EDITOR DECLARES FREE PRESS SAFE

Fred Fuller Shedd Delivers First Of Liberal Arts Lectures On Monday Night

"I am not, nor at any time have I been fearful that the freedom of the press will suffer under any degree of the present administration," declared Fred Fuller Shedd, editor-in-chief of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, in discussing the "Freedom of the Press," at the first of a series of Liberal Arts lectures which was held in the Home Economics auditorium Monday night.

Mr. Shedd pointed out that however much he might differ with any of the proposed plans of President Roosevelt, he did not believe that the President had at any time any serious thought or desire to assume control of the press through licensing it and putting it under governmental regulation.

"The present menace to the freedom of the press has not come, and does not lie, in any presidential program of economic reconstruction. Before the inauguration of President Roosevelt, restraint of the press was beginning to creep into the governmental systems of our states through laws enacted by supposedly representative legislatures, as through the decrees of judges sitting in state and local courts," Mr. Shedd stated.

In defining the freedom of the press he said that it is a right of the people, not a privilege of editors and publishers. It is identical in its principle, its essential service, with the right of free speech, and in its declaration and application it is the necessary complement of that primary right of democracy.

PAN-HELLENIC BALL SET FOR TOMORROW

Co-eds Given Special 2 O'clock Permission for Annual Fraternity Affair

Fraternity women will entertain their guests at the annual Panhellenic Ball at the Nittany Lion Inn tomorrow night. Co-eds have been granted 2 o'clock permission by the W. S. G. A. for the function.

The main dining room and Peacock Alley will be the scene of the ball for which Bill Bortoff and his orchestra will provide the music for dancing from 9 until 1 o'clock.

Must Submit Lists
A complete list of all fraternity women and pledges who are planning to attend the dance must be given to Margaret E. Barnard '34, chairman of the ball committee. Because of limited dancing space, alumnae members will not be admitted except as substitutes for active fraternity women.

The list of guests includes President and Mrs. Ralph D. Hetzel, Dean of Women Charlotte E. Ray, Miss Ellen M. Burkholder, Miss Marie Haidt, Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock, and Mrs. Ernest B. Forbes. In addition Charles A. Myers '34, president of Student Union, Herman C. Brandt '34, Interfraternity Council president, John T. Ryan Jr. '34, president of the senior class, and six women transfer students who are members of fraternities having no chapters here received invitations.

WALKER '37 SENTENCED TO WEAR DRESS BY TRIBUNAL

Robert A. Walker '37 was found guilty of violating freshman dress customs by the Student Tribunal last night, and sentenced to wear for two weeks a dress and the signs, "I Had Dink Trouble" and "Now I Have Signus Trouble."

Milton D. Sweet '37 and Joseph G. Corioli '37 were released from freshman dress customs, while Paul A. Noll '37, charged with swearing at upperclassmen, was found not guilty.

Ray, Morse Explain Drop In Freshman Co-ed Marks

Contrasting reasons for the fact that over fifty percent of the freshman women had below grades at the end of the first eight weeks have been expressed by Dean of Women Charlotte E. Ray and Adrian O. Morse, executive secretary to the President. Recording the largest percentage in the history of the school, the list includes the zero grades in the class.

"The girls' habit of gathering in groups in the evening tends to put off study time until too late," Miss Ray stated. "Women who cannot afford to spend time in this way must assert independence. They should not allow the influences of the group to rob them of the satisfaction they will receive from a feeling of achievement—from having done a job well, no matter how small."

"Letting things slide is poor preparation for any position in life," Miss Ray continued. "A good business man never pushes his work aside to be finished later, when a cheery, interesting friend comes in to chat." Mr. Morse said that the low record may be the result of differences in the standards of admission of women students. He declared that there have been fewer women applying for admission each of the past two years, while there have been more women admitted each year, causing the scholastic level for admittance auto-

FOSTER TO SPEAK AT GRADUATION ON FEBRUARY 2 HERE

Pollak Foundation Director Will Give Principal Address at 21st Commencement

TENTATIVE LIST INCLUDES 130 DEGREE CANDIDATES

$9 To Get Bachelor's Degrees; 39 Will Receive Master's; Doctorates Go To 4

William Trufant Foster, a director of the Pollak Foundation for Economic Research and connected in an executive capacity with the Consumer's Advisory Board at Washington, will be the principal speaker at the twenty-first annual mid-year commencement exercises of the College to be held in the Schwab auditorium on February 2.

More than 130 students will receive degrees from the College at this mid-year commencement, according to tentative lists compiled by Dr. Carl E. Marquardt, College examiner. Of this group, eighty-nine will be given Bachelor's degrees, thirty-nine are scheduled to receive Master's degrees, and four will be tendered their doctorates.

Foster Advocated High Wages
Foster, as one of the first of the new school of economists, created considerable comment among his colleagues in economics by advocating high wages for labor in order to increase their purchasing power. Some of his theories are still being discussed.

Receiving his Bachelor and Master's degree from Harvard, and his Doctorate from Columbia, Dr. Foster, after nine years of teaching, became president of Reed College, Portland, Oregon, where he remained for ten years. He has been the director of the Pollak Foundation since 1920.

Education School Tops List
The School of Education leads in the number of students who will receive Bachelor's degrees, with thirteen scheduled to get B. A. certificates and seventeen receiving B. S. degrees. The School of Liberal Arts stands second with twenty-six B. A. degrees.

In the School of Engineering there will be nineteen Bachelor of Science degrees, while thirteen will be awarded in the School of Agriculture, and two will be presented from the School of Chemistry and Physics. One B. S. will be granted by the School of Physical Education and Athletics. As yet uncompleted and unclassified, the list of doctorates and masters degrees will be released later, the registrar's office has announced. Thirty-nine masters and four doctorates will be awarded.

DAHLE RETURNS TO FACULTY
Prof. Chester L. Dahle, of the department of dairy husbandry, returned from the University of Minnesota, where he has been studying for an advanced degree, last week.

Dr. Curry will speak at three sessions of the conference as well as at the regular College Chapel services, to be held in Schwab auditorium at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. 3 MAJOR CHANGES PROPOSED IN I. F. C. 1934 RUSHING CODE

Fraternities Allowed 1 O'clock Date During Activities Of Second Week

DRAFT WOULD SHORTEN NEW PERIOD TO 13 DAYS

Plans Submitted to Fraternities For Study Before Action On January 24

Three major changes are incorporated in the proposed 1934 rushing code, which was submitted to Interfraternity Council by the rushing committee last night for study by the individual fraternity delegates and constituents before final action at the Council's next meeting, Wednesday, January 24.

The preliminary draft provides for dinner dates lasting until 1 o'clock in the morning during the second period of rushing. Luncheon dates will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning instead of at 11:30 o'clock.

The most radical change, however, in the preliminary draft is setting the date for pledging on Tuesday, September 25, instead of either Saturday or Sunday, as previous codes have specified. To make this possible, the rushing period has been shortened to thirteen days.

Rushing Period Shortened
President Herman C. Brandt '34 reported that arrangements have been made after a conference with three representatives of the telephone company to install a fraternity house signal switchboard at the central exchange. With the operator able to determine from where the call came, "long distance" tolls will not be charged to incorrect sources as was formerly the case.

Treasurers of fraternity houses, meeting Tuesday night, approved of the plan, which was worked out after wide-spread losses had been occasioned by "chislers" who made calls and gave the wrong house as the source. One house treasurer reported that eighteen dollars were lost last month.

Dance Assessment Attacked
Frederick S. Wolff '34 attacked as exorbitant the fifty dollar assessment for Interfraternity Ball when President Brandt submitted the April 13 date set by Student Board for the Council's action. "Twenty-five hundred dollars was collected for the dance," Wolff said. "None of the other major College dances cost that much."

Defending the present set-up of arrangements, Karl P. Weber Jr. '34 pointed out that many fraternity members count upon this dance as the only one they can attend without incurring excessive expense. "We should give the matter careful consideration from that angle before taking definite action," he declared. The Council will vote on the issue at its next meeting.

Harold W. Kalb '35 was appointed as manager of the Council's bridge tournament for this year, President Brandt announced.

Cleveland Symphony To Appear First on '34 Artists' Course

Warehime Will Lead '35 Prom Committee

Alan R. Warehime '35 has been appointed chairman of the junior prom committee by John M. Stocker '35, junior class president, according to an announcement made today. The committee includes Elizabeth K. Barton, Helen J. Hinebauch, William Briental, George L. Donovan, Hudson H. Erisman, Edmund R. Foster, Melvin F. Fox, and Albert Frank.

SEAMANS TO STUDY AT COLUMBIA, UNION

F.S.C.A. Secretary Given Leave Of Absence To Conduct Religious Inquiry

Harry W. Seamans, general secretary of the Penn State Christian association has been granted leave of absence to study at Columbia University and the Union Theological School in New York City, officials of the association announced yesterday afternoon.

During Mr. Seamans' absence, William L. Hammaker, associate secretary of the association will serve as head of the organization, carrying on Mr. Seamans' duties in addition to his work with first year men. At Columbia University the association secretary will conduct a research into student religious viewpoints, in collaboration with professors and research men from several other colleges and universities.

To Leave on February 1
Mr. Seamans plans to begin his leave of absence about February 1, going from here to New York City, where he will immediately undertake graduate courses at Union Theological Seminary. He will enroll at Columbia at the opening of the second semester there.

The leave to study was granted last week by the executive committee of the P. S. C. A. upon motion of Adrian O. Morse, executive secretary to the president, who is a member of the committee. Dean Ralph L. Watts, of the School of Agriculture, is chairman of the group.

"It is my belief," the association head said in discussing his leave, "that study of the newest methods and programs will lead to better work on the part of the Christian association here." Mrs. Seamans will also take courses at Columbia University.

No Students Employed in CWA Projects on Campus

No students are being employed on campus Civil Works projects at present, according to George W. Ebert, superintendent of grounds and buildings. Difficulty in preparing satisfactory work schedules because of the applicants' varied class periods was given as the cause of the situation.

"As the projects now under way on the campus must be completed within the stipulated time, February 15, every possible man-work hour must be utilized by securing a continuity of labor impossible with the use of a part-time shift system," Mr. Ebert stated.

"Although we are willing and desirous of using student labor," Mr. Ebert continued, "it will be impossible to call any more students until next semester. We can still provide between 400 and 500 jobs by shutting one full job between four men, but since projects are all on a time basis, we cannot afford to jeopardize our appropriation which will ultimately benefit not only the townspeople but also the students who in all probability will be employed next semester."

Three new projects were approved by the state board this week which will provide employment for thirty-four additional men. One improvement under the new appropriation calls for the rewiring, installation of new fixtures, and a complete revision of the electric lighting system of MacAllister hall.

The Horticulture building and the Agriculture building will also have their wiring system revised, while the third project calls for a research of the mineral content of foods under the direction of Dr. R. Adams Dutcher, head of the department of agricultural bio-chemistry.

Orchestra Will Play February 6 or 7 In New Series

DR. ARTHUR RODZINSKI TO DIRECT MUSICIANS

Hetzel Selects 42 on General Committee to Carry Out Plans for Course

The Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Dr. Arthur Rodzinski, former conductor of the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra, has been definitely engaged to play in Schwab auditorium on either Tuesday, February 6, or Wednesday, February 7, as the first feature of the 1934 Artists' Course.

This announcement from College administrative authorities who are in charge of the course follows closely the information that between $2,000 and $3,000 had been appropriated by the College and the all-College poll by the COLLEGIAN in which voters selected the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra by a 62 majority for the symphony orchestra classification of the course.

Committee to Work Out Plans
Although the orchestra has been definitely engaged, final plans for ticket sale, the musical program, and other more minor problems still harassed administrative authorities this morning. Definite conclusions are expected to be reached by the end of the week.

A general committee "to plan and carry out" the Artists' Course was appointed by President Ralph D. Hetzel this morning, with representatives of both the student body, faculty, and citizens of State College as members. Dr. Carl E. Marquardt, College examiner, was appointed as chairman, with forty-one members as assistants.

FOSA READS SELECTIONS AT FIRESIDE GATHERING

Romance Language Professor Gives Italian Readings Yesterday

Selections from contemporary Italian literature were read by Prof. Joseph W. Fosa, of the department of romance languages, at the ninth Wednesday Fireside reading in the upper lounge of Old Main yesterday afternoon.

Several descriptions of Italian nature scenes by Grazia Deledda, in Italian author, opened the program, which was composed of Professor Fosa's own translation of portions of the book, "The Old Man of the Mountain." A chapter dealing with a domestic scene in the home of a brigand and a short story, "The Assassin of the Trees" completed the readings.

Prof. Paul R. Daugherty, of the romance languages department, will present the next reading of the series in the upper lounge at 4:15 o'clock on Wednesday, giving selections from Spanish literature.
