W. S. G. A. Will Grant 1 O'clock Permission

Rules Revision Allows Upperclass Women More Liberty

NEW CHANGES TO TAKE EFFECT NEXT SEMESTER

Juniors, Sophomores Permitted Dates Until 10 O'clock On Week Nights

Adopting a more liberal policy for upperclass women, the W. S. G. A. Senate granted all senior, junior, and sophomore co-eds permission to have dates until 1 o'clock on Friday and Saturday nights, regardless of social functions, as a part of a general rules revision passed yesterday. The new regulations will go into effect next semester.

The change comes in line with an attempt to equalize upperclass regulations, and to allow women students greater freedom in social matters, Eva M. Blichfeldt '34, W. S. G. A. president, explained. Eliminating over half of the new year's list of regulations, a more simplified, unified and codified set of rules were adopted by the Senate.

Freshman Rules Changed

On week-days and Sundays women students may remain out until 10 o'clock, while 11 o'clock was set for these nights during College vacations, according to the revised rules. The changes were made upon recommendations by the Senate committee on rules revision, composed of Elsie W. Darlington '33, A. Elizabeth Preston '33, Ethel H. Filbert '34, and Katherine B. Humphrey '35.

More rigid regulations were passed to regulate the freshmen during the first semester until they become orientated. The new rules restrict freshman co-eds to only one 10 o'clock date each week-end for the entire semester, rather than until Christmas, as formerly practiced.

During the second semester two 10 o'clock dates will be granted the freshman women with no requirements made for signing out, which will be necessary for dates during the first semester.

Eight 1 O'clocks Permitted

As in practice now, eight 1 o'clock permissions will be permitted the freshmen during the first semester, while during the second half of the school year they will be allowed one every week-end.

Double social functions will be allowed the freshmen the week-end of all the formal all-College dances, rather than for a limited number, according to the revised code. No date will be allowed the freshman women during the week. The new set of rules also requires them to be in their dormitories by 9 o'clock unless they have signed out for dates.

In accordance with the new W. S. G. A. policy, a radical change will be made in the Move-Up Day ceremonies for freshmen. Customs for next year will be more dignified and befitting for College women students, Miss Blichfeldt declared.

TIN CUPS CHOSEN AS BALL FAVORS

Members of Scarab, Honorary Fine Arts Fraternity, To Sell Dance Tickets

Guests at the Fine Arts Ball in the Armory Friday night, will be presented with specially designed tin cups as mementos of the affair, according to Eugene D. Hegerty '33, committee chairman.

Tickets may be secured from members of Scarab, honorary fine arts fraternity sponsoring the dance as an innovation on the campus. Only a limited number of tickets will be distributed, Hegerty said.

With the Varsity Ten furnishing the music, dancing will be held in a miniature Greenwich Village street. Booths and arcades containing art exhibitions, gaming tables, and other novel features will be erected at the sides of the dancing floor.

Costumes will be required of all those attending the affair, but it may be informal. The Thespian chorus was originally scheduled to stage a floor show, but present plans call for a few numbers by a special dance team composed of H. Grace Baer '34 and J. Ewing "Sock" Kennedy.

Elections Committee Announced by Wood

Six seniors were named as the 1933 men's elections committee by John A. Wood '33, Student Council president, yesterday. Elections this year have been set tentatively for Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, April 25, 26, and 27.

Robert E. Tschan will serve as chairman of the committee with A. Albert Blass, James B. Goyno, Ralph D. Hetzel Jr., Robert M. Maxwell, and Benjamin L. Wise as additional members of the group. An elections code will be submitted to Student Council by the committee within the next two weeks.

SINGERS TO LEAVE FOR STATE MEET

Will Give Concerts at Darby, Radnor Before Contest in Philadelphia

With the eighth annual Intercollegiate Glee club contest at Philadelphia as a climax, the Penn State gleemen will leave tomorrow morning for Radnor where they will make their first concert appearance. Richard W. Grant '34, will act as student leader of the Penn State singers.

Following the first concert, thirty-five selected gleemen will appear at Darby high school, Thursday night. The varsity quartet, composed of William H. Stine '33, Robert R. Boyer '33, Richard C. Schlaak '34, and Curtis J. Patterson '34, will appear at the first two concerts. In addition Stine will sing several baritone solos, and Marian G. Blankenship '36 will play a harp solo.

Originated in 1926 The College gleemen will again seek first honors at the Academy of Music Friday night, having lost only once to Lafayette in 1930 by a narrow margin of four-tenths of a point. On the first decision Penn State was granted the cup, but after the judges recounted the votes, it was awarded to Lafayette. Eight colleges will compete in the contest this year.

The Intercollegiate Glee club contest is becoming more popular each year, according to Prof. Hummel Fishburn, acting head of the department of music. The meet, sponsored by the Philadelphia Forum, was originated in 1926. In previous years the state winner was entitled to appear at the national contest, but it has been abolished this year because of the music festival which will be conducted at the Chicago World's Fair on August 7, 8, and 9.

DENGLER SPEAKS IN FORUM SERIES

Culture, Intellect To Solve Future Social Problems, Languages Professor States

"Added cultural knowledge backed by intellect will be more valuable in solving social problems of the future than the so-called 'practical' methods now applied," said Dr. Robert E. Dengler, of the School of Liberal Arts, in discussing "Culture and the Arts" in the second of the Christian association Forum series on "Aids to Significant Living," Thursday night. "Economics and education fail as sciences because of the presence of the human element," Dr. Dengler declared in commenting on present methods of social analysis. "Social science workers should consider man as being more than an economic machine or a guinea pig," he asserted.

Drawing a parallel between the pure scientist and the truly cultured individual, Dr. Dengler pointed out that both types were similar in that they placed the achievement of an ideal before mere vocational knowledge. He added that in both cases, culture is a pursuit, not an attainment.

"Culture, by appealing to emotion and intellect, prepares one to receive knowledge," the classical languages professor stated. "It aids the individual by giving him a constructive imagination, an ability to evaluate himself and others, a sense of humor, and the faculty of seeing life in the whole," he concluded.

HIGHWAY NAMED ROUTE 5

The new Lakes-to-Sea highway through Atherton street was designated as Route 5 by State highway officials recently.

TENTATIVE PLANS INCLUDE 7 GAMES ON '34 GRID CARD

Scheduling Negotiations Provide 3 Foreign Engagements, 4 Home Contests

LAST ENCOUNTER LISTED FOR NEW BEAVER FIELD

Lafayette, Gettysburg To Face Lions as Schools Renew Athletic Relations

Continuance of the seven-game football schedule policy in 1934 is revealed by an early glance at scheduling negotiations for the 1934 season, which tentatively include contests with Lafayette, Syracuse, Columbia, Lehigh, Gettysburg, and Lebanon Valley, in addition to the University of Pennsylvania game which was announced by university officials several weeks ago.

Four games at home and three on foreign grids are planned by the Athletic association authorities, with the schedule conforming to the policy of the College to meet as far as possible only those institutions which have the same athletic ideals as we have. Two major and two minor opponents will be met on New Beaver field while the three contests away from home will send the Lion gridgers against leading Eastern teams, according to the present plans.

To Play Last Game Here

The innovation of the concluding game on the schedule to be played on New Beaver field, rather than on a foreign field, will be a feature of the 1934 schedule, under the present arrangements. Lafayette, one of the oldest of Nittany Lion football rivals, has been secured for that date, the game marking the return of the Leopards to the schedule after an absence of two years.

Lebanon Valley, traditional first-game opponent of Nittany Lion grid teams, will again open the Blue and White season here on October 6, with Gettysburg College as the probable second-game opponent on the following week-end. Although Gettysburg returns to the Lion schedule for the first time since 1928, the Battlefield institution is another rival of longstanding, for Lion and Bullet grid teams have faced each other on twenty-five occasions since the start of the series in 1891.

Two games away from New Beaver field follow the Gettysburg encounter, the first with Lehigh University at Bethlehem and the second taking the Lion team to New York City for another contest with Columbia University. Both Lehigh and Columbia appear on the 1933 schedule.

Second Game With Penn

Syracuse, which has been met every year since 1922 by Nittany football teams, will be back on the 1934 program as the Alumni homecoming day attraction here on November 3. Next year's Lion-range game will be played at Syracuse under the existing home-and-home arrangement between the two institutions.

Already definitely scheduled for November 10 at Philadelphia, the University of Pennsylvania contest will conclude the Lions' travels away from State College for 1934. Next fall will see their first game with the Quaker City eleven since 1929.

With the selection of the Syracuse game week-end for the annual Alumni homecoming festivities, the Lafayette game on November 17 remains as the logical choice for the Pennsylvania Day encounter. Following the custom of past years, the second or Gettysburg contest will probably be listed as the attraction for the annual Dads' Day.

WOMEN TO HOLD KO-ED KOTILLON ON THURSDAY

Dance Will Combine Annual Costume Affair With He-She Function

With dancing from 8:30 o'clock to 11:30 o'clock, the Ko-Ed Kotillon, combining the annual costume dance and the He-She dance of former years, will be held in the Armory Thursday night.

A novelty dance by H. Grace Baer '34 and Helen C. Whelan '34 and several songs by M. Dorothy Johnston '33 will feature the program. John G. Ronaldo '36 will play accordion solos.

Decorations in green and white will carry out the Saint Patrick's Day theme. The refreshment committee, assisted by members of Owens, will sell ice cream and candy during the evening.

Local Banks Await Permission To Open

State College banks are ready to open for normal banking business as soon as they are licensed to do so by the Federal Reserve bank in Philadelphia. However, up until late last night no definite word had been received by local banking officials as to when they would receive the necessary permit.

Because of the large amount of time required to investigate each bank in the district, the local establishments may not resume normal functions until the end of this week or even later. Until then, officials said that the restricted form of business which they have been conducting since Friday morning will be continued.

PAUL BLANSHARD TO TALK TONIGHT

Reform Director Will Speak on "Technocracy, Socialism" At 8:15 O'clock

Dr. Paul Blanshard, civic reform leader of New York City, will speak on "Technocracy and Socialism" at a Forum meeting in Schwab auditorium at 8:15 o'clock tonight.

The lecturer, who is known for the leading part which he took in the Seabury investigation in New York, spoke here last year on "Racketeering, High and Low." His visit to State College is being sponsored jointly by the Penn State Christian association and the Social Problems club.

To Lead Discussion

Although Dr. Blanshard will not arrive at the College until late this afternoon, he is scheduled to address two other meetings tonight. At 5:30 o'clock he will talk at a Rotary club dinner meeting on "The Roots of Civic Corruption," and following the meeting he will lead a Social Problems club discussion.

Because of the short duration of his State College visit, the reform leader will not speak in any classes as had been planned. The talk in the Auditorium tonight is a part of the Christian association's Forum series on "Aids to Significant Living." Albert L. Diem '35 will act as chairman of the meeting.

For several years Dr. Blanshard has been connected with the national League for Industrial Democracy. He is the author of a number of books including "The British Labor Movement," "Labor in the Southern Cotton Mills." Recently he published a volume in collaboration with Norman Thomas, former socialist candidate for President, called "What's the Matter With New York?" in 1928 and 1929 the lecturer was associate editor of the Nation, controversial magazine.

VARSITY DEBATERS DEPART FOR TOUR

Miller '34, Berbatis '35 Will Oppose Teams From 5 Colleges in Ohio, Pennsylvania

Ernest C. Miller '34 and Angelo N. Berbatis '35 left yesterday morning on a week's debating trip which will include five contests with college teams in Ohio and western Pennsylvania on the question, "Resolved, that all intergovernmental war debts, including reparations, should be cancelled."

Representing the negative side of the question, the team met Washington and Jefferson College orators at Washington, while Penn State's affirmative debaters, Karl H. Strohl '33 and Dan Heagney '33, engaged the visiting Washington and Jefferson team in Room 107, Main Engineering building, last night.

Tonight Miller and Berbatis will debate against the Mt. Union College orators at Alliance, O., and a debate with Ohio Wesleyan University is scheduled for tomorrow night. Seton Hill and Juniata colleges will be met on the return trip. The debates will be conducted according to the Oregon style of cross-examination.

A negative team, composed of Louis F. Hinman '34, Ernest C. Miller '34, and Angelo N. Berbatis '35 won a critic judge's decision over the Upsala College orators in an Oregon style debate in the Home Economics auditorium Friday night. The next home debate is scheduled for April 7, with St. Joseph's College.

DYE TO GIVE TALK SUNDAY

Dr. William S. Dye, head of the English literature department, will address an open meeting at the St. Andrew's Episcopal church Sunday night. His subject will be "The Bible as Literature."

L. F. SONGFEST WON BY BETA THETA PI

Honorable Mention Awarded to Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Chi

Beta Theta Pi fraternity won the first annual interfraternity songfest held in Schwab auditorium Thursday night. The winning group of twenty men sang three songs, "Nittany Lion," "The Dragon," and "Pass the Loving Cup Around."

Although no second and third place winners were named, Delta Chi, Phi Delta Theta, and Pi Kappa Alpha were given honorable mention. Dr. Carl E. Marquardt, College examiner, Prof. Leland S. Rhodes, of the civil engineering department, and W. Jay Kennedy '32, acted as judges for the contest.

Varsity Quartet Sings

Following the selections of the first fraternity groups, M. Dorothy Johnston '33 sang three popular songs. Her selections were "Just Imagine," "Forty-Second Street," and "Why Can't This Night Go on Forever." Edward J. Carr '35 acted as accompanist.

Wayne R. Varnum '34, chairman of the songfest committee, recited a number called "The Cremation of Sam McGee," after the next set of fraternity songs had been completed. Following his recitation, the Varsity Quartet sang "I Come from Alabama," "He Plays the Piano," and "Go Ask Poppa." Nevin F. Decker '34 accompanied the group.

In commenting on the plans for future songfests, Dr. Marquardt said, "We hope that this new move on the part of interfraternity council will meet with even greater success next year. It should be continued as an annual Penn State tradition."

FACULTY TO TALK ON COLLEGE AIMS

School of Agriculture Will Sponsor Educational Discussions This Afternoon

Discussions based on the topic, "Educational Aims of the College," will be given by Prof. Clarence S. Anderson, of the department of agricultural education, and Dr. Stevenson W. Fletcher, professor of horticulture, at a special meeting of the faculty of the School of Agriculture in Room 103, Agriculture building, at 4:10 o'clock this afternoon.

These discussions are the first of a series of eight being held by the faculty of that school during March and April. Professor Anderson will speak on "Education in the Art of Learning and Thinking," while Dr. Fletcher will discuss "Education for Culture."

On Wednesday afternoon, March 29, Dr. Asa E. Martin, of the department of history, will lecture on "Education for Citizenship," and Adrian O. Morse, executive secretary to the President, will speak on "Education for Leadership," in presenting the second series of discussions.

Other members of the College faculty who will speak at the meetings are Hugo Bedek, director of the School of Physical Education and Athletics, and Harry W. Scamans, secretary of the P. S. C. A. Prof. William V. Dennis, of the agricultural economics department, and Dr. Carl W. Hasek, head of the economics and sociology department, will present the final lectures in the series.

Drawings Completed at Meeting of Officials Sunday—Penn State, Army, Syracuse List Full 8-Man Teams

With thirty-nine boxers from seven schools officially entered, drawings for the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing tournament were completed at a meeting of officials in Philadelphia Sunday.

Eight Penn State boxers were among the ringmen listed in the drawings. Johnny Napoleon will compete in the 115-pound division. Mike Zeleznock in 125, Paul Ferrero in 135, Johnny McAndrews in 145, Alex Turnbull in 155, Tom Slusser in 165, "Mutt" Kessler in 175, and Anderson in the unlimited class.

Army officially entered a full team and Western Maryland entered five men to round out the competition between members of the association. Yale listed a bantamweight, a welterweight, and a light-heavyweight to compete as a non-member school in addition to Dartmouth.

Napoleon To Meet Veres Opening hostilities in the preliminaries Friday afternoon, Burkett, Syracuse, will meet Thomas, Yale, in the first of the 115-pound fights; while Brooks, M. I. T., will oppose Dick, Army. Drawing a bye to the semi-finals Friday night, Johnny Napoleon, Lion bantamweight, will take on Veres, Dartmouth, and preliminary winners will fight it out.

Bradford, M. I. T., will enter the ring against Rabinovitz, Dartmouth, in the preliminaries of the 125-pound division, while Wirthsimer, Syracuse, and Mike Zeleznock draw byes to the semi-finals Friday night. The winner of the Bradford-Rabinovitz fight will meet Claines, Army's featherweight entry, in the other semi-final contest.

In the only fight of the 135-pound division preliminaries, Brown, Western Maryland, will meet Wetherill, M. I. T. Aided by a bye, Paul Ferrero, Nittany lightweight, will not appear in the ring until Friday night when he meets the winner of the afternoon bout. Cleveland, Army, will oppose Robbins, Syracuse, in the second semi-final round.

McAndrews Draws Bye

Dal Genio, Yale captain and welterweight entry, will meet Captain Carey, M. I. T., in the only afternoon 145-pound fight, while Hagans, Army, will trade blows with the winner of this bout in the first semi-final round. Captain Johnny McAndrews, riding on a bye to the semi-finals, meets Ross, Syracuse, in the other welterweight fight Friday night.

Alex Turnbull, Penn State's 155-pounder, drew a tough Friday night assignment in Captain Moran of Syracuse, while Keyser, Western Maryland, meeting Shinkle, Army, in the other 155-pound bout. Balash, Syracuse, will face Olson, Army, and Tom Slusser will meet Gorski, Western Maryland, in the first 165-pound fighting Friday night.

Light-heavyweight competition will begin Friday afternoon when Collins, M. I. T., meets Kendall, Army, and Munson, Yale, faces Negroni, Syracuse. The two afternoon winners will fight Friday night, while "Mutt" Kessler, Lion 175-pound entry, will oppose Kaplan, Western Maryland, in the other semi-final bout.

Captain Remus, Army, is paired with Pontecarvo, Western Maryland, in the first unlimited fight Friday night. Anderson, entering the ring for the first time for Penn State, will face Vavra, Syracuse, in the second semi-final heavyweight match.

32 PAPERS ENTER WRITING CONTEST

High School Reporters To Compete For $50 Prize—Entrance Date Extended

Thirty-two newspapers throughout Pennsylvania have already entered the third annual high school reporters' contest being sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity, in conjunction with the newspaper publishers of the State.

Because nearly a score of additional editors interested in the contest requested more time for making arrangements with their high school reporters, the judges have decided to extend the date of entrance until March 18.

Newspapers from the following towns have already entered the contest: Blairsville, Boyertown, Brookville, Brownsville, Charleroi, Chester, Connersport, Duncannon, Easton, Greensburg, Jeannette, Johnstown, Lancaster, Lansford, Manheim, McDonald, and Meadville.

Mercer, Midland, Mount Pleasant, New Holland, Norristown, Quakertown, Sellersville, Soudertown, State College, Tarentum Valley, Towanda, West Newton, Williamsport, and Wilkes-Barre complete the list. Prizes amounting to fifty dollars in cash will be given to the student reporters ranking highest in the contest.
