3 SCHOOLS ENTER TEAMS IN BOXING INTERCOLLEGIATES

Syracuse Outfit That Defeated Penn State To Compete At Annual Tourney

INVITATIONS ACCEPTED BY DARTMOUTH, PENN

Harvard, New Hampshire, Yale, Western Maryland, Army, M. I. T. Plan Entries

Early replies from three schools, indicating that they will send boxers to the Eastern Intercollegiate tournament March 17 and 18, have been received by officials here, according to Edwin S. Malmel '33, student manager in charge of arrangements. Syracuse University will enter a full team in the meet, a communication received Friday said. With the addition of Captain Joe Moran, the same team that defeated the Penn State boxers here two weeks ago will compete in the tourney.

Dartmouth, Penn Reply

Although officials at Dartmouth said that the college had no recognized boxing team, they indicated that several of the intramural champions might be worthy of competing in the tournament here. University of Pennsylvania authorities, also wrote that several boxers would probably be entered from that institution. Navy's director of athletics replied last week that the Academy would be unable to enter any representatives in the meet. However, continued negotiations are being carried on with officials there in the hope that they may enter some of their best boxers, according to Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics here.

May Limit Entrants

"If favorable response from non-member institutions continues, the association officials will no doubt decide to select the best men in the various weights to compete in the tournament, instead of having a large number enter," Mr. Fleming said. "This would be necessary to eliminate the undesirable feature of having two rounds a day for two days," he added. Invitations to compete in the tourney have also been extended to Army, M. I. T., and Western Maryland as members of the association, and to Harvard, New Hampshire, and Yale, which are non-members. Replies from these institutions have not yet been received.

DUMONT WILL GIVE 'MONTAIGNE' TALK

To Address Second Commemorative Meeting at 4 O'clock This Afternoon

Dr. Francis M. duMont, head of the department of romance languages, will speak on "Montaigne's Essays, Their Evolution and Philosophy," in Room 14, South Liberal Arts building, at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon.

This lecture is the second of a series in commemoration of the four hundredth anniversary of the birth of the French author. According to Dr. duMont, Montaigne is generally considered the central figure of the third period of the French Renaissance.

The series was opened by Prof. Leslie M. Burrage, also of the department of romance languages, last Friday when he spoke on "Montaigne the Man." In the last discussion, which will be held next Tuesday, Prof. David D. Mason, of the department of romance languages, will speak on "Montaigne's Influence on European Literature and Philosophy." All meetings will be held in Room 14 South Liberal Arts.

PETERS TO ATTEND MEETING

Dr. Charles C. Peters, director of educational research, will attend the annual meeting of the New York University junior high school educational conference in New York City Friday and Saturday. He will preside at a round table conference of educators, leading a discussion on the topic, "The Place of Indoctrination in Education."

ARCHITECT GIVES TALK HERE

Discussing the prospects of landscape architecture as a profession, Ralph Griswold, a practicing professional landscape architect from Pittsburgh addressed a meeting of the Tenth society Friday.

Winter Concert Nets $43 for Loan Fund

Approximately $43 was added to the Student Loan Fund Sunday afternoon, when students contributed their second free will offering at the Blue Band Winter concert in Schwab auditorium, according to John H. Good '33, who is in charge of the collection.

Sunday's receipts raise the total presented to the fund at the first two concerts this year to almost $150. The success of the new move to fill the need for immediate money for student aid insures the continuance of the system at the next four concerts this year, Good stated.

MORRIS TO SPEAK AT COMMENCEMENT

Former Ambassador in Japan Will Address Graduating Class on June 5

Dr. Roland S. Morris, Philadelphia lawyer and former ambassador to Japan, will address the 1933 graduating class at the annual commencement exercises in Recreation hall on June 5, President Ralph D. Hetzel has announced. No other plans for the exercises have yet been completed.

Born at Olympia, Wash., Dr. Morris was educated at Princeton University, and has received degrees in law from the Universities of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Temple, and Princeton. In 1924 he accepted a position as professor of international law at the University of Pennsylvania.

Began Practice in 1899

Dr. Morris began his law practice in Philadelphia in 1899, and in 1904 became a member of the Pennsylvania state board of law examiners. He is also a member of both the American and Pennsylvania Bar associations.

In 1917 Dr. Morris was appointed ambassador to Japan, a position which he held until 1921. During the year immediately following the signing of the Armistice, he was sent on three different occasions on special missions to Siberia by President Wilson.

He was elected a delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1908, and has served as a delegate three times since then. He was chairman of the Democratic finance committee in 1908, 1916, and was state chairman of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania from 1913 to 1916.

FACULTY, STUDENTS TO FORM STAMP COLLECTORS' GROUP

Organization of a stamp collectors' club at the College will be considered by faculty members, students and others interested in the hobby at a meeting in Room 318, Old Main, at 7 o'clock Thursday night, according to H. Clay Musser '25.

"There are several members of the College faculty who are actively engaged in the hobby of collecting stamps," Musser said, "and those sponsoring the formation of the club are of the opinion that there are many philatelists among the students who would be interested in such a movement. The club would increase interest in the hobby and be of mutual benefit to all members," he added.

Routine, Impromptu Buck and Wings Find Way Into Thespian Rehearsals

"No, no, no, no, NO!" shouts Kennedy. "That wouldn't suit me if it amounted to something." And so the chorus repeats and repeats until the difficult cross-leg-pivoting with an alternating soft-shoe, heel-toe, double tap is mastered, without exception, all down the line. You guessed it. It's a Thespian rehearsal. "Now let's do this thing right, cast. Some life, some approximate drama, please."

The cast responds. Two lines are repeated. Someone dashes in from a side exit looking for all the world as if he belonged in the scene. He looks at Soek. Soek stares at him, a sign to be observed and noted, if you interpret well. "Hey, am I not in this here now scene?"

"Hey, listen..." In the meantime Malmel and Edwards have swung in to some unusually odd and indescribable dance number without motivation or forethought. It may consist of an interpretation of Mary Wigman and Le Dame, or, if the situation and hour permit, a revised negro spir-

35 MEN SELECTED TO COMPETE IN GLEE CLUB CONTEST

Will Represent Penn State at Seventh Intercollegiate Meet March 17

GRANT NAMED STUDENT LEADER FOR OCCASION

8 Colleges, Universities Plan Entries—Each Group Must Sing 3 Selections

Thirty-five men have been selected to represent the Penn State Glee club at the eighth annual State Intercollegiate Glee club contest, to be held in the Academy of Music, at Philadelphia March 17, according to Prof. Hummel Fishburn, acting head of the department of music. Richard W. Grant Jr. '34, will assume duties as student leader of the Penn State glee-men.

Lafayette, University of Pittsburgh, Moravian College, Haverford, Temple University, Juniata, and the West Chester State Teachers' College will compete in the contest which is held under the auspices of the Philadelphia forum.

Will Give 2 Concerts

The college glee-men will seek honors for the seventh time, having lost only in 1930 to Lafayette by four tenths of a point. Three songs will be required of each unit competing. The first will be determined by drawing a number from a box, second by college choice, and third, a college song. The Penn State Glee club has selected "Blue & White" as its College song.

Before competing in the contest, the glee-men will give concerts at Radnor and Darby on March 15 and 16. As additional features, William H. Stine '33 will sing several baritone solos, and Marian G. Blankenship '36 will play harp selections.

Singers Named

First tenors are Thomas W. Averell '33, John H. Good '33, Richard J. McFalls '33, Richard C. Schlaak '34, John H. Freder '34, Marvin L. Eshelman '35, William E. Rambo '35, Robert H. Woolston '35, William H. Linton '36 and Robert C. McCreary '36. Second tenors include Peter W. Fletcher '34, Curtis J. Patterson '34, Charles T. Potts '25, Paul S. Souder '35, Ebert L. Badger '36, Frederick A. Locke '36, and Harold Z. Snyder '36.

The next lecture in the series will be given by Dr. Paul Blanshard, civic reform leader in New York City, next Tuesday night. His topic will be "Technocracy Versus Socialism." Talks scheduled later in the month by Dr. Elwood C. Davis, of the School of Physical Education and Athletics, and Dr. George W. Hartmann, of the School of Education, will complete the series.

W. A. A. TO ERECT CABIN NEAR SHINGLETOWN GAP

Construction Work Will Start When Weather Conditions Permit

Plans for the Women's Athletic association cabin to be erected near Shingletown Gap have been completed and actual work of construction will begin as soon as weather conditions permit, according to Harriet R. Henrie '33, president of the W. A. A.

The building, which will be available to all women students, will be situated near the Andy Lytle cabin and will contain a living-room and kitchen on the main floor, with a sleeping loft above. A huge fireplace is included in the plans.

The W. S. G. A. senate has voted a loan of two hundred and fifty dollars toward the completion of the cabin, which will probably be finished before the end of the present school year.

NEW MANAGER TAKES OVER CATHAUM, NITTANY THEATRES

Maurice A. Baker, of Asbury Park, N. J., assumed active charge as head of the Cathaum and Nittany theatres yesterday, succeeding George W. Sullivan '20, who becomes manager of a Huntingdon theatre.

In addition to two years experience at South Bend, Ind., the home of Notre Dame University, Mr. Baker has managed theatres in Miami, Fla., New York City, and Richmond, Va.

STOVER NAMED POSTMASTER

Suey Z. Stover has been named to succeed George R. Glenn as postmaster here. Mr. Stover was notified of his appointment Saturday.

Lopez Speaking 'Morale at Hop Merits Praise'

"If the students here drink heavily, they carry it well," Lopez speaking during an 'intermission interview' at Sophomore Hop while dancers rested in booths and waited for the debonair maestro to resume his 'melody with rhythm.'

Concerning the conduct of the dancers, Lopez said, "The morale here is 100 percent, there is no evidence of the rowdiness which so often characterizes college functions. I am highly pleased with my audience," he concluded.

"Less Tiger Rag and more Moon Song," asserted the orchestra leader smilingly in commenting on the trend of modern jazz. "Music is tending toward rhythms of the slower type with reeds dominating and brass in the background," he added.

DENGLER TO GIVE FORUM LECTURE

'Culture and the Arts' Chosen As Subject of Talk by Department Head

Dr. Robert E. Dengler, head of the department of classical languages, will speak on "Culture and the Arts" in the Home Economics auditorium at 7 o'clock Thursday night. The talk will be the second of the Forum series on "Aids to Significant Living."

In his talk, Dr. Dengler will discuss and develop the place that culture and art occupy in the modern world. The series of talks is being sponsored by the Penn-State Christian association.

Came Here in 1920

The speaker received his bachelor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1915. He took graduate work at the same institution in 1917 and in 1920. In 1927 he was awarded his doctorate there. In 1918 and 1919 he was in France during which time he served in the American Expeditionary Forces, and studied at the University of Paris.

Dr. Dengler has been in the classical languages department here since 1920. He is a Fellow in the American association for the Advancement of the Sciences, a national officer of the American association of University Professors, and a member of several honorary fraternities, including Phi Beta Kappa.

ELM TREES TO COMPLETE CAMPUS LANDSCAPE SCHEME

With the planting of two mature American elm trees in front of Old Main yesterday and Saturday, the landscape scheme of the main campus has been completed, according to William W. Trainer, Supervisor of Landscape Construction.

The trees were included in the front campus plans drawn up two years ago by Thomas W. Sears, College Advisory Landscape Architect, but were not procured for planting because of high prices prevailing at that time. The trees were shipped here from Rancho, N. J.

Earn as Much as Possible, Borrow Balance for Education, Alumni Say

A judicious combining of earning as much as possible and borrowing the rest is the advice offered by prominent Penn State alumni to students who do not have sufficient funds to go through college.

Twenty of the list of outstanding graduates who answered a COLLEGIAN questionnaire believe that a combination of the two is the best method. Ten advise working to earn all of the necessary funds.

Only two alumni think that the needy student should borrow all of the money needed to finance his years in college, while four indicate that it is more desirable to stay out long enough to earn sufficient money to go through all or several years of college.

Five say that working out of college a year or two and then earning money while attending college is the best, while eight believe that the three methods should be combined. Of the fifty-two alumni who answered the questionnaire, thirty-three earned part of their college expenses, eight earned all of the necessary funds, while eleven did not earn any of the money needed for their expenses. Of those who worked, ten earned the money during the regular

WALLER WILL GIVE L. A. LECTURE AT 7 O'CLOCK TONIGHT

'Professor Looks at Himself' Selected as Topic for Second of Series

SPEAKER HAS DEGREES FROM 3 UNIVERSITIES

Sociologist Affiliated With 2 Other Institutions Before Coming Here

With "The Professor Looks at Himself" as his topic, Dr. Willard P. Waller, of the department of economics and sociology, will deliver the second of the Liberal Arts lectures in the Home Economics auditorium at 7 o'clock tonight.

Dr. Waller, who has held his position here since 1921, was an instructor in sociology at the University of Pennsylvania and assistant in sociology at the University of Nebraska before coming here.

Holds 3 Degrees

After being graduated from the University of Illinois he received his master's degree from the same institution. Later he was awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Pennsylvania.

The speaker has conducted sociological research work in every branch of the field, while papers on his observations have been read before the American Sociological association, of which he is a member. He has also contributed articles to sociological and educational journals.

To Discuss Social Forces

Dr. Waller is also author of two books, "The Old Love and the New," a study in divorce and readjustment, and "The Sociology of Teaching," a sociological treatment of that profession. Both books are widely used as references in the study of the divorce problem, and the teaching profession.

Discussing the social forces that are brought to bear directly and indirectly on the college teacher, the Liberal Arts lecturer will show how the professor reacts to such coercion in the light of his own estimate of his social function.

Continuing the lecture series on March 21, Dean Frank C. Whitmore, head of the School of Chemistry and Physics, will speak on the habits of atoms. "This Talking World" will be the subject of the fifth lecture by Herbert Koopp-Baker on April 4.

CANDIDATES FOR BUSINESS STAFF WILL MEET TONIGHT

Freshman candidates for the business staff of the COLLEGIAN will meet in Room 318, Old Main, at 7 o'clock tonight.

Prof. Merritt M. Harris, of the department of English composition, will address the candidates. Active competition will start immediately.

4 REMAIN IN COMPETITION

Finals for the interfraternity bridge tournament will be run off this week with Alpha Kappa Phi, Delta Sigma Phi, Phi Kappa Phi, and Theta Chi remaining in competition.

Banks, College Ready For Action in Crisis

Standing ready to act at a moment's notice to prevent any acute inconvenience because of the present banking crisis, the College, leading merchants, and bank officials are carefully surveying the situation and waiting for further government instructions, according to reports late last night.

"Even though the situation was forced upon us by the nation-wide strained banking conditions, we are willing to go the limit to alleviate the crisis," banking officials said. The issuing of some temporary medium of exchange had been considered but it was decided to wait further national and state developments in the situation.

I. F. SONG CONTEST SET FOR THURSDAY

'Nittany Lion' Required of Each Fraternity—Group Number Limited to 20 Men

Penn State's first interfraternity songfest will be held in Schwab auditorium at 8:30 o'clock Thursday night, according to Wayne R. Varnum '34, chairman of the affair. No admission fee will be charged.

Each fraternity will sing three songs. Two verses of the Nittany Lion will be required, while the other two may be fraternity songs. Size of the groups has been set at from twelve to twenty men from each house.

Special Features Planned

As a feature of the program following the first group of songs by competing fraternity groups, M. Dorothy Johnston '33 will sing several selections. After the last group of competitors has completed its selections, the Varsity Quartet, composed of Richard C. Schlaak '34, first tenor; Curtis J. Patterson '34, second tenor; William H. Stine '33, baritone; and Robert C. Boyer '33, bass, will sing three selections, while the judges are determining the contest winner.

Because of the absence of Director Richard W. Grant, of the department of music, no Student Sing will be held this year. The winner of the songfest will be announced Thursday night.

Dr. Carl E. Marquardt, College examiner, has been named as head of the committee on judging, while Prof. Leland S. Rhodes, of the civil engineering department, and W. Jay Kennedy '32 will assist in selecting the winning fraternity. Dress of contestants will be informal, Varnum stated.

WERNER TO LEAD FIRESIDE READING

Leading the final Fireside Session of the year, Prof. William L. Werner, of the department of English literature, has arranged to play phonograph records of readings by Carl Sandburg and Vachel Lindsay at the meeting in the second floor lounge of Old Main at 4:15 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The reproductions read by Lindsay are selections from his own poems, including "The Congo" and "John L. Sullivan." The records were made about a year before the poet's death, and have just been issued. Sandburg has recorded songs and ballads, many of which were collected during his travels in the West, of which one is entitled "The Ball Weevil." Another feature of the program will be a recitation of the ballad "The Dying Cowboy."

The Fireside Sessions included thirteen speakers this semester. Next year it is planned to rename the meetings "Wednesday Readings" because of the confusion resulting in the fraternity fireside sessions conducted by the P. S. C. A.

FACULTY MEMBERS TO MEET

Members of the faculty of the department of German have arranged for a course of informal evening meetings in which to discuss recent German books, according to Dr. Lucretia V. T. Simmons, head of the department.

BOARD OFFICIALS PLAN ALTERATION OF A. A. ELECTION

Student Unit To Conduct Annual Association Balloting For Officers

CENTRAL VOTING PLACE IN OLD MAIN SUGGESTED

Widespread Criticism Prompted Move by Control Group. Wood Points Out

Working in conjunction with the present officers of the Athletic association, Student Board will have charge of the election of officers of the association this spring as a result of a decision reached by the Athletic Board of Control at its meeting here Saturday.

The decision to change the method of election followed a discussion of criticisms of the present system at the Board meeting. Student Board will have charge of the election until the revisions committee of the Board of Control proposes changes in the Athletic association constitution which will eliminate present faults in the election system.

Criticism Prompts Action

Under the new arrangement, the Athletic association election will be conducted in Old Main instead of in the various Schools as has been the custom in the past. The student committee in charge of class elections will also supervise the Athletic association election, according to John A. Wood '33, chairman of Student Board.

A wave of criticism from the student body concerning the present method of electing Athletic association officials prompted the action by the Athletic Board of Control, Wood stated. The discussion preceding the Board's decision revealed that the general opinion was that balloting should take place in a central location and be in charge of disinterested persons, he said.

Will Revive Interest

"The action of the Board will release the Athletic association officers from student criticism, and will revive interest in the activities of the association," Wood said in making the announcement. "It will also eliminate any misrepresentation of the voting rules of the association."

Members of the Athletic Board of Control who attended the meeting included Hugo Bazick, director of the School of Physical Education and Athletics, Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock, Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, Dean Robert L. Sackett, chairman of the faculty committee on athletics, and Prof. R. Adams Dutcher. Alumni and student members in attendance were H. C. McIlveen '07, J. L. "Pete" Mauthe '13, George E. Hesselbacher '16, and John A. Wood '33 and William Hartman '33.
