QUARTER CENTURY CLUB INAUGURATED

Organization Chooses Watts as Chairman; Ferguson Gets Secretarial Post

Sixteen members of the Pennsylvania State College staff, who began their work as members of the agricultural faculty twenty-five or more years ago, formed the Quarter Century Club of the School of Agriculture at a banquet in the State College Hotel, Monday night. Dean Ralph L. Watts of the School of Agriculture was chosen chairman of the organization and Prof. John A. Ferguson of the department of forestry, secretary.

A spring and fall meeting will be held each year at which a member will present a paper of historical nature, dealing largely with the past work of the School of Agriculture. Prof. Jons A. Fries, of the Institute of Animal Nutrition, is the oldest member in point of service, being on the staff since 1889.

Members of the club, in the order of their appointment, and their present positions are as follows: Jons A. Fries, associate professor of animal nutrition and assistant director of the Institute of Animal Nutrition; Milton S. McDowell, vice-dean and director of Agricultural Extension; Thomas I. Mairs, professor in charge of Correspondence Courses in Agriculture; Winifred W. Bramer, associate professor of animal nutrition; Frank P. Knoll, assistant in dairy manufacture in charge of the College Creamery.

Yearly Gain in Fraternity Averages Shown by College Registrar's Chart

"Fraternity scholarship has been on the increase year by year because the College is gradually making closer selections of the men which they take in each semester," observed William S. Hoffman, College Registrar.

Mr. Hoffman has kept a chart since the first semester of the school year 1924-25 of every fraternity and its average. On it are graphically recorded the leading fraternity each semester, the lowest one, the all-fraternity, and the all-College average for men.

As an example of the betterment of averages each semester, Mr. Hoffman pointed to the leading fraternity in the first semester of 1924-25—Kappa Delta Rho—and carrying his finger across the chart to this past semester, showed where they would only be in tenth position now with the same average with which they won.

Likewise, the lowest national organization this semester—Delta Sigma Phi—would have been in twelfth place in 1924-25, while Alpha Gamma Rho, in forty-second position now, would have been third then.

Since the first semester of 1924-25, Triangle fraternity has won the scholarship cup seven times, seconded by Sigma Tau Phi with four times to its credit, Phi Sigma Delta and Aeneas, three each, and Kappa Delta Rho and Tau Phi Delta, once each.

Over the period of twelve semesters since it has been on the campus, Triangle has by far outdone all other fraternities in their scholastic record: seven first places, three seconds, one third, and one fourth place. Mr. Hoffman's chart shows that the general fraternity average gradually climbed for the first three years and is now flattening out. The all-College average for men is always several tenths of a point higher than the all-fraternity average. The second semester of each year is always higher than the first.

Another chart kept by Mr. Hoffman of the averages of the women's fraternities shows that their general average is slowly dropping. He explains this as due to the fact that more women are being admitted each year and the College is not getting as select a group as formerly.
