Incomplete Teams Will Penalize Schools Five Points

MAT, MIT ASSOCIATIONS NAME '34-'35 OFFICIALS

Schools entering incomplete teams in the E. I. W. A. in the future will be penalized five points, a ruling passed at the wrestling managers' meeting in the Nittany Lion Inn Saturday morning provides. This was passed when three teams failed to enter eight men in this year's tournament...

At the same time, it was decided that the incoming Penn State manager would be named as president of the association for the coming year. James Armentrout, of Princeton, was elected vice-president, and Thomas I. S. Boak, of Woodmont, Conn., was named secretary-treasurer.

Although a complete report has not yet been made, the bouts are believed to have proved a financial success. After a disappointing Friday afternoon crowd, the semi-finals and finals were run off before about 4,000 spectators.

Lieutenant James E. McAnary of West Point was elected president of the Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Association for the coming year at a meeting at Syracuse Saturday. Dr. Francis E. Grant of Philadelphia was re-elected to the post of secretary-treasurer.

Representatives at the meeting gave some consideration to the recent proposal that the United States Coast Guard be permitted to become an association member. No definite vote or action was taken on the matter.

VISITORS TO MAKE M. I. BUILDING TOUR

Innovation Here To Demonstrate Senior Theses, Research Problems Wednesday

Wednesday night at 6 o'clock a Penn State School will for the first time open its doors to undergraduates and faculty members alike—show them just what goes on inside its walls. The event will be the first open house of the School of Mineral Industries, to be presented in the School building here from 6 until 11 o'clock, with undergraduates, graduate students, and faculty members cooperating.

Included in the show will be working demonstrations of work in progress on twenty-one senior theses, and twenty-eight graduate and faculty research projects, as well as seventeen undergraduate demonstrations of their particular branches of work. All permanent displays of the School will be held at Many Other Schools.

Although this is the first time an affair of this kind will have been held at Penn State, the event is an annual activity at many prominent Eastern colleges. One of the most notable is held yearly at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Seven seniors will aid in putting on the program, through a recently set up student committee. Kenneth H. Mairs '34 is representing Sigma Gamma Epsilon on the committee, while David I. Dilworth '34 is the representative of the Metallurgical society. The Ceramics society is represented on the student group by Theodore M. Fairchild '34, while William Reynolds '34 is directing the work of the Mining society in conjunction with the program.

Syracuse Takes Team Honors as Lions Place Third

WATKINS LOSES SET-TO ON UNPOPULAR DECISION

By JAMES H. BEATTY Jr. '35 Mike Zeleznock and Russ Criswell cut themselves two large pieces out of the cream pie of college boxing when they garnered the 115- and 125-pound diadems and contributed the high points to the Nittany third place in team scoring at the annual intercollegiate boxing tourney at Syracuse Friday and Saturday.

Criswell rocked Rhoades of Army with one-tos in the 115-pound final to score the only knock-down of Saturday's bouts when he belted his opponent through the ropes in the middle of the second round. Rhoades helped into the ring by the referee, stayed down for nine counts. The first frame was the tamest while the third was a terrific slug-fest in which Rhoades opened surprisingly strong.

Zeleznock Takes Harris Although the exchange of blows was hard in the early part of the third, Criswell gained the whip-hand about the middle of the round and from then on had the Cadet wondering what it was all about. There was no doubt as to the new champion; all scoring favored the Lion.

Doing credit to his name, which in Russian means "iron man," diminutive Mike Zeleznock blasted Syracuse hopes when he out-fought and out-generated Buck Harris, Orange finalist in the 125-pound set-to.

Harris Leary of Left Harris, who had observed the damage done by Mike's skillful in-fighting, was decidedly leery of close-range encounters and held in the clinches as long and as tightly as possible while Mike endeavored to land his sharp left through a mutually un-injurious first round.

In the second frame Harris offered Mike a beautiful opportunity for a kill when he momentarily slipped to one knee. The Zeleznock right missed by inches. A few seconds later Mike landed two, quick, jolting rights. He twice threw Harris to the floor when the Orangeman refused to let go in the clinches. The third round was close and the crowd was tense before the decision which was rendered 43-40-39 in favor of the Lion who was

Falls Deciding Factor In Lehigh Victory Over Lions

SECOND PLACES TAKEN BY ROSENBERG, CRAMEIR

By JOHN A. BRUTZMAN '35 Two Lions, Bob Ellstrom and "Red" Johnston, reign supreme as 118- and 165-pound intercollegiate wrestlers as the Nittany team finished second to Lehigh in team scoring with twenty points. The Bethlehem men won by virtue of more falls. Capt. "Rosy" Rosenberg and Bill Cramer took second places while four falls completed the Lion scoring as the two-day tournament in Recreation hall ended Saturday night.

Snelham, of Princeton, annexed the 126-pound title, while Cornell boasts two champions, since Captain Hurwitz successfully defended the 135-pound crown he won last year, and Richardson defeated Haase, of Yale, in the 145-pound class. Capt. Ben Bishop, of Lehigh, defeated Hooker, of Princeton, in the 155-pound class.

Lehigh Takes Championship Triede, of Princeton, gained the 175-pound title by defeating Aranson, of Harvard. Snowden, Yale heavyweight, regained the crown he held in 1932 when he defeated Scooby, of Lehigh, with a comfortable time advantage.

Lehigh, with a well-balanced team, scored twenty-four points to take the team championship. Although capturing only one individual championship and two seconds, ten falls gave the Brown and White a four-point margin over the Lion squad.

Tiger Takes Third Place Princeton garnered two firsts and a second and five falls for eighteen points and third place; with Cornell following closely behind with two champions, a third, and six falls to total seventeen points. One champion, three third places, and two falls gave Yale ten points.

Columbia followed in sixth place with six points rolled up by a second place and three falls. Harvard got three falls and a third for four points, while Pennsylvania got second place and one fall to amass the same total. A third place and falls gave three points and last place in the tourney to Syracuse.

In one of the fastest bouts of the entire evening, Bob Ellstrom bested

PRIESTLEY SERIES TO OPEN TONIGHT

Dr. Gortner, Biochemist, To Discuss "Colloidal State of Matter" In Public Lecture

Opening the eighth annual Priestley lecture series, Dr. Ross A. Gortner, of the University of Minnesota, will speak on "The Colloidal State of Matter" in Chemistry amphitheater at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The lectures, which are open to the public, will deal with the borderline between physical chemistry and life processes.

Dr. Gortner's lecture tonight will include an explanation of what constitutes the colloidal state, the energy relationships, and the techniques which serve to differentiate the colloidal state from the classical concepts of true solutions.

In order that the lecture will not interfere with the Artists' Course program, tomorrow night's lecture has been set for 7 o'clock. The biochemist will emphasize the importance of the electrokinetic potential in determining the degree of absorption. He will also explain the methods and technique of calculating the electrokinetic potential from cataphoretic, electro-osmotic, and steaming-potential measurements. In his lecture Wednesday night, Dr. Gortner will continue his discussion of the electrical forces at the interface. Special attention will be devoted to non-aqueous systems, since, it is maintained, that studies in such systems promise the opening of a new vista into the special configuration of organic molecules.

COLUMBIA TO GIVE 40 SCHOLARSHIPS

Will Make Awards on Competitive Basis to Those Entering Graduate Work

Twenty student resident scholarships will be offered to men and twenty to women, preferably those who are entering their first year of graduate work, by Columbia University according to a letter received by Charles W. Stoddart, dean of the School of Liberal Arts, from Columbia officials. Awards will be made upon a competitive basis.

The college from which the applicant will be graduated may give a recommendation for the scholarship if the student shows promise of good work in the field which he, or she, is entering, if the applicant possesses qualities of character and personality, and if the student is in need of aid, the letter states. The scholarship entitles the holder to room and board except lunches in one of the University residence halls.

The scholarship is worth about $500. However, the student must supply the cost of tuition which is $10 per point of instruction. At least twelve points must be carried each session. The student must also plan to pay his own incidental expenses. Scholarships will be awarded by a committee consisting of the Dean of the Graduate Faculties, Dean of Barnard College, and the Dean of Columbia University. Candidates may obtain application blanks from the secretary of the University and must file them with him before May 1.
