

Between the Lions with The Sports Editor

Now that it is rumored that Cartmell has resigned, perhaps the proper thing would be to come out in the open and make a few pertinent remarks.

Captain Dunaway and his tracksters will run in rather snooty company at the outdoor intercollegiate in the Harvard stadium this afternoon and tomorrow.

Since this is positively our last column for a long, long time, perhaps a statement as to just how far we've delved into the "red" might not be amiss.

DEBITS:

"Why the devil start a lot of unhealthy ideas; they're too numerous now."—Just interested . . . "I hope to . . . they rotate athletic officials so much that you get dizzy.

CREDITS:

"At least that column of yours has some snap to it."—M. P. W. . . "Your column is the nuts!"—A Co-ed's Mother . . . "Good work, yours for a fair Penn State."

This and That

Give Frank Leffler, the assistant golf manager, a great big hand . . . he was all set to do another Kreizman act in the Bellefonte Bastille for speeding but he outsmarted our worthy Chief Yokel . . . "I demand a hearing," shouted Frank, but the Chief was tardy, so . . . "Case dismissed," snapped the justice . . . George Ekaitas, the 175-pound intercollegiate champion who wore Western Maryland ring colors several years ago, has turned pro . . . And what's this about Al Lewis losing a decision to someone or other in the Kid Chocolate preliminary fight in Pittsburgh a week ago? . . . These Hamas-Loughran bouts are getting to be perennial affairs . . . this next will be the fourth . . .

BATSMEN TO FACE W. MD.; TRACKMEN AWAIT I.C.4-A MEET

COLUMBIA TO PLAY HERE ON SATURDAY

Both Games Mark Opening of Baseball Relations With Blue and White

By FRED W. WRIGHT '35 Tomorrow and next Saturday will see the swan song of the 1933 Lion diamond ensemble when Captain Reggie Smith and his mates meet Western Maryland and Columbia on New Beaver field in successive week-end encounters.

Both games will mark the inauguration of athletic relations in baseball with the Lions, although contests in other sports with each institution have appeared before on the schedule.

Parks Gets Mound Assignment With a week of rest between each game, Keith Parks will receive the mound assignments, with Jack Luchter likely ready to step in at any moment in a relief role.

Bill McKechnie, who received his first taste of intercollegiate competition Saturday in a relief role at first base, may get the starting assignment, tomorrow at least, at the initial baseball "Zee" Zavacki, regular first baseman, has been having trouble with his eyes and McKechnie's smooth defensive work may convince Coach Joe Beden that he is ready for his first varsity start.

Green Terror Schedule Short

Western Maryland will invade New Beaver field having played comparatively few games in their schedule because of rain. Either Shilling, a veteran letterman, or Draper, who is just breaking into intercollegiate competition, will pitch, while Koppe will do the receiving.

When the Columbia nine steps on New Beaver field Saturday afternoon, they will vary from the Bedenken only in the institution they represent. Both have sobriquets of Lion and both have blue and white as their colors.

White To Pitch

Captain Ray White, one of the few pitcher-leaders in collegiate circles this season, has been largely responsible for the Columbia record. The Blue and White leader limited Cornell to four hits and one run, and shut out Yale, 1-to-0, limiting the Eli batters to five safe blows.

Columbia, with victories over Harvard, Yale, and Holy Cross—considered by many as one of the strongest teams in the east year in and year out—has rolled over all opposition practically unscathed. The most recent victim of the Morningside Heights nine was New York University by a 13-to-7 score Saturday.

WOMEN TO HOLD ANNUAL TRACK MEET TOMORROW

All Co-ed Students Holding W. A. A. Qualifications May Compete

Women's annual track meet will be held on Holmes field at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. All women students who have W. A. A. qualifications in three events are eligible to enter the meet.

Events scheduled for the meet include the fifty, seventy-five, and one hundred yard dashes, the standing broad jump, and the running broad jump. Other events will be the javelin throw, baseball throw, basketball throw, and high jump.

Participants in the meet who make a first place or score a total of seven points automatically become members of the varsity track team. This year the qualifications have been raised in order to restrict the number of entrants.

JUNIOR CO-EDS WIN GAME

Junior women defeated the sophomores in baseball Wednesday afternoon by a score of 7-to-0.

Former Track, Field Stars Pay Tribute To Cartmell

Protest Against Coach's 'Forced' Resignation Voiced by Bill Cox, Alan Helffrich, Al Bates, Chick Meisinger

A tribute to Coach Nate Cartmell and a protest against his "forced" resignation was voiced by former Nittany Lion track and field stars in letters to Richard J. Detwiler '31, himself a champion runner under the tutelage of the deposed Nittany mentor, this week.

Bill Cox, twice intercollegiate cross country champion and an I. C. A. A. A. two-mile champion; Alan Helffrich, intercollegiate half-mile champion; Al Bates, national broad jump title-holder; and "Chick" Meisinger, captain of the 1931 Blue and White team, are the former members of Nate's teams who voice their appreciation of the man who coached them to national fame.

"Nate Cartmell to me is Penn State. The day he leaves my interest will have died. Nate has taught me many of his honorable characteristics. He was my chief reason for entering Penn State," are a few of the comments by Cox. "Nate Cartmell's worth to Penn State is unestimable. . . . Nate has always been loyal to Penn State. . . . Nate and I used to sit up 'til the early hours of the morning planning and hoping we would win championships for Penn State," he continues.

"You know my thoughts on Nate Cartmell as a coach and man . . . there is none better to handle our situation in track and field at Penn State, and I think he has our institution at heart more than others who are connected with it," writes Helffrich, whose brilliant running under Cartmell's direction placed him in the top flight of national champions during his intercollegiate career.

"With the lack of good raw material, due to no scholarships, the only other way to get above-mediocre teams is to have good coaches. Nate is the last coach at State with any national prominence," is the opinion expressed by Al Bates.

"When Bezdek was forced to stop coaching football teams he acquired a violent passion for mass athletics, says Meisinger. "To expect Nate to do the same thing is like asking Padrewski to tune pianos. The one bright spot in this affair is that Nate has courage enough to stick to a principle and lose a job. Very few men do that any more."

22 MEN LOST TO LION SPRING SPORTS TEAMS BY GRADUATION

Out of sixty-three players on Lion spring sports teams—baseball, golf, lacrosse, tennis, and track—who can be classed as regulars, twenty-two are seniors and will consequently be lost through graduation in June.

Lacrosse and tennis are the hardest teams hit by losses to regulars. Four seniors have played their last matches as Lions out of eight regulars who composed the tennis team, while six veterans will be lost to the lacrosse team.

Captain Bud Wilson, Hank Hartzler, Charlie Shaeffer, and Al Fretz are the players lost to the Nittany netmen. Captain Jake Edell, Paul Day, Marty Hesch, Fred Kane, Bill Moorhouse, and Johnny Webber will be missing from the line-up when the Lion lacrosse team takes the field next year.

KOTH '34 ELECTED LACROSSE CAPTAIN

16 Players Receive Letter Awards At Meeting—Juniors Defeat Senior-Alumni Team

George F. Koth '34 was named as next year's captain of the Lion lacrosse team at a meeting of the lettermen Wednesday. Koth played at home this year and was one of the most important cogs in the Lion's scoring machine.

At the same time, letters were awarded to Captain Jake Edell, Paul A. Day, Marty Hesch, Fred Kane, Bill Moorhouse, and John E. Weber, all seniors. Juniors who received awards were Captain-elect Koth, Henry M. Bosman, Philip R. Hasan, Ernest D. Kaufuss, George E. Kline, Fred L. Maley, Henry K. Moulthrop and John N. Rathmell. Two sophomores, Ed Coskery and Jim Reed, also received letters.

As part of Coach Mike Loeb's program for preparation for next year, the juniors on the varsity squad recently defeated a team composed of the seniors and a number of alumni 9-to-3.

In a similar game played Tuesday, the sophomores on the varsity squad trounced the freshman squad 2-to-1. With every evidence of good material in the lower classes, it looks to Mike as if the Lion would go through a far more successful next year than this was.

Lion Sprinters Will Engage In Annual Meet at Harvard

10 Men Depart With Few Hopes of Garnering Points In Encounter—Selections Made Monday, Tuesday

By PHILLIP W. FAIR, JR. '35 Lion trackmen will compete against the cream of the country's track and field stars this afternoon and tomorrow at the annual I. C. A. A. A. meet which is being held in the Harvard Stadium at Cambridge.

Leaving yesterday at noon, ten trackmen started the long trek to the scene of the races, with not much hope of garnering more than a few points in the meet. Final selections for the trip were made at the trials held Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Field Events Men Listed

Dale, ready to run the 220-yard dash, Rhodes, anticipating the 440-yard event, Captain Dunaway, prepared for the 800 meters race, and Siesky, in the 1500 meter run, with Jackson in the 110 high hurdles and Van Keuren stepping the low hurdles, are the only trackmen going on the trip.

O'Shea, who cleared the bar at six feet, one inch in practice this week, and Sayland will endeavor to make good in the high jump, while Sayland is also entered in the broad jump event. Bob Sigel, throwing the javelin, and Dick Sigel, tossing the discus, are the only other members of the team.

Stanford Favored To Win

Although only three practice periods were held this week before the team left yesterday, it was noticeable that the performances of the majority of the runners and field men had improved considerably during the last week. Several good times were made on the track, while distances and heights were increased on the field.

Among the contestants at the track carnival in Cambridge is Stanford University, who with a large crew of weight men brought from the coast, is expected to annex the team championship of the tournament. Southern California and Yale, however, are not Tommy Loughran, former world's light-heavyweight champion, in a ten-round bout at the Yankee stadium on June 21.

Hamas and Loughran, now contenders for the heavyweight championship, have fought three times in the last year. Two of the bouts have gone to Hamas, the first by a two-round knockout and the second by a decision, while the last fight resulted in a decision for the Philadelphia veteran.

NITTANY GOLFERS TO MEET CORNELL

Lions Will Attempt Comeback Tomorrow After Defeat By Big Red Squad

By KENNETH C. HOFFMAN '35

With thoughts of a stinging defeat, the first of the season, ranking in their breasts, the Lion golfers will return to the home fairways when they encounter the Cornell team in a return match on the College course tomorrow afternoon.

Led by Captain Rodney Bliss, the Red linksmen piled up a 4½-to-1½ advantage over the Nittany foursome at Ithaca last week-end, and Coach Bob Rutherford's proteges have decided that a Lion victory will depend largely on the stopping of the Red leader.

Line-up Unchanged

In an attempt to strengthen the Lion line-up, Coach Rutherford may decide on a last-minute change in the playing order, which has remained the same since the season opened.

Intent upon regaining a position on the team, Roger Hetzel has challenged Bus Sickels to a 36-hole match which will be completed today. Sickels replaced Hetzel last week by virtue of a victory in a similar play-off.

The remainder of the team will probably be the same, and according to the present line-up Lloyd Beyer will meet Bliss, while Tom Marshall will engage Persons. Dick Ritenour, the only Lion golfer to win his match Saturday, is paired off with Baxter.
