

Between the Lions with The Sports Editor

Old Man Winter simply wouldn't let the Lion tennis team sneak in an early match, so the contest with Bucknell, originally scheduled for tomorrow afternoon has been postponed. This leaves the Lions only one fare on which to feed for the week-end—baseball.

Both the varsity and the freshman teams are scheduled for home games tomorrow afternoon. After seeing the ease with which the Bedonknmen disposed of Bucknell last week, we're rather inclined to think that Nittany fans will be treated to another home victory at the expense of the St. Vincent nine. As for the yearlings, tomorrow's game with Bellefonte Academy will be the debut of their season. Over a hundred candidates responded to Coach Houck's first call several weeks ago. With this amount of material available and a little more luck than last year's freshman club had, the class of 1936 should have a team that will go places on the diamond.

The cream of collegiate trackmen will have to be shaken up considerably if Lion runners are to gain permanent possession of the sprint medley relay cup at the Penn Relay carnival in the City of Brotherly Love today and tomorrow. Penn State, Ohio State, and N. Y. U., each hold two legs on the trophy. The Lions first places were gained back in 1924, and then again just last year when that memorable combination of Grittsavage, Dale, Van Keuren, and Dunaway upset all dope buckets from the rock-bound coast of Maine to the sunny shorts of Florida, or somewhere. Of that team, only Grittsavage is not running for the Blue and White this year. However, his position has been taken over by Rhodes, the junior who pushed Cadet King in the 440 all the way around the track last Saturday. If the Lions can come home with the much-sought sprint medley cup, they will have definitely re-established a place for Penn State near the top of the collegiate track world.

The "latitude-longitude" football game on Wednesday which ended Bob Higgins' spring practice sessions, gave the fans their first opportunity to look over the material that will attempt to shine up Penn State's tarnished football records next fall. On the whole, things looked pretty encouraging. Both on the offense and the defense the two evenly matched elevens showed a fighting spirit that bids fair to last until next October. Of course there were plenty of bumps and rough edges in evidence, but Bob will have plenty of time to smooth things over before the Lions open their season against Lebanon Valley on the seventh day of October, 1933.

LIONS FEAR ATTACK OF VISITING NINE

St. Vincent Team Holds Record Of 21 Wins, 3 Defeats in Last 2 Seasons

By FRED W. WRIGHT '35
Skeletons in the closet! Unburied past!

That's what the Lion diamondmen will be wary of when they seek to continue their three-game winning streak against St. Vincent College on New Beaver field at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Although the Bearcats from Latrobe are an untried team this season, the presence of their record of eighteen victories out of twenty-one games the last two years has put plenty of respect for the invading hosts into Captain Regie Smith and his baseball mates. In 1931 St. Vincent had an undefeated season and last year they lost only three games. Still another reason for the Lions' pessimistic outlook concerns the presence of Andy Sugen, mound mainstay, and Shortstop Jack Dasher in the St. Vincent line-up. Sugen, who is starting his fourth campaign with the Bearcats, won nine games and lost only three last year, and in his first season of intercollegiate competition, he allowed an average of four hits per game.

Visitors Have Veteran Team
Dasher, clean-up hitter of the invading host, has been shifted from lead-off position, where he batted .413 in twelve games last year. When one considers that a lead-off man is generally handicapped by having to wait out the opposing pitcher, any batter who reaches the .300 class could be considered a threat to any pitcher's dreams of a peaceful afternoon, let alone .413.

Successful in their last three starts, the Bedonknmen will take the field with the identical line-up that romped through Bucknell last Saturday, with the exception of the battery. Coach Joe Bedenk may rest big Keith Parris after three straight mound victories and start either Al DeBonis or Johnny Lutcher, while Catcher Paul Swhany may miss his first game in many a moon because of an injured thumb suffered in action last week.

BUCKNELL MATCH POSTPONED
The match between the Lion netmen and Bucknell, originally scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed until May 16. Fear of wet courts resulted in the mutual agreement between the Bisons and the Nittany teams. Next Saturday afternoon, the Lions will open their season against Temple here.

EAST-WEST GAME ENDS IN DEADLOCK

Westerners Pile up 6 First Downs To Easterners' 1—Fumbles Prevent Scores

East and West battled to a scoreless standstill when the blue jerseys clashed with the green jerseys on New Beaver field Wednesday afternoon. Neither team made a serious bid for a score during the game.

Gridgers of the West piled up six first downs to one for the Easterners, although the men in green fumbled the oval on three occasions, one blunder halting a steady Western march from midfield.

Skemp drove consistently for substantial gains through the East line, while Morrison contributed a nine-yard advance on an off-tackle reverse to start a second period drive that placed the ball on East's eleven-yard line, where the West eleven held for downs.

West attempted five aeriels, completing two for gains of eight yards, and twenty-five yards respectively. East resorted to passes in the last period, throwing three, two of which were grounded, and one intercepted.

GOLFERS TO MEET PITTSBURGH TEAM

Nittany Linksman Will Try for Third Victory in Panther Match Tomorrow

By KENNETH C. HOFFMAN '35
Armed with confidence gained through their successful tests under fire against the Swarthmore and Penn golfers last week-end, the Nittany linksmen will seek their third straight victory when they tee-off with the University of Pittsburgh team at the Smoky City tomorrow afternoon.

Apparently satisfied with the results of his original selection of the team, Coach Bob Rutherford has announced his intention of using the same line-up in tomorrow's meet. Although chosen for the team, all of the regulars have had to defend their positions against the challenges of other varsity contenders in the practice rounds this week.

Having attained unexpected form in their first intercollegiate matches, the Nittany golfers will have an opportunity to score a second links victory over the Panthers in two years. Last season Captain Freddie Brand and his mates downed the Pitt team 6-to-0 in the season's opener here.

Beyer To Lead Off
While the strength of the Pittsburgh golfers is unknown, Coach Rutherford is basing his hopes for victory on the performances recorded last week-end. Lloyd Beyer, who has repeatedly turned in low cards both in varsity meets and practice rounds, will again lead off for the Lions.

Having displayed his steady and calculating ability in the pinches in both the Swarthmore and Penn matches, Tom Marshall will again occupy number two position. He will pair off with Beyer as the first foursome of the Penn State team in tomorrow's meet.

Dick Ritenour, who gave a brilliant exhibition in the Garnet match Friday, will follow in third position, combining forces with Rog Hetsel in the second foursome competition. Hetsel, who completes the Lion quartet, has shown the most promise of all the contenders by his steady improvement since the beginning of the season.

The team, accompanied by Coach Rutherford, will leave for Pittsburgh this afternoon, and will play the match on the South Hills Country club greens.

Trackmen Seek Permanent Possession of Relay Cup

Rhodes, Dale, Van Keuren, Dunaway To Defend Sprint Medley Championship at Annual Penn Carnival

By PHILLIP W. FAIR Jr. '35
Although most individuals are satisfied with two legs, the Nittany trackmen who are journeying to the Penn Relays at Philadelphia this week-end hope to acquire the third, and final, leg on the sprint medley relay cup. As defending champions of last year, and boasting a first place in the relay in 1924, the Lions are expected to make a strong bid for permanent possession of the trophy.

The strongest contenders for the sprint medley title in the race today will be Columbia, Princeton, and Ohio State. In Bonthron, Princeton places its hopes, for he ran the anchor lap on the champion indoor two-mile team this winter at the annual intercollegiate in the record time of one minute, fifty-three and two-fifths seconds.

YEARLING TOSSERS TO START SEASON

Untried Freshman Team Will Oppose Bellefonte Academy in First Game Here Tomorrow

With major opponents supplying opposition for the opening contest of the season, yearling tossers will take the field against Bellefonte Academy nine on New Beaver field tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Coach Leo Houck has selected Thorne for the mound position with Dyson behind the plate as his opening battery. Other players who may see service are O'Hara, shortstop, Larson center field, and Evans, Bulicke, and Sulliff as sackmen. Outfielders will include Leidy, Witmer, and Kravitz.

Substitutions will probably be made during the game, particularly with the tossers and backstops. Weaver will probably substitute for Dyson, while Gataveskas, Stokes, Bachman or Rugh may get twirling assignments.

VAN ATTA WINS FIRST GAME

Rus Van Atta, former Lion hurler, won his first major league game Tuesday, 16-to-0, limiting Washington to five hits.

STICKMEN TO PLAY HOBART TEN TODAY

Lion Lacrosse Team Will Meet Syracuse Tomorrow in Second Contest

By JOHN A. BRUTZMAN '35
This afternoon, the Lion lacrosse team will attempt a comeback against the Hobart ten at Geneva in the first game of a two-day trip. With the rough edges revealed in the Army game smoothed off, the Nittany stickmen are looking forward to chalking up their first mark in the win column.

Although lacrosse is the most popular sport at Hobart, the team seems to be weak this season, losing its first two games this season to Syracuse and Cornell. With the weaknesses of the Lion attack corrected, Coach Mike Loeb expects to tuck the Hobart scalp safely away in his Blue and White traveling bag.

Moulthrop Disabled
Sixteen men made the trip yesterday. Included on the squad were Captain Ed, Jim Reed, Moorhouse, Day, Weber, Hesch, Kane, and Coskery. Kline, Barnes, Rathmel, Koth, Bosman, Kaulfuss, Hassan, and Maley completed the squad.

The only varsity player not making the trip was Moulthrop, who suffered an injured shoulder in the Army game. Kline, Barnes, or possibly Hesch moves up to center, Weber, a sophomore, will fill Marty's position at point.

To Meet Syracuse
Immediately after the game this afternoon, the Lions will leave for Syracuse, where they engage the Orange ten tomorrow afternoon. The Hillmen have yet to taste defeat this season, having defeated Hobart and Colgate on successive Saturdays.

With the same line-up that faced the Cadets last Saturday, the Lions will start the game with Jim Reed at goal, Day and Moorhouse at points, and Kane and either Hesch or Weber at the defense posts, depending on whether Kline, Barnes, or Hesch get the call at center.

Captain Jake Edel will hold his old job at second attack, with Koth at first attack. Bosman and Kaulfuss are expected to start at the home positions. Undoubtedly, the whole squad will see action some time during the weekend.
