A. automatically becomes the new treasurer of the organization. In the Y. W. C. A. elections, in which voting was restricted to members, Louise A. Halbach '35 won the vice-presidency over Gretchen I. Marquardt '35 by a vote of 209-to-79, while Selena A. Wunderlich '36 secured the post of secretary by polling 186 votes to the 102 of Anne M. McCaughey '36. Claire M. Lichty '35 was elected treasurer, defeating Frances T. Paschall '35 by 156 votes to 132.

Class attendants to Phyllis G. Beidler '33, as May Queen, and members of the hemlock chain who will take part in the annual May Day exercises on Holmes field, May 13, were announced Wednesday.

S. Louise Everitt '33 and Laura Belle Lee '33 will be the senior attendants. June L. Brown '34 and Ruth M. Harmon '34 will represent the junior class in the procession.

Sophomore members of the train will be Lillian J. Eilers '35 and Ruth Everett '35. Maria Knepper '36 and Theima A. Rosini '36 have been named freshman attendants, while A. Frances Turner '36 was elected maid of honor by popular vote.

Heralds, Jesters Listed
Heralds for the procession will be Margaret Lewis '36 and S. Elizabeth Shaffer '36, Margaret B. Oschman '36 and M. Betty Springer '36 will act as jesters.

Seniors named for the hemlock chain are Mildred E. Bachman, E. Ruth Bartels, Jeanne G. Barwis, Angeline Bressler, M. Elizabeth Brice, Myrtle H. Bingham, Ruth Crowthers, Elsie W. Darlington, and A. Elizabeth Endress. Marjorie G. Groat, Doris E. Hazelton, Harriet R. Henrie, Helen A. Hoover, and Marion P. Howell are also included.

Additional members of the chain are Alice E. Huff, M. Dorothy Johnson, Elizabeth M. Kay, Lillie A. Kell, Mary B. Laramy, Anna M. Light, Louise J. McClain, and Isabel McFarland. Others named were Helen L. Martin, Iona Pearce, Margaret Pearce, Marian E. Potts, A. Elizabeth Preston, and Susan B. Reeves. The list concludes with Leonora Schwarze, Marjorie E. Smith, Harriet E. Soper, Charlotte L. Summers, Marjetta Triggellas, and Wanda E. Williams. Selections for the procession were made by Miss Marie Haidt, women's physical education director, and Margaret E. Barnard '34 and Betty B. Thompson '34, co-chairmen of the May Day committee.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST TO TALK

DR. JETTE TO END PRIESTLEY SERIES

Metallurgy Professor Will Conclude Physical Chemistry Talks in Amphitheatre Tonight

Continuing his discussion on the "Rate Determining Processes in Metallurgy," Dr. Eric R. Jette, of the department of metallurgy at Columbia University, will close his series of five Priestley lectures in the chemistry amphitheatre at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Dr. Jette, who has done extensive research work in both the fields of physical chemistry and metallurgy, began his talks on rate determination processes last night. He discussed in detail the type of information which must be used to supplement the thermodynamic calculations described in previous lectures.

Herbert E. Longenecker '33, president of Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemistry fraternity, will act as chairman for the closing lecture. Immediately preceding the talk, Dr. Jette will be the dinner guest of Sigma Pi Sigma, honorary physics fraternity.

Dr. Jette's lectures were the seventh in a series of Priestley lectures inaugurated in 1926. His discussions covered the general topic of the relationship between physical chemistry and metallurgy.

L.A. Students Use Greatest Number Of Library Books

Liberal Arts students use the greatest number of books in the College library, a survey taken by the library staff at one particular time during the month of February indicated. Education students were the next to the heaviest borrowers of books at the library.

The School of Liberal Arts, with 924 students, was credited with 1,346 books, a percentage of 1.41, while 822 Education students were using 709 volumes at the time for a percentage of .86. The School of Engineering, with 1,012 students, had an average of .42 on the basis of 427 borrowed books, and the Agriculture students, numbering 723, had a percentage of .34 with 350 books.

About 496 Chemistry and Physics students used 139 books, or 28 percent; the 197 students in the Mineral Industries School drew out thirty-seven books for a percentage of .19; while the School of Physical Education and Athletics was accredited with twenty-six books for thirty-six students for a percentage of .72.

Of the 3,498 books out when the census was taken, 2,934 were charged to College students, and 546 to townspeople, including faculty members, Willard P. Lewis, College librarian states. As the Agriculture, Chemistry and Physics, and Mineral Industries schools have their own technical libraries, the last largely represents outside cultural reading for those schools, in the opinion of the librarian.

BOROUGH TAXES REDUCED

Reduction of the borough tax rate by two mills was passed by the borough council at a meeting Monday night.

The spirit of the nation has changed from an attitude of fear to one of hope and courage. All signs point forward and upward. Aiding in this recovery will be the strong, accredited banks of the nation; each one a tested and accepted unit in a new and stronger banking system.

'YELL' CANDIDATES TO MEET MONDAY

Cheerleading Staff Aspirants Will Organize at 7:30 O'Clock in Old Main

With the ultimate aim of organizing the Penn State cheerleading corps to a degree of efficiency never before attained, a meeting of all sophomore candidates will be held in Room 417, Old Main, at 7:30 o'clock Monday night, according to William H. Hartman '33, head cheerleader.

"If the sophomore candidates can get the proper spirit at the outset, the present staff believes that our successors will retain their enthusiasm," Hartman stated. "That is what we intend to discuss at the first meeting."

To Elect Head Cheerleader
Elections to the position of head cheerleader will be held the last week in April, Hartman stated. First assistant cheerleaders, elected from the present junior staff, will be selected at the same time.

Under the present system of organization, three senior cheerleaders are elected, one as head cheerleader. Three second assistants on the staff are elected to junior positions at the eliminations held at the end of the second semester of the candidates' sophomore year.

On Other Campuses

College students do some good. Bing Crosby's latest hit, "You're Just a Beautiful Melody of Love," is reported to have been written by a University of Pennsylvania student. And what's more, a co-ed at Western Maryland College is said to have inspired it.

Academic specialization has reached unbelievable heights at the University of Texas. There a thirty-minute class in "Sleeping" has been instituted, each student being supplied with a cot in the classroom.

Puritanism is slowly disappearing in New England. According to reports, Middlebury College in Vermont has added a course in love-making. Not only is theory discussed, but technique is demonstrated by seniors.

Most college romances are short-lived, if a survey at the University of Iowa can be taken as authoritative. It was found that only one of eleven campus engagements culminates in marriage.

Seniors at Rhode Island State College know curves as well as their current events. When requested to list the living figure they most admired, Jean Harlow led ex-President Hoover for first honors.

Socialistically-minded students at the University of Michigan really do things. They have founded a house which is run on cooperative socialist principles.

Co-eds at Michigan State College must have all kinds of privileges. A recent administrative ruling permitted them to stay out until 4 o'clock in the morning after the annual J-Hop there.

The popular musical comedy, "Of Thee I Sing," made a hit with the bookmakers of the student dramatic club at McGill University, Montreal, Canada. But the undergraduate version of the production was called "Off Key I Sing."

Examinations are hard on more than one's nerves, a recent study at Cedar Crest College reveals. It was found that the average student loses one and one-nineteenth pounds during a quiz.

Gambling has taken a new turn at Amherst. It is reported that students there bet on the number of the hymn which will be announced first in chapel.

Cut Recommended in State Appropriation

A ten percent cut reducing State appropriations to the College to $3,708,000 was recommended by the State Senate appropriations committee Tuesday. The original bill as introduced by Senator Harry Scott called for $4,120,000 for the 1933-1935 biennium.

The $3,708,000 figure was the sum included in Governor Pinchot's budget submitted to the General Assembly recently. The appropriation is for general maintenance only and no provision will be made for building projects. President Hetzel has indicated that the College stands ready to cooperate with the State in making the necessary economies.

PUNISHMENT GIVEN TO '36 OFFENDERS

12 Freshmen Will Wear Black Socks, Tie, Dink for Remainder Of College Year

Twelve freshmen will wear customs for the remainder of the College year as part of the punishment imposed upon them for customs violations by Student Tribunal at its meeting Tuesday night. Signs, dresses, bonnets, peach baskets, tin cans, and the writing of customs and the alma mater were listed as other penalties.

Harry W. Bien will write the freshman customs and the Alma Mater one hundred times, while James W. Conahan has been instructed to wear a dress, a bonnet, tin cans strapped to each of his ankles, and the explanatory signs, "Women Did This," and "Tribunal Fooled Me." Vernon D. Cronister is scheduled to cover his head with a peach basket, and to trouble undergraduates with the riddle on his sign, "Guess Who."

"Tribunal Still Functions," will be the sign carried by Richard T. Horsfall, while Frank Iannuzzi will test his script with the writing of the complete customs list one hundred times. Louis Lazzarini is to carry a sign reading, "I Thought Tribunal Was Over," while Donald K. Miller will trail tin cans from his ankles and carry a sign informing the populace that he is "The Big Noise."

The sign to be carried by William M. Murphy says, "I Broke'm All," while that of Charles G. Sharp broadcasts the fact that "I Talk Too Much." Mark J. Sabloski will write the customs fifty times, while Conrad H. Zierdt jr. will wear a dress, a bonnet, drape, toast about his ears, and carry signs reading, "She Done Me Wrong," and "I Wear a Maiden-Form."

CANDIDATES REPORT FOR 'LA VIE' STAFF

Aspirants to Yearbook Board Include 16 Sophomore Men, 17 Women

Sixteen men and seventeen women reported at the initial meeting of candidates for the junior staff of La Vie Wednesday night. Eleven men and thirteen women will compete for the editorial staff, while six men and four women are candidates for business positions.

Additional instructional meetings will be held during next month under the direction of Ernest B. Zukauskas '33, managing editor of the publication. Speakers at these meetings will include Arthur E. Phillips '33, editor; Milton I. Baldinger '33, business manager; Eugene W. Sick '33, circulation manager; and Mary M. Westrick '33, women's editor.

Candidates Listed
Other sophomores who wish to compete for the staff of the yearbook may sign up at future meetings. Spring assignments will be given to the candidates at the end of the instructional period.

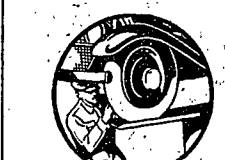

Women aspirants for the editorial staff include Adele T. Aungst, Mary E. Battin, Mary E. Carroll, Anne B. Fagan, Mary E. Freeman, Katherine M. Gorman, and Wilma E. Heineken; Claire M. Lichty, Margaret A. Mining, Mildred E. Smith, E. Marion Tomlinson, Mary A. Wesner, and Florence M. Zerby. Business candidates include Clair-Monna W. Darby, Kathryn M. Hertler, Gretchen I. Marquardt, and Dorothy Perkins.

James B. Beatty jr., John A. Brutzman, F. Lynn Christy, Phillip W. Fair jr., A. Conrad Haiges, Kenneth C. Hoffman, Harold W. Kalb, William Parrish, Burton Rowles jr., and James B. Watson jr. are sophomore men candidates for the editorial positions on the publication. Business aspirants include Leroy J. Bonnell, Fred M. Drother, Edwin J. Grajeck, Merl F. Kimmel, Jacob S. Krakusin, and Robert M. Stanton.

WILL COMPLETE GATEWAY

If weather conditions in the next few days are favorable, the east campus memorial gateway will be completed within two weeks, according to George W. Ebert, superintendent of grounds and buildings. The stone-work of the memorial, which is a gift of the Class of 1925, has been finished and only the cement work remains.

Spirit Day Abolished By Action of W.S.G.A.

Spirit Day, during which co-eds strolled the campus bedecked in ill-matched attire, was abolished by action of the W. S. G. A. committee on customs recently. Freshman women are scheduled to hold a Move-up Day dance on May 5 to replace the customary foxy.

M. Jean Kalar, social chairman of the freshman women, will be in charge of the dance, for which the Varsity Ten will furnish the music. Jane W. Fensler, Ruth P. Longberger, Jane A. Roope, and Betty M. Springer are the freshmen who have been appointed to assist in making the arrangements.

PROF. BAKER GIVES FOURTH L. A. TALK

'We Talk More Than We Do Anything Else,' Speaker Points Out in Analyzing Discourse

Speaking on "This Talking World," Prof. Herbert Koepf-Baker, of the division of public speaking, gave the fourth of the Liberal Arts lectures in the Home Economics auditorium Tuesday night.

"We talk more than we do anything else," the speaker pointed out, "although most of us have little of significance to say." Using a number of anecdotes to illustrate his points, Professor Baker added that "speech radiates from our bodies, and is part of our lives."

As a material background to his talk, the speaker upheld the five criteria of good speech: quality, something to say, purpose, pleasantness, and understandability. The ability to express oneself fully is a real achievement, Professor Baker said.

Tracing the transition of speech through the ages, the professor of public speaking illustrated the gradual rise of various animal noises, which were probably word sentences, to what are known today as the languages.

LEDERER OUTLINES BEER REGULATIONS

place, such place shall be declared a public nuisance and closed.

6. No sale will be permitted to boys and girls under sixteen or eighteen years of age, respectively.

7. Any place of sale wherein any disturbance is tolerated will be declared a nuisance and closed.

8. No one will be permitted to make sales unless he has been a citizen of the borough for at least two years.

In addition to the eight establishments that intend to sell beer and wine, five others are undecided and nine will not sell the beverages. The Old Main Sandwich Shop is among those places in which legal-liquor will not be sold.

Leaders Favor Sale

Although there is no regulation against the serving of legal-liquor at fraternity house meals, this practice is opposed by Herbert E. Longenecker '33, president of the Interscholastic Council, and John A. Wood '33, head of Student Council. Both leaders, however, believe that sale in State College should be permitted, stressing the point that otherwise students would go out of town to unsupervised places.

"Students must remember that any ungentlemanly action on their part will reflect on the entire student body and on the College," Wood said. "They should realize that if they do not handle themselves in a decent manner, it will be necessary for Student Board to impose restrictions."

Earlier in the week President Ralph D. Hetzel expressed his confidence in the good judgment and common sense of the students and townspeople. He emphasized that support of the College is based on the belief that the students are worthy of it, and that any ungentlemanly action would be injurious to the best interests of the institution.
