Peffer '34, Rowles '36 Seriously Injured Saturday as Automobile Goes Over 50-Foot Embankment

3 Others Have Narrow Escape on Newly Built Highway

Driver Jerks Car Too Suddenly, Somersaults

Five students narrowly escaped death early Saturday morning when the car in which they were traveling to the Lehigh game hurred down a fifty-foot embankment on the newly constructed road, five miles south of Lewistown.

Occupants of the car were Price W. Longstreet '35, K. Arthur Patchen '36, Lee N. Peffer '34, L. Stetson Rowles '36, and Clifford W. Wood '35. Peffer and Rowles sustained serious injury.

Car Rolls into Canal

The car, driven by Peffer, was heading toward Harrisburg on the single lane concrete road, which was under construction when the accident occurred. While traveling at a speed of sixty miles an hour, the front wheel of the car dropped off the concrete. In an effort to get it back onto the concrete, Peffer jerked the wheel too hard and the car hurtled across the road and somersaulted down the fifty-foot embankment.

There was no guard-rail so that the automobile rolled over twice and landed on its side in the bed of the canal, 100 feet from the road. Longstreet was thrown through the roof in the descent, and all of the students were knocked unconscious. The bottom of the canal was covered with water, so that several of them might have drowned if one of them had not regained consciousness quickly and dragged the others to safety.

A passing car was hailed, the students were taken back to Lewistown and Peffer was rushed to the hospital. Since Rowles did not register any complaint, the students assumed that he was not injured. They later discovered that he had a broken collar-bone and that a former brain injury was so aggravated that he wandered about the streets of Lewistown, unconscious, for an hour before he was discovered.

Peffer Still in Hospital

Peffer is still in the Lewistown hospital, recovering from several broken ribs. Rowles was treated for his broken collar bone Saturday morning and dismissed. Patchen is suffering from a wrenched back and a lacerated hand and leg. Longstreet and Wood received several minor bruises and cuts. The car, a new Plymouth sedan, was completely demolished. The students visited the scene of the accident yesterday afternoon and found that it would be useless to have it repaired. The car was fully insured and belonged to Peffer.

'Froth' To Issue 25th Anniversary Number Alumni Day, Nov. 3

When the alumni arrive at Co-op corner November 3, they will be greeted by a sight that will stir up old memories of their undergraduate days. The ancient Froth, which has weathered so many historic weekends when the team won or when Guy Lombardo was in town for one of those fabled $6.50 proms, will be graying with fresh copies of the Alumni number of Froth. This time it's a different Froth; the twenty-fifth anniversary issue.

From the cover by Froth's greatest artist, Robert Foster '17, to the editorial by Froth's twenty-sixth editor, Burton Rowles Jr. '35, the forty-eight pages will be packed with memories and "billy laffs."

William S. Hoffman '11 (The Registrar, to you) will be present with a double page view of the campus reprinted from Volume one, Number one; names like Tom Waring '25, Roy Dunkle '17, Bob McKean '30, Benno Hibler '29, Al Noderer '30, Ed Malmel '33, "Momser" Wood '34, Bob Dickinson '34, Ed Zern '32 and Cy Liberman '32 will greet the alumnus from the pages of Penn State's comic magazine.

Two complete pages will be devoted to the drawings of Don Gordon, the greatest modern Froth artist, while Ed Zern's full page drawing which was reprinted in Life will be present. Surprises other than these will be found in the twenty-fifth anniversary issue, according to Editor Rowles.

Dickson Speaks Tonight

Prof. Harold E. Dickson, of the department of fine arts, will speak before the Blair County Club in Altoona tonight. He will discuss the ground work necessary for the appreciation of art.

A. A. Announces Sale Of Reserved Tickets

Students desiring to secure reserved seat tickets for the Syracuse game must bring their ticket books to the Athletic Association window today, or tomorrow. Seniors and juniors may get their tickets today and sophomores and freshmen can obtain theirs tomorrow.

Coupon number three must be exchanged to get the ticket, and the matriculation card must be presented at the same time. A general sale on tickets for the Columbia game will also be held on Tuesday and Thursday. The price of the Columbia game ticket is $1.05.

Stoddart, Miller Hurt in Accident

Thrown Through Windshield of Car As They Hit Truck At Port Matilda

Robert C. Stoddart '35 and Berwyn L. Miller '35 suffered severe lacerations of the face when they were thrown through the windshield of the former's automobile Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock near Port Matilda as a result of a collision with a truck. Miller received cuts about the ear and chin that required eighteen stitches to close, the ear being partially severed. Stoddart, a son of Dean Charles W. Stoddart, of the School of Liberal Arts, also had lacerations of the face and a bruised leg.

Car Badly Smashed

Returning from Altoona, the two students, became drowsy as a result of poor ventilation and the seepage of motor fumes into the car, which had its windows closed, and they crashed into the rear end of a truck near the summit of the mountain this side of Port Matilda.

Four members of Delta Chi fraternity brought the injured to the residence of a local physician where their injuries were dressed. The front of Stoddart's car, a new sedan, was badly damaged. Later in the morning, it was discovered that the car's radio and the heater had been stolen sometime after the crash.

Educators To Convene

Prof. Marion Van Campen, of the department of education and psychology, has been invited to lead the kindergarten teachers section of the New Jersey State Teachers Association in its analysis of arithmetic. The problems of pre-school children will be discussed on November 10, the second day of the convention.

Penn State Lettermen Have Rhythm In Their Souls, Campus Music Club Rosters Testify

"For glory of Old State For her founders strong and great"

Many outstanding Penn State athletes during the past fifteen years, have not only been inspired by the Alma Mater on the field of honor but have played and sung it themselves in campus musical organizations.

But the old order has changed giving way to a newer era when athletes, musicians are more rare. Gentlemen of note, including Professors Richard W. Grant and Hummel Fishburn, of the music department, recall with nostalgic retrospection alumni like "Hinky" Haines '21, brilliant football star, virtually a virtuoso of the piano forte.

"It isn't an indictment against music," Director Grant said, viewing the group photographs of former glee clubs which line his office walls, "it's just that it's too hard for a man to practice football, for example, and be on hand for a rehearsal at 7 o'clock without having had time to eat his dinner."

Chief among those who can mix their sports and music with success at the present time is "Mike" Zeleznek '35, 115-pound intercollegiate boxing champ. "Mike" is a baritone in the Glee Club and had a featured vocal solo in last year's Thespian show. Another singer-boxer is J. Briggs Pruitt '36.

Penrose Miller '36 played center field with the varsity baseball team last year and ended the season batting .326 but he can be heard in the first clarinet section of the Blue Band. Roger H. Hetzel '35 numbers

Student Union Sends 2 Letters of Protest

Student Union has sent a letter of protest to the College administration in regard to their reluctance to grant the 10 minute recess last Friday for the purpose of giving the football team a "send-off" when it traveled to Lehigh. A letter was also sent to Raymond O. Smith, College Comptroller, asking that the tower in Old Main be left open after 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Action is expected at the next meeting of the College administration.

'Daddy' Groff '07 To Lecture Here

Lingnan University Dean Returns After 10 Years' Service In Canton, China

"Daddy" Groff is coming back! After his ten years' absence from State College, Dr. George W. "Daddy" Groff '07, Dean of the School of Agriculture, Lingnan University, Canton, China, and Mrs. Groff, will arrive in State College tomorrow for a number of important conferences and speaking engagements.

To Attend Pep Rally He will be presented to the student body at the football pep rally in Recreation hall, at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

Dr. Groff will also sit on the platform at the chapel service next Sunday to acknowledge the greeting of the acting chaplain, Prof. John H. Frizzell, before the speaker of the morning is introduced. In the afternoon he will address the International Relations Council at the Friends' meeting house. He has also received invitations from the Westminster Fellowship of the Presbyterian Church for 6:30 o'clock and from the Reformed Church to speak at the evening service.

On the following night, Oct. 4, a dinner will be tendered to Dr. and Mrs. Groff by the Penn State in China committee at the Nittany Lion Inn which will be open to the public. Tickets will be on sale at the Penn State Christian Association office in Old Main at 75 cents each.

A number of other invitations await the coming of Dr. and Mrs. Groff, both of whom will be asked to make addresses. The Alumni Association confidently expects that he will accept their request to speak at the Cider Party on Saturday, Nov. 3. Many former students retain pleasant memories of "Daddy" Groff, going back 20 or 30 years.

Other invitations honoring the guest of the College cannot be definitely announced as yet. The faculty of the School of Agriculture have asked for an address on his specialty, Botany, at such time as can be arranged. Dean Sackett also hopes to present him to seniors in the School of Engineering, probably at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

Artists' Course Committee Asks For Student Aid

Survey Will Determine Numbers Selected By Executives

Collegian To Conduct Query On Preferences

The COLLEGIAN will conduct a survey of student tastes to aid the Executive committee of the Artists' Course in the selection of the numbers of the second annual series of the Course.

On page two of this issue will be found a ballot listing all the entertainers under consideration by the committee. All subscribers are asked to fill in their preferences, one in each group, and leave the ballots at the Student Union desk in Old Main. COLLEGIAN representatives will collect the ballots at all men's and women's fraternities. All ballots must be in before 7 o'clock Wednesday night. Additional suggestions may be written on the ballot.

The Course this year will include five professional numbers. In addition, two local attractions, the Messiah and the Nativity plays, will very probably be included in the series. Tickets for the Course will go on sale early in December.

The numbers included in the instrumental group class are the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, which appeared here last year; and the London String quartet, which broadcasts over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The instrumental soloists and small groups under consideration are Efreim Zimbalist, violinist, and Mischa Leventals, pianist, who appear in joint recitals; Jose Iturbi, pianist, who appeared in last year's series; Albert Spalding, American violinist of note; and Ossip Gabrilowitsch, one of America's greatest pianists and the director of the Detroit Symphony.

Vocal groups and soloists receiving consideration are Walter Sagerknecht, a Vienna boy choir on its third tour of America; Grete Stoenckgold, soprano, opera and radio singer; Grace Moore, soprano, a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company and star in the recent picture "One Night of Love"; John Goss and his London Singers, a group with a wide repertoire; the Revellers, a radio group singing popular and artistically finished productions; the Westminster Choir, a group from Princeton, N. J., comprised of forty voices; and Roland Hayes, negro tenor.

The lecture group includes Dr. Raymond Lee Dittmars, curator of the New York Zoological park; Dorothy Thompson, foreign correspondent, and authority on German affairs, and the wife of Sinclair Lewis; Hans von Kallenborn, radio news commentator; Walter B. Pitkin, psychologist and author of "Life Begins at Forty"; the Marlin Johnsons, moving picture explorers of the South Sea Islands; and Africa; and Louis Untermyer, poet, critic, and anthropologist.

A miscellaneous group of entertainers includes Nini Theilade, Danish danseuse assisted by a string ensemble; "Green Pastures," dramatic success of a few years ago with many of the original cast; Ted Shawn and his ensemble of men dancers, and Ruth Page and Harold Kreutzberg. Miss Page is the ballet director of the Chicago Grand Opera Company and danced with Anna Pavlova on her last tour.

The results of the poll will appear in the next issue of the COLLEGIAN.

Bacteriologists Will Convene Saturday

Bacteriologists of central Pennsylvania will hold their fall meeting here on Saturday. Justina H. Hill, chief bacteriologist of the Bradley Urological Institute at Johns Hopkins Hospital, will be the guest speaker. The scientists to attend are members of the central Pennsylvania branch of the Society of American Bacteriologists. They will hold a business meeting in the morning and the scientific session in the afternoon.

In addition to Miss Hill the speakers will include Dr. J. H. Brown of the Gilliland Laboratories; Dr. J. W. Rice, Bucknell University; and Prof. R. Adams Dutcher, Dr. Joel A. Sperly, and Dr. M. A. Farrell, of the College.

Select Tanner's Book

Sheldon C. Tanner, professor of economics and business law, was informed last week by the Pennsylvania Bar Association that his book "Principles of Business Law in Pennsylvania," published in July has been chosen as the volume from which the Pennsylvania bar examinations will be composed.

Lions Swamp Brown and White 31-0 in First Away Victory Since '29 Season; Sigel Scores 3 Times

Alumni Wax Eloquent Regarding Victory At Bethlehem

Forecast 'Even Break' At Columbia Saturday

A judicious combination of the Lehigh victory, the magic of a Saturday night without the wife's influence, and four Manhattan's as a prelude to a hit dinner made the three alumni wax enthusiastic.

"I tell you, they looked good today. Lehigh never had a chance against our line and some of those plays were so slick I couldn't even see who had the ball from the stands," the first Alumnus observed.

"What do you think we'll do against Columbia next?" asked the second. "Even break," came the answer. "Last year they went over to New York green as far as experience on away fields goes. This year it'll be different."

"I say it'll be close, too," the third said. "There aren't any Montgomerys on Columbia this year, you know. The thing I'm afraid of is that Columbia may be just a bit too tricky."

"Yah, Lou Little always has something up his sleeve, but I hear Columbia doesn't have much of a passing attack. Columbia'll need trick stuff; but don't forget we haven't opened up yet either," came the answer.

"It won't be any walk-away this year. Hell, State held 'em the first part of the game. The trouble was last year we didn't have any reserves. The way it looks this year Bob can put three men in an' every one'll be just as good as the man they replaced."

"Higgins has the best line I ever saw any State team have. Those guys were tackling. Two and three hit the runner at once sometimes."

"Hey, when was the last time we won three in a row? There's something for you sport columnists."

"Well, when was the last time we licked a team away? We licked Lehigh in 1931, but that was a post-season game."

"I think it was 1929, the time we walloped Penn. You know, the game that made Penn break relations," somebody said. "Wait'll we get 'em this year."

"Say, were you up to the smoker? 'Chick' Werner said something straight from the shoulder. He said that when he came here last year he never saw a school so low athletically. It looks like things are on the rebound."

The third alumnus interjected with: "That Lehigh roter sure shut up after the half. For the first three plays I thought I was going to have to eat my words, but after that I could rib him all I wanted."

"Did you hear that smart crack during the Lehigh alma mater? This Lehigh grad yelled 'Hey, John, put your hat back on; you were only here six months.'"

"Boy, they sure looked good. If we lick Columbia, we ought to be undefeated."

Which should give a pretty good indication of what alumni sport followers thought of the team after the game.

$4000 Goal Set In P.S.C.A. Drive

Men's Quota Placed At $2400, Women Asked For $600, Faculty—$1000

Goals totalling $4,000 have been set for the annual Penn State Christian Association finance canvass, which opened last night, and which will continue until Friday night. The quota for the men students is $2,400, and that for the women students, $600. The faculty goal is $1,000.

The drive opened immediately after a "Kick-off" dinner last night, which was contributed by the P.S.C.A. Board of Directors, for the fifty division leaders and the 283 solicitors. Dean Ralph L. Watts, of the School of Agriculture and chairman of the Board of Directors, Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock, and Prof. John H. Frizzell, head of the division of public speaking, all gave brief talks on the aims and objectives of P.S.C.A. program.

Hetzl Issues Statement

In commenting on the canvass, President Ralph D. Hetzel said, "I am greatly interested in the plans which are being inaugurated for enlisting the financial support of the student body in behalf of the program of the Penn State Christian Association. I believe we can count upon the hearty participation of all those who believe with us in this vital force on our campus."

"Thinking students who have faith in a well rounded program of education will lend support to this organization which belongs to the students themselves. I recommend to every student this opportunity to share in the work of the Penn State Christian Association," he concluded.

Men and women students who pledge $2.50 or more will receive Christian Association membership cards. By special arrangement with

Christian Association Moulds Mind, Spirit As Athletic Organization Rounds Out Physical

"The Christian Association is doing for the spiritual character values what the Athletic Association is doing for sports and physical education," declared a student leader yesterday, in releasing a report on the activities of the past year and plans for the coming year. "In a college which hopes to produce all-round men, there is a necessity for the spiritual side," he concluded.

Among the speakers who will be heard as a part of the Association's program for the extension of thought and human understanding are Dr. Francis A. Henson, Dr. Francis P. Miller, Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, Dr. John McDowell, Dr. Justin W. Nixon, and the Rev. William E. Kroll '17. Father Riggs, Rabbi Morris S. Lazar, and Dr. Everett R. Clinchy will present a panel discussion on "Better Understanding Between the Faiths."

Among the features sponsored annually for new students are the welcome mass meetings, campus tours, meetings with student counselors, and freshman discussion groups. The dinners for fraternity pledges, inaugurated last year, is also sponsored by the and the Freshman Commission.

Last year the employment bureau of the Association placed 262 students in positions which paid them in room, board, or cash. This bureau is also allied with the registry of rooms and distribution of lists to new students.

The Student Handbook, which is now in its fortieth year, is distributed annually to all freshmen and to upperclassmen who request it. Last year over 4,000 copies were given out. A reading room is also maintained where selected periodicals and books are always available.

Fireside sessions, a series of directed discussion groups, are held during each second semester in the various living groups under faculty leadership, in an effort to promote more friendly relations between students and faculty. Retreats at the C. A. cabin at Shingletown Gap were held by more than sixty groups last year, with over 1800 persons participating.

Other services performed by the Association, according to the report, are the holding of open forums, in panel discussion style, on personal and social problems; the conducting of social and religious projects and inquiries into the conditions of living of the under-privileged; the formation and research commissions on campus needs and the evaluation of program projects.

Gridders Cross Goaline 2 Times Early in First Quarter

Weber Nabs 2 Fumbles On 13-, 10-Yard Stripes

By DONN SANDERS

The Nittany Lion made its first sally from its lair on Saturday afternoon and returned again after soundly trouncing the Brown and White of Lehigh, 31-0.

Early in the first quarter the Blue and White eleven asserted its mastery of the situation, scoring two touchdowns and adding another in each of the three remaining periods.

The victory was the first for a Lion eleven on foreign turf since the seventh game of a nine-game schedule in 1929, when State defeated Penn, 19-7. It also marked the first time the Blue and White has won three games in a row since the 1930 season, when Niagara, Lebanon Valley, and Marshall were downed in order.

Lions Outplay Lehigh

The tilt marked State's first appearance on Lehigh ground since 1920, when the two teams battled to a 7-to-7 tie. Athletic relations were broken in 1920 and resumed again in 1931, when the schools met in a post-season charity game in Philadelphia. The score then was also 31-0.

"Showing the best running attack of the season, tackling cleanly, blocking fiercely, and playing heads-up football all the way, the Lions left no doubt in the minds of the 8,000 spectators in Taylor Stadium as to which was the better team."

Breaks of the game paved the way for four of the Lions' touchdowns. Poor punts, fumbles, and blocked kicks gave the Higgins proteges their chance and not once did they fail to take advantage of Lehigh mistakes.

Sigel Scores 3 Times

Lehigh was completely outclassed. Their blocking was bad; their tackling worse. The Lion backs repeatedly evaded or escaped the Lehigh defense men. The forward wall broke through time and again to throw the Brown and White ball carriers for substantial losses.

Harry Sigel and Tommy Silvano were the Lions' running threats. Sigel scored three times. Lefty Knapp seemed to find himself for the first time this season, starting the game at left half in place of Captain Merrill Morrison, who was not in uniform. Mikolonis was acting captain.

The gains of the Engineers were the result of individual brilliance rather than of cooperation. Captain Harold Ock, Warren Fairbanks, and Joe Carlin did well but received very little help.

Execute Fake Reverse

The first break for the Lions came when Silvano intercepted a Lehigh pass on the Lehigh 40-yard line and ran it to the 32-yard stripe before being stopped. The Lions were able to gain only eight yards and Lehigh took the ball on downs. A penalty at this point set them back and Ham Reidy attempted to punt out of danger. It was a bad kick, the ball going to Knapp on the Lehigh 45-yard line. He returned it five yards.

Sigel and Silvano accounted for twelve yards and a first down on the Lehigh 28-yard line. On the next play Silvano, on a fake reverse to Sigel, went inside left tackle for twenty-eight yards and a touchdown. Mikolonis' placement kick went wide of the left post.

Penn State kicked off and Lehigh put the ball in play on their own 12-yard line. They gained six yards in two plays and then fumbled. Bob Weber, Lion tackle, broke through and recovered. Knapp made three yards, and then Sigel went wide around right end behind splendid interference for the remaining ten yards and a touchdown. Silvano's placement kick for the extra point hit the left upright and bounced back onto the field.

Puneful Substitutions Early in the second quarter the Lions scored again. Knapp took a Lehigh punt on the State 45-yard line and returned it to the Lehigh 41-yard stripe. He then made twelve yards
