Between the Lions

The Sports Editor

The Nittany Lion went on its first big rampage of the year Saturday and chewed up everything in sight Vengeance was the keynote, as the boxers took over Western Maryland and the basketball team swamped Colgate. For the wrestlers, the Wash ington and Jefferson meet was just another tough practice session to keep in tune, while the freshmen cagers showed promise in winning from

The matmen encountered little opposition, probably as little as they will encounter all year. Inexperienced, the W. and J. wrestlers were not even a semblance of a match against Cheerful Charlie Speidel's men.

Boxing was a different story with the Lion ringmen stacked up against a time-worn Green Terror team. But a time-worn Green Terror team. But there, and put up such a successful attack against the invaders, that the Lions came out on top. We admire Tommy Slusser for the way he battled against Intercollegiate champion Kaplan. Lions Take Time Out

The Lions took time out, considered matters, and came out of the huddle to snare eight points before being interrupted by a Colgate time-out. McGarlane shot a long one over the heads of a web-like Maroon defense to score, Johnny Stocker dribbled past the basket and then dropped the ball over his shoulders for two points, Henning took advantage of two foul shots, and as Colgate called time out, Jack Fletcher shot past the Hamiltonians for a successful peep shot.
