P.S.C.A. FINANCIAL DRIVE MAY REACH QUOTA BY TONIGHT

Solicitors Report Contributions Totalling $1,006 at Group Meeting Wednesday

ASSOCIATION WILL ISSUE CARDS FOR MEMBERSHIP

Prof. J. Orvis Keller To Start Canvass of Faculty Men On Monday Noon

With over $1,000 reported pledged by Wednesday night, Penn State Christian association officials hope to attain their goal of $3,500 when the annual finance campaign closes tonight.

Although the contributions up to Wednesday night did not reach a total as high as the amount pledged at this time last year, a final spurt by both solicitors and contributors was expected by P. S. C. A. officials. Unless the quota is reached, a serious curtailment of Christian association activities this year will result.

To Issue Cards

Students who contribute over three dollars will receive national membership cards after November 1 at the association office in Old Main, while those contributing a dollar or more will be issued local membership cards at that time. The quota set for the student drive is only twenty-three percent of the total budget this year, seventy-seven percent being secured from other sources.

"If a student can contribute and doesn't, he is practically saying that he thinks the association, and all it stands for, should be abolished," Frank L. Weaver '33, chairman of the drive, said. "As a purely student organization, it should receive their support."

Co-ed Drive To End

Having approached every woman student and faculty member, approximately forty co-ed solicitors under the direction of five division leaders will complete their part in the finance campaign tonight. Women students are pledged to collect $520, Ruth M. Harmon '34, director of the co-ed canvass, has announced.

Claire M. Lichty '35 is directing all soliciting of the women of the faculty. Louise A. Halbach '35 heads the campus dormitories' drive while town dormitories are covered by a group led by Mary Scott '35. Anna Mary Dotterer '34 is responsible for soliciting among the town co-ed students, and Mary M. Westrick '33, in the women's fraternity houses.

Prof. J. Orvis Keller, of the engineering extension department and chairman of the finance committee of the Christian association's board of directors, will conduct the drive for $900 among faculty members. This canvass will open at a luncheon Monday for the twenty-one faculty men who will solicit contributions.

CHAPELGOERS TO HEAR VAN ETTEN

Pittsburgh Calvary Church Pastor Will Deliver Talk Sunday in Schwab Auditorium

Speaking on "What Is A Gentleman?", Dr. Edward J. Van Ethen, pastor of the Rector Calvary Church, Pittsburgh, will address the regular chapel services in Schwab auditorium at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Dr. Van Ethen was graduated from Amherst College in 1905, and has since received advanced degrees from the General Theological Seminary, the Episcopal Theological School, and the University of Pittsburgh.

The chapel speaker is prominent as one of the first theologians to take advantage of the radio as a means of interesting the public in church services. Dr. Van Ethen first broadcast in January, 1921.

Dr. Van Ethen has also been connected with the Trinity Church, Boston, and the Christ Church in New York. He has been honored with membership in the Holland Society and Phi Beta Kappa.

LACK OF FINANCES CURTAILS EXHIBITS

Prof. Dickson Announces Fewer Art Displays at College For Coming Year

The number of art exhibits shown at the College this year will be stringently curtailed, Prof. Harold E. Dickson, of the architecture department, announced Wednesday. Lack of finances makes the move imperative this year, Professor Dickson revealed.

Although twenty-three exhibits were shown on the third floor of Main Engineering building last year, it will only be possible to bring a few smaller displays here this year. This was made clear by Professor Dickson when he announced the architecture department's plans for exhibits.

May Exhibit Watercolors

Only one exhibit, a showing of photographs of Persian-Islamic architecture, has been booked up to the present, Professor Dickson said. This collection, which will be shown at the College in January, is being sent here by the American Federation of Arts, in response to the recent interest shown in Persian art.

Departmental and student exhibits, however, will again be shown this year. Annual circulating architectural exhibits such as the Scarab and Intercollegiate Schools of Architecture shows are also scheduled. If sufficient funds can be secured, an exhibition of American watercolors will be brought here later in the year.

Although arrangements had been completed by the department of architecture for an exhibit of American paintings in the first floor lounge of Old Main for Alumni Homecoming week-end, the plan was abandoned because of improper facilities for hanging it.

SENIORS ARRANGE MEETINGS

Headed by Helen A. Hoover '33, the senior sponsor committee has prepared outlines for the next three meetings with the freshman women.

Colgate Writer Forecasts 5 Touchdowns for Maroon

Sports Scribe Expects Red Raiders To Score Sixth Victory of Season

By TOM WALSH
Sports Editor, Colgate Maroon

Fresh from a string of decisive victories and with its goal line still uncrossed, Colgate will meet Penn State here tomorrow. Kerr's team has been steadily improving this season, and reached the peak of its football form against New York University in the Yankee Stadium, grinding out a great victory, 14-to-0.

Kerr's team this year is one of the best, if not the best in the East. If Colgate opens up against the Nittany Lion, there is no telling the result. On the other hand, the canny Scot may have his team play conservative straight football. Gambling on a medium between these two possibilities, we would venture a guess that the Red Raiders of the Chenango should win their sixth game of the season by five touchdowns.

If Kerr can keep his team keyed to the same competitive pitch that he has in the past two weeks, the Red Raiders of the Chenango will be slated for their first undefeated season in seven years. Colgate this year has everything a football team needs. It is not a team boasting individual stars such as the Johnny Orsi's, Len Macaluso's, Les Hart's and Johnny Cox's

COMBINED GROUPS SELECT CAST FOR HOUSEPARTY REVUE

Thespians, Glee Club, Players To Offer "Panics of 1932" As Week-End Show

JOHNSTON '33, BAER '34 APPEAR IN SPECIALTIES

Singing, Dancing Skits Feature 12-Act Program—Fishburn Directs Production

Announcement of the complete cast for the "Panics of 1932," combined Thespian, Glee club and Players production to be presented in Schwab auditorium on Saturday night of house-party week-end was made Wednesday night by Prof. Hummel Fishburn, of the department of music, who is in charge of the show.

The show will consist of twelve acts, featuring singing and dancing skits and short dramatic selections, according to Professor Fishburn. In contrast to last year's production in which each of the three groups gave a definite part of the show, the "Panics of 1932" will be staged with members of each group assisting in the different acts, he said.

Cast Named

M. Dorothy Johnston '33 will appear in several song numbers with a quartet composed of Earl J. Brubaker '33, Robert G. Boyer '33, Richard C. Schlaack '33, and Curtis J. Patterson '34, while H. Grace Baer '34 will present individual dancing numbers on the program.

Those who will appear in short skits in the show are Edwin S. Malmel '33, John J. Voorhees '33, Benjamin L. Wise '33, James B. Gross '34, Robert Smith '34, and Wayne R. Varnum '34. Others in the cast are M. Theresa Baer '35, John B. Bott '35, William B. Edwards '35, Roger H. Hetzel '35, Paul K. Hirsch '35, Bertram Rosenthal, jr. '35, Perry R. Smith '35, and Juanita Sorzano '35.

Features Thespian Songs

Featuring an overture of song hits from the 1932 Thespian show, "We the People," the regular Thespian orchestra under the direction of Professor Fishburn will furnish incidental music for the "Panics."

Assisting Professor Fishburn in staging the show are Frank S. Neubaum, of the department of English composition, representing the Penn State Players, and Director of Music Richard W. Grant, as the representative of the Glee club. This year's show will be given only one night instead of two as was the case last fall.

TO HOLD FORUM DISCUSSION

"How a College Girl Can Budget Her Time and Money" will be the topic of a series of discussions to be held Monday night in the Hugh Beaver lounge. Phyllis G. Beidler '33, women's senior class president, will lead the discussion.

'Collegian' Provides For Game Returns

Continuing its policy inaugurated with the Harvard game, the COLLEGIAN will furnish a quarter-by-quarter account of the encounter with Colgate tomorrow. Returns will be telegraphed direct from the field at Hamilton, N. Y. The fifty-word accounts will be posted on Graham's window on Allen street. No radio broadcast of the game has been arranged.

PRESIDENTIAL POLL TO BEGIN MONDAY

Fraternalities, Women Students Will Express Sentiment Early Next Week

First votes in the COLLEGIAN poll will be cast by students Monday when ballots will be distributed to every men's fraternity group as the first step in an all-College poll of student sentiment in the coming national election.

Women students will receive their ballots in McAllister Hall early next week, and a poll of non-fraternity groups will be conducted before next Saturday. Faculty members will be asked to cast their votes in a separate poll during the week.

Other Colleges Favor Hoover

Herbert C. Hoover, Republican candidate and present incumbent, obtained a plurality of 1,985 votes over the Democratic candidate, Franklin D. Roosevelt, in similar polls conducted in eight colleges and universities of the country. Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, trailed Roosevelt in the totals from the eight institutions by only 119 votes.

The University of California gave Hoover 933 votes to 331 for Roosevelt and 460 for Thomas, while the Republican leader polled 411 votes to 277 for Roosevelt and 75 for Thomas at Williams College. Roosevelt's largest vote was recorded at the University of Southern California where the Democratic nominee received 337 votes to 410 for Hoover and 104 for Thomas.

Thomas polled more than one hundred votes at the University of California, University of Vermont, Wesleyan, and Bucknell University. In a tabulation of votes from the eight institutions, Hoover received 3,225 votes, Roosevelt, 1,240, and Thomas, 1,121.

I.F.C. ANNOUNCES 2 CHAIRMANSHIPS

Rinehimer '33 Will Head Fraternity Presidents; Hanawalt '34 To Lead Caterers

Appointment of Robert C. Rinehimer '33 as chairman of the fraternity presidents' association and Robert C. Hanawalt '34 as chairman of the fraternity caterers' group was announced yesterday by Herbert E. Longenecker '33, president of Interfraternity council.

With the discussion of general administration problems as its primary purpose, the house presidents' group will also discuss methods of curbing fraternity robberies that have been occurring during the past year, and will make recommendations to the council for general legislation, Longenecker said.

The caterers' organization will study problems of food prices with the aim of cutting down food expenses to a minimum. A plan of co-operative buying will be considered by this group.

These groups are being organized earlier than usual this year, because there will be no fraternity conference this year, Longenecker said. The fraternity conference is a biennial affair with the next one scheduled for 1934.

WOMEN WILL HOLD FIRST PANHELLENIC DANCE JANUARY 13

Helen K. Martin '33 Appointed Chairman of Co-ed Ball At Nittany Lion

FRATERNITIES TO UNITE IN PRESENTING FUNCTION

1:30 O'Clock Dating Permission Given by W. S. G. A.—No Band Selected

Adding another major social function to the dance calendar, women's fraternities will hold a Panhellenic Ball sometime in January, probably January 13, Helen K. Martin '33, chairman of the Ball, announced Wednesday.

This is the first time that such an affair has been held by the combined women's fraternities. Although it is not planned as an all-College function, the dance will be the major social affair in January since Senior Ball has been moved back to February 10.

To Select Orchestra

Dancing will be held in the large dining room and Peacock Alley of the Inn from 9 until 12:30 o'clock. Dance programs will be used in securing admission to the Ball.

All co-eds attending the function will be given 1:30 o'clock dating permission from the Women's Student Government association. No orchestra has yet been selected to play at the Ball.

Fraternalities Contribute Funds

Ten women's fraternities will take part in the affair, each contributing twenty dollars to make up the budget. If the expenses do not amount to two hundred dollars, the balance will be refunded to each house.

All active fraternity women, pledges, and alumnae will be privileged to attend the dance. In addition, each house will be permitted to invite a patroness as an honor guest.

Other members of the committee which was appointed by Panhellenic council are Ruth Crowthers '33 and Margaret E. Barnard '34. Catering services will be furnished by the Inn.

TRIBUNAL JUDGES 5 CUSTOMS CASES

Wearing Dresses, Bonnets, Tin Cans Decried for Violators of First-Year Rules

Five freshmen were sentenced for infractions of customs at the last Tuesday meetings of Student Tribunal.

As a result of attending a dance at a fraternity of which he was not a member, Donald A. McGovern is wearing a dress and a bonnet, as well as carrying a doll and a sign reading, "A Dancing We Will Go." Russell Hartman, found guilty of talking to a co-ed, drags a tin can tied with a string, and also carries a sign inscribed "Am I Rattled Over Co-eds."

Walking on the grass was the offense of Willard Hancock, who will carry a sign with the plea "Give the Grass a Chance." James Conahan, who is now carrying a sign reading "I Like Customs" has been assigned the duty of writing the freshmen customs longhand one hundred times, and the class song fifty times, as punishment for missing the last mass meeting.

Having a date, was also the offense of George W. Culp, who will wear a dress and a bonnet, and carry a sign to the effect that "I Like the Girls Too Much." Tribunal has decreed that Robert Gillan will wear freshman customs for the first semester.

COLLEGE LIBRARY TO SHOW REPRODUCTION MANUSCRIPTS

A collection of reproductions of ancient, medieval and Renaissance manuscripts has been placed on exhibition in room K of the College library by Dr. Franklin B. Krauss, associate professor of Latin.

The group of reproductions was purchased by Dr. Krauss in the Church of San Lorenzo in Florence, Italy, which also houses the Mediceo-Laurenziana library, one of the chief repositories of early manuscripts in the world. An additional feature of the exhibit is a brief history of this library, which was founded in the fifteenth century.

LIONS WILL PLAY IN ALUMNI GAME

Colgate Homecoming Tilt Rated As Most Important Since Brown Contest

Penn State's Nittany Lion eleven will be playing before Colgate's annual Alumni Homecoming crowd when it takes the field tomorrow afternoon at Hamilton, N. Y.

The Maroon, student newspaper at Colgate, characterizes the game as "the most important homecoming game since that with Brown thirteen years ago." Several hundred alumni of the Hamilton institution are expected to be back for the Homecoming attraction.

To Hold Dance

A Penn State-Colgate dance will take place at the Colgate Inn tomorrow night in honor of Colgate alumni and the visiting team. An alumni pep rally is scheduled to be held tonight on the Colgate campus.

The Lions will again be an Alumni Homecoming attraction when they meet Temple at the Owl stadium November 12. The Philadelphia school is also planning a number of events for the day. Full details of the celebration are to be announced shortly.

HIGHWAY TO OPEN WITHIN 4 WEEKS

Will Eliminate 8 Miles of Mountain Travel Between Borough, Potters Mills

Eliminating nearly eight miles of mountain road, the new concrete highway connecting State College with the main road at Potters Mills will be opened in four weeks, Wallace C. Gates, contractor in charge of one section, has announced.

At present, the road is open to traffic from the borough limits to Bouldsburg, while concrete has been laid, with the exception of a two mile stretch, from there to Potters Mills. Built at a cost of $300,000, the thirteen mile span will be part of the Lakes-to-Seas highway system.

Approximately 800 to 1000 feet of concrete is laid each day and the entire project will be completed in about two weeks. The newest sections must be permitted to dry for an additional period of twenty-one days.

Construction work on the new macadam highway from Pine Grove Mills to McAlevy's Fort which will merge with the road to Huntingdon is nearly completed. This highway will be a new direct route to Washington, D. C.

LININGER ATTENDS MEETING

Prof. Fred F. Lininger, of the agricultural economics department, attended the annual meeting of the National Dairy Council in Detroit last week. He presented a report on the program of research which was established by the council.

5 Players Will Start Initial Fray With Maroon Game

COACH NAMES 28 MEN ON NITTANY LION SQUAD

"Red Raiders" Favored in Third Battle—Collins Missing From First Team

By GEORGE A. SCOTT '31

Coach "Bob" Higgins will use at least five players who have never before started an intercollegiate football game when the Nittany Lions line up for the opening kickoff against Colgate University at Hamilton, N. Y. in the final of a three-game series tomorrow afternoon.

Earl Park and Bob Flood, tackles, Veto Rich, center, Ken White and Jim Boring, backs, are the players elevated to the starting team assignments for tomorrow's game, while Captain "Spike" Collins, Tommy Barry, Dick Woolbert, Parker Berry, and Stan Zawacki, regulars, will ride the bench, if Higgins holds to plans announced Wednesday night.

The changed lineup isn't the result of poor work on the part of the first stringers, but rather a desire on Higgins' part to have the regulars from injuries that may keep them out of the more important Sewanee and Temple games. There won't be any excuses after the battle with Colgate. It's simply the case of one team stepping out of its class to meet a rival that has long since passed it in football material and power.

28 Make Trip
You can name almost any other college or university team in the East that would be more suitable to Higgins and the Lion gridders tomorrow. Colgate, unbeaten and unscared upon in five games this year, is picked to win by five or six touchdowns, and only a miracle will disprove the experts' selections.

Tomorrow's game shouldn't appear on the schedule—and it isn't likely that the New York state institution will be included in the 1933 program. A schedule calling for games with Harvard, Syracuse, Colgate, Sewanee, and Temple in succession is nothing short of suicide for a team of the strength of Higgins' eleven.

Twenty-eight men made the trip to Hamilton by bus this morning. Captain Collins, Lohr, Wille, White, Boring, Harper, Morrison, Field, and Long, backs, Brewster, Slusser, Heist, McKee, Rosenberg, and Grimshaw, ends, Flood, Park, Berry, Woolbert, and Rose, tackles, Bedoski, Kreizman, Hesch, Longenecker, and Woolridge, guards, and Rich, Zawacki and Anderson, centers, composed the Lion squad.

Lions Aim at Score
Bedoski and Kreizman, guards, Slusser and Brewster, ends, Lohr and Wille, backs, will complete the Nittany starting lineup announced by Higgins Wednesday night. Of this group, Bedoski and Wille, although both are veterans, also will be starting their first games of the season tomorrow.

Frequent and many substitutions as a further preventative of injuries are planned by the Lion head coach. All twenty-eight men are almost certain
