PLEBES TO OPEN FOOTBALL SEASON

Will Engage Wildcats on New Beaver Practice Field At 12:30 O'clock

By JOHN A. BRUTZMAN '33

What are the prospects for future Lion football teams? That will be the question Penn State students can ponder as they watch the freshmen squad open their season against the Villanova Wildcats on New Beaver practice field at 12:30 o'clock Saturday.

Coach Nelson S. Walke has a great bunch of boys to work with this year—he says so; he has had nearly five weeks to get them working as a unit; they showed up especially well in their only game with the varsity—in other words, it should be a team that will bring visions of really great football once more to this campus.

Villanova will come here with a strong team. They have had two games' experience and that will count strongly in their favor. However, the Lion cubs have had plenty of scrimmage, and with injuries cut to a minimum, they should rate on a par with the Wildcats.

Coach Walke will start Sunday and Smith at ends, with Schuyler and Barth at the tackle positions. Murray will open the game at center, flanked by Bataglia and Levinson at guards.

Girton will call signals from the quarterback post, with Rhoda and Hess at halfback. Robbins at fullback will complete the starting lineup.

However, these are not the only men who will see action Saturday. Coach Walke plans to send practically the whole squad in before the game is over. Terry and Ritzio are the reserve ends, while Radcliffe, Salisbury, Cromwell, Cimo, and O'Dowd will probably get a chance at tackle.
