, and townspeople who are in favor of daylight saving time are being circulated on the campus and in town this week.

These petitions will be presented to the College administration and to the Borough Council with the request that daylight saving time for the College and the town be considered by the governing bodies.

College Considers Plan

The proposition was presented nearly six weeks ago in the council of administration of the College, Adrian O. Morse, executive secretary, said. At that time a committee was appointed with the purpose of adding one hour to the afternoon recreation time during the fall.

Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock, chairman of the committee, said that the committee was considering daylight saving time as a possible solution to the problem. Dr. Charles W. Stoddard, member of the council, pointed out that no action had been taken because there appeared to be no opinion as yet crystallized in favor of the time change.

'Times' Backs Change

The State College Times, weekly newspaper published in the borough, quoted opinion among citizens of town being distinctly in favor of the daylight saving time.

"Daylight saving time for State College, beginning at the end of April, is a project a town as progressive as State College should adopt this year as one well-fitted to the living conditions of this community," a front page editorial in the Times urged.

CO-EDS WILL HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

Organizations Sponsor Gathering in Auditorium To Consider Spring Elections

A compulsory mass meeting for women, sponsored by the W. S. G. A., Y. W. C. A., and W. A. A., to discuss coming spring elections, will be held in the Auditorium at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Louise Darrington '32, senior W. S. G. A. senator, will speak on the problems of elections, urging all students to vote according to the merits of the candidates for office, and to disregard fraternity affiliations.

Representing class organizations, M. Lydia Haller '32, senior women's president, and representatives of the Y. W. C. A. and W. A. A., will address the women students.

Assigned seats are posted on the McAllister hall bulletin board, and the attendance will be taken by class secretaries. Failure to attend will result in the removal of one social privilege.

HOME ECONOMICS SENIORS TO MAKE INSPECTION TOUR

Eleven senior women majoring in institutional administration, in the department of home economics, will leave tomorrow for a week's inspection tour of wholesale and retail food establishments in the vicinity of Philadelphia.

Under the supervision of Miss Phyllis K. Sprague, associate professor of home economics, the group will inspect tea-rooms, cafeterias, eating factories, furniture mills, hotels, and hospitals.

KELLER TALKS AT SCRANTON

Prof. J. Orvis Keller, head of the department of engineering extension, addressed engineering extension students on "The Psychology of Handling Men," at Scranton yesterday. Speaking on the same subject, Professor Keller will address Wilkes-Barre extension students today.

FIRESIDE SESSION LEADERS CHOSEN

Maxwell '33 Announces Faculty Members To Direct Series Of Annual Meetings

Forty-two faculty members and six religious leaders will act as discussion leaders in the annual series of Fireside Sessions, sponsored by the Penn State Christian association, according to Robert M. Maxwell '33, chairman of the committee in charge.

Forty-eight meetings have been scheduled to date in the series which opened Wednesday and will continue for four weeks.

Faculty Listed

The faculty members include Dr. Harold F. Alderfer, Prof. Clarence S. Anderson, Director Hugo Bezdek, Prof. William A. Broyles and William E. Butt, Mr. Andrew W. Case, Prof. Carroll D. Champlin and William R. Chedsey, Dr. Elwood C. Day, Prof. Harold E. Dickson, Ray H. Dotterer, and Earl V. Dye, Mr. Robert E. Galbraith, and Prof. Richard W. Grant.

The list continues with Prof. William F. Hall, Mr. Edward K. Hibshman, Mr. William S. Hoffman, Capt. Winthrop A. Hollyer, Prof. Julius E. Kaulfuss, J. Orvis Keller, Herman C. Knandel, and Fred F. Lanning, Mr. Herbert Koopp-Baker, Dr. Carl E. Marquardt, Prof. George F. Mitch, Dr. Bruce V. Moore, and Prof. Russell B. Nesbitt and Harry G. Parkinson.

BLUE BAND NAMES 12 NEW MEMBERS

Executive Board Elects Sophomores To Organization—2 Open Air Programs Arranged

Twelve new members were elected to the Blue Band at a meeting of the executive board of the organization Thursday night.

Those named to the clarinet section of the band were Samuel J. Carshar '34, Robert N. Confer '31, James F. Covey '34, Robert W. Frazier '31, Edward R. Hoffman '34, Ralph H. Levine '34, and David K. Shoemaker '31. Gordon E. Snyder '34 was the only new member added to the tenor saxophone section.

Donning the Blue Band uniform for the first time are William R. Skillen '34 in the baritone section, Fred L. Alexander '34 in the bass division, and John R. Burkholder '31 in the trombone section. The only new alto saxophone player added was Warren M. Wilson '34.

Under the direction of Bandmaster Wilfred O. Thompson, the band is preparing to present two concerts on the terrace in front of Old Main this spring.

OPENINGS STILL AVAILABLE IN MEN'S DIETETICS COURSE

Several openings are still available in the student diet course which started last Monday, according to Dr. Joseph P. Ritenour, College physician. Men students who are interested should register at the dispensary, in the basement of Old Main, immediately.

Conducted under the supervision of the College health service, the course is intended to provide proper food for those who complain of an underweight condition. Approximately 30 students took advantage of the class last year.

BORLAND, FITTS TO ADDRESS CHESTER COUNTY DAIRYMEN

Prof. Andrew A. Borland, head of the dairy husbandry department, and Prof. Edward B. Fitts of the dairy extension department, will speak to Chester County dairymen Saturday.

Prof. Borland's subject will be "Experiences with a College Dairy Herd," while Professor Fitts will discuss "Methods of Cutting Down the Cost of Milk Production."

TO MAKE TOUR NEXT WEEK

Voting unanimously to continue the custom of making an annual inspection of anthracite coal mines in the State, at an unofficial election held Thursday, students in the School of Mineral Industries, under the direction of J. L. Weysser, mining instructor, now plan to make the trip sometime next week.
