P. S. C. A. ORGANIZES FUTURE MEETINGS

Speakers Listed Include Prof. Van Dusen, Dr. Bruce A. Curry, William Wood

With organization of Freshman Week and its activities completed, the Penn State Christian Association yesterday turned its energies in the direction of completing plans for meetings to be held here later this semester.

Among the speakers who are at the present time scheduled to appear on Penn State platforms before the end of the first semester are Prof. Henry P. Van Dusen, associate professor of systematic theology and the philosophy of religion at the Union Theological Seminary, New York City. He will address the Dad's Day chapel audience, and also preside at several other meetings and discussion groups while in State College.

To Sponsor Discussions Featured as the speaker for alumni Day gatherings is William Wood, who was president of the P. S. C. A., captain of the football team and a member of Lion's Paw society while here. He will speak at meetings of alumni and students during the week-end.

Dr. A. Bruce Curry, also of the Union Theological Seminary, will lead a "discussion" series to be held here during the latter part of October, while Arthur Rule, who is a member of the International Y. M. C. A. Council, will address a meeting later in the semester.

Beginning the first week in October, the P. S. C. A. will sponsor a series of discussions between freshmen and upperclass campus leaders. Robert K. Paxton '35 is chairman of the committee in charge of the series, which will be held every week. Questions to be discussed include "Activities," "Customs," "Campus Problems," and others of interest.

Churches to Hold Receptions Plans for the completion of the Freshman commission, the first year P. S. C. A. cabinet, are being formulated, and will be completed within the very near future. The meetings will be held several times during each week, so that every freshman will be able to attend, regardless of class hours. Every first year man present at the meetings will automatically be eligible for the freshman commission which will be formed later during the College semester.

To welcome the members of the class of 1937, all churches of State College will hold Freshman receptions next Friday night. All religious sects except the churches welcome the freshmen. Members of the Roman Catholic church here will hold their annual meeting for first-year men on the first Friday in October, while the Hebrew groups will be celebrating their High Holidays next Friday. To round out the program of activities among the first-year men, the association will hold open houses, discussion groups, week-end series at the Andy Lytle cabin in Shingletown gap. Visiting speakers will be invited to address groups of freshmen and upperclass students at the cabin during the week-ends of the coming semester.

Attendance at the cabin receptions during the silent period under the Interfraternity Council rushing code will not be a violation code, according to Paxton, who supervises the gatherings. Upperclassmen will be similarly welcomed at the church receptions Friday night, as permission of Interfraternity Council to hold the meetings has been obtained.

Cheerleader Credits Freshmen With Most Vim, Pepper in Years

Displaying more vim, and pep than other first year classes for several years, freshmen were credited with showing unusual responsiveness to song and cheer practice during Freshmen Week by John T. Davis '34 head cheerleader.

"The first year men are very enthusiastic at each turnout," Davies stated. "I found no trouble in getting them to co-operate with my associates on all the College yells and songs. Moreover, they got the swing of successful cheering."

"They were peppier than any other class I can remember," he continued. "After the second meeting they cheered so well that one would think they were veterans. They were unusually attentive and showed great tendencies to follow our directions in rhythmic movements."

The head cheerleader believes that this year's advance will eventually lead to the rejuvenation of "Old Penn State Spirit." Once started he maintains, the enthusiasm will increase with each new student body until the College regains the lost form of cheering and singing.

"I can foresee already that the freshmen's cheering will add greatly to spice of the football games, and all other major contests. If the athlete's vigor were commensurate with the freshmen's enthusiasm, we'd lose a few games," Davies declared.

In observing the present change in the cheering spirit, Davies believes that the response is due to the supposedly regained interest in the athletic policy of the College. If such be the case, freshmen are doing their part in giving worthwhile exhibition of cheering and singing, he concluded.
