

Sidelines

For the second successive week-end, Penn State will play host to thousands of visitors today and tomorrow. News of the spectacle of a national collegiate boxing meet has aroused great interest in the Olympic tryouts throughout the State, and many non-collegiate spectators will be in the crowds at Recreation hall.

Al Lewis and Haylor Osborne, of W. and J., opponents tomorrow afternoon, will be renewing an old friendship when they face each other across the ring. Both are from Washington.

A pleasant echo of the P. I. A. A. inter-collegiate basketball playoff here last week-end is found in the tribute an up-state sports editor pays to Recreation hall. He says it "outlives anything ever seen by the writer in the way of a basketball or indoor sports court." Heaping laurels on the freshman band, he writes "but the real music of the night came from an exceptionally fine musical organization—the Penn State Fresh Band."

The Syracuse "Daily Orange" tries to convince doubting readers that Morton Downey, the famous singer, and hard-titting Joe Moran, who will be one of the Hill representatives here this week-end, had a fistie encounter on the occasion of Downey's recent visit to Syracuse. The paper doesn't say who won, but from the tenor of things, we'll bet on Joe.

It seems early to talk of football, but, possibly inspired by the spring grid drills at Pitt, Carnegie Tech, and Duquesne, Chester Smith, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Press, sees the changing of the name of the Eastern Association for the Selection of Football Officials to the Eastern Intercollegiate Association as forerunner of an eastern football conference. Penn State and Pitt are both members of the association.

While on the subject of football, Pitt has announced that seats at the annual Pitt-State game next year will be reduced to $2.00. This is in line with the reduction in the prices of seats for all games at the Stadium.

The Steve Hans-Tommy Loughran return fight has been definitely set for May 11 at the Philadelphia convention hall.

Lion Batsmen Await St. Francis Contest

Line-up Undecided for Season's Opener Tomorrow

Still in doubt as to his starting line-up against St. Francis College here tomorrow afternoon, Coach Joe Bendenk will send the Nittany Lion baseball crew through its final workout on Beaver Field diamond tonight, re-selecting his final decision until after tonight's practice.

An injured hand that will keep "Pepper" Marsh, sophomore first baseman, out of action, is the cause of the uncertainty in the starting batting order. Marsh, who was slated to start at first base, received the injury when he stopped a line drive in a practice game early this week.

Swan Will Catch
With Marsh out of action, Phil Moonves, pitcher-outfielder, may get an opportunity to display further versatility by filling the vacant position. Paul Krumm, whose hitting has been one of the features of this week's practices, is another possibility for first base.

Wally Walus, Bill Lohr, and Regie Smith are certain to complete the infield combination with Walus at second, Lohr at shortstop, and Smith playing third base. Paul Swan, veteran catcher, is another certainty in the opening lineup. The hurling selection will be decided tonight.

Weather Delays Practice
Captain Hoopes and Kasesak, sophomore recruit, will hold down two of the outfield positions with Moonves slated for center field in the event that he is not shifted to first base. Lockard, a pitcher on the 1929 team, has returned to college and is a leading candidate for an outfield berth. Either he or Shorty Edwards will do duty in the center garden in place of Moonves.

After two valuable workouts early in the week, the Lion tilters ran up against the weather jinx Wednesday and were held to a brief practice session by the cold weather. The Nittany team will take the field tomorrow with only a week of outside practice, having engaged in their first drill

FRATERNITY ISSUES THIRD 'BEAVER FIELD PICTORIAL'

The third issue of The Beaver Field Pictorial, published under the auspices of Alpha Beta Sigma, professional journalism fraternity, in the interests of the Athletic Association, will be on sale at the Recreation hall today and tomorrow.

Included in this issue are pictures and short descriptions of former Olympic champions who are Penn State graduates. They include Schuyler C. Enck and Al Helfrich, 1924 champions, and Al Bates and Blondy Romig, headliners in 1928. A feature story on Albe Morrison, present freshman wrestling coach, who won the 125-pound Olympic wrestling title in 1928 is included.

On Beaver Field diamond a week ago. Despite the fact that it will conflict with the time of the boxing semifinals, the contest will be staged in the afternoon, starting at 2:15, in order to take advantage of the best weather conditions.

Here you have the real combination—fasty food, clean environment, and your friends.

I. M. SPRING SPORT MANAGERS NAMED

Hoch, Schwenk, Sickels, Wickey, Ramsey To Take Charge Of Tournaments

Five managers for spring intramural sports were announced by George H. Young '32, who has charge of the spring program, yesterday.

Albert S. Hoch '33 will have charge of intramural baseball, which will begin during the last week in April. The track and relay meet, which will be held early in May, will be managed by James H. Ramsey '33.

Intramural golf will be directed by William H. Sickels '33 and the tournament will probably open April 18. Harold B. Wickey '33 has been named manager of tennis, which begins about May 1.

Managers To Meet

Charles P. Schwenk '32 will manage the horseshoe tournament, which will begin around April 11. Intramural lacrosse and soccer will be directed by the varsity coaches of these sports.

"Because of the length of the golf and tennis tournaments," Young stated, "it will be impossible to allow postponed matches." Varsity lettermen and numeral men from here or any other institution will not be permitted to participate in any of the intramural sports, he said.

Managers meetings for fraternity and group teams will be held next week. The entry fee for each team is $1.00, with the exception of horseshoe teams, which will be assessed fifty cents each.

Moser Elected 1933 Court Team Captain

Walt Moser, veteran forward, was elected captain of the 1933 Lion basketball team at a meeting of lettermen Wednesday. The new captain held down a varsity berth last year and this year, until a leg injury forced him out of active service.

Varsity letters were awarded to Captain Fred Brand, Bub Davis, Jack Meyers, Charlie Hammond, Ed McMinn, Doc Conn, Walt Moser, Norry McFarlane, Dave Thomas, and Robert C. Hileman, manager. Five of the nine letter winners will be back for service on next year's quintet.

District representatives from the eight districts of the National Collegiate Athletic Association will meet in an informal conference tomorrow morning. They are Prof. Frank L. Kleiberger of the University of California, Dr. Harry A. Scott of the Rice Institute, Prof. T. M. Metcalf of Iowa State College, Harold S. Wood of Ohio State University, William H. Cowell of the University of New Hampshire, James G. Driver of the University of Virginia, Harry W. Hughes of the Colorado Agricultural College, and Dr. Francis Grant of the University of Pennsylvania.

State officials attending the meets include Major L. G. Adams, police superintendent, and Major C. M. Wilhelm, deputy superintendent.

W. Va. 135-Pounder

BILL NEELY

Promising West Virginia 135-pounder, Bill Neely, will meet Clifton Dill this afternoon in the preliminary rounds of the National Boxing Tournament. With eight victories to his credit, Neely defeated his freshman opponent in a dual meet this season although he fell before Johnny McAndrews, Lion captain-elect and outstanding boxer for next year. Neely also lost in the semi-finals of the Eastern Intercollegiate conference tournament to Moore of Duquesne.

floor. The count of ten is observed before the bout is stopped.

In all competitions the decision is to be made in favor of the competitor who shows the best style and obtains the greatest number of points which are given on the basis of attack and defense. Attack points are awarded for direct clean hits with the knuckle part of the glove of either hand to any part of the front or sides of the head or body above the belt.

Points for defense go for guarding, slipping, ducking, counter-hitting, or getting away. Where points are otherwise equal, consideration is given the man who does the most leading.

The referee may disqualify a boxer who is fighting unfairly by kicking, gouging, hitting with the open glove, with the inside or butt of the hand, the wrist or elbow, hitting or catching hold below the waist, or hitting when down. Additional causes for ending a bout are striking an opponent on the back of the neck or the spine or over the kidneys, holding with one hand and striking, butting with the head or shoulders, hitting in clinches, wrestling or roughing at the ropes, using offensive language, or not obeying the orders of the referee.

In the event of any question arising not provided for in the rules, the referee has full power to decide such questions as well as interpret the rules.
