Nittany Cagers Split Double Bill as Boxers Drop Decision to Navy, 6-2

Courtmen Defeat Carnegie Tech, 47-23; Lose to West Virginia, 45-18, Saturday

Speedy Encounter With Tartans Followed By Reverse

By JAMES B. WATSON JR. '35 Ripping into Carnegie's attempts at an early offensive drive, the Nittany basketballers Friday night trampled the Skibo team underfoot 47-to-23.

Norris McFarlane was high scorer for both games, rolling up eighteen points, six field goals and six fouls against Carnegie, and nine points, two field goals and five fouls against West Virginia.

The one striking feature of the Tartan team was the playing of Silverman, captain of the Skibo team. He was high scorer for his squad, rolling up eleven points.

Lions Start Offensive Norris McFarlane grabbed a two-pointer as the Tartans took time out. Then, rested, Spike Leslie's aggregation opened up, and annexed fifteen points without letting the Plaiders get another point that half.

Carnegie unavailingly pulled out one football player: Trbovitch, end sent in another, Croft, and as Wittum picked up a foul point, Sanford went in for Gibson.

Curt Henning took the tip-off as the second half started, and a second track meet started. Edelblut converted a foul to help Carnegie a bit.

Silverman and Blyler alternated two-pointers, and as Spisak converted, Park went in for Blyler, and Rigg returned for Trbovitch.

CUB CAGERS DOWN WYOMING, 32-24

Freshmen Show Reserve Power In Winning Second Game Of Current Season

Trailing by three points at the half, the Lion cub cagers came through in an inspired fashion to defeat the Wyoming Seminary basketballers 32-to-24 in Recreation hall Saturday, in their second straight victory.

Wyoming scored first, but a long range barrage of goals, culminated by Linton's dribble the length of the floor for a score, sent State into the lead 7-to-4 at the end of the first quarter.

The Seminary courtmen outplayed the Blue and White during the second period, putting the half-time score at 16-to-13 in their favor.

Showing Satisfies Loebbs The Cubs in a burst of speed took the lead again early in the second half and were never headed after that, leading 25-to-18 at the end of the third quarter.

The State five increased their lead by one point in the last period, the final score 32-to-24 in their favor.

"I'm well satisfied with the game," commented Coach "Mike" Loebbs, "considering that Wyoming includes such teams as the Princeton, Temple and Bucknell freshmen on their schedule, and that they beat us twice last year. I believe that we have several excellent prospects for next year's varsity."

Smith and Kornick, at guard positions, divided scoring honors for State with nine points apiece.

WRESTLERS RALLY TO TIE CORNELL

Grapplers Overcome 16-Point Lead; Contest Undecided Until Final Match

In a story-book comeback, the Lion wrestling team earned a 16-to-16 tie with the Big Red team from Cornell after trailing by sixteen points at the end of the fourth match on the card.

And then the Lions began to open up. Cramer piled up more than three minutes' time advantage in the 155-pound class, Johnston tossed Brownell in 5 minutes, 12 seconds in the 165-pound division, and when Lou Kreizman pinned his man in twenty-four seconds, the score stood 13-to-11 against the Lions and a time advantage by "King" Cole would tie the match while a fall would give the Lions a two-point margin of victory.

Cole Ties Score For the first two minutes, Weigel, Bear heavyweight, managed to keep away from "King." Weigel won the toss and took the defense. Cole held him for all four minutes of the first period, but could not throw him.

In the 118-pound class, Nathan gained a time advantage of one minute, six seconds on "Scummy" Dirito. Trenter followed with a one minute, twenty-three second advantage on Eisenman in the 126-pound class, and the score stood Cornell, 6; Penn State, 0.

Horvath Thrown In Extra Period One of the best matches of the afternoon was the one between Johnny Horvath, Nittany 125-pounder, and Captain Horwitz, Cornell, who was intercollegiate champion in that weight last year.

Richardson, Bear 145-pounder, was too strong for Civitts and just at half time, got a half nelson and croch hold on the Lion wrestler, and threw him in five minutes and fifty-four seconds, and the score was Cornell, 16; Penn State, 0.

And then the Lions came to life. After a bad start, Cramer got the advantage, and although he punished Shoemaker badly, could not throw him, rolling up a time advantage of three minutes, twenty-five seconds.

"Red" Johnston followed in the 165-pound class and threw Brownell in five minutes, twelve seconds with a double chancery hold.

By this time, the Nittany rooters began to take a little interest in the proceedings, and when Lou Kreizman, 175-pounder, threw Krofts in twenty-four seconds, the score stood Cornell, 16; Penn State, 13.

Lions Drop Last Five Bouts As Midshipmen Show Class

Zeleznock, Watkins Only Houck Mitmen To Win Bouts as Squad Undergoes Shake-up

A light shake-up in the Lion ring lineup failed to bring success at Annapolis Saturday where the Nittany glovemans lost their first encounter of the season when they bowed to the Midshipmen 6-to-2.

The Lions fought hard throughout the contest but were obviously outclassed in the heavier weights where they dropped a succession of five bouts beginning with the 145-pound division. In the lighter weights the winning Penn State entries were Mike Zeleznock, 125, and Bob Watkins, 135.

Zeleznock Takes Fast Bout Criswell delayed a vicious struggling attack until the third round in which he hammered Smith into grogginess but was unable to floor his opponent before the gong sounded.

Mike Zeleznock set a fast pace in the 125-pound contest to take a clean win over Mulquin of Navy.

The Lion team, which has been whipped into shape by Coach Mary Madore, will enter Marion Foreman in the 120-yard freestyle against Miss Van Anglen.

Gene Ziegler, 60-yard freestyler, will meet Miss Davidson, while in the 60-yard backstroke Sara McKee will probably oppose Miss Schultheis or Miss Bubb.

Jane Roope, former Wildwood life-guard, is expected to meet either Miss Miller or Miss Hiscox in the 60-yard breast stroke.

In the diving competition Ruth Lee, former Pittsburgh fancy diving champ, will contend with Miss Miller, Penn Hall star.
