Tuesday, April 11, 1938

with

and and a second

NITTANY LION BATSMEN LEAVE FOR SOUTH ON THURSDA Between Penn State Nine Will Meet Maryland, the Lions MEN. CO-ED SPORT PENN STATE MANAGERS NAMED Navy, Virginia on Annual Southern Tour Smith, third base The Sports Editor Lohr. shortstop. Hoch, Magda Appoint Students Baseball Mentor To Pry Lid Off Season Middy Team Called One To Conduct Intramural We come to the end of a year's com With Untried Squad Of Strongest in menting on Lion sports matters with Zawacki, first base____ Spring Competition Ĩ mixed reactions. Combined with At College Park

more personal and sentimental feelings is a firm belief that, despite the pessimistic outlook posséssed by many Penn Staters, the future holds a high ing those Eastern institutions with whom Penn State would like to compete most, will come Lion elevens comparable in power and standing to the Hoch stated. great teams of the past.

+ + +

While the farewell spirit is with us, we'd like to get a word or two off our Ling '36 as assistant. actions with Sara B. Bit cases. But, as things stand, now, those of the old guard left—Bob Hig-gins!' Joe Bedenk, Charlie Speidel, Nate Cartnell, Bill Jeffrey, Leo Houck, and Bob Rutherford—are atl Margaret M. Westrick '33 will be ledge of their particular sport with a splendid loyalty to the College and its traditions. The men added this year—Spike Leslie. Nels: Warks and their splane in the splendid loyalty to the College and its traditions. The men added this year—Spike Leslie. Nels: Warks and their splane in the splendid loyalty to the College and its traditions. The men added this year—Spike Leslie. Nels: Warks and their splane in the s chest about things in general and stuyear-Spike Leslie, Nels Walke, and Mike Loebs-have yet to receive a fair test of their merits, but, in cases permitted a few words in defense of. policies of ours which met with se vere criticism during the past year Our aim when we took over the duties of guiding the COLLEGIAN'S first critical sports column was to present : sincere and fearless interpretation of athletic matters about the campus, as we saw them. Since our judgment is by no means infallible, there have been many times when our opinion may have seemed to be narrow o prejudiced. But, in the main, we have tried to steer a course generally con sistent with student opinion. Wheth er you have agreed with what we said or not, we have been successful in our aims if these matters were brough to your attention through this column

Before we go, a few words of in troduction for our successor. W. M. S. has both a good knowledge of sports matters and a sincere interest in Penn State athletic teams. We are certain that when these two factors are combined with this facility of style, the result will be a sports column which will illustrate very de cidedly the truth of all theories that advance the beneficial effects of changes in administration. + + +

And so, with appreciation again both to those who read between the lines and the others who stuck to what was written, we "hang up the

Seven men and eleven women stu-lents were named to spring sport nanagerial positions Friday by Al-right S. Hoch '33, general spring ntramurals manager, and Victoria A. Magda, secretary of the Women's telletic accountion By FRED W. WRIGHT '35 Penn State took the lid off 3.2 pergeneral depression in athletic confid-ence followed almost inevitably upon several seasons of mediocrity on the gridiron. But even now, the shadows are lifting, and there is every reason to believe that, together with the new conception of athletic ideals areas cent brew Friday after thirteen years <sup>33</sup>4, relay. Mushball competition will begin im-mediately following the Easter vaca-tion, according to Hines, the newly appointed manager. Other men's ind a comparatively untried team in the point of actual combat, they will sport programs will be definitely out-lined within the next three weeks, Woch stated.

Parks Slated To Pitch

Ausmail To Begin Fern A. Shoemaker '34 was ap-pointed W. A. A. baseball manager, while Virginia E. Detwiler '34 was placed in charge of track. Dorothy l. Mergenthaler '34 will act as upper-in the opening game. Faul Swat, who class representatives for baseball while Edith O. Reese '35 will act as sophomore manager with Sara B. Bit-ting '36 as assistant. Marie O. Moheaet, was remed and Marie C. Moheaet, was remed

CANDIDATES AFTER EASTER

Mushball To Begin

test of their merits, but, in cases where even in one year they have lift ed their respective sports out of long-standing ruts, they deserve com-mendation. Having exonerated teams and

Having exonerated teams and and passing to the iresnmen. coaches from the disrespect long at-tached to certain of them in too many quarters, it is only fair that we be ond-year men who are now on the

> PLUMBING-HEATING BOB TAYLOR W. College Ave. Phone 1066

WHAT'S THE RUSH?

"FULL-FASHION Maiden Form's NEW BRASSIERE

for the Modern Girl IT FITS LIKE A STOCKINGI

Tiny "fashion-points" like those used in shaping fine silk stockings give Maiden 'Form's "Full-Fashion" bras-siere its lovely uplift contours and at the same time make it flawlessly "skin-smooth" through the breast sections.

- BEDENK

ter fielder, complete the outfield trid

THE PENN STATE COLLEGIAN

3-Game Trip Easter vacation may mean home relaxation, and good times to the ma-ority of Penn State students, but to the Lion baseball team it's just another synonym for the annual southern trip which opens the 1933 diamond a forced march northward to attack the Navy forces at Annapolis, Md., Saturday. Sunday will be a day of rest, but Monday the Bedenkmen will be facing what they hope will turn into real southern hospitality when they meet the University of Virginia, at Charlottesville, Va.

Navy Has Won 2, Lost 1

Natry Has won 2, Lost 4 In Navy, the Lion diamond repre-sentatives will be meeting one of the strongest teams below the Mason-Dix-on line. The Midshipmen defeated the University of Vermont in the season's opener by an 8-to-7 score, but lost to the University of Rich-mond Wednesday, 14-to-5. Lafayette mond Wednesday, 14-to-5. Lafayette became Navy's second victim of the season by a 3-to-1 score on Saturday. Big "Slim" Davenport, Navy left-Big "Slim" Davenport, Navy lett-hander, will face the Lions from the mound. Daveriport, who has pitched and won two complete games this season, has a record of holding Ver-mont and the Leopards to eight runs, but he was treated rather roughly by the University of Richmond team.

The Lion's hardest problem will in-volve stopping Kossler and Daunis, third- and first-basemen respectively,

Page Three

BEZDEK, DAVIS WILL SPEAK '36 NINE HOLDS PRACTICES Hugo Bezdek, director of the School Hampered by rain, freshmen basy

f Physical Education, and Dr. Elball candidates are awaiting the ad season. Following the opening game with vort of their first encounter with Belle-the University of Maryland, Captain Regie Smith and his mates will make day, April 29. Thus far the Nittany a forced march northward to attack aspirants have engaged in outdoor the Navy forces at Annapolis, Md., competition only once. wood C. Davis, of the same School, will present papers before the American Physical Education association during their meeting at Louisville, Kentucky, April 26 to 29.

Your Swimming Suit

Will Be a Vital Article of Everyday Attire After Easter Don't Fail to Bring it Back With You

GLENNLAND POOL

"Pennsylvania's Largest and Most Beautiful Indoor Swimming Pool" Corner Pugh Street and Beaver Avenue

Will Open Shortly After the Easter Vacation

MYSTERIOUS BALL ROLLS UPHILL

DID HE DO IT

BY RADIO RE-MOTE CONTROL

OR THOUGHT WAVES ?

THAT'S THE

BUNK GRACE

HERE'S THE REAL LOW.

DOWN --

WATCH FOR FURTHER ANNOUNCEMENT

6

6

CLINE AT HIS BID-DING.IT PAUSES... ROLLS DOWN. ROLLS UP AGAIN OBEYING EV-THE MAGICIAN

SIMPLY WONDERFUL

She's hurrying to get.

(1)

THE MAGICIAN

DIDN'T HAVE

ANYTHING TO DO

THE BALL PER-

FORM. THERE WAS

A CONTORTIONIS

INSIDE IT. BY SHIFTING HIS WEIGHT IN THE

BALL, HE MADE

IT GO.

4

