

1933 GRADUATION WEEK EXERCISES TO BEGIN JUNE 2

Addresses by Honor Students Scheduled on Program Monday Morning

MORRIS WILL DELIVER COMMENCEMENT SPEECH

Concert, Reception for Seniors, Annual Dance Complete Events for Day

With registration of alumni, a meeting and election of trustees as a part of the day's program, the annual Commencement Week will open Friday morning, June 2, and close Monday, June 5 with a commencement dance in Recreation hall.

"Old King Cole," Thespian musical show, will be presented for the third time this season in Schwab auditorium at 7:30 o'clock Friday night.

June 3 Set for Alumni Day

Saturday, June 3, is the date set for Alumni Day. Alumni registration will take place both Friday and Saturday at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Varsity sports, contests, golf and baseball, are scheduled for the afternoon, and will be followed by class reunion dinners at 6 o'clock.

Blue Band To Give Concert

Baccalaureate Day will be opened with a Senate breakfast at the Nittany Lion at 9 o'clock, which will precede an alumnae breakfast in the Sandwich Shop in Old Main at 9:30 o'clock.

Closing the day's events, the Blue Band, under the direction of Major Wilfred O. Thompson, will offer a concert in the open air theatre on the front campus.

June 5 Named Class Day

Commencement Day, Monday, June 5, will open with senior class day exercises in the auditorium at 9 o'clock.

Dr. Roland S. Morris, Philadelphia, and former Ambassador to Japan, will give the commencement address as a part of the exercises scheduled for 3:45 o'clock.

Recreation hall will be the scene of both the commencement reception, in which alumni, faculty, seniors, and guests will participate, and the commencement dance, the former to begin at 10 o'clock, and the latter at 10:45 o'clock.

Ralph D. Hetzel jr. '33, valedictorian, and Milton I. Baldinger '33, salutatorian of the graduating class, will speak at the Class Day exercises Monday morning.

GAMMA PHI BETA TO MEET PHI MU IN DEBATE TODAY

Defending the negative side of the question, "Resolved, that the Men and Women's Student Governing Bodies Should Merge," Gamma Phi Beta will close the women's intramural debating contest when they meet Phi Mu in North Liberal Arts building at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

A silver cup from the Forensic Council will be presented to the winning team at the women's mass meeting tonight by Delta Alpha Delta, women's professional speech fraternity, sponsors of the contest.

STEGMEIER NAMED EDITOR OF 'BELL'

Princeton '34 Receives Post Of Business Manager on Publication Staff

William M. Stegmeier '34 was elected editor of the Old Main Bell, College literary magazine, at a meeting of the senior staff of the publication Thursday night.

Philip S. Princenthal '34 was selected as business manager of the publication for the coming year; while John H. Powell '34 was named advertising manager and Theodore M. Fairchild '34 was chosen circulation manager.

Five Freshmen Chosen

Leonard P. Lang '35, Lewis W. Mattis '35, and Moses D. Yampolski '35 were the sophomore candidates selected for junior business staff positions during the coming year.

Five freshman candidates were elected to sophomore business staff positions for next year. Those chosen were: Curtis A. Beerman '36, Robert E. Carey '36, Ellis K. Hultzman '36, Harry M. Price '36, and Franklin H. Pritchard jr. '36.

Manuscripts for the September issue of the Bell should be submitted to the editor or a member of the senior board on or before May 30, Stegmeier has announced.

2 TO SPEAK AT MEETING OF COUNTY ENGINEERS' SOCIETY

Dr. David F. McFarland, professor of metallurgy, and Dr. Harold F. Alderfer, associate professor of political science, will speak at the annual meeting of the Centre County Engineers' society in Room 107, Main Engineering, following a dinner in the Old Main Sandwich Shop at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

Dr. McFarland will give an illustrated lecture on "How Gold is Got," and Dr. Alderfer will speak on "The Probable Place of the Engineer in the Changing Social Order." Election of officers and other business will also be considered.

Faculty Will Lose Doubly With Inflation, Hasek Says

"If prices go up, with salaries remaining fixed, the faculty loses, and with the threat of a possible cut, loses doubly," Dr. Carl W. Hasek, of the department of economics and sociology, said in an interview concerning the effect of the recent inflationary measures to the College.

Dr. Hasek stated that with the amount of the State appropriation definitely fixed, and the amount of the federal provision fixed, once decided upon, an increase in resources for the College is unlikely.

"The only way for the College to keep up with inflation is to sell College dairy and farm products. The income will be fairly well fixed even with prices going up—depending upon the building program of the Federal government. With salary cuts threatened, however, the faculty may suffer," the economist said.

"This inflation is really a process of raising the price level. It's a game of getting prices to move up, and if they do, they are not likely to move together. Costs are likely to ascend more slowly than selling prices of goods, and that means chances of increased profit to business men," Dr. Hasek explained.

PRESIDENT HETZEL SPEAKS AT ANNUAL SCHOLARSHIP DAY

Declares That 'Well Educated Student of Present Day' Shows Great Promise

ENDRESS '33 RECEIVES JOHN W. WHITE MEDAL

Senior Fellowships Awarded to Hetzel, Jack, Shenk—Evan Pugh Scholars Named

"No agency shows more promise than the well-educated student of the present day, President Ralph D. Hetzel declared in speaking on "Education Rides the Storm" at the annual Scholarship Day exercises in Schwab auditorium last Saturday morning.

"The scholar is and will play a major part in an interesting challenging world," the President said in emphasizing the fact that in this period of world depression the thinker and scholar are looked to more than ever for the solution of the problems confronting humanity.

Speaks of Akron Tragedy

President Hetzel reviewed the story of the recent tragedy of the dirigible, the Akron, in which the command, "Stand by for a crash" was accepted in silent obedience by members of the crew. He stated that the conduct of the men showed bravery and devotion to a noble desire to serve the world.

In tribute to those who lost their lives in the crash and in praise of the since scholar's willingness to face truth at all costs, President Hetzel said, "All losses are lesser losses when compared to the loss of courage or the will to go on. Youth with education for a background is best fitted to stand by without loss of courage or morale," he concluded.

Presentis Awards

Following the conclusion of his speech, the President made the presentation of major awards for scholastic attainment. A. Elizabeth Endress '33 received the John W. White Medal, while three John W. White Fellowships amounting to six hundred dollars each, were presented to Ralph D. Hetzel jr. '33, Eugene L. Jack '33 and Dorothy C. Shenk '33.

The President Sparks prizes which are awarded for outstanding scholastic attainment during a single semester, were presented to Mrs. Shirley B. Brenner '33 for the highest scholastic attainment during 1931-32, and Charles M. Norris '33 for academic achievement in the first semester 1932-33.

Evan Pugh Scholars Named

Five senior and five junior students were named Evan Pugh scholars by the President. In addition they were presented with medals provided by the Honor Society council. Seniors to receive the awards were Leon R. Cook, Paul L. Fox, Carolyn E. Jones, George H. Messerly, and Robert E. Teschan.

Junior Evan Pugh scholars who were presented with medals included Charles F. Deaterly, Ernest J. Kaulfuss, John E. Ryan, John T. Ryan jr. and Charles E. Stevenson. The exercises concluded with the presentation of the regular College scholarships to outstanding students, and the naming of student elections to academic honorary societies.

COACH NATE CARTMELL RESIGNS

Submits Resignation

'DEVIL'S DISCIPLE' CAST ANNOUNCED

Hirsch '35 Will Portray Leading Role of Play Scheduled For June 3, 5

Cast for "The Devil's Disciple," the Penn State Players production which will be given June 3 and 5, has been completed by Prof. Arthur C. Cloetingh, of the department of English literature, director of the play.

Paul K. Hirsch '35, in the leading role, portrays Richard Dudgeon. Lillie A. Kell '35, as Judith, his wife; Wickliffe W. Crider '36, portraying Rev. Anthony Anderson; John E. Binnis '36, in the role of General Burgoyne, form the main supporting cast.

Supporting Cast Named

Mrs. Dudgeon, Richard's mother, will be portrayed by Grace L. Moyer '34, while the character of Major Swindon will be taken by John B. Bott '35. John V. Heraschuk '34 has been cast as a sergeant, while Alfred J. Berkowitz '36 portrays the character of Uncle Titus.

Other members of the cast include Essie, played by Mary E. Carroll '35, Christy Dudgeon, portrayed by William G. Balderston '36, and the chaplain, who will be represented by Richard H. Allen '36. Characters for the mob scene, townspeople, officers, and soldiers, will be selected by Prof. Cloetingh this week.

"The Devil's Disciple" was written by George Bernard Shaw and is a three-act farce on false Puritanism, according to Prof. Cloetingh. The setting is a New Hampshire village of 1777, about the time when the English army was attempting to discipline the rebellious colonies.

SHEEN '34 APPOINTED NEW HANDBOOK EDITOR

3 Editorial, 7 Business Men Selected By Retiring Staff Members

James M. Sheen '34 was named editor-in-chief of the handbook for the coming year while three sophomore editorial men and seven junior business men were appointed to positions on next year's staff, when the Christian Association board approved the appointments at a meeting last week.

James B. Beatty jr., Philip W. Fair jr., and Burton Rowles jr. will compose the junior assistants of the staff next year. The business men are John B. Bott, Albert E. Diem, Frederick M. Drothler, Albert Frank, James A. Gaiser, Henry M. Pfahl, and S. Ralph Stroble.

The business candidates were approved by Albert T. Stohr '33, business manager, while Ernest B. Zukauskas '33, editor, selected the editorial men. These elections, together with the women who were elected last week, complete the new staff.

90 WOMEN PLAN TO ATTEND W. A. A. BANQUET TOMORROW

Ninety women are expected to attend the annual Women's Athletic Association formal banquet at the Centre Hills Country club tomorrow night. Invitations have been sent to all women who have acquired W. A. A. points through membership on various teams this year.

Announcement of varsity teams will be part of a program of general pep talks and songs. The women will go in buses to the Country club where the dinner will begin at 6:30 o'clock.

INSPECTORS TO TAKE TEST

Arrangements are being made for the State examination for State bituminous coal inspectors, to be held in the Mineral Industries building Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Track Mentor Announces Decision Following Notification of Release

Student Leaders Oppose 'Dropping' Of Nate Cartmell

Student sentiment regarding the resignation of Coach Nate Cartmell yesterday bitterly opposed the possibility of his leaving Penn State. Statements from campus leaders follow:

"I feel that Nate is one of the best coaches we have here. Everything possible should be done to keep him at Penn State. Students certainly should have had the chance to express some opinion on the matter; he shouldn't be just dropped as some others have undoubtedly been in the past."—Thomas J. Harper '34, president of the Athletic Association.

"After a very careful study of the personnel of the Physical Education School, the Personnel Committee of the Board of Control has seen fit to recommend to the Athletic Board that Professor Cartmell's resignation be accepted. The Athletic Board has accepted the report and the matter is now before the Trustees of the College.

"We have so few men that we are known college-wide, that if we keep losing them, the reputation of Penn State in intercollegiate athletics is sure to suffer greatly. Nate is the man for the job here; we can use more like him."—Walter C. Moser '33, ex-president of the Athletic Association.

"We must do everything possible to keep Nate Cartmell at Penn State. He's one of the traditions here, as well as being one of the foremost men in his field in the country. He's a friend of every student as well as every athlete."—Thomas A. Slusser '34, football captain.

"I would certainly hate to see Nate Cartmell stop coaching the track team. He is one of the best known and most capable of the nation's coaches. It would be impossible to replace him, both as a coach and as a friend of athletics at Penn State."—Wayland F. Dunaway '33, captain of the track team, ex-secretary of the Athletic Association.

"I feel that Penn State is losing one of its greatest coaches, and hope that everything possible will be done to keep him here."—William G. Van Keuren '34, member of the track team and secretary of the Athletic Association.

"I'd certainly like to see Nate remain here. Every effort should be made for him to keep his present affiliation with Penn State athletics."—Charles R. King '34, captain of the cross country team.

"Nate's character is such that he boosts the morale of the teams. I'm sure that without him the chances of our having a successful cross country season next year are practically nothing."—Robert C. Hanawalt, manager of the cross country team.

HUGHES GIVES ADDRESS AT MOTHERS DAY CHAPEL

Speaks on "Oracle of the Mother" At Annual Service Here

Speaking on "The Oracle of the Mother," Senior Bishop Edwin H. Hughes addressed the annual Mothers Day chapel audience in Schwab auditorium Sunday morning.

"Our mother serves as a connecting link between the coming and the retiring generation," the Boston University head declared. "It is in this capacity, as well as in the purely sentimental one, that they play such a large part in the life of every student."

It is in times of stress such as the one facing the nation today, that men and women can really appreciate the services of their mothers, he explained. Praising the unselfish devotion of mothers, the chapel speaker pointed out that no matter how hard the conditions, one can always rely on them for help.

DAIRY STUDENTS TAKE TRIP

Sixteen dairy husbandry students left yesterday for an inspection trip of the outstanding farms in the vicinity of Philadelphia. This trip will last until Thursday, and is under the supervision of Prof. Adam L. Bean, of the dairy husbandry department.

Gives Unpleasant Relations With School of Physical Education Heads as Reason For Move—Students Surprised

Penn State sports followers were stunned early Sunday morning when it became known that Nate J. Cartmell had sent his resignation as Lion track and cross country coach to the President of the College following notification that the Personnel Committee of the Board of Athletic Control had decided not to recommend the renewal of his contract for 1933-34.

The step taken by the College athletic officials was entirely unexpected by students and was met by a barrage of bitter undergraduate protests. Petitions to the Board of Trustees asking that the resignation be rejected were circulated among students a few hours after the news reached State College. One of the petitions was being signed solely by members of the varsity track and cross country teams.

Bezdek Presents Views

The statement which Director Hugo Bezdek, of the School of Physical Education and Athletics, issued yesterday is as follows:

"In developing the new intramural and physical education program every member of our staff has assumed and performed new and additional duties since the initiation of this program, except Professor Cartmell. The impossible was not asked of any coach at any time, but rather we desired to spread the load of the particular training and experience so that not only the varsity squads would be benefited from these contacts, but also the general student body as well.

"Professor Cartmell held to his own ideas as to what his participation should be like, and has found it impossible to cooperate with the program fixed by the policy of the School of Physical Education and Athletics, and approved by the Board of Athletic Control and the Board of Trustees of the College.

"In view of these facts, the Personnel Committee of the Board of Athletic Control, and I concluded not to recommend Professor Cartmell for re-appointment.

Calls Conditions Unpleasant

"At the request of Professor Cartmell, the President of the College agreed that no publicity would be given this action. However, I received permission from the President to canvass the field for a successor to Professor Cartmell, with the condition that all negotiations be kept strictly confidential. This stipulation has been written into every such communication, thus living up to the letter and spirit of the agreement. No publicity whatsoever has been given this matter until Professor Cartmell's recent press article."

According to Cartmell, the decision to terminate his contract was made following a break with Director Bezdek. Cartmell said that conditions with officials of the School of Physical Education and Athletics were so unpleasant that he was compelled to submit his resignation to the Board of Trustees. If the Board rejects his resignation they must give thorough consideration to the circumstances leading to the resignation, he said.

Cartmell Aims Controversy

Although the agreement between the College administration and Coach Cartmell had been to keep both the action of the Personnel Committee and the consequent "resignation" secret until after July 1, Cartmell released the news to members of the Lion varsity teams and to newspapermen at the Pitt stadium Saturday afternoon. He said that the confidence agreement had been violated by Director Bezdek.
