Prohibition's Repeal Will Legalize Sale Of Intoxicants Here

No Definite Action Concerning College Attitude On Question Planned—Await Legal Interpretations

Since no definite action has been taken as yet by town or College authorities to prevent its sale, distribution and sale of liquor locally under the provisions of the Pennsylvania liquor control act will be legal when the twenty-first amendment is ratified tomorrow.

No official statement regarding the liquor situation here has been made by College authorities. The new liquor control act makes no reference to the granting of licenses in college towns, and at present there is no ruling which would make the sale of liquor in State College illegal.

Awaits Official Interpretation

In an attempt to learn whether the old Brooks High License law still applies in prohibiting the granting of licenses to establishments in college towns, Burgess Eugene H. Lederer has written to the Attorney General for an official interpretation. It is thought, however, that since licenses are no longer granted by the courts, the old law will not have any bearing.

Doubts Sale Tomorrow

The new law provides a second method by which in the future towns that wish to forbid the sale of liquor may do so. Although it may not issue licenses, the county court of quarter sessions is empowered to revoke licenses, and fifteen citizens may present a petition to the court for the revocation of such licenses.

License Requirements Listed

Under the provisions of the new law, State liquor stores probably 300 in number, will be established according to population for the sale of liquor in containers or packages but not for consumption on the premises.

HELME ANNOUNCES SLAVONIC EXHIBIT

Architectural Department Sponsors Display in Connection With Visit of Minister

In connection with the visit of Leonidas Pitamic, ambassador to the U. S. from Yugoslavia, which is tentatively set for December 11, an exhibition of Slavonic art will be held in Room 304, Main Engineering.

The display will include six large photographs of Roumanian country scenes and architecture and twenty mounted samples of hand-woven or original textiles from Asia Minor, Persia, and India which are examples of the sources materials used in Slavonic weaving.

A feature of the exhibit will be an original Hungarian dress of hand-woven fabric which will be lent by Mrs. Robert L. Sackett. Mrs. Sackett received the dress as a gift from Dr. Paul H. Schweitzer upon his return from a trip through Hungary.

BELL TO FEATURE ARTICLE ON NUDISM

Student Literary Magazine To Appear on Thursday at Co-op, Newsstands

Nudism, Sex and the Co-ed, Speak-easies, Athletic Purity, and Double Diving are all featured in the December issue of the Old Main Bell, student literary and opinion magazine, which will go on sale at Co-op corner and at all news stands Thursday afternoon.

The featured article of the magazine is an imaginative sketch by W. G. Van Keuren '34 called "For the Glory." Although the sketch is based around the life of a fictitious football coach, the piece of writing is designed primarily to present the author's views on intramurals vs. intercollegiate athletics.

Contributors Listed

"Feminine Folkways: Sex and Co-eds" is a sociological study of "Penn State's great enigma" by Marion Blankenship. Before writing the article she spent many hours interviewing co-eds, collecting specific data. Charlotte Shachmann is once again listed as a Bell contributor with a story, "And Coffee," and with a mature essay, "Reductio ad Absurdum" in which she attempts to analyze the purpose of life.

The Bell also includes a pseudo Dorothy Parker sketch on dining by Emma M. Herbst entitled "Double, Double, Toil and Trouble." Stories printed in this issue are "Mr. G. G. Pan" by Van Keuren, "Charlie" by Patricia Glasgow, "Clever Boy" by James B. Beatty, and "Spokeneasies" by James B. Beatty.

Dean Watts Feted on Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Service to School

In commemoration of his twenty-five years of service to the School of Agriculture and to Penn State, Dean Ralph L. Watts was the guest of honor at a dinner attended by 275 persons at the Nittany Lion Inn last Tuesday night.

Edward S. Bayard, editor of the Pennsylvania Farmer and a trustee of the College, acted as toastmaster. He introduced members of the faculty of the School who described the progress made under Dean Watts' direction.

Prof. Thomas I. Mairs, director of correspondence courses, told of the advances made in agricultural instruction since Dean Watts came here in 1908, while Prof. Frank D. Gardner, head of the agronomy department, explained the progress made in research. Milton S. McDowell, vice-dean and director of extension, described the work of that division during the past quarter century, and Dr. Charles F. Noll, professor of experimental agronomy and superintendent of farms, described the increase in the physical equipment of the School.

150 Couples Attend Beaux Arts Function

Approximately 150 couples attended the second annual Beaux Arts Ball, which was held in the Armory under the sponsorship of Scarab, honorary architecture fraternity, according to members of the invitations committee.

Although all returns from the sale of invitations have not come in from members of the fraternity, it is believed by members of the committee in charge of the dance that the affair was not a financial success.

JEFFREY FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY

Wife of Soccer Coach Killed in New Jersey Auto Crash Last Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. William Jeffrey, wife of the Penn State soccer coach, were held from her home at 103 East Nittany avenue yesterday afternoon. Interment followed in the Pine Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Jeffrey was killed when she was thrown from an automobile driven by Miss Amy M. Fischer, of the School of Physical Education and Athletics, in a two-car crash on Route 28, near Summerville, N. J., Wednesday night. Miss Fischer received a broken shoulder and wrist, body abrasions, and was treated in Summerset County hospital, Summerville.

Director Bezek Informed

Miss Fischer was unconscious until late Thursday morning and hospital authorities were unable to learn the identity of either of the occupants of the car. Near noon, Miss Fischer recovered sufficiently to tell attached and they immediately informed Director Hugo Bezek, of the School of Physical Education and Athletics.

Mr. Jeffrey was in Philadelphia over the Thanksgiving holiday attending the Pennsylvania-Cornell soccer game and was informed by Dr. Leo Roy Meyer, Director of Physical Education, through Director Bezek. First word of the accident was received by Chief of Police Albert E. Yougel from the New Jersey State police, who investigated the crash.

Mrs. Jeffrey had left State College Wednesday afternoon for Astoria, Long Island, N. Y., and Miss Fischer, who was appointed to the faculty here this year, was enroute to New York City. Each was planning to visit her parents.

The deceased is survived by her husband, and one son, Arthur, a student in the high school here.

DENGLER WILL GIVE GREEK TRANSLATIONS WEDNESDAY

Dr. Robert E. Dengler, head of the department of classical languages, will give translations from modern Greek literature as the sixth speaker in the series of weekly lectures in second floor lounge in Old Main at 4:10 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Forestry Department, Made the Tribute to Dean Watts on Behalf of the School

Presented him with an album containing the photograph and signature of every member of the staff. Mrs. Frank D. Gardner tendered the tributes to Mrs. Watts, who was also present at the celebration.

A lantern slide history of Dean Watts and his administration here was shown by Prof. Jonathan W. White, of the agronomy department. Songs, including an "Ag Hill" version of "Victory," were sung by a faculty octette.

President Ralph D. Hetzel concluded the program with the presentation of certificates of honor to fourteen other members or former members of the School of Agriculture who have served twenty-five years or more. These included, in the order of years of service, Prof. Jons A. Fries, Prof. McDowell, Prof. Winfred W. Berman, Prof. White, Dr. Noll, Dr. J. Ben Hill, Mr. Frank P. Knoll, Prof. William R. White, Prof. Gardner, Prof. Ferguson, Dr. Charles E. Myers, Prof. Edward S. Erb, Mr. Edward K. Hibshman, and Mr. William G. Murtorf.

The election of the 1934 football captain has been postponed until this Saturday to permit two of the senior lettermen who are completing practice teaching courses at Altoona to be present.

At the same time, numerals were awarded to twenty-three members of the freshman football squad. Those who earned the awards are Luther R. Barth, Joseph G. Battaglia, John E. Bennis, Charles J. Cherundolo, Harry R. Cromwell, Nicholas F. Dutka, Curtis F. Edgar, Richard S. Eisenman, and Bernard J. Girtton.

No one will be admitted to the Auditorium after the curtain rises at 8:30 o'clock, Professor Cloetghing said. Reserved seat tickets may be obtained at the office of the Players, 413 Old Main, from 1:30 until 5 o'clock every day after December 6.

TICKETS REQUIRED AT NATIVITY PLAY

All Seats Reserved as Measure of Avoiding Overcrowding in Schwab Auditorium

Although there will be no admission charged for the nativity play to be given in Schwab auditorium December 12, all seats will be reserved to eliminate any possible overcrowding and confusion, according to Prof. Frank S. Neusbaum, of the department of English composition, who is directing the production.

No one will be admitted to the Auditorium after the curtain rises at 8:30 o'clock, Professor Cloetghing said. Reserved seat tickets may be obtained at the office of the Players, 413 Old Main, from 1:30 until 5 o'clock every day after December 6.

Harold Z. Snyder '36 has been named stage manager for the production. The electrician is Charles Raudenbush '35, while La Verne E. Reithoffer '35 has been named property manager. Two changes have been made in the cast as previously announced. Arthur R. Cunningham '34 will be the narrator instead of John O. Linton jr. '35, who will take the part originally played by Cunningham.

Others who have been added to the cast include Paul K. Hirsch '35 and Isabel K. Shulman '37, advisors to King Herod. Stephen B. Gilliard '35, William E. Graffan '37, and Robert W. Young '37 will portray the characters of the three shepherds.

'Collegian' Candidates To Meet on Wednesday

Because of the Sigma Delta Chi smoker at the Phi Kappa Psi house tomorrow night, the first meeting of freshman COLLEGIAN candidates will be held in Room 14 South Liberal Arts at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, instead of tomorrow night, as previously announced.

First year men and women candidates attending the meeting will be given the first of a series of instructive talks on the policy, style, and make-up of the paper. Business candidates will be instructed in the principles of advertising soliciting, and copy make-up.

SIGMA DELTA CHI TO HOLD SMOKER

Editors, Publishers, To Address Group at Phi Kappa Psi Tomorrow Night

Invitations have been mailed to all men students in the department of journalism, members of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary publications fraternity, and Alpha Delta Sigma, professional advertising fraternity, for a smoker to be held at the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

The smoker, sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, is planned as a means of giving journalism students here opportunity to hear outstanding men in the newspaper and advertising fields. If successful, the smoker will be established as an annual custom.

Publishers To Speak

Among the speakers secured for the affair are Congressman Joseph F. Biddle, publisher of the Huntington Daily News, Dan N. Slep, publisher of the Altoona Mirror, and Howard R. Davis, managing editor of the Williamsport Crit. Tom Nokes, secretary of the Outdoor Advertising Association of Pennsylvania, and Edward K. Hibshman executive secretary of the Alumni Association, will also talk.

Other guests will include Walter W. Krebs, publisher of the Johnstown Tribune, B. C. Jones, publisher of the Tyrone Daily Herald, and Gus M. Steinmetz, former editor of the Harrisburg Telegraph. Adrian O. Morse, executive secretary of the College will also be present.

Entertainment for the occasion will be furnished by Donald H. Dixon '37. Members of the committee in charge, in urging attendance, say that although several speakers are included on the program, the smoker will last only an hour.

FRUIT GROWERS PLAN MEETING

Fruit growers of Pennsylvania will hold a special two day program here next Tuesday and Wednesday, at which time there will be a review of the twenty-five year old apple orchard experiments. On Wednesday they will join with the vegetable gardeners in a program on the scientific aspects of plant disease and insect pests.

Students Must Remember Penn State Of Future in Criticism, Trainer Says

"In dealing with the problem of campus roads and paths it is necessary to consider the Penn State of the future as it exists in architects' plans," Walter W. Trainer, supervisor of landscaping and a member of the College department of Grounds and Buildings, said in an interview Saturday. This was in reply to a COLLEGIAN query made several weeks ago.

Mr. Trainer stated that criticism of the present system of campus paths is, in his opinion, usually forwarded by those who are not familiar with the "quadrangular system" which College architects are working to attain.

"Except for the radiating walks of the quadrangle which includes Old Main and the Auditorium, no other permanent walks are being laid because of building projects which will be carried to completion within the next few years," Mr. Trainer said.

As examples of architectural changes which will affect the campus walk system, Mr. Trainer mentioned the proposed "wing" which will, at some time, connect the two Liberal Arts buildings, additional men's dormitories to be erected as a continuation of the Watts, Frear, and Varsity hall group, which, when completed, will face the Mineral Industries building, and a "wing" and structure which, according to plans, will be added to Pond laboratory.

"When these projects have been completed," Mr. Trainer said, "the campus will be so changed that an

Students Enroll for Part-Time Work as Part of CWA Plan

500 Will Receive Employment on 9 Projects To Be Started This Week as Part Of $400,000,000 Program

Registration for part-time manual work on campus improvement projects authorized by the Civil Works Administration at Washington last week began this morning at the P. S. C. A. office on the third floor of Old Main. Work for about 500 needy students will be available here for the next two and one-half months.

The nine projects which will be started here within the coming week were allocated to the College as part of the $400,000,000 National Civil works program. They were approved last week by the State director and will be carried out under the direction of W. P. Sieg, the county administrator in cooperation with George W. Ebert, head of the Department of Grounds and Buildings.

FORUM WILL HEAR DISCUSSION ON NRA

Hasek, Rouseck, Alderfer, Tanger To Lead Meeting at 7:30 Wednesday Night

Inaugurating an entirely new means of bringing ideas to light, four members of the Penn State faculty will hold a 'professional bull-session', as the feature of the Penn State Christian association forum to be held in the Home Economics auditorium at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

"Will the NRA Lead the U. S. to Fascism?" will be the subject on which Dr. Carl Hasek, head of the department of economics and sociology, Dr. Joseph H. Rouseck, of the same department, and Dr. Harold F. Alderfer and Dr. Jacob Tanger, both of the department of history and political science, will have open forum.

The panel discussion, which is a system of presenting an idea to a large group of people by means of an 'organized bull session', has been used with very favorable results by discussion groups in many eastern colleges and universities. This will be the first time such an idea has been tried here.

Following the discussion on the part of the faculty men, who will cover the subject thoroughly, each presenting his own ideas on the effect of the recovery administration on the government and economic system of this country, members of the audience will be invited to enter the discussion, ask questions, and present their ideas.

Because of the timeliness of the subject, extra seats will be provided for people attending the meeting, as the capacity of the auditorium is too small, William E. Bell '34, chairman of the P. S. C. A. forum committee said in discussing plans for the meeting. If the plan works out well in this first meeting, it will be carried out in other discussion meetings this year, he said.

TURKEY DAY RUN TRACKMEN FETED

Sororities Entertain Contestants With Thanksgiving Dinner At W. W. A. Cabin

Contestants in the first annual women's units cross-country run held last week were feted at a turkey dinner given at the W. W. A. cabin Wednesday night. Four units tied for first place with twenty-two points each.

Kappa Alpha Theta, for whom George Harvey finished first for individual honors, Town Girls, Alpha Chi Omega, and Gamma Phi Beta were the units tied for first place, while Kappa Kappa Gamma placed second with twenty-four points. Chi Omega, Alpha Omega Phi, and the Town Dormitories tied for third position.

Howard Downey, running for the Town Girls, was second. Book Grum, Alexander, Rishel, Trimble, Gattilisi, Light, and Catehuf were next in order. Twenty-six varsity and freshmen runners competed.

Phi Mu, Women's Building, McAllister Hall, Grange Dormitory, and Delta Gamma placed next in order. With the four-way tie for first place, units with runners who failed to place in the first thirteen were required to pay for the winners among the first thirteen runners.

DOBBS '34 LEAVES HOSPITAL

Langford B. Dobbs '34, who was injured when his gun accidentally discharged while he was hunting November 4, was released from Centre County hospital, Bellefonte, early last week.
