400 Students To Get F.E.R.A. Employment

Total Reaches 525 With Engineering School Still to Report Men Will Work in All College Departments

Almost 400 students from schools in the College other than the School of Liberal Arts and the School of Engineering will receive F. E. R. A. jobs today.

Three men will be used in the office of the purchasing agent to index and assort materials while four men will aid Major Wilfred O. Thompson in the distributing and checking of military uniforms.

To Work on Records To index materials, overhaul equipment, and make a steam study, three men will be employed in the power plant.

She will also use someone to arrange reference matter and complete the records of women graduates.

Mr. Bell has been connected with the Chester Times for the past few years as sports columnist.

Bell '29 To Fill Post Vacated by Hofford

That it is quite a different feeling to be an instructor in journalism at Penn State rather than a student in that curriculum or even editor of the Collegian was the opinion of Louis H. Bell '29.

Mr. Bell was appointed, William K. Uerlich '31 was named part-time assistant in journalism.

Mr. Uerlich was also editor of the Collegian and a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, as well as Student Union, Student Board and several committees.

W8YA Positions Open To Radio Operators

Students holding amateur radio licenses are eligible to apply for positions as assistant operators on the College radio station staff, which operates W8YA, the College station, and WLMA, the Army network station.

Positions are open to freshmen as well as upperclassmen, and it is not necessary that the student be enrolled in the School of Engineering, as long as he is qualified to act as an amateur operator.

Honorary Fraternity Accepts National Bid

Alpha Theta Epsilon, local women's professional journalism fraternity has been installed as the Alpha Tau chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national professional journalism fraternity.

50 Seek Places In Players Show

'Late Christopher Bean' Named As Dad's Day Production; Technicians Chosen

More than fifty candidates for the Penn State Players tried out for parts in the next show which will be given in the Schwab auditorium as a part of the annual Dad's Day program.

In addition to the candidates for acting parts, there were almost forty freshmen applying for places on the Players technical staff.

Following the freshmen meeting, the technical staff for "The Late Christopher Bean" was selected.

$15,182 Deficit Shown by A.A. For Last Year

Income Totals $89,208; Expenditures Set At $104,390

Football, Track Incur 2 Heaviest Expenses

For the first time since 1928, and for the third time in fifteen years, the Athletic Association failed to show a surplus.

The total yearly income from all sources was $89,208.53, as compared with the previous year's income of $130,584.93.

Football Deficit The principal items of income were student fees, $90,597.24; ticket sales and guarantees, $27,457.83; faculty and season tickets, $1,089.60; and expenditures, for sports, $93,484.09; general association, $16,831.58; and maintenance of athletic fields, $4,074.90.

Football for the second time in recent years showed a deficit along with the rest of the sports. The total deficit for all sports was $56,026.21. This was made up from football, $23,001.26; track, $6,617.79; baseball $5,205.98; basketball, $5,091.37; boxing, $2,253.35; wrestling, $2,731.43; lacrosse, $2,918.38; soccer, $2,880.12; cross-country, $2,570.79; golf, $1,285.02; tennis, $376.58; gymnastics, $821.00; and fencing, $573.14.

Football Expenditures The reasons for the large deficit were as follows: the income for football was only $18,569.32, whereas the expenditures amounted to $41,570.58; the income for track was $567.70, while expenditures were $7,185.49; baseball brought in $840.46, but expenses were $5,046.44; basketball's income was $1,343.06, as against $6,434.43 expenditures.

Boxing brought in $1,797.13, but its expenses were $4,050.48; wrestling's income was $2,723.13, while it paid out $5,459.56; the income for lacrosse was only $687.08, as against $3,605.46 expenditures; the income for soccer was $350.00, whereas its expenses amounted to $3,230.12.

I-C Books List $17,004 Balance

Committee's Chairman Releases Report For School Year Ending June 30

A balance of $17,004.13 for the school year ending June 30 is shown by the report of the Interclass Budget system released by Neil M. Fleming, Interclass Budget Committee chairman.

This balance represents for the most part money held in account for the 1935, 1936 and 1937 LaVie's. The accounts of the 1934 LaVie were closed showing a surplus of $597.55. The income from four-year assessments amounted to $10,091.50 and the interest received on their saving account was $628.94.

Receipts from all sources amounted to $29,900.07, the major items of which were LaVie $18,720.00; general class dues, $6,333.33; cap-and-gown deposit, $4,498.00; Junior Prom, $3,530.27; Senior Ball, $1,571.10; and Soph Hop, $1,544.40.

Total expenditures for the year were $34,993.21. Of this amount $10,283.14 was expended for LaVie; $5,651.25 on caps and gowns; $1,375.00 for interclass sports; $1,274.00 on the Blue Band; $1,415.74 for the Student Union; $2,712.67 for Junior Prom; $1,700.70 for Senior Ball; $1,755.61 for Soph Hop; and $651.62 for Student Council and Tribunal.

From Nets $817.60 The final surplus in the treasury of the class of 1934 was $1,282.19 and this sum establishes their permanent class fund. In addition to this, however, $1,158.25 was returned to the seniors by paying rental on their caps and gowns at Commencement.

Deficits of $129.60 and $201.21 were reported in the Senior Ball and Soph Hop, while Junior Prom showed a surplus of $817.60. Approximately 3,200 invitations and announcements and 800 programs were sold to members of the graduating class. Nearly 400 coats were sold by the Lion Suit committee.

Tribunal Excuses 23 Men From Customs

The newly re-organized Student Tribunal held its first meeting for the year Tuesday night with Leo Skemp '35 as president and excused twenty-three members of the student body matriculating here for the first time from freshman customs.

Members of the Tribunal who were on "the bench" for the first time are: Harry H. Northrup '35, Beryl S. Hicks '36, Fred P. Davis '36, and Roy O. Schuyler '37, secretary.

Three students who appeared before the Tribunal were excused because they were over the age limit for freshmen customs which was set by Student Council at twenty-three. The others were excused either because they were transfer students or sophomores from the Mont Alto branch of the department of forestry.

Those excused from customs are: R. Beck, L. M. Boorse, J. R. Byerly, S. Ciambella, W. B. Ciambella, W. B. Cleveland, H. Crisman, L. Crissman, R. B. Harrison, R. Haffelinger, S. Kenny, I. Levin, R. D. Lewis, R. P. Lewis, J. Mason, B. Miller, W. R. Nolf, B. H. Preston, G. F. Sarver, E. O. Scholt, R. Sharpless, F. J. Violo, R. L. Weis, and M. H. Wood.

Prof. Russell B. Nesbitt, of the department of civil engineering, is recovering at his home from a severe heart and abdominal attack last week.

Second Rushing Period To Begin This Afternoon

Season Will Continue Until 8 O'clock Monday Night

Freshmen To Accept Bids at Tuesday Dinner

Second period of the 1934 rushing season will open at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and continue until 8 o'clock Monday night. During these days, between 8 o'clock in the morning and 1 o'clock in the morning, tonight and tomorrow night, and 9 o'clock Sunday night, rushees will be free to go wherever they want.

The second silent period will begin at 8 o'clock Monday night, ending Tuesday night by the appearance of the rushees, unattended, at the houses of their choice for formal pledging at dinner at 6 o'clock. No rushee, however, with the exception of the Jewish first year men, may accept a pledge for thirty days after the close of rushing if he has not previously filled out a preference card.

Violations Punishable Joseph E. Dentice '35, Interfraternity Rushing Chairman, announced that violations of this ruling will be punishable by deplacement. He also explained that these preference cards are not binding, and a rushee is at liberty to pledge to a fraternity which he did not name as one of his three choices.

A. Kenneth Maiers '35, I. F. C. president, stated that bids must be sealed when turned in to the rushing committee. They should be typewritten with the full name of the rushee and the name of the fraternity in the upper-right-hand corner.

Twenty bid cards will be given to each fraternity. Additional ones may be purchased for five cents each. They can be secured at the Student Union desk between 1 and 5 o'clock Monday afternoon and must be returned before midnight that night.

Leo N. Skemp '35, president of the tribunal, requested the members of the council to cooperate this year in reporting freshmen for violations of customs.

Maiers announced that the constitutional ruling, regarding the absence of Council delegates from two consecutive meetings, punishable by a five dollar fine, would be enforced.

3 Psychologists Read Papers at Convention

Three members of the department of education and psychology presented papers before the recent annual meeting of the American Psychological Association at Columbia University. Several other members of the department also attended the convention.

Dr. George W. Hartmann read a paper entitled "The Occupational Prestige of the Representative Professor in American Society," while Dr. Robert G. Brenneuter's paper was concerned with "Multiple Factor Analysis of Impure Personality Traits." William M. Lepsley reported on an experiment dealing with "A Gradient in Incidental Learning."

Lead-Weighted Silk Garments Prove Fatal To Rats Experimented Upon by Kessinger

"Miss Bell Kessinger of the Pennsylvania State College pulled a rat out of a lead-silk sack, noted that it died of lead poisoning, and proceeded to Manhattan. There last week she told the American Home Economics Association that lead-silk garments seemed to her potentially poisonous."

Two years ago Professor Lawrence Turner Fairhall, Harvard chemist, announced, after a series of tests, that lead-weighted silk garments might be worn without danger, even next to the skin. Miss Polly Bell Kessinger, a senior student of Textile Chemistry undertook to check his findings last year.

Three things she did which the Harvard experimenters apparently had not done were (1) to allow the rats to chew lead-weighted silks, (2) to tie rats into bags lined with lead-weighted silks, leaving only the head exposed, one hour a day for ten weeks, (3) to test old silks as well

Foresters, Teachers Not Counted in Total

164 More Enrolled For First Semester Than A Year Ago, With Late Registrants Coming in Every Day

As the Registrar's office closed at 5 o'clock last night, a total of 4,467 students had enrolled here for the coming semester. This figure is 164 more than had registered at the same time a year ago, according to William S. Hoffman, College Registrar.

This number does not include the 114 freshmen who are enrolled at the Mont Alto forestry school, the 60 students in the Education School who are now practicing teaching in Altoona and Johnstown and 175 freshmen in extension schools.

The total number of freshmen who have registered to date is 1,340. Although several of the freshmen who paid their $10 fee earlier in the month were not among this number, the freshmen total is still about 100 larger than it was at the same time last year.

Sororities Begin Rushing Season

Modified Code Shortens Period 2 Days; Formal Parties Set for Saturday

Ten women's fraternities began a shortened rushing season yesterday morning under the new code which cuts the period from five to three days, sets all formal parties for Saturday night, and allows each fraternity but two dates, one formal and the other informal, with each rushee.

The Pan-Hellenic council, and the Student Welfare board, have set up four rushing standards to determine the success of the new code. The code:

1. Should save the time of the rushee and also of the fraternity. 2. Should enable "free association" as a new basis for rushing, lessening the amount of money each fraternity may spend.

A change to second semester rushing of freshmen women next year depends entirely upon the success of the upperclass code as gauged by these three standards.

Kleckner Interviewed "However," said Jeanne S. Kleckner '35, president of Pan-Hellenic council, when questioned regarding the code, "it is not at all likely that we will return to the old system of five day rushing again. The time length of rushing was cut, not only because it lessened the strain on the rushee and the time taken away from school, but also because we want to show that the fraternity can be practical."

"Since we do not have rushing immediately upon the entry of the girl into school, the fraternity women are well enough acquainted with the rushees so that there is no need of prolonging the time of rushing," continued Miss Kleckner.

She also claimed as another advantage of the new code the fact that when two semesters elapsed before rushing, less attention was given to the freshmen women the first semester, the very time when they were in need of acquaintance.

All violations of the rushing code are to be reported to Nellie T. Noel '35, rushing chairman. If the penalty for the violation is not stated, it is decided by the Pan-Hellenic council.

Dr. Luccock Will Give Talk in Sunday Chapel

Dr. Halford E. Luccock, professor of homiletics at the Yale University Divinity School, will present the second chapel address in Schwab auditorium at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. His topic will be "Adventures in Ideas."

Dr. Luccock, who has been on the chapel program for a number of years, last visited this campus in March. Graduated from Northwestern University in 1906, he received his degrees of B.D. and M.A. in 1909, from Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University respectively. Syracuse University and Allegheny College have also granted him degrees.

Ordained in the Methodist Episcopal ministry in 1910, he was named to the pastorate at Windsor, Conn. After two years there, he spent a like period as instructor in the Hartford Theological Seminary, followed by two years as pastor of St. Andrew's church at New Haven, Conn. Other posts held by Dr. Luccock since that time are that of registrar and instructor at Drew Theological Seminary, editorial secretary of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions, and contributing editor of the Christian Advocate, the latter position being resigned in 1928 when he went to Yale University.
