

MOORE, WEBER GET APPOINTMENTS AS L. F. BALL CO-HEADS

11 Additional Council Delegates Named to Committee by President Brandt

WILL HAVE ONLY 1 BAND FOR DANCE ON APRIL 13

Negotiations in Progress Now With 5 Outstanding 'Name' Orchestras for Affair

Maxwell S. Moore '34 and Karl P. Weber Jr. '34 were appointed as co-chairmen of the 1934 Interfraternity Ball...

At the same time, eleven other Council delegates were appointed to serve on the committee. They are: Jack R. Aldrich '34, Ray E. Longenecker '34, Raymond G. Mowrey '34, Robert E. Robbins '34, Theodore S. Rogers '34, Thomas A. Smith '34, Nelson Thomas '34, Herbert A. Tyler '34, Wayne R. Varnum '34, Frederick S. Wolf '34, and Edward W. Yorke '34.

First Co-Chairmen Named The appointment of Moore and Weber as co-chairmen of the Ball is in line with Brandt's "new deal" policies for stricter supervision of finances and setting up a system of responsible checks and balances. This is the first time that co-chairmen have been appointed for any major dance in the history of the College.

Scheduled for April 13, the Ball will definitely have only one band to provide dance music, Moore and Weber said last night. Negotiations are already under way with five leading national "name" bands for the affair.

To Eliminate "Chiselling" In an effort to cut down "chiselling" on tickets by fraternities—through the medium of padding their lists and then permitting individual members to sell tickets to outsiders, fraternity house presidents will meet in Room 405, Old Main, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon for a discussion of the problem.

If possible, we want to show a profit after the Ball is over and be able to give a rebate to the fraternities," Moore and Weber said. "One way money has been lost in the past will be eliminated if we can only impress the fraternity men that every ticket that they sell to an outsider is really money out of their own pocket."

'COLLEGIAN' BUSINESS CANDIDATES TO MEET

Freshmen Aspirants To Take Charge Of Circulation Immediately

Freshmen business candidates for the COLLEGIAN will meet in Room 321, Old Main, at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night. Frederick J. Taylor '34, business manager, and Harold J. Batsch '34, circulation manager, will be in charge of the meeting and will give the candidates preliminary instructions.

This is the second meeting of the year, Taylor said. The freshmen will begin work immediately and take charge of circulation. They will be given training in the make-up of advertisements and instructions in the selling of them.

During the latter part of the year they will receive an opportunity to put what they've learned into practice, he added, taking over the work of the present sophomore staff. Inaugurating a new policy this year, the COLLEGIAN is permitting women to come out for the business staff.

Engineers Plan To Complete Work On Dairy Building by April or May

"Just one hole after another" is the baffling situation which confronts the engineers, who have been trying to keep the new Dairy building from sagging for the past seven months. As soon as they decide that they have the structure solidly supported, they find several new underground crevices which they did not know about before.

Now, however, they feel that they can state with assurance that the work will be entirely completed by April or May. They are no longer placing the caissons in what they think are the weakest points of the building, but rather they are inserting them systematically, with one caisson supporting every two of the steel girders, which support the building. When this is completed it will be practically impossible for the building to sag.

DANCE COMMITTEE ADDS 3 MEMBERS

President Appoints Whitenight, Cooper, Orlando, To Serve As Committeemen

William G. Cooper, Salvatore A. Orlando, and Bruce H. Whitenight have been added to Soph Iop committee, as plans for decorations and programs for the affair, which is scheduled for March 2, were definitely settled upon by the committee.

Inaugurating a new scheme for Penn State class dances in Recreation hall, the motif of the Hop will be southern. Banners and curtains in soft pastel shades, palm trees, avo leaves and southern motifs, will provide a Florida atmosphere for the dance which will present the music of Claude Hopkins.

Poster Contest Scheduled With "decoration" arrangements completed, the poster contest, conducted annually by the Soph Iop committee, will get underway at once. Posters will be submitted to Harold B. Lipsius '36, chairman of the committee. The winner of the contest will receive a complimentary ticket to the dance.

Favors will be combined with the programs, in a blue and white motif. Covers for the small folders will be of bakelite, the front cover blue, with a College seal in white stamped on it, and with the white back cover projecting about one quarter of an inch beyond the front for contrast.

According to present plans, fraternity booths will be ranged about the floor and under the balcony, as usual, while refreshments will be served from a central booth. The band will be placed in a shell at the north end of the hall.

Hamas Accepts Invitation To Attend Gridiron Banquet

Richard J. Beamish, Alexander Gray '12 Stated To Appear at Second Annual Affair Of Journalism Fraternity

Steve Hamas, one of the best-known alumni of Penn State, is planning to attend the second annual Gridiron Banquet, sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, to be held at the Nittany Lion Inn, Monday, March 12, according to the committee in charge of arrangements.

Richard J. Beamish, Secretary of the Commonwealth and a former political feature writer, has accepted an invitation to be present at the affair. Alexander Gray, another alumnus of Penn State, has written the committee that he will be here if his concert engagements permit.

Hammas, whose twelve-round victory over Max Schmeling last Tuesday was one of the upsets of the sports world, is one of the greatest all-round athletes that ever matriculated at Penn State. While here, he won eleven major letters, including awards in football, basketball, boxing, and track.

Hammas has never emerged on the short end of a series with an opponent. He has fought Tommy Loughran four times, Steve winning twice and dropping two referee's decisions. Against Lee Ramage, California heavyweight, Hammas has won once, dropped one, while the last one was called a draw after ten rounds.

Hammas was one of the few Lion athletes ever to compete in two major sports in one season. He was Coach Leo Houck's mainstay in the heavyweight division of the Lion boxing squad on Saturday afternoon, and that same night, he would play a full game at guard on the basketball team.

Gleemen from the University of Pittsburgh, Temple University, Millersville State Teachers' College, West Chester State Teachers' College, and Haverford will compete in the contest, sponsored this year for the first time by the Alumni Association of Temple University.

Will Give Concert Tour Since 1926 the College gleemen have won every meet with the exception of 1930 when Lafayette College took first honors in a very closely-contested meet. This year's organization is in excellent condition, according to Director Grant, and high hopes are placed on the annexation of another cup.

Before their appearance in Philadelphia, the Gleemen will leave on a four-day concert tour of eastern Pennsylvania. Beginning Monday, March 12, the singers will give varied programs in Reading, Lower Merion, Darby, and Philadelphia high schools. The men's varsity quartette will accompany the glee club to give special vocal selections.

In order to enable Penn State alumni to hear the College gleemen when they appear for competition in Milton Hall, March 15, 1,000 tickets will be mailed immediately to graduates by the department of music. All reservations will be made by the Temple University Alumni Association.

TRIBUNAL SCORES FRESHMEN DATING

Anderson '31 Declares Fraternities Aid Freshmen by Escorting Co-eds to Houses

Acting on the report that upperclassmen are aiding freshmen in breaking dating restrictions by escorting the freshmen's date to and from the fraternity house, C. Wilson Anderson '34, president of the Student Tribunal, announced yesterday that he will refer the matter to the Interfraternity Council for action.

"If the freshman violators are apprehended," Anderson said, "they will receive the usual severe penalty for dating violations. Since all reported infractions occurred in fraternity houses, the Tribunal felt that the matter is the concern of the Interfraternity Council."

Anderson attributed the infrequency of Tribunal cases this year to the fact that customs have been scaled down to sensible, practical limits. He questioned the statement that the decrease in freshman convictions is the result of laxity on the part of the upper-classmen, for he averred that the older students fear that customs may disappear altogether if they are not enforced now.

Anderson also pointed out that, although the total number of cases has decreased appreciably, the percentage of fraternity freshmen involved in Tribunal proceedings has been greater.

He is a fellow of the Geological Society of America, and also of the Paleontological Society of America. Besides his regular work here, he has been a part time associate geologist of the Pennsylvania Topographic and Geologic survey since 1929.

2 Cases Affected by New Student Athletic Regulations on Eligibility

Only two cases have arisen recently in which the students involved will be affected by the new eligibility regulation adopted by the Advisory Board of Athletic Control, according to Dean Ralph L. Sackett, chairman of the Senate Committee on Athletics.

"In each case there were proper reasons why the student in question might participate," Dean Sackett declared. "The rule limiting participation in any sport to six semesters was passed long ago when there were cases of students deliberately postponing graduation in order to engage in athletics."

The new regulation will permit a student to engage in three seasons of a sport regardless of how long he has held the status of an undergraduate. Cornell, Princeton, Columbia, and others have already approved the new rule. It was explained at the time the rule was passed, that the depression would have a decided effect in preventing athletes from remaining in College any longer than is absolutely lead to the destruction of civilization and the desire to complete their schooling, as well as the insufficient financial means, were cited as factors which would prevent abuse of the ruling.
