6 CLASS PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEES BARE POLITICAL SOULS IN NOCTURNAL CHATS

Names make news. Last night six presidential nominees for class elections to be held April 24, 25 and 26 were interrupted in their campaigning.

"I believe that the present dance comp list should remain at eighty-nine as it is now after the recent cut, and should be given a fair trial before it is cut further," Clifford C. Wood, Locust Lane candidate for senior president, said after he and Paul K. Hirsch, Campus aspirant for the same position were persuaded to remove their arms from each other's shoulders.

Hirsch likewise approved giving the present system an adequate trial before readjustment be made. "However, after one is more fully acquainted with facts after election problems may arise that cannot possibly be foreseen, and these must be met as they present themselves," Hirsch stated in referring to clique platforms.

Lawrence E. Madison, Campus, and William D. Bertollette, Locust Lane, candidate for junior executive, and LeVan Linton, Locust Lane sophomore president nominee, also favored the present system.

Board Cuts Salaries of Dance Heads, Class Presidents $25; Mixed Student Board Formed

Organization To Begin Functioning After '34 Elections

IDEA OF MERGER FIRST PROPOSED BY WOOD '33

New Body of 4 Men, 2 Women To Coordinate Activities Of Governments

Culminating a year's drive to merge men and women's student governments, a combined student board has been established by the two groups, John T. Ryan jr., president of the senior class, announced last night.

This new organization will settle all disputes and problems which may arise concerning both men and women students. The body will begin functioning immediately after the men's elections have been held this month.

The idea of such a merger was first proposed by John A. Wood '33, president of last year's senior class. At the beginning of this school year Ryan took up Wood's proposal and made a survey of the system used in forty-seven other universities and colleges.

Not a Complete Merger This combined board will serve to coordinate the legislation of the men and women's governments. Instead of making a complete merger of governments where class officers are elected by a combined vote, it was felt by the two organizations that such a board as this could meet all of the problems that would arise here.

It will consider all legislation relating to both men and women undergraduate students. The action of this board will be binding upon the separate governments of both men and women.

In order that legislation may be brought before the special board, it must be submitted to the body upon the recommendations of both the men and women's governments. The board will have no special meeting time, but will convene only when legislation necessitates that action be taken.

The four men composing this board are: president of the senior class; editor of the COLLEGIAN; one other representative from Student Board; and one representative from Student Council.
