

I. M. BOARD TO STAGE PUTTING TOURNAMENT

Putters Take Notice
A special intramural golf putting tournament will begin soon, according to Donald B. Ross '35, president of intramural board. A cup will be awarded and the winner will get twenty-five points toward the Bezieck cup. The entrance fee of ten cents per person must be in Miss Keller's office by Wednesday. Each unit may enter any number of contestants and the play will be conducted on an eighteen hole basis.

The intramural horseshoe finals were played off last night, but the event was not over as this goes to press. The contestants are Sigma Pi and Phi Delta Theta. Sigma Pi tossers were Struble and Riley. The Phi Deltas were Dunn and Scott.

Varsity, Freshmen Harriers To Compete Here Tomorrow

By HARRY URR

Varsity and freshmen thinnyelads will make their first home appearances in what promises to be the hardest meets of their dual seasons, when they meet the Pittsburgh varsity at 2 o'clock and the Cornell yearlings at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at New Beaver field.

Harvey, Book, Detwiler, Downey, Alexander, Crum, and Tait have been chosen as the varsity team as a result of Tuesday's time trials. At the same time Olexy, Chrk, Wear, Rubino, French, Daugherty, Sloc, Watson, and Titlow were selected to compete against a nine-man Cornell yearling team.

Both the Pittsburgh and Cornell hill-and-dalers are expected in town this afternoon in time to go over the course before nightfall. Accompanying the Cornell freshmen as coach will be Joe Mangan, holder of the native 2-mile American record, who was graduated last year from Cornell. Nothing can be learned about Pittsburgh except that it is a team of veterans, as contrasted with the Lion team which includes four sophomores. Butcher will win this meet, and in this particular the Lion varsity has improved greatly over last year as evidenced by comparative times in the Lehigh meets.

As the first five men on each team are counted in the team scoring, it is important that all five finish closely together. Further cause for optimism was added by the time trials when Harvey, Book, and Detwiler finished in a dead heat for first place with Downey and Alexander coming in within twenty seconds.

The yearling meet should be featured by a dual between Herb Cornell of Cornell and Pete Olexy of Penn State. Cornell, one of the outstanding runners in metropolitan scholastic meets last year, will be closely pushed by Olexy, a big, strong runner who has been finishing well out in front in all trials to date.

Whatever the result of the first-place dual the remaining Lion yearlings should give Cornell first-year men a lesson in team running. Comparative times show that the fifth-place Lion man is only 41 seconds behind the winner, while the Cornell fifth-place man is 1 minute, 7 seconds behind.

Lafayette Booters Will Battle Nittanymen at 4 o'clock on Beaver Field

By WALT FREUNSCH

Ready to show that the Owl tilt last week was just "one of those things," the Lion soccer squad will oppose the Leopards of Lafayette on New Beaver field this afternoon. Although the game has been listed for 4 o'clock, efforts are being made to have it get under way at 3:30 o'clock because of the early darkness.

Coach Bill Jeffrey has announced the same line-up that started the Temple encounter, with the exception of Corbett at outside left, instead of Welsh. With certain rough spots in the play of the Lions being smoothed out by intensive practice this week, the Eastonians should be in for a bad eighty-eight minutes.

Last Saturday, while the Blue and White booters were trying to solve the Temple defense, Lafayette was losing to Haverford, 3-to-1. Just how many goals better this makes the Lions, we aren't sure, but we are definitely looking for a decisive victory.
