Special to the "Collegian"

Two Penn State mitmen, Russ Criswell, 115-pound contender and Mike Zeleznock, 125-pounder, went into the semi-final round of the Eastern Intercollegiate meet at Syracuse last night. Criswell won a fast fight from Lamb, of Harvard, to qualify to fight this afternoon against Rhoades, of Army. Zeleznock took a close decision from Bockman, Penn 125-pounder.

Criswell Snares 115-Pound Bout In the 115-pound division, Criswell took all three rounds, one, two, three, to beat Lamb, of Harvard, who was run in at the last minute to replace Curtin, Harvard's man originally scheduled for the quarter-final bout through a bye. Criswell snapped into the fight at the gong and held the advantage all the way, displaying excellent boxing form, and putting everything he had into every punch.
The other 115-pound quarter-final was won by Rhoades, of Army, who beat Bennett, of Western Maryland, by virtue of a fast comeback in the third round. Bennett split the first three rounds with the Army man, but couldn't keep up the pace in the last frame.

Mike Zeleznock, Lion 125-pound hope, took a close decision from Book frame, of Penn. Mike Zeleznock started off fast, took the first two rounds decisively, and then slowed up so that it looked during the third round as if the Lion hopes for two champions tition last year—Hooker won the championship bout. Bishop scored a fall in dual competition this year— can Hooker repeat last year's perfor-Johnston Considered Favorite

When "Red" Johnston outclassed Crockett, of Lahigh, last night, he became a slight favorite over Elliott, of Princeton. Johnston also threw Lee, of Penn, while Elliott threw Nebel, of Columbia, and squeezed out a time advantage over Emery, Har-vard, after two extra periods.

Aranson, Harvard dark horse, advanced to the finals by throwing both Krotts, of Cornell, and Lou Kreizman, Lion entrant in the 175-pound class. He will be opposed by Triede, of Princeton, who has a time advantage over Basmajian, Penn and over Ed King, of Columbia.
