

Lions to Face Muhlenburg as College Welcomes Visiting Dads

Will Renew Relations With Allentown Institution

SLOAN WILL FILL 'KING' COLE'S PLACE AT TACKLE

'Shorty' Mikelonis to Direct Team—Woolbert Out With Shoulder Separation

In order to concentrate the cheering in the West stands, section 18 on the 50-yard line has been set aside as an upperclass cheering section for the Muhlenburg game Saturday. Parents and visitors will be asked to remain out of this section so that it may be occupied entirely by upperclassmen.

By FRED W. WRIGHT '35

Tackles are generally considered the key men in any football line, but it looks as if the Lions will have to wait at least another week before both bulwarks of the forward wall will be able to take their positions on the same field at the same time.

Last week it was Dick Woolbert, 200-pound regular, and this week it is "King" Cole, 139-pound veteran, who will be unable to start the second game of the season against Muhlenburg College on New Beaver field at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Regular Tackles Injured

Because both of the Lions' veterans will be unable to start, Head Coach Bob Higgins will depend on Dave Sloan, up from the freshman team last season, to fill one gap, while who will start at the other berth is a moot question. Woolbert's shoulder separation, suffered in a pre-season practice game, has failed to heal as quickly as was expected, and Cole's ankle injury, received in the Lebanon Valley game, will keep him on the sidelines for at least another week.

On the basis of polished defensive work in the opening game, Buck McKee will start as Captain Tommy Slusser's running mate at end, while Lou Krietzman and Tony Bedoski, veteran guards, will flank Bob Weber, at center. Otherwise, the line-up for the Lions' opening of athletic relations on the gridiron with Muhlenburg will remain practically intact.

Mikelonis to Call Signals

At "Shorty" Mikelonis, whose field generalship played a major part in routing the Flying Dutchmen from Lebanon Valley last Saturday, will quarterback the team from the opening whistle against the Mules. It's a matter of conjecture whether "Barrell" Morrison, who harked Lebanon Valley's forward wall for consistent short gains, or "Red" O'Hara, who was a quarterback last week, will start at right half, but Harry Sigel is definitely Higgins' choice for left half and Leo Skemp for fullback.

After a lapse of twelve years, the Lions will again play host to a Muhlenburg Mule eleven. Back in 1920 the Mules were defeated, 27-7, while in 1914 the score was 22-0, with the Lions again victorious.

Hostiles Outweigh Lions

Once again the Lions will line-up with a weight handicap to overcome as the Mules average 181 pounds to the 170 for Higgins' henchmen. The hostiles' biggest weight advantage lies in the line, where the Lion forward wall will give away eight pounds per man.

If you think Muhlenburg's deluge at the hands of Fordham last Saturday prefaces an easy victory, you should take into consideration the fact that most of the regular Mules were saved for the game Saturday. Only two of their regulars are incapacitated at the present time as a result.

Unless "Red" Weiner, who does Muhlenburg's kicking and passing and considerable of the field direction, gets into the clear, the Lions shouldn't have much to worry about. And with the Lions' pony backfield skirting the flanks of a slow lumbering hostile line, the men of Higgins' should roll up enough points to insure victory.

The stage manager for the production is Ralph E. Levine '34. He is assisted by Charles R. Stocker '35. Carl Richards '35 is chief electrician, while Elsie M. Douthett '35 is property manager.

Edith O. Reese '35 has been appointed costume manager. The sets were designed by Horace McLaughlin '35, while advertising for the production is in charge of Robert L. Grun '35.

SLASH IN STUDENT BODY DEPENDS ON BOND ISSUE

President Hetzel's Statement

THE Pennsylvania State College needs your help. It is facing the most serious crisis in its history. The last legislature reduced the maintenance appropriation to the College by ten percent, and during the closing hours attached an amendment to the College appropriation bill which provided that the appropriation would be reduced thirty-three and a third percent more if Amendment Number 8 to the State Constitution should not be approved by the voters at the election on November 7.

Such a reduction in the appropriations from the State would automatically cancel other income, including a large part of the Federal funds which are conditioned upon State appropriations. The effect of such a loss of operating income would be little short of devastating to the organization and service of the College. Resident teaching, the State-wide extension service and most productive research relating to agriculture and other major Pennsylvania industries would have to be seriously curtailed, and in some instances completely abandoned. Values would be destroyed out of all proportion to funds saved.

Failure to approve Amendment Number 8 would also do serious damage to the very vital and necessary service now being performed by the unemployment relief organizations, the one hundred and sixty-five State-aided hospitals, and fourteen other colleges and universities.

The constructive ministry of these relief, educational, and humane agencies is needed more now than ever before. By aiding in securing a favorable vote on Amendment Number 8 at the election to be held on November 7 you will be serving not only The Pennsylvania State College, but your State and nation. The times and the circumstances call for active, intelligent, and unselfish public service. We earnestly appeal for your active help.

C. hats with the uniform.

Decreased Enrollment Will Follow Failure Of Amendment

HETZEL OPENS COLLEGE CAMPAIGN WITH APPEAL

Curtailment of Experimental, Research, Agricultural Work Foreseen

"Failure of Amendment Number 8 to pass in the November elections would result in the dropping of a thousand or more students now in College, a complete breakdown of industrial extension service, the reduction of agricultural extension service to an ineffectual and limping program, the abatement of a major part of research now in progress, the dismissal of a large number of the College staff, and a costly deterioration of a physical plant."

Inaugurating the State-wide campaign to win the voters' approval of the $25,000,000 bond issue, President Ralph D. Hetzel, in a statement released at noon today, declared that values would be destroyed out of all proportion to the funds saved if the proposed amendment fails to pass and told of the affect it would have on the College. The text of his supplementary statement follows:

Explains Amendment

"On November 7, the citizens of Pennsylvania will be called upon to make a decision of vital and far-reaching importance to their interests in unemployment relief, the care of the sick and higher educational services in the State.

"There will appear on the ballot on Election Day a proposed amendment to the State Constitution, listed as Amendment Number 8, authorizing the executive officers of the Commonwealth to borrow "not exceeding $25,000,000 to defray the expenses of the State government for the biennium beginning June 1, 1933."

Federal Funds Threatened

"The purposes to which this loan would be put are specifically covered in the appropriation acts of the last session of the Legislature, contingent upon the approval of the amendment by the voters, in the following amounts: unemployment relief, $20,100,000; hospitals, $2,231,365; colleges and universities, $2,564,000; the remainder of the loan being applicable to sinking fund, interest and cost of floating the bond issue.

"The consequences of failure to approve Amendment Number 8 would be the collapse of the State unemployment relief program including the loss of Federal funds conditioned upon State appropriations, a 30 per cent curtailment of service to the State in 165 hospitals located in all sections of the Commonwealth and a devastating 33 1-3 per cent slash (40 per cent over last biennium) in State-aid to fourteen colleges and universities.

Tells of Alternative

"If Amendment Number 8 fails to pass, the only alternative will be increased or new State and local taxes. If the levying of new taxes appears possible and desirable, it is extremely doubtful if they could be levied and collected in time to avoid the serious interruption and certain destruction of the educational and humanitarian services concerned with this amendment.

"Amendment Number 8 authorizes the officers of the State to borrow not to exceed $25,000,000 if such funds are necessary. In the best of circumstances, the amendment will provide insurance against the disastrous interruption of these services and in the absence of marked improvement in State finances, it will save them at a time when they are most seriously needed.

"Vote and work to save these constructive humanitarian services to the people of our Commonwealth." Edward K. Hibshman, alumni secretary, and Raymond S. Smith, College controller, have been appointed by Dr. Hetzel as joint heads of the committee in charge of the College's campaign. A plan of co-operation with Temple University, University of Pittsburgh, whose budgets will also be affected by the proposed cut, has been effected by the committee.
