

SENIORS WILL HOLD ANNUAL CLASS DAY EXERCISES JUNE 5

President Hetzel, John A. Wood, Phyllis G. Beidler To Talk At Last Meeting

771 TO GET DIPLOMAS AT GRADUATION SERVICE

Formal Acceptance of Annual Class Memorial Planned By Trustee Head

Seven hundred and seventy-one seniors, who will receive diplomas at Commencement exercises Monday afternoon, will meet at College students for the last time when the annual Class Day program begins in Schwab auditorium Monday, June 5 at 9 o'clock.

President Ralph D. Hetzel will address the members of the outgoing class as his farewell gesture to the group. Phyllis G. Beidler '33, former women's class president, and John A. Wood, '33, ex-president of the senior class, will present addresses.

Will Receive Class Memorial Col. J. Franklin Shields, president of the Board of Trustees, will receive the class memorial to be presented at the exercises, making an acceptance speech for the College, according to Alfred W. Hesse jr. '33, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the Class Day program.

Following the dedication of the memorial, John A. Wood, Spon Man of the class, will be introduced. Official presentation of the class honors to Robert E. Tschan '33, Barrel Man, and Wayland F. Dunaway '33, Cane Man, will also take place.

To Present Class Honors Edwin S. Malmud '33, will present the pipe oration, while S. Louise Everett '33, Mirror Girl, will make a corresponding address. Miss Beidler will read the class poem, and the class historian will present the history.

Harriet R. Honrie '33, Bow Girl of the class, Anglin Bressler '33, Slipper Girl, Helen A. Hoover '33, Fan Girl, and Elsie W. Darlington, Class Donor, are the women's selections for the honor positions. Each will be introduced at the exercises.

The annual salutatory address, the class presidents' speeches, reading of the class history and poem, the pipe oration, and the mirror speech, presentation of class honors, dedication of the class memorial, President Hetzel's address, and the valedictorian address will take place in that order at the exercises.

STUDENTS TO GIVE LITERARY READING

20 Members Will Present American, English Selections Tonight In Little Theatre

Featuring selections from both American and English poetry, prose and drama, a program of literary readings will be presented by the members of Prof. H. Koepf-Baker's class in oral interpretation in the Little Theatre, Old Main, at 8 o'clock tonight.

The recital will be under the sponsorship of the division of public speaking and will serve as a culminating experience for the students who have taken the oral interpretation course during the current semester. Twenty students, many of whom have appeared publicly in campus dramatic and musical events, will take part in the program.

Those to appear in the presentation are: Phyllis G. Beidler '33, Sylvia R. Breneman '33, William F. Carr '33, Leslie E. Kulburg '33, Joseph F. Lechman '33, Hazel F. Neuffer '33, Joseph J. Rubin '33, Elizabeth M. Sandy '33, Doris M. Acker '34, Edgar F. Benner '34, and Janet S. Cohen '34.

The list of participants concludes with Nellie B. Gravatt '34, Wayne R. Varnum '34, Margaret R. McIntyre '35, Catherine A. Miller '35, Mary K. Sampson '35, Everard W. Stone '36, Frank E. Tejan '36, John E. Cooper, two-year student, and Helen L. Neyhart, special student.

METZGER WILL SPEAK HERE

Leon D. Metzger, Secretary of Revenue for Pennsylvania, will address classes in public finance tomorrow. Students in economics and commerce and finance have been invited to join the seminar at which Secretary Metzger will speak and discuss questions raised by the subject, "Constitution of State and Federal Revenues and Current Pennsylvania Tax Problems."

Granted Leave

DEAN C. W. STODDART

STODDART GRANTED SABBATICAL LEAVE

Liberal Arts School Dean Given 6-Months' Vacation Period At Trustee Meeting

Dean Charles W. Stoddart, of the Liberal Arts School, was granted sabbatical leave by the Board of Trustees at their regular meeting Friday night. Starting June 6, the dean will be absent from the College for a six months vacation period.

Dr. Carl W. Hasck, head of the department of economics and sociology, will serve as dean in Dean Stoddart's absence. Dr. Stoddart intends to spend some time in his cabin in the Adirondacks, taking a trip to Alabama before the vacation leave is over.

Served As Administrator Starting services here in 1910 as head of the department of agricultural chemistry, Dean Stoddart served until 1920 in that capacity. In 1920, he assumed his present duties as head of the School of Liberal Arts.

Following the departure of President Thomas for Rutgers in August, 1925, Dean Stoddart served as one of the five members of an administrative committee appointed to manage the affairs of the College until a new president could be appointed. Dean Robert L. Sackett, and Dean Ralph L. Watts were the other faculty members selected for the board.

Dr. Stoddart was graduated from Columbia University in 1900. From 1902 until 1904 he was engaged in the mining business in Colorado, after which he did work in research chemistry at the University of Wisconsin until 1910. In 1909 he received his degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Wisconsin.

DRAWING EXHIBIT TO OPEN

Open only this week, a special exhibit of original illustrations and paintings for children's books is on display in A-100 at the College library. The drawings and paintings for the exhibit were loaned to the library by the artists, Berta, Elmer Hadler, and Lois Lenski.

Warnock Defends Practice of Holding All-College Dances During Past Year

Explanation of the recent outside criticism of Penn State's program of social activities during the past year has been given by Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock, who declared that there is a fairly even balance between expenditures for necessities and those for luxuries.

"I have received letters from outsiders criticizing the College for continuing to hold big dances during this period of economic depression," Dean Warnock stated. "One criticism which I do not agree, is that it is presumptuous to ask outsiders for contributions to the Student Loan fund, when students are spending so much on social affairs."

The Dean of Men pointed out that the students who attend the big dances are not the students who are benefited by the Loan fund, and that the students who seek aid from the fund make up a relatively small group. He added that the Loan fund could not possibly receive any direct benefit from the discontinuing of social activities.

One of the letters received contained newspaper clippings which reported the postponement or complete elimination of some of the major dances at other colleges, and it was suggested,

Committee To Recommend Freshman Custom Changes

Rule Prohibiting Smoking on Campus, Revival Of Carrying Matches Suggested

Recommendations that the rules prohibiting freshmen from smoking on the campus and compelling them to carry matches be revived as customs for first year men are included in the proposed custom changes, which will be presented to Student Board this afternoon by the Student Council committee appointed to investigate the Student Tribunal, according to William J. Spohors '34, chairman of the committee.

The recommendations of the committee will be acted on by the Student Board at the regular weekly meeting this afternoon, while they will be considered by Student Council tomorrow night.

The only change in dress customs to be proposed is the suggestion that the period from six o'clock Saturday night until eight o'clock Monday morning and the period between semesters be considered as holidays, when dress customs would be suspended. The rule applying to the carrying of matches would also be suspended during the holiday periods.

In connection with the ban on smoking, the committee defined the campus as being that area bounded by Park avenue, College avenue, North Atherton street, and East Drive. They also specified that freshmen shall not be permitted to appear without coats at any time and that leather jackets be worn only under coats.

Although the changes in the dating rules had not been completed, Spohors declared that the committee would specify certain conditions under which dating by freshmen would be permissible. He pointed out that this would prevent any arguments which have been presented in the past.

"These changes in customs have been formulated because of general student sentiment," Spohors stated. "If they are to be enforced, the entire student body must cooperate in reporting all violations to the Tribunal. If the Student Board finds that the customs are not being enforced as they should be, they will be dropped entirely," he added.

The chairman declared that the Tribunal will be considered as a judicial body and not as an enforcement organization. Under the proposed system the Tribunal will try cases and will mete out justice, and the members of the campus hat societies will cooperate in enforcing these punishments.

It is also recommended by the committee that a clause be added to the general College customs making it

6 STUDENTS RELEASED FROM INFIRMARY OVER WEEK-END

Six students were discharged from the College infirmary over the weekend after having received treatment, while one was admitted. John B. Davis '36 was admitted for appendicitis observation Thursday and was immediately sent to his home in Williamsport where he was operated upon.

Leonard P. Duebler '35, who entered the hospital yesterday on account of pharyngitis, is at present, the only patient. Henry D. Brown '36, James C. Fink '36, Roy S. Helm '34, Joseph '35, and Ethel Williams '34 were among those who left the hospital.

of the duty of every student to report all violations to the Tribunal. The committee also proposed that the proceedings be conducted in secret after the manner of a court trial.

Members of the committee which conducted a thorough investigation of the systems used during the past few years before considering proposed custom changes are Spohors as chairman, John M. Stocker '35, J. Briggs Pruitt '36, and Charles M. Norris '35.

R. O. T. C. SUSPENDED FOR REST OF YEAR

Orders of Federal Government Recall All Commissioned Officers Here

R. O. T. C. training here was suspended because of the balance of the semester by a surprise action of the federal government, when orders were received by the department of military science and tactics which recalled all commissioned officers stationed at this post.

The six captains and three lieutenants who have been instructors in the basic and advanced courses received orders late last week to report at the forest conservation camps recently established as one of the relief movements of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Only Lieutenant Colonel Russell V. Venable and four regular Army sergeants are stationed here at the present time.

Action Unexpected Among the officers who were recalled in the unexpected action were Captains Henry W. Bortner, Raymond P. Cook, Earnest A. Higgins, Vinton L. James jr., Maurice S. Kerr, and Ernest E. Tabscott. Lieutenants Frank M. Albrecht, Lewis E. Mielenz, and Lyman O. Williams were also ordered to other posts.

The suspension of military training here will last only for the balance of this semester, in the opinion of Colonel Venable. When College opens next September, it is expected that a full staff will be located here again.

Officers commissioned in the Reserve branch of the service have been given similar posts in the forest conservation camps. It is understood that applications of student officers here who will be commissioned this spring will be considered for these posts. All seniors who wish to make such applications may do so, Colonel Venable said.

ALDERFER TO GIVE SUMMER COURSES

Political Science Professor Plans Lectures on Government At Harrisburg

Two courses in government will be conducted at Harrisburg by Dr. Harold F. Alderfer, of the department of political science, according to Dean Will Grant Chambers, of the School of Education.

This is the third year that such a course has been given in Harrisburg under the direction of the Penn State Summer Session, Dean Chambers said. The classes have been given there in order to enable State employees to benefit by the courses.

Both courses will carry resident credit, Dean Chambers added. Classes will start July 3 and continue five days a week for six weeks. Classes will meet from 9 to 12 o'clock each morning.

In addition to the lectures to be given by Dr. Alderfer, it is expected that various public officials and department heads will address the classes. All the meetings will be held in the State library.

$1,500 GERMAN FELLOWSHIP WON BY PHILIP SHELLEY '29

Philip A. Shelley '29, an instructor for the past three years in German at Harvard University, has been awarded the Ottendorfer Memorial Fellowship for Germanic Philology.

The fellowship carries $1,500, the recipient being required to devote a year to a study of the German language and literature, and at least six months of the time must be spent in Germany.

SUMMER SESSION LECTURES SERIES SPEAKERS NAMED

Frederick M. Snyder Will Begin Seasonal Program Here Tuesday, July 6

FIELDS LISTED TO TALK ON CITIZENSHIP SUBJECT

Prof. Davis Edwards Scheduled For August 2—Will Recite 'Lazarus Laughed'

Nine prominent lecturers, authors, critics, recitists, and journalists will appear here to speak in the twenty-fourth annual Summer Sessions lectures series, according to the 1933 general information bulletin.

Opening the session with the topic "Hammers of Glass," Frederick M. Snyder, journalist, advertiser, author, and lecturer, will speak Tuesday, July 6. After undertaking social surveys in eight countries of Europe after the Great War, Mr. Snyder was elected a special commissioner of the Press Conference of the World in 1925. He has also held a position of special observer in the press section of the League of Nations at Geneva.

Recitist To Appear Harold Fields, executive director of the National League of American Citizenship, will talk on "The Alien and Our Laws" on Thursday, July 13. Being chairman of the Conference on Immigration Policy, he has written several books on the same subject. In addition, he is chairman of the executive board of the Foreign Affairs Forum. Recently he addressed the American Academy of Political and Social Science, choosing the same topic that he will use here.

Prominent as a recitist, Prof. Davis Edwards, head of the department of public speaking of the Divinity School of the University of Chicago, will recite "Lazarus Laughed (O'Neill)," before the superintendents' conference Wednesday, August 2. Formerly a director of the Chautauque Institute, Mr. Davis gave lecture recitals in most of the large cities of the United States.

Graduation Speaker Named Dr. Paul Blanchard, director of City Affairs committee, a reform group of New York City, will again address a Penn State audience on Thursday, July 27, speaking on "Industrial Democracy and the Machine Age." For several years Mr. Blanchard has been associated with the League for Industrial Democracy as a special lecturer. He has written several books on racketeering and politics.

Sydney W. Landon, traveler, instructor, lecturer, and actor, who has appeared in lecture-recitals for many years, will speak on "Character Studies and Speaking Likenesses of Great Literary Men," during the intersession period on Tuesday, June 23. While he is the author of several books on make-up, he has appeared at the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences.

Rollo Walter Brown, author, critic, and novelist, will address the graduates at the Summer Session commencement on Thursday, August 10. For a topic he has chosen "Shall We Restore Life to the Individuals?" After having investigated methods of teaching in schools and colleges of France, he wrote several French and English texts on the subject.

Shaw, Author of 'Devil's Disciple,' Regarded as Prominent Playwright

Although George Bernard Shaw's recent visit to the United States let loose a flood of his political views, he is still regarded as one of the foremost of English playwrights. As a dramatic critic more than forty years ago, he found that the English drama was neither inspiring nor entertaining, and accordingly set out to contribute to it some new ideas.

In order to realize his ambition, he clothed his fancies in satire, mockery, and hilarious fun. "The Devil's Disciple" to be given by the Penn State Players June 3 and 5, written in 1897, is an example of his efforts. It is one of three plays for Puritans.

In it, Shaw attempts to riddle with ridicule the drama which presents its heroes and heroines doing everything either for love or for the sake of earning a great reward in heaven for their virtuous deeds on earth. He employs all the tricks of melodrama, such as the reading of the will, the orphan finding a protector, the arrest through mistaken identity, and the heroic sacrifice. However, Shaw reverses the customary motives for such actions and

Room, Board Rates Reduced by College

Board of Trustees Accept Resignation

The resignation of Nate J. Cartmell, track coach, was officially approved by the Board of Trustees at the regular meeting of the body on Friday night. The action supported the Board of Control, which notified Cartmell of his release over a month ago. Closing the incident, which first came to public attention last week when Coach Cartmell announced his resignation to Pittsburgh newspapermen during the Pittsburgh-Penn State track meet, the Board gave the matter little discussion. Cartmell will leave at the expiration of the present contract, which expires July 1.

COMMITTEE NAMED FOR A. P. C. S. GROUP

To Complete Arrangements for Convention of Students Here Next Fall

Committeemen for all arrangements in relation to the next convention of the Association of Pennsylvania College Students, were appointed Friday afternoon by Phil F. Hines '34, executive secretary of the association. Bernard J. Duffy '34, Franklin B. Musser '34, and Jerome D. Parker '34, are members of the present junior class who will serve on the committee. John P. Schwenk '35, A. J. McDowell '35, Burton Rowles jr. '35, and Joseph F. Wagley '35 are sophomore appointees.

May Enlarge Membership According to present plans, the second convention of the newly-formed Association of Pennsylvania College Students will be held here late in October. The convention group voted Penn State as the site after considering location, facilities, and other advantages.

John A. Wood '33, president of the association, will return to State College next fall to head the convocation. Plans provide for his contributing any new suggestions in student government and other college activities that he may obtain while attending National Student Federation of America meetings during the summer.

Contacts made between member schools since the adjournment of the March convocation have evidenced the possible addition of Pennsylvania schools not members at present, Hines stated. Twelve schools now are represented in the association.

YOUNG ANNOUNCES DRIVE AGAINST TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

A large increase in the number of local traffic violations by students has caused Chief of Police Albert E. Yougel to warn autoists of certain prosecution unless they cooperate with traffic regulations.

According to Chief Yougel, a large number of parking and reckless driving violations have occurred recently and arrests are certain if they continue. Students and townspeople have also been warned that stray dogs will be seized and disposed of if allowed to wander about the streets.

15 Percent Change in Prices Approved By Trustees

ACTION TAKEN BECAUSE OF ECONOMIC CONDITIONS

Reduction Made Effective For Forestry School Branch At Mont Alto

Reductions of ten to fifteen percent in rates for rooms and meals in campus dormitories and commons for the coming year were approved at a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees on Friday night.

Expenses for all students occupying campus dormitories and taking meals in McAllister hall will be revised downward by the new measure. While the board rates will be reduced an actual fifteen percent, the reduction for rooms varies from ten to fifteen percent as a result of the new ruling.

Will Reclassify Rooms The action was considered expedient in view of the current economic conditions of the majority of the students and the coming general revision of budget for the next year, members of the board announced.

The board also approved the recommendation that the rooms in the various dormitories be reclassified before the particular prices are fixed, and that general revisions will be put into effect by the new ruling.

At the Mont Alto branch of the Forestry School, the reduction in the room rent will be fifteen percent, while the percentage in reduction of board will be eight percent due to the smaller number of students at the school. Prices will also be reduced ten percent at the store, kept for the convenience of the students, who are several miles from the nearest town.

Summer Prices Listed The prices for women's rooms for the next College year under the new rating will be $14 for first choice, $102 for second choice, all double rooms, while single rooms will be $130. First choice double rooms for men will be $108, second choice double rooms will be $99, third choice double rooms will be $123, and single rooms with bath will bring $144 for the year.

Meals for the entire year at the dining commons in McAllister hall will be $198 under the new plan for the reduction of fees, while the sum of $36 will be charged for meals at the commons during the regular summer session of the College beginning July 5.

The summer session prices for women's rooms are as follows: $17 for first choice double rooms, and $22 for single rooms. Men will be charged the same prices for rooms, while third choice rooms for men will bring $15, and single rooms with bath are priced at $30.

TRUSTEES APPROVE M. I. FELLOWSHIPS

Dr. William S. Walls, D. R. Blumer Appointed To Fill New Posts Created by Action

Two new fellowships in the School of Mineral Industries were approved last week by the College Board of Trustees. Dr. William S. Walls and Dr. D. R. Blumer have been named to fill the newly-created posts.

Dr. Walls received his Doctor of Philosophy degree at Princeton University shortly after he was graduated from St. Johns College. He was awarded the fellowship supported by a leading Pennsylvania oil concern and will do research on the secondary recovery of oil from reservoir rock.

Dr. Blumer was first graduated from the University of South Dakota, after which he attended the University of Michigan where he received his Doctor of Philosophy degree. He received the fellowship endowed by a Pennsylvania natural gas firm and will conduct fundamental research in natural gas problems.

The work of both of the recently-appointed men will be conducted as part of the regular Mineral Industries research projects. Dr. Alfred W. Gauger, director of Mineral Industries research and head of the experiment station, will supervise the work of the recipients of the fellowships.
