What They're Wearing

Coincident with the announcement of the "Best Dressed Professor" it seems quite apropos to devote a few paragraphs to prevailing modes in men's wear. Perhaps it will inspire those professors who 'fell by the wayside' in clothes competition.

At any rate, to begin at the top, the band about its brown, snap-brimmed crown. Local merchants are featuring this new style headpiece. They aver that its chief advantage lies in the fact that it may be worn with either a brown or gray outfit.

No matter what your opinion of the Balmacaan may be, this military-colored topcoat, which is on display at local stores, has been highly popular in both the East and West.

Rough fabrics, such as Shetlands, tweeds, and Donegals, have gained a most pronounced favor. In models which make up well in rough materials, cloths here are strongly in favor of the belt-back coat with bi-swing shoulders, and Norfolk jacket models with full belt. Gabardine is also a popular material for these models.

The influence of the steadily increasing popularity of semi-sport clothes is shown in the development of the button-down collar, and in the new cotton-flannel shirts in contrasting checks and plain colors. Students seem to be 'sold' on Oxford Blue as the most desirable shade in the new shirts, according to State College haberdashers.

It looks to us as if all co-eds will be knitting one and purling two if the obviously indicated popularity of crocheted ties continues. Bias and horizontally-striped color combinations seem to be dominating men's neckwear, although a few plain colors crop up now and then. Striped repp silks are staging a remarkable comeback and, from all indications, promise to be as popular in bow ties as in four-in-hands.

Lucky Strike the fully packed cigarette - no loose ends

Always the finest tobaccos and only the center leaves are purchased for Lucky Strike cigarettes. We don't buy top leaves - because those are under-developed. And not the bottom leaves - because those are inferior in quality. The center leaves - for which farmers are paid higher prices - are the mildest leaves. And only center leaves are used in making Luckies - so round, so firm - free from loose ends. That's why every Lucky draws easily, burns evenly - and is always mild and smooth. Then, too - "It's toasted" - for throat protection - for finer taste.

Lucky Strike presents the Metropolitan Opera Company
Saturday at 1:55 P.M., Eastern Standard Time, over Red and Blue Networks of NBC, LUCKY STRIKE will broadcast the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York in the complete Opera, "Aida".
