Lion Gridmen Defeat University of South In Houseparty Game

Nittany Eleven Makes 3 Touchdowns Against Stubborn Sewanee Defense—Collins Runs 42 Yards for Score

By GEORGE A. SCOTT '34

Two warriors of the animal kingdom, a victory-hungry Nittany Lion, and a Tennessee Tiger, just as greedy for a triumph, put on the football show on New Beaver Field Saturday, and it was the Lion's day to feast. A sharp-clawed attack coupled with an alert fighting spirit made the battle very much a Lion affair, and the end came with the Tiger sinking back to its home in Sewanee with the scar of an 18-to-0 defeat cut into its hide.

Three touchdowns, every one of them the result of alert playing on the part of the Blue and White representatives, were sufficient to wreck whatever hopes the Tiger of Sewanee or the University of the South entertained regarding the game. Harry Sigel, "Barrell" Morrison and Captain "Spike" Collins crossed the goal line for the Higgins-coached eleven to insure victory over the Dixieland team and to give the Lion its first taste of victory since the opening game more than a month ago.

It was a good show that the two feline jungle beasts staged. Sewanee's Tiger made it such with its desperate, stubborn defense to counteract a superior offense that the Lion lays claim to, that the result was sixty minutes of hard-fought football.

"Breaks" Clinch Game
Dame Fortune was smiling on the Lions Saturday, albeit they played a brand of football that would have deserved a triumph regardless of "breaks." A recovered kickoff at the start of the game, a recovered Sewanee fumble, and an intercepted forward pass were the "breaks" that clinched the game.

The first play of the game started the Nittany gridders off to success. With Sewanee receiving, the Lion kicked off the ball to the visitors' thirty-yard line and "King" Cole was Johnny-on-the-spot to snare it for the Lions.

It took less than four minutes to punch through the Tennessee line for the touchdown, with sophomore Harry Sigel carrying the ball over on a wide end run around the right wing. Two first downs preceded the touchdown play and, two more followed before the quarter ended.

Cole Recovers Fumble
The next break came early in the second quarter when Cravens, Sewanee safety man, fumbled a quick kick to give "King" Cole an opportunity to recover the ball on the Tiger thirty-yard line. Skemp, Lohr, and Morrison stepped the ball up to the four-yard mark and Morrison went around right end for the touchdown.

Captain "Spike" Collins was the hero of the third break. With less than three minutes to play, the Lion leader gathered in a Sewanee forward pass and travelled forty-two yards to the Sewanee goal line with nary an opponent's hand touching him.

Sewanee scored only once and approached scoring territory on only one other occasion. The Southerners showed the effects of their all-night train ride from Washington, D. C., the previous night, for they were sluggish for the most part and only on rare occasions did their backs show anything like speed and driving power.

Defensively, however, they left little to be desired. Four times in the second half the Lions drove to or past the Sewanee twenty-yard line, and each time found the visitors strong enough to prevent a score.

The Lions had their bad moments themselves. The running attack func-

BEZDEK DENIES RUMOR OF SWIMMING COURSE PROJECT

Contrary to rumor, the College has not been considering a plan that would permit students to take swimming courses as part of the School of Physical Education program, in a local indoor pool now under construction, Hugo Bezdek director of the school, has announced.

The project is too incomplete to reach any definite conclusion at this time, and College officials have not discussed the matter, according to Director Bezdek. No definite statement could be obtained as to whether or not the College would consider the proposal at some later date.

MARGARET SANGER TO GIVE LECTURE HERE NEXT WEEK

Birth Control Advocate Names 'Future of the American Family' as Topic

DISCUSSION WILL OPEN 'FORUM' FOR THIS YEAR

Speaker Sponsored by Christian Association—Sister of Lion Grid Coach

Mrs. Margaret Sanger, organizer of the modern birth control movement and former president of the American Birth Control League, will lecture in Schwab auditorium next Tuesday night.

As the first of the series of cultural talks planned for the 1932-33 "Forum," Mrs. Sanger's lecture will be open to students, faculty, and townspeople. The speaker is being brought here by the Penn State Christian association.

"The Future of the American Family" is the topic which she has chosen to speak on at the College. Mrs. Sanger may also talk to faculty members in a special lecture on modern trends in sex education, at some time during her stay here.

Seeks Revised Legislation

Mrs. Sanger, who is the sister of Robert A. Higgins, football coach, recently visited Washington to conduct personally a campaign there for the legalization of birth control. She organized and is now president of the National Committee for Federal Legislation on Birth Control.

Since resigning as president of the American Birth Control League, the speaker has devoted most of her time to the "New York birth control clinic" which was the first of its kind organized in this country. The function of the clinic is to conduct research for improved contraception technique.

Organized Foreign Clinics

Besides organizing clinics in this country, Mrs. Sanger has travelled extensively in Europe and Asia, forming similar groups there. In 1917, she founded the Birth Control Review, serving as its editor for eleven years.

Mrs. Sanger has written a large number of books including "My Fight for Birth Control," "Women and the New Race," "The Pivot of Civilization," "Happiness in Marriage," "What Every Boy and Girl Should Know," and "Motherhood in Bondage."

McFALLS WILL SING OVER STATION WCAU TOMORROW

Robert H. McFalls, former student, who was a member of the Varsity quartet last year, will sing over radio station WCAU, in Philadelphia, from 12 until 2 o'clock Wednesday morning intermittently between announcements of election returns.

McFalls is also entered in a State-wide vocal contest over the same station sponsored by a national concern. The winner, which will be announced on December 18, will be offered a contract as feature singer on the concern's radio advertising hour. McFalls has received "fan mail" from North Carolina and some of the New England states for former broadcasts.

FINAL GRID RALLY SET FOR THURSDAY

Coach, Team To Attend Temple Send-off in Auditorium At 7:30 O'Clock

The final football rally of the season will take place at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night in Schwab auditorium, Head Cheerleader William E. Hartman '33 has announced.

Planned as a send-off to Bob Higgins and the Nittany Lions before they leave to seek a victory over Temple in Philadelphia Saturday, the rally will offer the student body its last opportunity to cheer the team before the clash with the Owls.

Plan New Features
As at past rallies this season, members of the team will be introduced from the stage, and one of the R. O. T. C. band units will play. Several new features are also being planned by the cheerleading staff.

Hartman has asked for a capacity turnout as a final evidence of student support for the team. He expressed the hope that upperclass attendance, which was disappointing at the College send-off, would be more in evidence Thursday night. Freshmen who do not attend are subject to Tribunal punishment.

CO-EDS SUBSCRIBE $346 IN Y. W. C. A. CAMPAIGN

Additional Blanket Tax Will Almost Fill Quota, Secretary States

Women students have pledged $346 to the Y. W. C. A. finance campaign which closed Thursday night, Ruth M. Harmon '34, chairman of the committee in charge of the drive, has announced.

With the addition of the W. S. G. A. blanket tax allotted to it, the Y. W. C. A. campaign will lack only a few dollars of the budget of $520, Mrs. Harry W. Seamans, secretary of the association, has announced.

Women members of the faculty were included in the drive. The amount reached this year is fourteen dollars short of last year's contributions.

Conservatism Indicated by College Polls, Warnock Says

Judgment of Candidates' Merits Unimportant in Hoover's Straw Vote Success

Hoover's success in college straw votes is an indication of the conservative element now present in most student bodies, rather than a judgment of the relative merits of the candidates, in the opinion of Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock.

"The swing towards Roosevelt in the country at large has not affected student votes to any great extent," the dean added. "The Roosevelt sentiment is fundamentally a desire for a change, and change comes slowly to conservative groups such as American student bodies."

Conservatism among students is caused by the present dislike for extremists of any sort, Dean Warnock believes. The average student is just as much opposed to the militarist as he is to the pacifist, to the fanatical dry as he is to the rabid wet. Most students are "middle-of-the-roaders," the Dean of Men declared.

"I don't think that the present conservative attitude of Penn State students is a lasting one and certainly students here have not always been conservative," the dean pointed out. "It just happens to be the prevailing attitude at the present time and the pendulum may swing the other way."

Dean Warnock believes that student conservatism in activities is partly responsible for conservatism in other lines. When it is a case of following tradition or breaking away from it, other things being equal, Penn State students invariably follow tradition, the dean said.

Parental influence, home background, the Penn State environment and isolation from the depression are of relatively little importance in their effect on the conservative attitude of students here, Dean Warnock said.

HOOVER WINS PRESIDENTIAL STRAW VOTE BY OVERWHELMING MAJORITY

Liberal Arts School Returns Highest Majorities

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE CARRIES ALL 7 GROUPS

G.O.P. Nominee Secures Largest Vote From Engineers in Balloting

The School of Liberal Arts returned the highest majority for each of the three presidential candidates in the COLLEGIAN poll, a survey of the vote by schools in the College reveals.

Liberal Arts students accorded President Hoover a total of 358 votes, while students in the same school gave Franklin D. Roosevelt 139 votes and Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, 73 votes. Students in the School of Engineering returned the second highest vote for each of the three candidates.

Carries All Schools

The Republican nominee carried each of the seven Schools by comfortable margins, registering his largest margin of victory in the School of Engineering where his total of 304 votes surpassed the combined totals of the other two candidates by 164 votes. A margin of 146 votes in the School of the Liberal Arts placed that School second in the Hoover ranks.

Fraternity men in the School of Engineering gave Hoover 270 votes, non-fraternity engineers cast thirty-three ballots in favor of the Republican leader and one woman student in the Engineering School voted for the winner of the poll. Roosevelt received a total of 89 votes from engineers, while Thomas received 51.

Gains Large L. A. Vote

The Republican candidate was given 272 votes by fraternity men registered in the School of Liberal Arts, as 42 non-fraternity and 44 women Liberal Arts students voted the Republican ticket. His Democratic rival received 139 votes and Thomas 73 votes.

Trailing the Liberal Arts and Engineering Schools in the total number of votes cast, the School of Education accorded Hoover a margin of 72 votes over the Democratic and Socialist candidates. The Republican leader received 192 votes, Roosevelt 81, and Thomas 39.

A total of 261 ballots were cast by students in the School of Agriculture, with Hoover receiving 158, Roosevelt 54, and Thomas 49. The School of Chemistry and Physics recorded 212 votes in the poll, 139 being credited to the Republican ticket, 50 to the Democratic candidates, and 23 to the Socialist party.

The Schools of Mineral Industries and Physical Education and Athletics ranked lowest in number of ballots cast, the former recording 78 votes and the latter but 34. Hoover was victor in the School of Mineral Industries by a 28-vote margin and in the School of Physical Education and Athletics by a 16-vote margin.

522 Votes Unclassified

Although instructed to list their school on their ballot when voting, 522 students failed to name the school in which they were registered. Of this group, Hoover was given 308 votes, Roosevelt 153, and Thomas 61. Roosevelt's largest vote was recorded in the School of the Liberal Arts, in which he received 139 preferences. Similarly, Thomas received 73 votes from Liberal Arts students for his highest vote in a single school.

EXTENSIVE SIAMESE PLANT COLLECTION RECEIVED HERE

An extensive collection of Siamese plants has been given to the botany department of the College and will be placed in the herbarium of the new Botany building within two weeks, Dr. Frank D. Kern, head of the department, announced last week.

Miss Hilda Cuniff, who was a graduate assistant in botany here in 1925-26, is the donor of the collection. She has spent the last three years in Siam teaching and visiting her father, who is foreign adviser to the king of that country.

Student Total for President Herbert Hoover Rates Next to Ohio State Count in National Tabulations

Penn State students accorded President Hoover next to the highest number of votes given the Republican leader in polls conducted in forty-eight colleges and universities throughout the country, with only Ohio State University with a total of 2,440 for the President surpassing the vote of 1,537 Penn State students.

Wisconsin students cast 1,481 ballots in Hoover's favor to take third place among the collegiate institutions and Cornell with 1,468 and Yale with 1,415 votes respectively stood fourth and fifth among the colleges and universities supporting the Republican candidate.

Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dartmouth, Princeton, and Washington University are other institutions which passed the one thousand mark in votes for the President.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee, polled the highest vote in a single institution in a poll conducted by the Daily Princetonian, Princeton University student newspaper, gaining 1,863 ballots at Texas University. The Democratic leader also polled 1,640 votes at South Carolina University.

The Penn State vote for Governor Roosevelt was also correspondingly high in comparison with returns from other colleges and universities. New York University, which gave the New York State Democratic leader, 768 votes, is the only Eastern college surpassing the vote of 592 ballots given here.

While the vote accorded Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, does not approach the high totals given him at other institutions, it is in proportion to those at other Eastern institutions. Although Thomas carried New York University, Colorado, St. Louis University, Colorado University, and Colorado School of Mines, his greatest support came from Ohio State University, where he received 1,005 votes.

A complete list of colleges and universities voting in a straw poll on the Republican, Democratic and Socialist candidates is given on page four of this issue.

SKILLINGTON GIVES CHAPEL ADDRESS

Altoona Pastor Defines Meaning of "Kingdom of God" at Services in Auditorium Sunday

Dr. James E. Skillington, superintendent of the Altoona district of the Methodist Episcopal church, addressed students and their houseparty guests at the regular Sunday morning services in Schwab auditorium.

The Kingdom of God means in reality the rule of God, Dr. Skillington said. He drew an analogy by telling of the wasteful way coal was used before men learned how to get the maximum amount of efficiency from it, all types of its by-products now being available.

People will not know how to live in a state of perfection until they realize that "they belong to the kingdom of God," he said. It is the realization of this fact that is needed to cure the multitudinous ills and problems of modern living, the speaker said.

A contralto solo sung by Frances Christine '34 featured the musical portion of the chapel program. The selection was a part of the anthem "Hark, Hark My Soul" which was sung by the choir. Miss Willa C. Williamson, of the music education department, carried the solo soprano part of this number.

Present plans call for six tiers, of varying heights to be built into the wall, each of them with a white limestone top. The body of the memorial is to be made of local cut stone, the same as that used in the Allen street entrance gates.

Polling a total of 1,537 votes, President Herbert C. Hoover, Republican candidate for re-election, defeated Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee, by an overwhelming majority of 945 votes in a student poll conducted by the COLLEGIAN last week.

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, with 304 votes, was 238 votes behind Roosevelt's total of 592. In a special faculty poll conducted by the COLLEGIAN at the same time, Hoover was accorded 241 votes to 87 for Roosevelt and 63 for Thomas. A total of 2,825 ballots were cast by the students and faculty members in the five-day straw vote.

The Republican candidate carried forty-nine of the fifty-eight fraternities taking part in the poll and tied with Roosevelt for the lead in one other house. Roosevelt was given a majority in six fraternity groups in addition to tying with Hoover and Thomas in two additional houses. Thomas gained a one-vote margin in the remaining fraternity to defeat the other two candidates for the lead in that house.

Complete returns of the fraternity vote gave Hoover 1,122 votes, Roosevelt 423 and Thomas 197. Fraternity men cast 1,742 ballots for the three candidates.

With 359 non-fraternity men indicating their presidential preference by voting at Student Union desk in Old Main on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, Hoover was accorded 190 votes, Roosevelt 95, and Thomas 73. Wednesday marked the heaviest voting among the non-fraternity students when 115 ballots were cast.

The Republican candidate polled more than three times as many votes as did Roosevelt among women students of the College in the poll. With a total of 333 women voting, Hoover was given 225 votes, Roosevelt 74, and Thomas 34.

Gains 3-to-1 Margin
Similarly, Hoover carried the fraternities with a total almost three times as large as those of Roosevelt while his vote in the non-fraternity group was exactly twice as large as that of the Democratic candidate. A three-to-one margin of victory was registered for the Republican leader.

Ballots for the poll were furnished the COLLEGIAN through the courtesy of the New York Times. The newspaper also furnished ballots for similar polls throughout the country.
