I. F. LEADERS DISCUSS RUSHING REGULATIONS

Counselors Committee Suggests New 2-Point Plan--Warnock Says Present Code Not Adapted to Times

Fully realizing that there is no such thing as a perfect rushing code, and that their major problem is that of smoothing out imperfections in the present code, fraternity leaders of the College are devoting themselves to serious deliberation of rushing regulations this week.

Leading the way in the preliminary considerations of possible changes in the code comes a two-point plan to be submitted to the Fraternity Counselors' association at its meeting Tuesday, October 18.

The plan, worked out in an association committee meeting yesterday noon, provides for:

A week of organized rushing during Freshman Week as under the present system, with each house to be limited to two dates with a rushee. Dates would be of longer duration in this period, suggested changes in the Freshman Week program permitting the fraternities more time for both luncheon and dinner dates.

Unlimited Dates Allowed

A second week of unregulated rushing during which period the fraternity may have an unlimited number of dates with the rushee and may offer informal but definite bids, the rushee making known his acceptance by appearing at the house of his choice at the end of the week. Formal bids would be distributed on Saturday, similar to the system used this year.

In announcing the plan, Dr. Marsh W. White of the school of Chemistry and Physics, chairman of the committee, pointed out that major violations of the present code occur during the second week of rushing because the fraternities have become better acquainted with freshmen and conduct a more intensive program.

The week of unlimited rushing is expected to give the rushee an opportunity to spend more time at the houses he is definitely considering, while the provision permitting offering of bids during this period will permit him to investigate such houses.

as extend him bids more carefully than he can under the present system, the committee believes.

Absolute elimination of the rushing code with a resulting return to "leaping," stricter enforcement by means of a more specific code, and deferred rushing, represent the principal solutions offered by Interfraternity council at its meeting Wednesday night.

Suggests Alternatives

Dean Warnock summed up his attitude on the problem Wednesday when he declared that fraternities should try to get a rushing code in which they all believe and which they will all support. Failing this, he continued, it probably would be better to have no restrictions at all except those necessary to comply with the College schedule of classes.

The principal difficulties of this year's rushing season, the Dean of Men believes, lie in the fact that the present code isn't adapted to times such as at the present when every fraternity wants from twelve to twenty freshmen. Fraternities issued more bids and consequently were forced to look over a much larger group of freshmen, he pointed out. The short period in which the houses were permitted to rush freshmen made it impossible to conduct an effective campaign during the legal dates and violations of the code naturally followed, he said.

I. F. C. ENDORSES DANCE DATE PLAN

Rules Underclassmen Must Have Invitations To Attend Open Fraternity Functions

Endorsement of the regulation of fraternity dance dates, passing of a ruling that underclassmen attending fraternity dances must have written invitations signed by both president and social chairman of the house, and a general discussion of the rushing code were the features of the meeting of Interfraternity council Wednesday night.

The council went on record as favoring the use of Student Union to insure a better distribution of fraternity dance dates through the College year. Houses will be requested to consult Student Union before arranging dances, and Student Union will seek to prevent uneven distribution of dances on week-ends.

Will Impose Fine

In order to eliminate crowded conditions which caused many houses to hold strictly closed dances last year, the council ruled that underclassmen must present written invitations signed by both president and social chairman of the fraternity holding the dance. A fine of five dollars will be imposed on underclassmen violating this rule, with members of the council taking the responsibility for underclassmen in their house.

A general discussion of the rushing code and suggestions for its change followed a report by Harris Ebenbach '33, chairman of the council committee on rushing. Taking the general attitude that the code should be revised, proposals entailing total abolishment of the code, deferred rushing and mailing of bid cards to freshmen were suggested by members of the council.

Action on reported violations of the code for this year will be taken by the Interfraternity council board of control at a meeting on Monday night. Any new complaints of code violations should be turned in to Prof. Sheldon C. Tanner, faculty member of the board of control, before that time.

PLAYERS TO GIVE SHOW TOMORROW

Will Reenact 'The Nut Farm' as Dads' Day Performance in Auditorium

Opening their 1932-33 season, the Penn State Players will present "The Nut Farm," a three-act comedy, in Schwab auditorium at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night as part of the program for Dads' Day.

Paul K. Hirsch '35 as Willie Barton will take the leading male role while Phyllis G. Beidler '33 is cast in the feminine lead as Helen Bent. Margaret E. Barnard '34 will take the part of Mrs. Barton and Robert Smith '34 will portray the role of Bob Bent. Complete Cast Named Roger H. Hetzel '35 will appear in the character of Ezra Sliscomb with Juanita Sorzano '35 taking the part of "Agatha Sliscomb," his daughter. John B. Bott '35 as Hamilton Holland, Wayne R. Varnum '34 as Clarence Biddeford, Berwyn L. Miller '35 as Harold Van Horden, all moving picture experts, and Pae E. Christine '34 as the maid, complete the cast.

"The Nut Farm," a farce concerning movie-struck young people who are duped into financing a moving picture starring themselves, was presented at the Commencement week play last June. Hirsch as Willie Barton, who aspires to direct moving pictures, eventually saves the picture and wins himself a contract.

The play is being produced under the direction of Peter G. Meek '32 and Shirley Thorpe '33, who acted as co-directors of the June production.

BLUE BAND NAMES 21 NEW MEMBERS

12 Juniors, 9 Sophomores Comprise Student Selections Made By Committee

Twenty-one new members were elected to the Blue Band Tuesday night by the student executive committee of the organization headed by Paul A. Filer '33.

New members in the B-flat clarinet section include Hugh L. Bowman '34, Theodore M. Fairchild '34, and James M. Sheen '34, while Thomas H. Klingner '34 will play the only E-flat clarinet. Louis B. Kirkland '35 was the only new member added to the piccolo section, with Daniel Nesbit '35 selected to play the oboe.

Andrew Kascsak '34, George H. Cummings '35, and Chris D. Schwitz '35 were new players named in the saxophone group, with Forrest A. Williams '34 selected as baritoneist. William O. Small '34 and Edward D. Townsend '35 were added to the trumpet section.

Donning the blue uniforms for the first time in the trombone section are John R. Burkholder '34, Ralph L. Gibson '34, Burton E. Hall '34, and Edgar S. Diehl '35. G. Victor Gustafson '34, Hector J. Serralles '34, and Marvin L. Eshelman '35 will be new horn players, with Philip O. Grant '35 and Frederick Henrich '35, drummers, concluding the list.

BORLAND TO JUDGE CATTLE

Prof. Andrew A. Borland, head of the dairy husbandry department of the College, has been selected to serve as a judge of dairy cattle this week at the York County Fair. Prof. J. Stanley Cobb, of the agronomy department, is to judge farm crops at the Lyncoming County Fair in Hughesville.

WATTS APPOINTED STUDENT WELFARE COMMITTEE HEAD

Dye, Sackett Renamed Chairmen Of Academic Standards, Athletics Groups

COLLEGE SENATE UNITS APPROVED BY HETZEL

Stoddart, Hoffman, Kaulfuss, Whitmore Also Listed For Positions

With Dean Ralph L. Watts, of the School of Agriculture, named as the new chairman of the College committee on student welfare, standing Senate committees for the year were approved last week. Dean Robert L. Sackett, of the Engineering school, was reappointed chairman of the committee on athletics, while Dr. William S. Dye jr., of the English literature department, was named head of the academic standards committee.

Nominations to the faculty groups were made by the Senate committee on committees, headed by Prof. Harry G. Parkinson, of the agricultural education department. The appointments have been approved by President Ralph D. Hetzel.

Committees Named

Other members of the student welfare committee include Dean of Women Charlotte E. Ray, Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock, Dr. Joseph P. Ritenour, and Prof. James H. Olewine. Director Hugo Bedenk, Dr. R. Adams Dutcher, and Dean Warnock complete the committee on athletics, while additional members of the academic standards group are Dr. Grover C. Chandler, Prof. Harold A. Everett, Dr. Bruce V. Moore, and Dr. Carl E. Marquardt.

Headed by Dean Carl W. Stoddart, of the Liberal Arts school, the committee on courses of study for this year includes Director Bezdek, Dean Will G. Chambers, Dean Frank D. Kern, Prof. William R. Chesedy, Dr. David C. Duncan, Prof. Charles L. Kinsloe, and Prof. Harry G. Parkinson.

Chairmen Appointed

Registrar William S. Hoffman will act as head of the committee on admissions while Prof. Julius E. Kaulfuss, of the civil engineering department, was reelected chairman of the public occasions group. Prof. A. Howry Eshenshade, head of the English composition department, will continue his services as Senate representative on the student publications board.

Dean Frank C. Whitmore, of the Chemistry and Physics school, will direct the research committee. Additional reappointments are Dr. Frederick P. Weaver, of the department of agricultural economics, as chairman of the publications group, and Prof. Chesleigh A. Bonine, head of the geology department, as director of the military instruction committee.

All of the appointments were to be announced at the meeting of the College Senate yesterday. However, because of conflicting dates, the meeting was cancelled.

1936 CO-EDS NOMINATE OFFICERS AT MEETING

Knepper, Rhoads, Turner Chosen as Candidates for Presidency

Freshman women nominated Maria Knepper, Beulah M. Rhoads, and A. Frances Turner for the office of class president, at their first meeting Monday night.

The vice-presidential candidates selected include Mary Jane Boyle, Jean R. Beman, and E. Virginia Weviller; while Myra E. Hilpert, Thelma H. Ebert, Virginia W. Lewis, Mary L. D'Ojler, and Frances G. Hamilton were named for the position of secretary.

Genevieve J. Ambrose, Leah E. Ballet, Margaret B. Oshman, Alyce P. Sentner, M. Joan Suchors, and M. Elizabeth Springer were the nominees for class treasurer. Those named for the post of social chairman were Lucille M. Kline, Margie I. Kusche, A. Joan Blocker, and S. Elizabeth Shaffer.

SEGAL SAILS FOR MOSCOW

John Segal '30, a graduate in the curriculum of architectural engineering, sailed recently for Moscow, Russia, where he will assist in the designing of the new Soviet Ministry building.

Lions Meet Waynesburg Before Dads' Day Visitors Tomorrow

Nittany Team To Seek Revenge for Loss Last Season

SIGEL REPLACES HARPER AT HALFBACK POSITION

Kane, Brewster Regain Posts On Line--Visitors Boast Veteran Eleven

By GEORGE A. SCOTT '34

Upsets of 1931--Waynesburg 7, Penn State 0.

Just one big reason why Mr. "Spike" Collins and Company are on edge for their football game with Waynesburg College on New Beaver field at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

"Spike" and his teammates have revenge in their hearts, and they're determined to wipe the sting of that 7-to-0 defeat of last year completely off the records. Tomorrow's setto may be considered a "warm-up" for the Harvard, Syracuse, Colgate, Sewanee, and Temple games to come, but right now it ranks first in importance on the schedule to the Lion gridlers.

The Lions fully realize that their task will be no easy one tomorrow. A veteran team, plenty of weight, and the experience gained in victories over Muskingum College and Slippery Rock State Teachers College earlier this season combine to make Waynesburg a really strong opponent, and an opponent who will push the Lions to the utmost.

Bedenk Praises Team

To quote Joe Bedenk, assistant to Head Coach Bob Higgins, "Waynesburg has a 100 percent better team this year than in 1931, and I should know, because he's seen the Yellow Jackets in action against both Muskingum and Slippery Rock this year.

Muskingum, leader of the Ohio Conference last year, was defeated 13-to-6 in the opening game on Waynesburg's schedule, and Slippery Rock, a perennial State Teachers College champion, bowed, 19-to-0, last Saturday, the first time in three years that the Yellow Jackets have been the victors over the Teachers.

Although a weight card issued by the Waynesburg department of athletics belies the idea, it is likely that the visitors will outweigh the Higginsmen on line and in backfield for the opening kickoff. Bedenk asserts that the Jackets should average close to 190 pounds, with only Rob Currie, speedy halfback, below the general weight average.

The weights released by Waynes-

CRANE TO ADDRESS DADS' DAY CHAPEL

Scranton Pastor Will Talk on "The Quest of Kinship" at Tenth Annual Observance

Addressing an audience of fathers and students at the tenth annual Dads' Day chapel services, Dr. Henry H. Crane will speak on "The Quest of Kinship," in Schwab auditorium at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Dr. Crane is pastor of the Elm Park Methodist Episcopal church at Scranton, Pa. He is a graduate of Wesleyan University, and has received advanced degrees from Boston and De Paul Universities.

While an undergraduate, the chapel speaker was an all-New England basketball star, and a member of the varsity quartet. Dramatics and college periodicals were among his other activities as a student.

On Sunday evening the Scranton pastor will talk on "What Does Religion Have to Offer at a Time Like This?" This meeting will be held at 7 o'clock in the auditorium, as will the address Monday night. "A Key to Personality and Power" will be Dr. Crane's topic at that time.

This is the speakers' third visit to Penn State. He first came in 1928 when he spoke at chapel, returning in 1930 as a guest theologian for the chapel services. He has visited many American colleges, having spoken at Harvard, Yale, Cornell, Illinois, and Southern California Universities.

HARTMAN TO LEAD '36 MASS MEETING

Head Cheerleader Plans Second Rally for Restoration of Football Morale

Head Cheerleader Bill Hartman's second step in the campaign to restore Penn State's old-time football morale will take place at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when the second of a series of freshman rallies will be held in Schwab auditorium.

"In order for these rallies to be successful," Hartman pointed out last night, "the co-operation of every fraternity president is needed. He should assist in the effort by exerting every effort to have the freshman pledges in his house attend."

Will Practice Cheers

Further practice in mastering College songs and cheers and final drill for the Dads' Day formations will occupy the attention of the first-year men at the rally. Following the meeting, they will march to the game in a body, occupying seats in the East stands.

The first rally of an all-College nature will be the huge mass meeting on Wednesday night, preceding the departure of the team for Harvard. Members of the hat societies will make personal visits to students on Monday and Tuesday nights in an effort to build up support for the mass meeting.

Cheerleaders of former years will be in charge of the annual Alumni Day rally on the night preceding the Syracuse game.

EXECUTIVES MEET TODAY, TOMORROW

Industrial Leaders To Study Group Of Problems at Extension Conference Here

Emphasizing the need for education in industry as a means of solving the present economic depression, seventy-five leading executives of the state will attend the seventeenth annual Engineering Extension Conference here today and tomorrow.

Under the chairmanship of C. W. Bishop, employment manager of the Lyncoming Manufacturing company, the first session, this afternoon, will discuss the encouragement of leadership and the part education can play in its development. The meeting will be addressed by Adrian O. Morse, executive secretary to the President, and by C. D. Bond, L. H. Dennis, and A. C. Harper, executives in Pennsylvania industries.

Dean Robert L. Sackett of the School of Engineering, will act as chairman of the second session, following dinner at the Nittany Lion Inn tonight. "Staging a Comeback" will be the topic of Dr. Samuel W. Grufflin, editor of The American Aristocrat. E. S. McClelland sr., a member of President Hoover's Committee on Job Sharing, will speak on "Job Sharing as an Aid to Building Up Purchasing Power."

"The Manufacturer and the Problem of Distribution" will be the theme of the last session tomorrow morning. The speakers at this meeting will be A. E. Frampton of the Hamermill Paper company and Edward J. Tridley, store manager of Gimbel's at Philadelphia.

College Will Entertain At Annual Event For Fathers

PROGRAM ARRANGED BY PROF. J. ORVIS KELLER

Smoker in Armory To Feature Entertainment During Saturday Night

Penn State will pay tribute to "Dad" at the tenth annual Dads' Day which will be celebrated here tomorrow when the College will provide a day's entertainment in honor of Penn State fathers.

With over one thousand dads in addition to relatives and visitors expected for the day, a program has been arranged by Prof. J. Orvis Keller, secretary of the Association of Parents of Penn State. Dads' Day became an annual event with the organization of the Parents association in 1912.

Dads' and Sons' smoker, an annual feature event of Dads' Day will be held in the Armory Saturday night at 7 o'clock. John A. Wood '33, chairman of the Student Union committee planning the entertainment, will act as master of ceremonies.

Robert E. Galbraith, of the English composition department will present the welcoming speech to the parents, while short talks will be given by Adrian O. Morse, executive secretary to the President, and Prof. John H. Frizzell, head of the public speaking department.

Entertainment for the smoker will last about forty minutes in order to allow the visitors to attend the Players' show, "The Nut Farm," which will be presented in Schwab auditorium at 8:30 o'clock.

Listed on the program are a number of dances by the dance team of H. Grace Baer '34 and J. Ewing "Rock" Kennedy '35. John Renaldo '36 will offer several piano-accompaniment selections, while George Morris is scheduled to perform feats of magic to conclude the entertainment.

Association Will Meet

In the morning the members of the Parents' association will hold a business meeting at which Mrs. Frank W. Haller, chairman of the association, will preside. Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock, in charge of the loan fund which is fostered by the Parents' association, will read a report of the work done during the past year.

A varsity soccer game with Lafayette at 1 o'clock and a football contest with Waynesburg at 2:30 will comprise the activities for the afternoon. Members of Blue Key, junior campus society, will escort the parents over the campus during the day.

$890 LOANED TO CO-EDS DURING FIRST 2 WEEKS

Pittsburgh Scholarship Received By Eva M. Blichfeldt '31

Loans to women students during the first two weeks of this year amounted to $890, of which seniors received $625, juniors $190, and one sophomore $75. Dean of Women Charlotte E. Ray announced yesterday.

The Mary White Beaver fund supplies $1,500 in loans to women students of the upper classes, while additional funds are offered by the Alumnae club of State College and the local branch of the A. A. U. W., the W. S. G. A., the Bellefonte chapter of the D. A. R., and the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women. The Northeastern Alumnae club and the Philadelphia Alumni club conclude the list of organizations providing loans.

Eva M. Blichfeldt '31 has received the scholarship offered by the Penn State Alumnae of Pittsburgh to the outstanding woman student from that district. The scholarship is awarded in recognition of high scholarship and participation in activities.

GIVES TALK AT CLEARFIELD

Hugo Bezdek, director of physical education, spoke at a meeting at the Clearfield Y. M. C. A. Monday night.
