26 Lions Leave for New York Tonight

Columbia Team Boasts 9-Pound Weight Advantage

NITTANY PASS ATTACK FEARED BY LOU LITTLE

Both Teams Amassed Within 6 Points of Same Score Against Lehigh

Facing their first major test on a foreign field, the Nittany Lions of Penn State—twenty-six strong—will leave State College at 8:30 o'clock tonight for New York City where they will invade the lair of the Columbia University Lion on Baker field at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Following a heavy scrimmage in which the first-string backfield scored one touchdown against the varsity line last night, Coach Bob Higgins put the Nittany Lions through a light signal drill this afternoon. Encouraged by defeating Lehigh by a 33-to-0 score—one touchdown less than Columbia, Captain Tommy Slusser and his mates are entraining tonight grim and determined, with every expectation of leaving Baker bowl on the long end of the score.

Columbia Outweighs Lions The following players will make the trip to New York City: Captain Slusser, Orlando, McKee, Rosenbergs, ends; Cole, Wothers, Wisner, Parks, tackles; Sloan, Woolridge, Latore, Berry, guards; Anderson, J. O'Hara, Weber, centers; F. O'Hara, Maurer, Niekolnis, Sigel, Long, Morrison, Andrews, Cooper, Skemp, Boring, Knapf, backs.

Originally scheduled as a "let-down" game for Columbia, Penn State's showing thus far this season has aroused Coach Lou Little to the point where he doesn't know just what to expect. Fearing the Nittany Lions' aerial attack, he has devoted practices since the Princeton debacle to preparing a pass defense.

Columbia's Lions will outweigh Clam Higgins nine pounds to a man. The hostile line averages 192 pounds to the Nittany Lions' 180, while the Columbia backfield will take the field at 182 pounds to 166 for the invaders. Comparative Scores Favor Columbia

Facing a weight handicap, however, means nothing to Coach Higgins' benchmen. They were out-weighted last Saturday and when the final whistle blew Lion reserves were still scoring.

If you go in for comparative scores, the Lions of Columbia hold a one-touchdown margin based on the Lehigh contests. Columbia overwhelmed the Engineers in their second game of the season by a 39-to-0 score. But two Nittany scores were ruled out on technicalities.

AUTHORITIES TRAIL ROBBERY SUSPECTS

Delta Upsilon Reports Recent Theft of $62—Increases Losses to $476

With Delta Upsilon reporting a loss of approximately $62 which was stolen over Alumni Homecoming week-end, the number of fraternity house robberies here has been increased to seven, with a total loss of $476. Local police authorities believe that the same culprits were responsible for the lootings at Dickinson and Franklin and Marshall colleges.

The loot at the Carlisle institution early Monday morning totalled $500, a radio and automobile, although the automobile was recovered abandoned several miles away from Dickinson. Thieves also plundered six fraternities at Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster early Tuesday morning and obtained $250 in cash, and varied assortments of jewelry and clothing.

Police Have 2 Suspects

Local police have two suspects under surveillance. Two men who travelled in a dark green Ford coupe bearing a Georgia license, were reported to have taken pictures of several fraternities here on October 11. Members who saw such individuals are requested to report it to Chief of Police Albert E. Yougel to aid further identification.

Working in cooperation with police authorities in Lancaster and Carlisle, Chief Yougel believes that the culprits will be apprehended in a very short time. Reports from the college towns that were ransacked show that the descriptions of the suspects tally with those here.

In order to warn other colleges about further lootings, Yougel broadcast messages over the State teletype system yesterday. In addition to the descriptions of the suspects which were sent to college towns, circulars will be distributed today.

Campus Hat Societies Distribute 20,000 Postcards Next Thursday Night

VOTERS WILL RECEIVE EXCUSES NOVEMBER 7

May Go Home To Cast Ballot On Issue if Registered In Home Precinct

Arrangements for student support of Amendment Number 8 at the elections in November have been made by undergraduate students and members of the faculty committee seeking to create a favorable sentiment for the $25,000,000 bond issue.

Twenty thousand postcards, bearing an explanatory message, have been printed by the College and will be distributed among the students in a canvass to be conducted by members of the campus hat societies next Thursday night.

Students To Sign Cards Blue Key, Druids, and Friars members will be assigned to cover the non-fraternity men, while the Interfraternity Council will select a member from each fraternity house to distribute the cards.

Excuses to all students who wish to go home in order to vote for Amendment Number 8 on November 7 will be granted, Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock stated last night. He said that the College has always permitted students to do this in the past and that the rule will still be followed.

All students who become twenty-one years of age before November 8 are eligible to vote at this election, Dr. Jacob Tanager, head of the department of political science and economics, said yesterday, but unless he has previously registered on regular registration days, he will not be permitted to exercise his right of franchise.

However, Dr. Tanager amended, this applies only to students living in first, second, or third class cities. Students living in small towns, boroughs, or in the country will be permitted to vote if they swear out an affidavit stating that they have reached their majority, he added.

President Ralph D. Hetzel will address a town meeting composed of civic and business societies in the State College high school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Dr. Hetzel will discuss the bond issue.

Sackett Asks for Passage Of Amendment Number 8

Terms Mental Starvation of Youth in Effect To Balance Mistakes Strange Justice

"To starve mentally the present youth in order to balance a budget of social mistakes made by an older generation would be strange justice," commented Dean Robert L. Sackett, of the School of Engineering, in urging the passage of Amendment Number 8 at the November elections.

"If Amendment Number 8 should fail and a further reduction of thirty per cent is required, it will involve a devastating cut in the essential program and personnel," Dean Sackett declared. "Curricula and courses have been dropped in carrying out the drastic economies required by the present budget which is far below normal. Salaries have been reduced and members of the faculty have been dropped."

Five thousand Pennsylvania wage earners are already paying higher taxes than is just for engineering extension service and if funds are reduced by the failure of Amendment Number 8, it will threaten the very

With $1,500 raised towards their goal of $2,600 members of the men's canvass corps working in the Penn State Christian association's annual finance drive last night redoubled their efforts to reach their mark by Friday night, when the campaign closes.

"We'll have to work hard; harder even than we have been, if we expect to reach our goal," Albert E. Diem '35, finance drive chairman said last night. "Nevertheless, there isn't a man working who isn't confident that we shall attain our goal in support of this worthy cause."

Hammaker Team Leads

In the inter-team competition for honors in raising money for support of student activities controlled through the P. S. C. A., the group headed by William L. Hammaker, associate secretary of the association is in the lead, followed by the teams headed by Diem and Harry W. Seaman, secretary of the association.

In pointing out that men and women students, as well as faculty members who pledged or paid more than $2.50, which has been set as the standard membership fee, are entitled to a membership card, Hammaker said that they should be given out by the solicitor. Any student who declines a card and has not received one may get it at the association offices in Old Main, he announced.

At the present time the men's team are more than half way towards their goal, while the women solicitors have raised approximately a third of their quota so far. In the faculty drive the total amount subscribed so far is not known exactly, as all funds have not yet been turned in.

All fraternities have been notified by phone to attend the rally, which will be staged for the team's first foreign engagement. All freshmen failing to attend the mass meeting will be subject to action by the Tribunal, Harper declared.

To Attempt Class Cancellation Because of the unusual importance of the Governor's speech, members of the Student Union committee in charge of arrangements for the affair are making an attempt to have all 2 o'clock classes excused. At present, however, the issue was as yet undecided.

As a special session of the state Legislature is expected within two weeks, members of political groups all over the State have been awaiting a statement as to the Governor's position on the entire liquor question. In his speech, entitled "What Shall a Dry Do Now?" the Governor will make that statement.

Carson W. Culp '34, P. S. C. A. president this year will open the meeting by an introduction of President Ralph D. Hetzel, who will in turn present the Governor to students, faculty, and townspeople. Songs by the College Glee club and music by the Sophomore R. O. T. C. band will also feature the meeting.

Reception Set for 12:50 O'clock

Immediately following the conclusion of the Governor's talk, students will rise and sing the "Alma Mater." The State chief executive will then leave immediately to fly to Lancaster, where he is scheduled to address a National Guard convalesce in support of Amendment Number 8 to the State Constitution, providing for a general $25,000,000 bond issue.

The State chief executive will be met on the front steps of Old Main at exactly 12:50 o'clock. He will meet the Student Union committee waiting to welcome him, will receive a military salute from members of the local R. O. T. C. corps, and will be presented with a memento of his visit by John T. Ryan '34, senior class president.

As he leaves the terrace, Jack T. Davies '34, head cheerleader, will lead a "College Yell" in his honor. Before the arrival and after the departure of the Governor, music will be provided by the Sophomore R. O. T. C. band.

Will Make Tour of Campus

Following the reception, the Governor will be conducted on a tour of the campus and its new buildings by President Hetzel. He will be accompanied by Richard J. Beamish, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Because of the necessity for Governor Pinchot to keep on an exact schedule while here, students and townspeople are being urged to arrive early, both for the reception and the meeting at which the Governor will speak. Letters and posters are being distributed to all fraternities, boarding and rooming house units, and business houses here.

Student Committee Named

Students who will welcome the guest of honor will include three class presidents, John T. Ryan '34, John M. Stoeker '35, and J. Briggs Pruitt '36. Carson W.
