GREEN, SMITH WIN WAY TO TENNIS SEMI-FINALS

Tennis Captain Nels Green and his partner, Jimmy Smith, reached the semi-final round of the doubles tournament in the Middle Atlantic States Intercollegiate, held at White Sulphur Springs, Va., recently. They were eliminated by Harris and Levitan, of North Carolina, who won the doubles tournament and met in the final round of the singles tourney.

This is the first year that Penn State has entered a team in this annual tournament. The Lions and Pitt were the only northern teams against a host of southern colleges including North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia Wesleyan, Duke, Davis-Elkins, and Lynchburg.

Green won their first round matches and were eliminated in the second. Smith lost to a Duke man, who went to the quarter finals, while Green was downed by a Virginia netman who reached the semi-finals.

NITTANY BOOTERS TO PLAY TEMPLE AWAY TOMORROW

Jeffrey Proposes Few Line-up Changes For Owl Tilt

By WALT FREUNSCH
"They may not be a bunch of Samsons, but we're looking for them to do a little Temple-wrecking of their own over the week-end." So runs the campus sentiment concerning the soccer match with the Owls in Philadelphia Saturday, the first away scrap of the season.

Defeated last year, 4-to-0, and by a similar score in 1931, the Cherry and White squad holds few terrors for the Nittany aggregation. Reports from Temple indicate an improved team, but to a team possibly pointing toward another intercollegiate championship, the threat seems minute.

The line-up announced last night by Coach Jeffrey is almost the same as that for the Gettysburg tilt, the outside left post being the only uncertain spot. Connie Welsh, Herm Casterline, or George Corbett are possibilities. Ray Bell, one of the few unscathed goalies in college circles, will start, with Ben Palmer ready to relieve him.

Bob Graham and Jack Binns will fill fullback jobs, while the halfback triumvirate will be composed of Captain Jack Fletcher, flanked by Ed Long and Bill Suttiff. The other stalwarts on the forward wall include Marple Ambler at outside right, Frankie Osterlund at inside right, Bill McEwan at center forward, and Joe Bielecki at inside left. Don Masters and Dick Sigel, who saw considerable service last Saturday, will form part of the reserve strength.

Football Fouds Begin
Casting aside their gabardine suits, and sleek manners, the inhabitants of forty-six fraternities, clubs, and halls are daily crawling into their most disreputable clothes and seeking relaxation in the unsophisticated game of touch-football.

Three games are being played every day. Ergo, there are three fewer clubs in the tourney at the end of each day. To date, seventeen of them have fallen by the proverbial wayside. Two of the three games are played on the soccer practice field in the afternoon, and the other debacle is held on the New Beaver practice field, under the spot lights, n' everything.

The most dramatic fracas yet registered was held Wednesday night when Lou Kreizman's Phi Sigma Delta proteges squared off with the Phi Eps. With only four minutes of the game left, the Phi Eps gained the first six pointer of the game. This, however, did not end it.

With only a minute and a half to go, the Phi Sigs found themselves in the plight of being sixty-five yards from the goal. Undaunted, they flung a couple of passes and tied the score. With the referee poisoning his gun aloft (just like in the movies) they tried for the extra point. Pip Block pulled a 'sleeper,' and much to the chagrin of all loyal Phi Eps, the game ended with the Phi Sigs ahead by a single count, 7-6.

WRIGHTING BETWEEN THE LIONS

By FRED W. WRIGHT

At it again: Navy at Columbia. Navy had trouble winning last week and, although Columbia isn't as strong as last year, there is always the advantage of playing in your own back yard. One vote for Columbia, 14-0.

Minnesota at Pittsburgh. Minnesota has reputedly one of the strongest teams in the country. The Pennsylvania Football Institute has reputedly one of the strongest teams in the East. The Civil War decided the issue in favor of the country. One wavering vote for the Badgers, 7-6.

St. Mary's at Fordham. Fordham won by 2-0 last season, but the Rams are weaker this year. Despite a 3,000-mile trip as a prerequisite, one strong vote for the Gaels, 7-0.

Wisconsin at Purdue. Our Big Ten authority says Wisconsin. He's willing to bet money. He says they can't miss, it's in the bag. One vote for Purdue, 7-0.

Holy Cross at Harvard. Holy Cross is known far and wide as the nation's baseball college, but the pay-off comes on the football field these Saturday. One vote for Harvard, 19-0. (We feel a headache coming on.)

Brown at Yale. Harvard defeated Brown by two touchdowns, but that's not saying Yale will repeat. Brown also outrushed Harvard, six first downs to two, and 136 yards to 93. Yale was unimpressive against Penn last week, but they'll probably lick Brown, 14-0.

Carnegie Tech at Notre Dame. The Fighting Irish started slowly, came forward with a rush against Purdue last week. Carnegie Tech has been heading Horace Greeley too much of late. One vote for Notre Dame, 20-0.

Tennessee at Alabama. You know as much about this one as Smythe. The Crimson Tide by four touchdowns.

Rutgers at Pennsylvania. Both teams are lousy, which should bring all readers from Rutgers to their feet. One weak vote for the Gates Plan, 12-0.

P. and M. at Ursinus. Without further ado, one vote for Nevada, 13-6.

Penn State at Lehigh. The Brown and White are improved over last season, but their 52-7 victory over Haverford doesn't mean anything. Apparently the Engineers are due for another drubbing—if the Nittany Lion isn't too inclined to think the same way and forget to block. A flock of votes for the Lion, 27-0, if it doesn't rain.

Record to date: 679, 19 out of 28 attempts.

parently laying its faith in quantity rather than quality, has entered four teams. Last year's winner, Sigma Pi, has entered only one team. However, of the two people on this team, Bob Struble, grand champion twirler for the past two years, is one of them.

Harriers Start Training
In an effort to eliminate the farcical, yet tragic, situation of last year where persons ran who didn't know what a pair of spiked shoes looked like, all runners must now practice at least five nights before they can run in the meet next Thursday.

Fourteen teams have signed up. Those listed are A. Z., Beta Theta Pi, Chi Phi, Chi U., Delta Sig, Phi Delt, Phi Ep, Kappa Sig, Phi Kappa Sig, Sigma Nu, S. P. E., Sigma Pi, Theta Kappa Pi, and Triangle.

7 HARRIERS LEAVE TODAY FOR LEHIGH; TEAMWORK VISIBLE

4 Sophomores, 2 Seniors Junior Form Team; Record Stands

Teamwork. That is the watchword among this year's cross-country team. And Tuesday afternoon in the time trials for tomorrow's Lehigh meet Captain Harvey furnished a vivid portrayal of what the word means when he sacrificed his chance of breaking the course record in a successful attempt to aid a teammate.

Book and Harvey (who said, "Mutt and Jeff") started out together—fast. About half way through the race Book doubled up with a pain in his mid-section. He dropped back, Harvey did likewise.

"Go on"—that universal harrier cry—"go on, don't wait for me."

But Harvey didn't go on. There was a record beckoning, yet he slowed down and nursed and coaxed Book along until they came within sight of the track. Only then did he sprint ahead, to finish in 27:36, still only eleven seconds over the course record.

Book, weak, finished in 27:58. Detwiler, a sophomore, came through in 28:09. The name is Don but the seniors, at least, will remember another Detwiler, Dick by name, who starred for two years and placed second in the 10-1A meet of 1930 which the Lion team won with twenty-nine points—the lowest score in fifteen years.

Fourth place went to Downey, last year's star freshman thynyclad, in 28:18 and he was followed by Alexander, the only senior besides Harvey on the team, who was clocked in 28:32. Trimble and Crum, both sophomores, won their places on the team by tying for sixth place in 28:38, bringing the total number of sophomores to four out of seven.

There you have the team—Harvey, Book, Detwiler, Downey, Alexander, Trimble and Crum—which left this morning at 9 o'clock determined to show the Engineers what a well-constructed cross-country team looks like—from the rear.

This afternoon they will receive one of the surprises of their lives, when they inspect the course, for, although none of them yet know it, it is composed of roads of all varieties—dirt, gravel, asphalt, and concrete. It may be described as easy on the mind, but hard on the feet.

The starting gun will open the season for both teams at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning and most of the Lion harriers will sprint immediately into the lead. That will be threatened by only one man—Captain Curt Bayer of Lehigh, but he will be unsuccessful and at least five State men will cross the finish line before Bayer. The 1934 cross-country season will have been opened with a perfect score.

If the footing is sufficiently secure, Harvey will break the course record of 28:32. It is doubtful, however, that his time will be under 28 minutes. But then we may be wrong.

Plebes Await Opening Gun Of Contest With Seminary

By HARRY HENDERSON
Playing strangers on their home field for the first time, the Blue and White freshman football team will tackle Dickinson Seminary eleven on New Beaver field, at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

The Lion cubs opened their season two weeks ago when they defeated the Mercersburg Academy team at Mercersburg, 12-to-0. Against the prep school team the Walke-coached aggregation showed a strong semblance to last year's plebe eleven, which was defeated only by Bucknell.

Weak points in the playing of the yearling team showed up in this game with Mercersburg more so than in the game with the varsity which ended in a 0-to-0 tie.

Coach Nels Walke has been working for the last two weeks, along with Coaches Tommie Slusser and "King" Cole, in ironing out these weak spots and has at last developed a team, which is able to take the punishment of the varsity in practice, and what is more, give a little back.

The yearlings have had a week of rest since their last game and at present are in fine physical shape. Their coordination has improved to a place where they do not look a bit like the squad of green recruits that took to the field against the varsity several weeks ago.

While Coach Walke has not definitely selected his line-up, the ends will probably be Carl Waugaman and Bill Katz; the tackles, Bob Cornman, and Al Feldman; the guards, Johnny Economis, and Nick Zochowski; center, Paul Enders; quarterback, Don Sherman; the halfbacks, Geddings, Wilner, Sheridan, and fullback, Walter Kominic.

BEYER DEFEATS MENARD TO WIN LINKS TOURNEY

Lloyd ("Chick") Beyer triumphed over George Menard, 4 and 3, to win the all-College golf tournament Tuesday. Beyer had a 35 on the out nine, but Menard rallied strongly on the last nine to make the match a little closer. Beyer will be awarded a cup, and medals will go to the runner-up and to the winner in the second six-teen.
