MASSACHUSETTS SCHOOL
TO SEND 5 CONTESTANTS

Complete Pennsylvania Squad
May Compete—Officials
Plan Meeting

With entries received from Dartmouth, Harvard, and M. I. T. Wednesday, the number of schools which will compete in the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing tournament here next weekend has mounted to five, according to Edwin S. Malmel '33, boxing manager.

In addition, although no official notice has been received from either Army or Western Maryland, both institutions, as members of the association, will send boxers here. Army officials said last weekend that they would probably enter a full team, while it is likely that Western Maryland will send some of its strongest boxers to the tournament.

Dartmouth Enters 2 Men
After indicating last week that they would probably send some of their intramural champions, Dartmouth officials definitely entered two men, one in the 115-pound class and one in the 125-pound class. Harvard's assistant athletic director wrote that because of illness among the squad members, only one boxer, Hines in the 155-pound class, would probably be entered.

Five men were officially entered by M. I. T., according to a letter received Wednesday. The Massachusetts school will be represented in the 115, 125, 135, 145, and 165-pound weights.

Penn To Enter Boxers
University of Pennsylvania authorities have already signified their intention of entering either a full team or a selected group of boxers, while Syracuse officially entered eight men last week. No entries have yet been received from either New Hampshire or Yale.

Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics here, and Malmel will attend a meeting of the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing association at Philadelphia tomorrow morning. Drawings, officials, rules, and other details will be decided upon at the meeting.

An attempt will be made by the officials of the association to keep the entries limited to a perfect bracket of eight men in each weight, Mr. Fleming said. It may also be decided to change the starting time of the Friday afternoon preliminaries from 2 to 2:30 o'clock, and the Friday and Saturday night sessions from 7 to 8 o'clock.

Future College Will Offer
Common Courses--Steidle

Mineral Industries Dean Foresees Uniform
Curriculum for First Two Years

The Penn State of the future will offer a common course of study for all freshman and sophomore students, in the opinion of Dean Edward Steidle, of the School of Mineral Industries.

"I am firmly convinced that present educational trends will eventually lead to a common curriculum for the first two years, with specialized work to be offered in the junior and senior years," said Dean Steidle in an interview Wednesday. "The movement may begin with a universal course throughout the College in the first year and common curricula in the various schools in the second year, but I believe that even the final objective is not far distant."

Dean Steidle believes also that some policy should be established by the College for a minimum percentage of credits to be of vocational, citizenship, cultural or English composition in any given professional curriculum and that the percentages be based on degrees to be granted rather than on a particular school or course. Such a policy would be in keeping with the "Objectives of the College" as recently proposed, he feels.

"I am also convinced that specialized instruction in any field of a given curricula should be limited to thirty credits," declared the Mineral Industries dean. "Adoption of the common freshman-sophomore curriculum would make this a necessity and pave the way for graduate instruction during a fifth year in highly specialized fields leading toward the

DANCE ATTENDANCE

Restriction Gives Fraternities
25 Tickets for Function
Planned March 31

Fraternities participating in the annual Interfraternity ball, scheduled for March 31 at Recreation hall, will be limited to twenty-five tickets each with the privilege of purchasing additional tickets at $1.10 each as a result of a ruling by Interfraternity council at its meeting Wednesday night.

A desire to remedy the usual overcrowded dancing conditions prompted the action of the council. Forty-five houses have definitely announced their intention of taking part in the annual function, with six additional groups still in doubt. Each fraternity attending the ball will be assessed a fee of fifty dollars.

May Sign 2 Orchestras

Two orchestras may be signed to play for the dance, according to Harry A. Bauder '33, chairman of the committee in charge of the affair. Bands which are being considered by the committee include Fred Waring, George Olson, Bert Lown, Bea Pollock, Isham Jones, Paul Trenaine, Ted Black, Will Osborne, and Casa Loma, he said.

A poster contest will be conducted by the committee, with cash prizes of five dollars, three dollars, and two dollars offered to the three best submitted. Posters should be submitted to Bauder at the Alpha Chi Sigma house by Wednesday, March 22.

Discussion of the dance arrangements occupied the major part of the council meeting. In the only other action taken, Robert R. Morgan '33, John J. Voorhees '33, and Theodore S. Rogers '34 were appointed as a committee to investigate costs of hauling garbage from fraternity houses.

HETZEL APPOINTS
GROUP TO REVIVE
ARTISTS' COURSE

Faculty Committee Will Work
With Students in Making
Plans for Series

SMITH NAMED CHAIRMAN
OF INVESTIGATING BODY

Administration Favors Securing
Financial Support From Outside Sources

Another step toward the revival of the Artists' Course here for next year was taken by the administration when President Ralph D. Hetzel appointed a faculty committee Tuesday to work in conjunction with a student group in formulating plans for the series, and for determining a means for financing it.

Raymond H. Smith, College Comptroller, was named as head of the committee, while other members are Prof. Harold E. Dickson, of the fine arts department, Prof. Hummel Fishburn, acting head of the music department, and Prof. John H. Frizzell, head of the public speaking division.

Hetzel Favors Course
The appointment was made at the request of John A. Wood '33, president of Student Council, who named the student committee now studying the matter. Robert M. Maxwell '33 heads the student group. A combined meeting of the two groups will be held within the next two weeks.

In appointing the faculty committee President Hetzel stated that the administration is heartily in favor of a course of a cultural nature which the faculty and students want and will support, but added that the College cannot subsidize such a course in these days of financial distress.

Urges Course Perpetuation
Commenting further on the financing of the series, President Hetzel said, "Particularly in these times we should go slowly in recommending taxes, no matter how worthy the object of the tax may seem." He also urged that the group in charge obtain definite support from faculty and students in advance, and insure the perpetuation of the course for year to year.

The student committee has made an investigation of the methods of financing the Artists' Course in former years here, and of financing plans for cultural series at other colleges, Maxwell declared. Plans for general student assessment and for division of the present debating fee have been proposed by student leaders to revive the series for the coming year.

The Penn State team will argue the negative of "Resolved, that all international governmental war debts including reparations, should be cancelled." The contest will follow the Oregon style of cross-examination.

Miller and Berbatis have been named by Joseph O'Brien, men's debate coach, to make the western trip next week. They will support the negative of the cancellation of war debts question on the tour.

Five debates are scheduled for the trip, including meets with Washington and Jefferson College, Seton Hill and Juniata College in Pennsylvania, and Ohio Wesleyan University and Mt. Union College in Ohio.

BANKS WILL OPEN
TODAY, ISSUE SCRIP

To Carry On Restricted Business—Depositors
May Withdraw Limit of $5.00 From Personal Check Accounts

By W. M. L. STEGMUER '31

State College banks will reopen to transact a restricted business at 9 o'clock this morning and will make payments in scrip. Officials of the two local banks met in joint sessions which lasted until late yesterday afternoon making the decision. The agreement to reopen and to issue the scrip was made in anticipation of further instructions from the national government. Only functions which are now clearly permissible by action of the Treasury department at Washington will be carried on by the banks.

Withdrawals Limited
The scrip will be issued in place of cash to depositors as payment of checks drawn against their personal accounts. However, the amount of the checks will be limited to five dollars, and then, payment will be made only in cases of vital need for food and other necessities. Checks to make payroll payments will also be honored.

Other transactions which the bank officials will now permit are the making of change, free access to private safe deposit vaults, and the privilege of making new deposits in a special trust fund from which withdrawals may be made at any time.

All scrip issued here will be backed one hundred percent by cash in the vaults of the banks.

WOMEN TO REVISE
'32 RUSHING CODE

Plans Would Limit Number of Formal Parties—Silent
Period Proposed

Including a short rushing period of from three days to one week in length, recommended to supplant the present ten-day period, a number of rushing code revisions were suggested by the rushing committee of Panhellenic Council Tuesday night.

With a shorter rushing period, the number of formal parties which each rushee could attend would be limited, the committee pointed out. Under the proposed revisions, all formal parties would be given at the same time and the rushee would attend the party of her choice.

COUNCIL TO INVESTIGATE
UNLIMITED SENIOR CUTS

Baldinger, Gayne, Wise Chosen as
Committee for Proposed Plan

Unlimited cuts for seniors will be investigated by a Student Council committee, it was decided at a meeting of the group Tuesday night. Milton L. Baldinger '33 will head the committee, assisted by James B. Gayne '33 and Benjamin L. Wise '33.

After continued agitation, the unlimited cuts proposal was voted down by the College faculty three years ago. The present council committee will investigate the possibility of reviving the campaign for cuts and will make a preliminary report at a meeting of the council Tuesday night.

President John A. Wood asked council members to cooperate in checking the boobying at the intercollegiate boxing tournament to be held here next week-end. He complimented the conduct of the student body at the Army boxing meet.

STOVER WILL ADDRESS CLUB

Prof. Harnay W. Stover, of the engineering extension department, will address members of the Talon club, at Meadville Tuesday, on the subject, "Economic Aspects of Production." Prof. J. Orvis Keller, head of engineering extension, will speak to the group on April 11.
