

Letter Box

To the Editor:

Edward Zern's vastly amusing comment on the "Loyal Son's" letters piques my curiosity beyond measure. I can't help wondering whether the humor of it is intentional or whether he is unconsciously showing himself up in all the pompous ignorance of a potential Rabbitt.

I wonder, too, what Plato's reaction would be to a reader of the Tarzan books who criticized him so scathingly. Poor "gracious foreigner." A loyal Penn State alumnus has destroyed with a word the literary standards of centuries. The Republic, the Dialogues, and Selections from Plato—trash. Ah, the tragedy of it! Plato is dead; long live Harold Bell Wright!

To the Editor:

It is with a feeling of indignation that I sit down to write this letter. What I want to know is, is there really such a thing on this campus as a Nudist Cult?

It doesn't seem possible to me that college students would sink low enough or be dumb enough to really go in for cheapness, I might say supervised cheapness, such as this. Nudism may be all right for Greenwich Village or Russia or other radical places but it certainly seems out of place here.

Maybe I'm wrong, but it makes me, as I say, indignant and boiling at the idea of such a thing. Everybody knows that its just an excuse for smut or sensationalism like a cheap newspaper.

Maybe there isn't any bunch of crazy students playing at being nudists, but it's causing a lot of talk; and the old saying that, "Where there's smoke there's fire" is still believed in by a lot of people.

If there is nudism on this campus something ought to be done about it, and if there isn't it ought to be suppressed before our parents get the idea that Penn State is really immoral and take us out of school.

I'm proud to say that I don't know of any co-eds who are nudists and I don't believe that there are any.

MAIDEN FORM

Helps you Attain a Better Figure

With brassieres designed to give the upper body fashion and support. Select the style for you and you'll find a tremendous difference it makes!

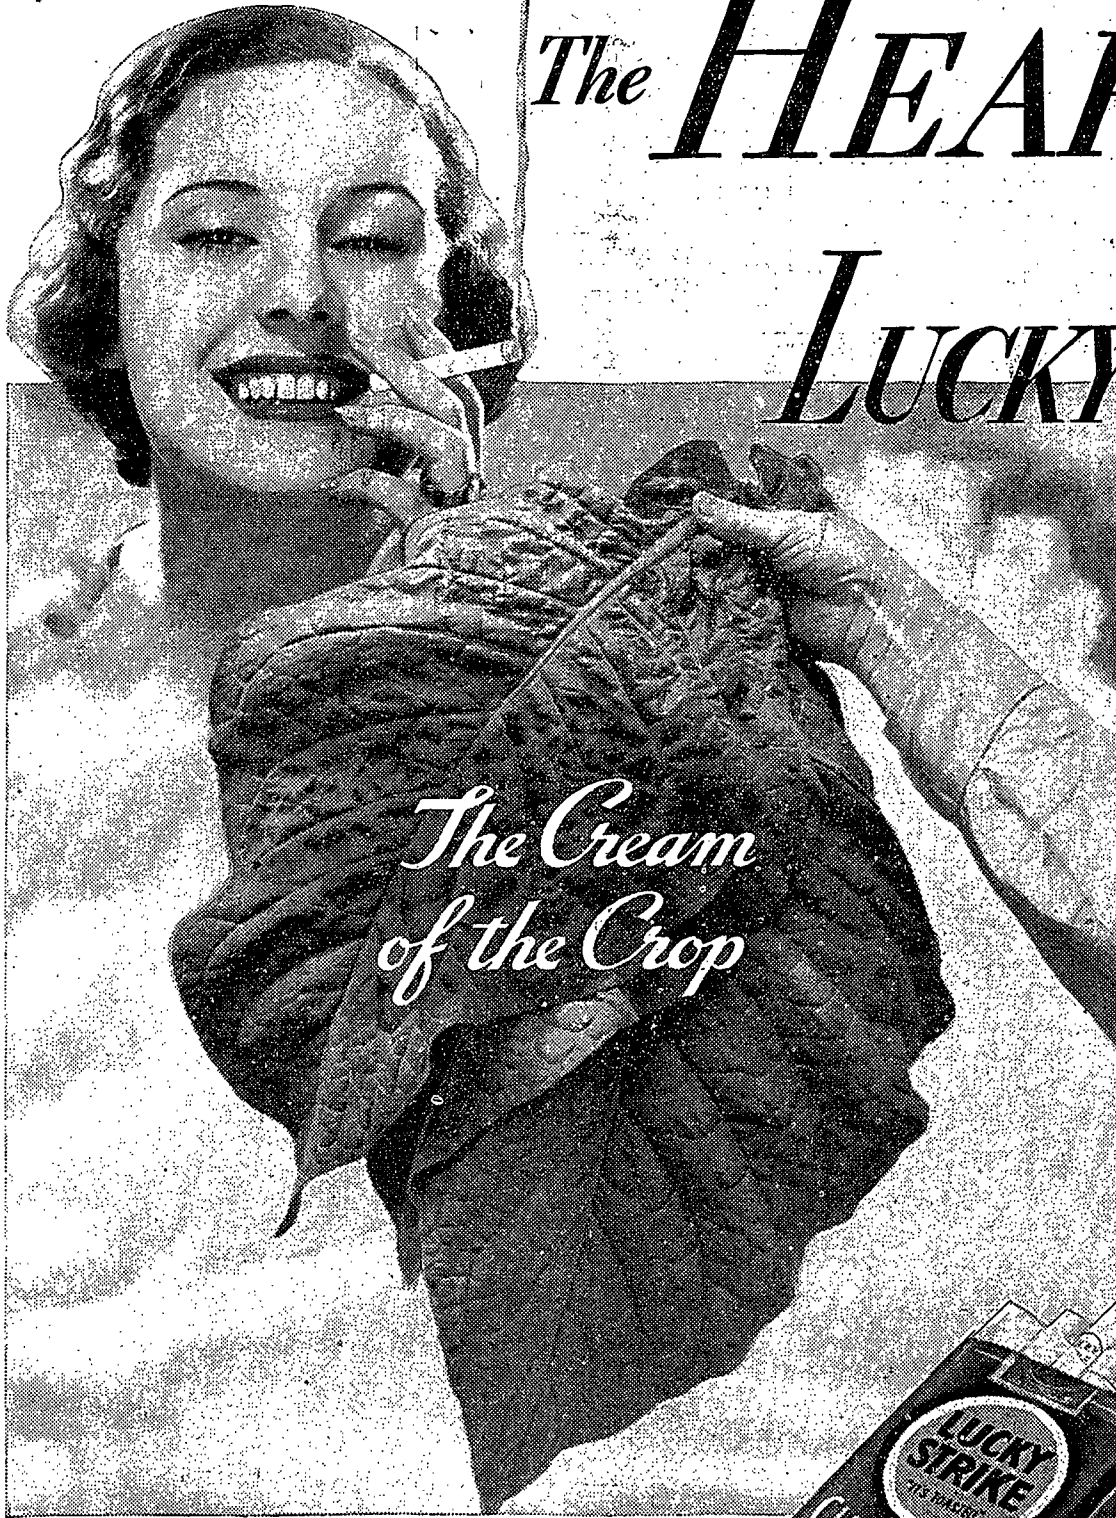

If you're not sure you're wearing Maiden Form's "High-Cut" style, select that slenderizing style at just the point that fashion says must be trim and slim. If your skin is tight, you need a supporting bra (the "anti-slip") select one of Maiden Form's "Double-Support" brassieres.

These new Maiden Form styles to give you "hip definition"—to give you the gentle, rounded curves you want in place of the lumps and bumps that most figures come by naturally.

Shown on the figure are Maiden Form's new V-line brassiere, "Dress-Like" style—designed to give with as well as support to the bust and "High-Cut" style, No. 1712, an exquisite "stream-line" bra which semi-encloses in elastic and satin braids, lace trimmings. These are only two out of a great variety of Maiden Form creations. Ask your dealer to show them to you or write for free booklet, Dept. C2—Maiden Form Brassiere Co., Inc., 215 Fifth Ave., New York.
