Rosenberg, Ellstrom, Cole To Enter Finals Of Wrestling Match

Princeton, Lehigh, Yale, Penn, Cornell Place Men in Last Bouts—Injury Stops Kreizman From Entering

By BERNARD H. ROSENZWEIG '34

Three Penn State wrestlers, Rosenberg, Ellstrom, and Cole, advanced to the finals in the Eastern intercollegiate tourney as the result of victories last night at Columbia University.

Flashing great form by easily throwing Dengler of Pennsylvania in the semi-finals Bob Ellstrom stands out as a potential champion when he grapples Richter of Princeton this afternoon.

The other Lion wrestlers to reach the finals are Rosy Rosenberg in the 135-pound class, and "King" Cole in the heavyweight division.

Rosenberg, rolling up a fat time advantage of 6:12 over Jameson of Pennsylvania, remains as the Lions' best bet for the title, since he meets Hurwitz of Cornell, whom he defeated in dual meet competition earlier in the season.

"King" Cole upset the dope in reaching the finals when he registered a victory over Wolcott, of Lehigh last night. In the finals this afternoon he will lock horns with Snowden, present heavyweight title-holder from Yale.

Princeton placed four men in the finals and rolled up three extra points for falls to gain the advantage in the fight for the championship.

Lehigh leads last year's champion, is leading in points scored for falls, with a total of five in its favor.

Coach Spieldel's team received a great setback, when Lou Kreizman, the Lion's strong bid for the 175-pound honors, was unable to compete because of an injured shoulder.

After registering the first point for the Nittany Lions by easily pinning Reber in the quarter-finals, Captain Mike Lorenzo was in turn thrown last night by Lehigh's Captain Peck, 165-pound champion two years ago.

Clayt Cramer Thrown Ellstrom had his toughest assignment in the quarter-finals when he defeated Tretter of Cornell with a 2:28 time advantage.

Inexperienced and competing in the second intercollegiate match of his career, Clayt Cramer was thrown by the fast and clever Snelham of Princeton.

Princeton again proved to be the Nemesis of the Nittany Lions, when the Tiger's pride, Captain Hooker, three weeks ago, pinned Rosenberg in the 155-pound preliminaries.

All but one of the Penn State wrestlers are eligible to fight for second and third honors tomorrow night, since their victors managed to survive the semi-finals.

After being the mainstay of the Lion hurling corps in 1928, Van Atta left intercollegiate competition for professional ranks.

BEN BERNIE'S BAND TO FURNISH MUSIC FOR JUNIOR PROM

The Ole Maestro Will Appear Here as Part of Special Trip on April 30

LOWER ADMISSION PRICE PLANNED BY COMMITTEE

Orchestra Broadcasts Nightly Over WENR—Recently Won Popularity Contest

Ben Bernie, "The Ole Maestro," and his world-famous band, will furnish the music for the Junior Prom on April 28, Herman C. Brandt '34, Prom chairman, announced yesterday.

The well-known radio entertainer will stop here on a special tour of the East and the Middle-West before returning to the College Inn, of the Hotel Sherman in Chicago, where he is booked for the next season.

While the budget for the junior function has not been completed as yet, the price for the dance will be lower than that of last year in accordance with present financial stringency, Brandt declared.

"The Ole Maestro," who leads the highest salaried orchestra in America today, has played at college functions throughout the country, besides appearing on the stage and screen.

Featuring entertainment in addition to the dance music, Ben Bernie for a time toured the Pantages and Orpheum circuits, following which he played for five years at the Roosevelt Hotel, New York.

The Ole Maestro's band and his orchestra after filling an engagement in Hollywood, then went to the College Inn, where he has been playing for the last two seasons.

Ben Bernie also carries with the band a varied list of entertainers. Vocalists of the organization are Pat Kennedy and Frank Pierce.

Syracuse Writer Expects Titlists To Retain Crowns

McAndrews, Moran, Wertheimer Should Keep Championships, Scribe Predicts

By WALTER DIAMOND Sports Editor, Syracuse Daily 'Orange'

Three of last year's intercollegiate champions have lived up to all pre-tourney expectations in the tenth annual meeting of the Eastern association and are now favored to retain the crowns they won at Syracuse in 1932.

McAndrews, after his classy exhibition of boxing by scoring a technical knockout over Wetherill of Penn State, matches blows with Robbins of Syracuse.

If there ever was a close bout carded in the history of the intercollegiate, it is the battle listed between John Napoleon and Ray Burkett for the bantamweight title tonight.

6 SYRACUSE BOXERS REACH FINAL BOUTS

16 Boxers to Compete In 8 Championship Bouts Tonight

Sixteen boxers, including two Penn State ringmen, will meet in the finals of the Eastern Intercollegiate tourney tonight as a result of victories in the preliminary and semi-final rounds yesterday.

In one of the highlights of the night, Johnny Napoleon, Lion 115-pounder who drew a bye into the finals, will meet Ray Burkett, of Syracuse. Burkett showed improved form yesterday afternoon in knocking out Phil Thomas, of Yale.

Al Wertheimer, Syracuse's boxer par excellence who won a close decision from Mike Zelezcock last night, will oppose Clainos, Army entry. The Cadet defeated Rabinowitz, of Dartmouth, in the semi-finals.

Captain Johnny McAndrews, with a tourney knockout to his credit, should have little trouble in retaining his 135-pound title against Jack Robbins, Syracuse lightweight. McAndrews put Wetherill, M. I. T., out of the running in the second round last night.

Another slugging tomorrow night will be the 165-pound fight between Tony Balash, Syracuse finalist, and Andy Gorski, of Western Maryland. Gorski pounded out a decision over Tom Slusser last night and should give the Orangemen plenty of trouble.

Captain Bernie Kaplan, Western Maryland light-heavyweight who defeated Negroni, of Syracuse, in the semi-finals, will face Ed Collins, M. I. T. entry, who knocked out the Army man yesterday afternoon.

Joe Renuis, of Army, yesterday afternoon, is slated to fight "Big Joe" Vavra, of Syracuse, for the heavyweight crown. Vavra knocked out Anderson, Lion boxer, last night.

Alex Turnbull, entered in the 145-pound division for the tourney, topped close decisions this year to three 155-pounders who will compete here. Herb Ross of Syracuse, Shinkle of Army, and Keyser of Western Maryland each claim a dual meet decision over Alex.

George Negroni, Syracuse sophomore flash, knocked out "Mutt" Kessler in the 165-pound bout of a dual meet, but neither boxer both were entered in different classes.

Anderson Loses Anderson, Penn State's heavyweight entry, was conceded little chance against Syracuse's man mountain, "Big Joe" Vavra. After flooring the Lion boxer twice in the concluding bout of the night, Vavra won on a technical knockout after one minute of the first round.

In the first semi-final fight last night, Rabinowitz, Dartmouth's winner in the afternoon bout, and Clainos, Army 125-pounder, went at it hammer and tongs with left and right hooks.

Jack Robbins, Syracuse lightweight, advanced to the finals by gaining a very close decision over Cleveland of Army, who had moved up a weight for the tourney.

Del Genio Wins Decision Two captains with undefeated records, Carey of M. I. T. and Del Genio of Yale, met in the first semi-final 145-pound bout.

Participants Boxed Each Other In Dual Match Competition Earlier This Season

Twenty-six boxers who are entered in the tourney here have met before in dual meets this season, a survey of individual records shows.

In the 115-pound division, Johnny Napoleon, Lion bantamweight, has scored decisions this season over Ray Burkett, of Syracuse, and John Dick, of Army. Burkett knocked out Lester Brooks, M. I. T. in the third round, while Dick won by a forfeit from Brooks.

Al Wertheimer, Syracuse featherweight, defeated Mike Zelezcock, Lion 125-pounder, and John Cleveland, of Army, this year, in addition to knocking out Bradford, of M. I. T. Cleveland, however, will meet none of these men in the intercollegiate, since he's fighting in the 135-pound class.

Jack Robbins, Syracuse 135-pound entry, earned a draw with Wetherill, of M. I. T., in a dual meet this year. Robbins also drew with Paul Ferrero, Nittany lightweight, who will not fight this week-end.

Captain Johnny McAndrews has a decision this year over Hagan, Army, in the 145-pound class, but Johnny does not meet the Cadet this week-end, since he will fight in the lightweight class.

Alex Turnbull, entered in the 145-pound division for the tourney, topped close decisions this year to three 155-pounders who will compete here. Herb Ross of Syracuse, Shinkle of Army, and Keyser of Western Maryland each claim a dual meet decision over Alex.

Army, Western Maryland Trail Orange Team With 3 Men Each for Championship Fights—Yale, M. I. T. Last

By CHARLES A. MYERS '31

After placing seven men, the same number as Syracuse, in the semi-finals, Penn State dropped out of the race for the intercollegiate boxing title here when only two Lion boxers advanced to the finals in fights yesterday afternoon and night.

Army and Western Maryland each topped Penn State to place three boxers in the finals tonight, while Yale and M. I. T. each advanced one man.

Mike Zelezcock, Lion featherweight, fought Champion Al Wertheimer pretty evenly in the first round of the second 125-pound semi-final bout. But he couldn't keep away from Al's skillfully thrown lefts in the second and third rounds, the decision going to the Syracusean.

McAndrews Scores Knockout McAndrews, fighting in his old position at 135 pounds, floored Wetherill, M. I. T., preliminary winner, for an eight count in the first round. In the next stanza, Wetherill clinched continuously to avoid being knocked out, and Referee Grayber stopped the fight after one minute and thirty-one seconds.

Alex Turnbull, conqueror of Ross of Syracuse in the preliminaries, took on Jim Hagan, of Army, in one of the slugfests of the night. Alex won the first round, Hagan the second, but the third, a continuous exchange of rights and lefts, went to the Army entry to give him a close decision.

"Mutt" Kessler was the victim of Captain "Tiger Joe" Moran's twenty-sixth college knockout. The Syracuse leader swung powerhouse left uppercuts and right hooks to floor "Mutt" in the first and second rounds, until the towel was thrown in after fifty-six seconds of the second stanza.

Falling to keep his guard up against the hard right and left windmill hooks of Andy Gorski, Western Maryland entry, Tommy Slusser lost the decision in the second 165-pound bout after a close third round in which both were groggy and swinging wildly as the bell rang. Tom was knocked down for an eight count in the first round, but he came back strongly in the third.

Anderson Loses Anderson, Penn State's heavyweight entry, was conceded little chance against Syracuse's man mountain, "Big Joe" Vavra. After flooring the Lion boxer twice in the concluding bout of the night, Vavra won on a technical knockout after one minute of the first round.

In the only bout in which a Penn State man competed yesterday afternoon, Alex Turnbull settled an old score by gaining a close welterweight decision over Herb Ross, of Syracuse, who defeated him here in a dual meet several weeks ago.

Seven fights, four preliminaries and three semi-finals, were held yesterday afternoon. As a result of these bouts, two M. I. T. and two Syracuse boxers advanced to the semi-final and final rounds, while Penn State and Dartmouth each got a semi-final entry and Western Maryland one finalist.

In the only preliminary match in the 175-pound division, George Negroni, Syracuse entry, pounded Munson of Yale with right hooks and left uppercuts, but could not knock him out. At the beginning of each round, Munson came back strong, but weakened under the blows of the Orangeman to lose the decision.

COLLEGE TO HOLD 1934 MAT TOURNAMENT

Recreation Hall Slated as Site For Eastern Wrestling Meet Next Year

Penn State will be the site for the Eastern intercollegiate wrestling tournament next year, according to a rotation system used by the E. I. W. A. Members of the association will officially name Recreation Hall for the 1934 tourney at a meeting to be held at Columbia University this morning.

Scheduled for a different school each year, the tournament is brought here every eight years. From Columbia, where the tourney is being held this year, it will go to Penn State, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Lehigh, Cornell, Yale, and Syracuse in that order.

According to the rules of the wrestling association, the grappler who loses in the final match in each weight is not automatically awarded second place. The runner-up is decided by a bout between the losing finalist and the winner of a match between the two men previously defeated by the champion in that class.

Points are awarded to the first three wrestlers placing in each weight, the champion receiving five points, the runner-up, three, and the third-place man, one. In addition one point is awarded to the winner of any match in the tourney by a fall.

The 1934 E. I. W. A. tourney will be the second to be held in Recreation Hall, since the national mat tournament was conducted here in 1930, when the Oklahoma Aggies won the national title. The last Eastern intercollegiate held here was in 1926.

The Penn State Glee club won its seventh State title in competition with seven other colleges at Philadelphia last night, according to a special communication to the COLLEGIAN.
