Borough Law May Prohibit Sale of Beer, Wine Here

Local Authorities Plan New Ruling If State Solons Declare 1859 Code Void

Sale of 3.2 percent beer and wine under the recently-passed national beer bill will probably be prohibited in State College, according to borough and legislative officials.

"Although there is still some doubt as to whether sale here will be illegal under an 1859 act, the borough will take independent measures if the situation after April 6 warrants it," said Burgess Eugene H. Lederer Saturday. "If the return of beer lowers the present moral standards of the community, an ordinance will probably be passed against its distribution in town," he added.

1859 Law Prohibits Sale

According to the act passed by the State legislature in 1859, "it shall be unlawful for the court of quarter sessions of Centre county to grant a license to any person or persons for the sale of ardent spirits or malt liquors at any place within two miles of the Farmer's High School of Pennsylvania located in said county." It is also the opinion of Chief of Police Albert E. Yougel that if this law does not become effective, a local ordinance will be passed to prevent the sale of beer here.

John L. Holmes, Centre county's representative in the General Assembly, stated Saturday that he was trying to get an amendment inserted in the State beer bill to the effect that no special or local laws, including the act of 1859, should be repealed. In case this amendment is passed, sale of beer and wine will be prohibited here.

Awaits State Action

No official action on the matter has been taken by the College administration, according to Adrian O. Morse, executive secretary to the president. With several bills before the State legislature this week, officials here are awaiting action in Harrisburg before taking any definite steps themselves.

"It is doubtful," said Prof. Sheldon C. Tanner, of the department of economics and sociology, "whether the act of 1859 prohibiting the sale of ardent spirits or malt liquors would apply to the sale of a beverage which Congress declared to be non-intoxicating. If a license must be obtained from the Centre county court of quarter sessions for the sale of a non-intoxicating beverage, and this is somewhat doubtful, then the act of 1859 would prohibit the sale of a beverage now authorized by Congress within a two-

42 HOUSES TO ATTEND INTERFRATERNITY BALL

Dance Committee Announces Prize Winners of Poster Contest

Forty-two fraternities will participate in Interfraternity Ball Friday night, according to Harry A. Bauder '33, chairman of the function. Lists of men from each house planning to attend the ball must be presented at Student Union desk in Old Main by tomorrow, he said.

Arthur B. Bernstein '33 was awarded first prize in the poster contest conducted by the dance committee with Adam B. Barnhart '33 receiving the second place award, and Willard H. Lowry, graduate student, third prize. Cash awards of five, three, and two dollars were given as prizes.

Casa Loma orchestra and Paul Specht and his Orchestra will furnish music for the annual affair. The Casa Loma band will come here after an extended tour of the East while Specht is now playing at New York City.

Gridiron Banquet Will Take Campus Leaders for 'Ride'

Student campus leaders and faculty members alike will "go for a ride" when Sigma Delta Chi, professional Journalism fraternity, introduces the Gridiron Banquet to Penn State on April 4. Included in the list are Colwell Russell V. Venable, Prof. Harold F. Dickson, Neil M. Fleming, Johnny McAndrews, Norris McFarlane, and John A. Wood.

Skits, songs, and pantomimes will be used by Sigma Delta Chi to satirize campus leaders at the banquet to be held in the University club. An innovation on this campus, the affair is patterned after Gridiron Banquets held annually at the University of Chicago and University of Wisconsin by the Journalism group.

Sidney H. Benjamin '33 will be Roastmaster for the function, and will have charge of the satirizing. Taking the part of the printer's devil, Donald P. Day '33 will represent a former publications man here, and will turn

P. S. C. A. SANCTIONS HANDBOOK MERGER

Proposed Union Obtains Third Vote—W. A. A. To Discuss Proposal Tonight

Additional impetus was supplied to the proposed merger of men's and women's handbook staffs when members of the P. S. C. A. cabinet voted in favor of the plan at a meeting Thursday.

The action of the cabinet marked the third favorable response to the plan by one of the five campus government organizations which must vote in favor of the merger to make its adoption possible. Panhellenic Council and W. S. G. A. members voted affirmatively at recent meetings.

Awaits Final Approval

Although the Y. W. C. A. held its meeting last night, the plan is still pending awaiting the action of the W. A. A., the fifth group. Members of the latter organization will meet tonight to voice final campus opinion concerning the merger.

Epitomizing the resolution for the combination as drawn up by the student handbook committee, clause number two of the draft states, "That the combined handbook be published by the P. S. C. A. and W. S. G. A." The latter organization will represent other women's groups on the campus.

With the approval of the two remaining groups whose sanctions are necessary to the merger, the new plan will be fully accepted. If favorable action is taken by both of the groups, publication of the handbook under the supervision of the combined staff will begin immediately after Easter vacation.

'FROTH' I. F. BALL ISSUE WILL APPEAR THURSDAY

"Interfraternity Interlude," Drawing By D'Agostino, Featured

Featuring an "Interfraternity Interlude" as conceived by Maynard P. Wood '34, and a full page drawing by Joe D'Agostino '30, ex-Froth art editor, the Interfraternity Ball number of the comic magazine will be on sale Thursday night.

In addition to the regular "Mug and Jester" columns and the "With the Editors" section, the editorial staff will present tips for competitors in the Best Dressed Man Contest, in the "Fashion Plate" section of the issue. Two drawings by Don Gordon, who has been contributing to Froth this year, will also appear in the Interfraternity issue.

Following the New Yorker trend in present day cartoons, the art staff will present a drawing following the famous works of O. Soglow. A cut-out cover, displaying the inside cover design, will be used, according to the editors.

Anderson To Manage 1934 Wrestling Team

William A. Anderson '34 was named to manage the 1934 varsity wrestling team at an election held yesterday afternoon. First assistant managers selected for next year are John G. Creighton '35, Melvin J. Fox '35, and Bertram C. Rosenthal '35.

Norris B. McFarlane '34 was selected by the nine basketball lettermen to captain next year's Nittany Lion court five at a meeting Friday afternoon. Boxing elections will be held today.

CO-ED PRIMARIES OPEN TOMORROW

Women Will Nominate W.S.G.A. W. A. A. Officers at Polls In McAllister Hall

Polls for the nomination of officers in the W. S. G. A. and the W. A. A. will be open for all undergraduate women in McAllister hall lobby from 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Eva M. Blichfeldt '34, Ethel H. Filbert '34 and Elizabeth L. Warner '34 will seek the nomination for president of the W. S. G. A., while Doris M. Acker '34, Virginia E. Detwiler '34, Victoria R. Magda '34, and Helen F. Tananis '34 will compete for the nomination of W. A. A. president.

To Nominate for May Queen

Nominating board suggestions for May Queen are Phyllis G. Beidler '33, Betty Price '33, Louise Everett '33, Marjorie G. Grant '33, M. Dorothy Johnston '33, and Laura Belle Lee '33. Two candidates for freshman maid of honor will be placed on the final ballot through open nominations at the primaries tomorrow.

Elsie W. Darlington '33 is chairman of the election board with Lucretia I. Blocher '33, Lucienne M. Buffard '33, and Mary M. Westrick '33 as assistants. The ballot boxes will be in the hands of this committee until the polls close when they will be turned over to A. Elizabeth Preston '33, chairman of the tellers' committee. Helen I. Pollock '33, Emily M. Stehman '33, and Charlotte L. Summers '33 are the other committee members who will count votes and tabulate results of the nominations.

For each office in the W. S. G. A. and the W. A. A., the two nominees receiving the highest number of votes in the primaries tomorrow will be placed on the final ballot for election next Wednesday. The Y. W. C. A. officers will be elected at the same time by members of that organization. Nominations made by the senior Y. W. C. A. cabinet are posted on McAllister hall lobby bulletin board.

KAPPA GAMMA PSI CONCERT NETS $38 FOR STUDENT AID

Approximately $38 was donated to the Student Loan fund at the Kappa Gamma Psi musical concert in Schwab auditorium Sunday afternoon. The total amount received now stands at $232.58, according to Fred Hummel Fishburn, acting head of the music department, who is in charge of the collection.

The musical fraternity presented two guest artists at the concert, as well as selections by the Kappa Gamma Psi orchestra. Miss Ruth Shambaugh, contralto soloist at the First Presbyterian church, Baltimore, and Mr. I. E. Slavkin, violinist, of the Pittsburgh Symphony orchestra, were the featured artists.

P. S. C. A. HOLDS '36 RETREAT

Members of the Penn State Christian association freshman forum and freshman commission held a joint retreat at the Andy Lytle cabin Saturday and Sunday. Prof. William V. Dennis, of the department of agricultural economics, led the discussion group.

'OLD KING COLE' TO MARK THIRTY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY OF THESPIAN ORGANIZATION

Thirty-six years of College dramatics will be celebrated, when the Thespians present "Old King Cole," their 1933 production, in Schwab auditorium Saturday night. Dr. Fred L. Pattee, and John Leete founded the club in 1897 after Penn State students requested some dramatic organization as an extra-curricular activity. One year after the club's inception, Prof. A. Howry Espenshade, of the English composition department, became the director. Although the present organization produces only musical comedies, the Thespians of that day presented "straight" dramas, most of which were of English ori-

THOMAS, SARGENT WILL DEBATE HERE TUESDAY, APRIL 18

Socialist Party's Presidential Candidate To Advocate Economic Reform

SOCIALISM, CAPITALISM CHOSEN FOR DISCUSSION

F. S. C. A. Sponsors Appearance Of Speakers as Forum Series Feature

Norman Thomas, internationally known socialist, and Noel Sargent, of the National Association of Manufacturers, will debate on "Socialism versus Capitalism" in Schwab auditorium, Tuesday night, April 18.

Mr. Thomas will take the affirmative side, and Mr. Sargent, the negative, of the question which formally reads, "Resolved, that in the United States, socialism would be a superior system to capitalism." The debate will be sponsored by the Penn State Christian association as a part of the Forum series.

Will Charge Admission

Although arrangements have not as yet been definitely completed, admission will be charged to meet the expenses involved in conducting the debate. The price of tickets will be announced next week, according to Christian association officials.

Mr. Sargent is a well known advocate of the capitalistic system. He was graduated from the University of Washington and took graduate work at the University of Minnesota. He has been secretary and chief economist for the National Association of Manufacturers since 1920.

Give Radio Talks

Mr. Thomas is best known as a prominent political figure. He has written a number of books including "American's Way Out," and "As I See It." He also edits a periodical pamphlet, "The Socialist's Plans and Programs."

At present, Mr. Thomas is devoting most of his time to literary work. He has written a number of books including "American's Way Out," and "As I See It." He also edits a periodical pamphlet, "The Socialist's Plans and Programs."

HARTMANN TO GIVE LAST FORUM TALK

Educational Psychology Professor Chooses 'College Education' As Discussion Topic

Speaking on "College Education," Dr. George W. Hartmann, of the educational psychology department, will talk at the final meeting of the forum series in the Home Economics auditorium at 7 o'clock tonight. The series is sponsored by the Penn State Christian association.

The address will be a discussion of the aims of higher education and the most effective means of attaining them. Dr. Hartmann will defend the thesis that the function of higher education is not just to effect social changes or to prepare for participation in adult activities, but actually to modify and improve the social order itself.

After his graduation from Columbia University in 1924, the speaker continued his work there, receiving his doctorate in 1928. While in college he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi, honorary scientific fraternity. He is also a member of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education fraternity.

Dr. Hartmann came here in 1928, and during 1930-1931 obtained a leave of absence to accept a Social Science Research council fellowship at the University of Berlin.

Junior Blazer Price Announced as $5.50

A price of five dollars and fifty cents for this year's junior class blazers was announced yesterday by Grant A. Colton '34, chairman of the blazer committee. Any member of the student body, regardless of class, may purchase blazers this year, Colton said.

Made of white gabardine material, the blazers will be trimmed with a thin blue piping. Orders will be taken at Stark Brothers and Harper beginning next Monday. A deposit of three dollars will be required with each order.

COLLEGE CONCLAVE LEADERS SELECTED

Convention Date Set for April 21, 22—7 Schools Accept Council Invitation

With seven institutions definitely accepting and three others expected, committees have been appointed to make arrangements for a convention of Pennsylvania colleges and universities here on April 21 and 22. This is the first time that such a meeting has been held in this State.

Delegates from Bucknell, Dickinson, Drexel, Franklin and Marshall, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania College for Women, and Temple will attend the conference, while representatives from Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, and Carnegie Institute of Technology are also expected. Discussion of current campus problems and the formation of a permanent Pennsylvania association of colleges and universities will be taken up at the two-day meeting.

Wood Directs Plans

General plans for the convention are under the direction of John A. Wood, senior class president, who suggested the idea to student leaders in other colleges. Ralph D. Hetzel jr. '33 will arrange the discussion groups, A. Albert Baess '33 and Harry M. Wilson '33 will handle the correspondence, and Charles A. Landis '33 and Herbert E. Longenecker '33 will direct the housing of the delegates, while Wilson will be in charge of the entertainment.

Committee chairmen appointed to arrange agenda or discussion groups are Walter C. Moser '33, athletics; Milton I. Baldinger '33, honors courses and honor system; Robert E. Tschan '33, publications; R. Henderson Bentley '33, intramural sports; William S. Lenker '33 and Messer, athletic and class finances; and Eva M. Blichfeldt '34 and Wood, student government. Faculty advisers have also been named to assist in each group.

Three juniors were appointed by Wood to assist him in making a nation-wide survey of opinion on college associations and student government mergers in order to prepare a report for presentation at the national convention of the National Student Federation of America next fall. Herman C. Brandt will head the committee, with Jerome Parker and Charles A. Myers as additional members.

BARNARD, HOLMES TO MEET BUCKNELL ORATORS TONIGHT

Margaret E. Barnard '34, and Euclid M. Holmes '35 will represent Penn State in a women's debate contest with Bucknell at Montoursville tonight on the question, "Resolved, that all intergovernmental war debts, including reparations, should be cancelled."

Debating the same question, Sarah A. Ferree '33, and Marie G. Mahoney '34, defeated Louis W. Schatz '34, and James W. Townsend '35 at the Renovo high school Thursday.

PATIENTS GIVEN TREATMENT

More than 2,400 students were treated for minor ailments by the College health service during the month of February, Dr. Joseph P. Ritennour, College physician, announced yesterday.

P.I.A.A. Cage Semi-finalists Will Battle Here Tonight

Altoona, Pittsburgh South High School Teams To Meet in Western Section Tilt

An avalanche of high school basketball fans will descend on State College today to witness Altoona high and South high of Pittsburgh battle in Recreation hall at 8 o'clock tonight for the right to represent the western part of the State in the final game of the interscholastic race.

Thousands of rooters for the opposing teams are expected to attend the championship game of the region. Both the Altoona and the Pittsburgh officials have announced that special busses have been chartered to convey high school court fans to the scene of the battle in time for the opening tip-off.

No arrangements for an advance ticket sale had been made with local athletic officials up until late yesterday afternoon. The price of tickets had not yet been set, but Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, expected that an admission price of fifty-five cents, including tax, would be charged.

Decision Unexpected

While the cream of the crop of court teams from the West are fighting it out in Recreation hall tonight, Lower Merion high and Scranton Tech will be playing for the championship of the East on an Allentown court. The winner of this game will then oppose the team that comes out on top in the local tilt.

The decision to hold the western semi-final game here was an unexpected move. The contest was originally scheduled for a Pittsburgh court, but Altoona officials objected and requested a neutral site for the game. Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, received word from the P. I. A. A. Saturday afternoon that the schools had agreed on State College as the location of the semi-final tilt.

Close Game Expected

The Altoona team defeated Boswell high last week to enter the regional title game, while South high earned the right to oppose them by downing DuBois Friday night. In the East, Lower Merion nosed out Lancaster before facing Scranton Tech in the final eastern game.

As is usual in P. I. A. A. elimination games, tonight's spectators will probably see a close and fast contest since neither South high nor Altoona is conceded overwhelming odds. Pittsburgh writers, naturally optimistic

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE TO HEAR COLE THURSDAY

Sigma Xi Will Sponsor Address by Wisconsin Genetics Professor

Dr. Leon J. Cole, head of the department of genetics of the University of Wisconsin, will address students and faculty members of the School of Agriculture on the research work of his college at a lecture Thursday. The talk is sponsored by Sigma Xi, honorary scientific society.

Dr. Cole, a graduate of Michigan State College, University of Michigan, and Harvard University, has served on faculties of three Eastern universities. In addition to being chief of the animal husbandry division of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, he has also been investigator of the United States Bureau of Fisheries. While here, Dr. Cole will be entertained at a dinner by members of the faculty who are alumni of the University of Wisconsin. More than thirty members of the College faculty, including Commencement speaker, are in direction of Prof. Arthur C. Cloetngh, of the English literature department.

PLAYERS GROUP CALLS ADDITIONAL CANDIDATES

'Berkeley Square' Comedy Chosen As Mothers' Day Production

Two more productions will be given by the Penn State Players to conclude the current season. All students interested in signing up for tryouts may do so in Room 413 Old Main from 1:30 to 5 o'clock this afternoon.

"Berkeley Square," a fantastic comedy-drama by John L. Balderston, will be given Mothers' Day, May 12. It will be produced under the direction of Frank S. Neusbaum, of the department of English composition. "The Devil's Disciple," a satire on Puritanism by George Bernard Shaw, has been selected the final production of the year. It will be given during Commencement week under the direction of Prof. Arthur C. Cloetngh, of the English literature department.

House Presidents as I. F. C. Representatives Proposed

A proposal that the president of each fraternity should serve as the senior representative of his group in interfraternity council, made at a meeting of the Fraternity Presidents' association last week, received the enthusiastic approval of Robert C. Rinehimer '33, head of the presidents' group, in an interview Saturday.

Foreseeing a general strengthening of the council as the major result of such a move, Rinehimer is of the opinion that action should be taken by council as well as the individual fraternities to adopt the proposal during the present semester.

The president of the fraternity has a more direct contact with the affairs of his own house than any other person, and he has more power to act on proposals that come before the council than the other representatives," Rinehimer declared. "With the presidents as the senior representatives, many of the matters which now must be referred to the houses before a vote is taken, could be decided the same night they are brought up." The proposal can be made effective by compelling all present junior representatives to withdraw in favor of the 1933-34 house presidents, Rinehimer pointed out. The present system of electing junior representatives for next year from the present sophomore class would be retained under this plan, he added.

Lack of interest on the part of senior representatives, is another objection to the present system, the Fraternity Presidents' head believes. Since the fraternity president is responsible for the progress of his house, he will be more likely to attend council meetings and take an active part in its activities, Rinehimer pointed out. Unanimous approval of the proposal was voiced by the Fraternity Presidents' association in making the recommendation to the Council.
