

Between the Lions with The Sports Editor

The controversy as to how best to meet decreased athletic revenues continues to rage in intercollegiate circles. Two theories have been used in answering it. One eliminates intercollegiate competition in sports which have not met with great public or student interest and maintains normal schedules in the more popular sports. The other, which Director Beadek announces Penn State is to follow, cuts all proportionately.

We favor a modification of both ideas. We feel that normal schedules, lasting the length of the season, should be maintained in those sports which have proved most popular with the student body. Participants in the remaining sports should still have the benefits of intramural competition, we believe, with one or two intercollegiate encounters as objectives.

The argument has been raised that student participation should be the only deciding factor. We feel that this argument loses sight of the fact that student participation in intercollegiate sports is limited to a comparatively small percentage of the student body. The great majority of students get their only benefit from intercollegiate schedules out of their enjoyment in watching the games. That they should have the privilege of watching the sports they like best to see is, we believe, a pertinent fact, since the actual participants in minor sports can acquire a similar benefit from solely intramural competition.

Football lettermen, we believe, have made a wise choice in their selection of a 1933 leader. Tommy Slusser has not only proved himself to be a great end; his personality on the field and off has shown him to be a man bearing all the qualities of leadership.

Leslie Seeks Center for Nittany Court Five

MATERIAL SCARCE AT PIVOT BERTH

3 Possible Candidates, Including Wittum, Henning, Moore, May Receive Call

BY W. M. STEGMUER '31
WANTED: One long, lanky Nittany Lion to act as center on the 1933 basketball five. Should be six feet high or more. For particulars see Spike Leslie in Recreation hall at 4 o'clock any afternoon.

If it weren't for Penn State's non-commercial athletic policy, Coach Leslie might wisely advertise in this manner for a man to fill the pivot position. With plenty of forwards and guards available, the center berth seems to be his one big problem.

3 Qualify for Position
Of the three men now attempting to qualify, none seem exactly suited for the position. Carl Wittum, who substituted for Brand last year at center, has been concentrating on that position this year. However, Carl is an out and out defense man and would probably be a lot more valuable as a guard.

This week, Spike is trying to mold Henning into a likely candidate for the center assignment, while Moore, the third possible candidate, will also get a good chance to show what he can do. Unless some six-footer drops in unexpectedly to visit Spike, the new coach will probably make his selection from one of these three.

In daily practice this week, Leslie has been shifting players around to different positions in an attempt to make them as versatile as possible in the theory of the game.

"Mike" Lorenzo, captain of wrestlers... hailed as "Mike" by all, but, (Would you believe it?) was baptized Cancy Frederick... modest, soft-spoken, gentlemanly... on the mats, a crafty, overpowering, and relentless foe... while a senior in high school runner-up for eastern A. A. U. championship in 126-pound class... advanced to semi-finals in intercollegiate last year, losing to Bishop, present national A. A. U. champ... star guard on high school grid team... spends summers wrestling hay and slinging milk... aspires for coaching profession or dairying or stands high scholastically... incidentally, was one of few juniors ever to make College stock-judging team... and Charlie merely says, "He's my boy."

I. M. FINAL GRID GAME POSTPONED

Death Causes Delay of Match Until Early Next Week, Manager Crown Announces

Postponement to early next week of the final game of the intramural football tournament, which was scheduled to be played on New Beaver field tomorrow afternoon with "Spike" Collins officiating, was announced yesterday by Manager William H. Crown jr. '34.

Sigma Phi Epsilon, one of the contesting teams, asked that the game be delayed out of respect for the funeral of the mother of Walter Moser '33, which will be held tomorrow afternoon.

By the margin of a successful field goal attempt, Alpha Chi Rho defeated Sigma Chi in the semi-finals of the intramural football tournament Tuesday night, 3-to-0. Sigma Phi Epsilon won the right to meet Alpha Chi Rho in the finals by defeating Phi Gamma Delta by an 18-to-0 score.

"You're telling ME they're Milder?"

"EVERYWHERE I go, I have to listen to the same thing. 'Try Chesterfields. Honestly, they are milder, and you simply must try them!'"

"Me... try Chesterfields! Why, I haven't smoked anything else. That's how important mildness and better taste are to me!"

"No wonder Chesterfield smokers are so enthusiastic."
