

Hamas' Manager Declares 'Penn State Steve' Ready for Carnera, Baer

'He Can Box, He Can Punch, He Has the Heart'--Harvey

Former Lion Gets Nod Over Art Lasky in Battle Friday

He did it again. That's what the boxing fans are saying about Steve Hamas, former Nittany Lion athlete, after he won a close decision over Art Lasky on Friday night. The question that is now before the fans is whether Steve will out-box and out-punch Carnera in his final step toward challenging Max Baer for the world heavy-weight championship.

Uncle Charley Harvey, manager of Steve Hamas, seemed hopefully certain that Steve had a good chance of winning Max Baer's laurels. "Steve can't miss," Harvey declared concerning the coming engagement. "He can box and he can punch. He has all the heart in the world and nobody has ever knocked him out.

"He proved that he has the necessary stamina when he kept punching for twelve rounds against Max Schmeling last spring and finished as fresh as when he started. He has everything a heavy-weight boxer needs, and a wild swinging fellow like Baer is 'made to order' for him."

Only Primo Carnera stands between Hamas and a shot at the chin of the World Champion. Now Charley Harvey's pride may well claim the position of leading challenger for the big title.

The Nittany Lion is on the trail of Max Baer.

Congratulations, Steve

Steve Hamas

WRIGHTING BETWEEN THE LIONS

By FRED W. WRIGHT

Notice—Oscar, this corner's one-time adviser on things sporting and of late adviser on football predictions, having left our bed and board, is no longer connected with this column. 1tpd9-8-34fw

When he says Yale will win and they lose to Columbia, 12-6, we don't feel so bad. But when he picks Indiana and Ohio State wins, 33-0, and says Minnesota will be in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day when everybody knows of the Big Ten ruling against post-season games, that's going a bit too far. And both in the same week. In other words, the bankroll took a terrific beating.

With the annual all-College Women's golf tournament about to get underway, Mary Jane Thompson is doing some tall speculating about how long she is going to wear the crown she won last year with a 52. The chief threat to M. J.'s ambition concerns the similar desire of another golfer, Betty Wells, to be graduated in June with the championship. A 48 which the latter shot last Thursday is the fact on which opinion is based at this writing.

Keeping faith with our mental resolution not to 'Tuesday morning quarterback' or jump at first impressions, this column pays tribute to the new spirit that pervaded New Beaver field—new stands, new Blue Band uniforms, new band drum major. The whole thing bespoke of color.

The new stands were red. The new press coop was new-wood yellow. The new uniforms were bright blue. The only things that weren't new were Bezdek's Joe College hat and Maj. Thompson's cigarette holder and uniform. The major claims to have a new uniform, but that it had to be altered.

From a spectator's point of view the high spot in the game, football except, was Jim Townsend's colorful and calm leading of the band. If you think goose-stepping in tune, twirling a wet and slippery baton while doing contortions, and marching a straight line without a guide is easy, you're wrong.

Doing a good job while firmly believing that the rest of the world believes you're an ass is one of the hardest things to accomplish. And when confidence comes to Townsend, you will be seeing some stunts that aren't offered in the same category with college bands. Townsend is a worker.

YEARLINGS DEFEAT MERCERSBURG PREP 12-0 ON SATURDAY

Owens, Wilner Score for Lions in First, Second Quarters

Keeping their opponents in their own territory during the first part of the game, the Nittany Lion cubs defeated the Mercersburg prep football team, 12-to-0 on the Mercersburg field Saturday afternoon in the first game of the yearling season.

Owens, yearling halfback, scored first for the Blue and White when he got away in the first quarter and raced thirty-five yards for a touchdown. Owens played good ball consistently throughout the game and was one of the best Blue and White ground gainers.

The cubs' second tally was registered when Wilner, who did great work running back punts in the varsity game, snagged a long pass from Komic and stepped into the end zone, in the second quarter.

Throughout the first half the yearlings kept the prep school on the defensive and never let them threaten Blue and White territory. But during the second half Mercersburg pulled its defense together in a stronger fashion and made more definite offensive thrusts at the Lion cub's goal.

The freshmen showed considerable improvement and scored more first downs than Mercersburg. Waugaman and Katz, the yearling ends, showed that Tommie Slusser had really taught them something judging from their game. Economos, guard, and Gorman, tackle, showed up well at their respective positions, especially when the Lion cubs were on the defensive.

For the honor of being the youngest Penn State graduate to officiate at some of the larger gridiron meets, A. H. Knabb '22 has been selected to run the West Chester-Shippensburg, Drexel-Ursinus, and Pennsylvania Military College-Susquehanna games.

D. W. Very '13, one of the Nittany Lions' star ends, will work the Duquesne-Bucknell, Temple-Indiana, Duquesne-Haskell Institute, Princeton-Cornell, Dartmouth-Yale, Fordham-West Virginia, Navy-Pittsburgh, and Washington and Jefferson-West Virginia tilts.

BEAVER PICTORIAL TO CARRY ARTICLE ON SOCCER SQUAD

Second Issue of Sports Magazine To Go on Sale Saturday

Featuring an article by soccer coach Bill Jeffrey, entitled "Highlights of the Soccer Trip," the second issue of the Beaver Field Pictorial will go on sale Saturday afternoon.

This Dad's Day issue will contain a message from President Hetzel to the dads. In it will also be the usual line-ups, including the names and numbers of all players.

It will contain a story of the Gettysburg record so far and a resume of the "Bullets" series with Penn State. There will also be pictures of the Gettysburg captain, coach and several of their players.

Another feature of this issue will be a short resume of the major rules, penalties, and referees' signals. It will go on sale at the Corner about an hour before the game, and will also be sold during the game in the stands.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULES FOR 1937 NOT CERTAIN

Prevailing rumors concerning the Nittany Lion 1937 football schedule were denied last week by Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics.

"Every year talk is started about the opponents we have contracted for our games," Mr. Fleming said. "No one can know whom we have signed because we aren't sure ourselves."

The graduate manager explained that he has received a number of letters from various colleges requesting games, and he in turn has contacted others. But no contracts have been signed, and nothing is definite.

Current rumors connect Penn State with such possible opponents as Army, Navy, Vanderbilt, Notre Dame, Rollins, Southern California, Pitt Penn, Colgate, Columbia, Cornell, Chicago, Princeton, Harvard, and Yale. Mr. Fleming says "these rumors are obviously false."

RAIN CANCELS PROPOSED EXHIBITION SOCCER TILT

"Rain, no game," was the laconic explanation of the failure of the Lion soccer squad to make their scheduled trek to Sunbury Saturday for an exhibition game. Shortly before the team left, word was received that the heavy rains had made the site of the proposed encounter a morass of mud on which play was impossible.

Practice for the opener with Gettysburg this Saturday will ease up just a bit toward the end of the week in order that the fine fettle of the booters does not degenerate into staleness, since most of the first-stringers are those who made the trip abroad and consequently are in tip-top condition. The starting line-up will include only two or three of those who didn't make the trip, Coach Bill Jeffrey has indicated.

The freshmen are tentatively slated to face the local high school team in a return match tomorrow afternoon on the soccer practice field. Last week's game found the cubs somewhat disorganized, the scholastics talking the tilt, 2-to-1. With a little more practice added to their experience, the yearlings are expected to turn the tables.
