Berbatis, Decker Will Face Oxford Debaters Monday

Members of Audience May Participate In Discussion

Contest Will Mark 3rd Meeting With Oxford

The eighth international public debate on the Penn State campus will be opened in Schwab auditorium at 7:30 o'clock, Monday night when Angelo N. Berbatis '35 and Aaron N. Decker '36 will uphold the negative side of the question: Resolved, that this house condemns all forms of military training in schools and universities, against Michael Foote and John Stafford Cripps of Oxford University.

The debate, appropriately enough, will be held in Oxford debate form, under which the audience may engage in discussion or questioning of the participants. Each speaker will be allowed fifteen minutes for his main speech and each side will take eight minutes for a rebuttal. The debate will then be turned into an open forum discussion.

Prof. John H. Frizell, head of the department of public speaking and head coach, will act as chairman of the debate and members of the Forensic Council will serve as ushers. Students, faculty and townspeople are cordially invited to attend.

The contest will mark the third time that the College has played host to representatives from Oxford, the last time being in November of 1932. Other international debates have been held with representatives of England, Australian and Canadian universities, and with speakers from the National British Students' Union and the National Union of Students of Germany.

The Oxford team will arrive on the campus Monday afternoon after debating with West Virginia University on Sunday. At 6 o'clock they will be entertained at a dinner in the Old Main Sandwich Shop at which members of the Forensic Council and the debate coaches will be present.

This debate is their seventh in a schedule which includes 22 contests with leading colleges and universities in 13 states from Maine to Georgia and as far west as Michigan. From here the Oxford team will go to Northwestern University and then to the University of Pittsburgh.

The Oxford team is one of three teams touring the United States, all sponsored by the National Student Federation of America. Two members of the National Union of Students of England are debating in our mid-western colleges and a Canadian team is active on the west coast and in the Rocky Mountain states.

The Oxford team arrived in New York on October 22 and held their first encounter with George Washington University, Washington, D. C., on October 26. Meeting an average of more than four times a week the English team will finish in Michigan on December 4.

Student Tribunal Hears 15 Cases in Court Of Common Pleas; 4 Convicted of Charges

"Quiet in the courtroom. This Student Tribunal court of common pleas of the Pennsylvania State College will come to order this thirty-first day of October, 1934, at 7:30 o'clock to pass judgement on fifteen freshmen accused of having broken various regulations which this court has decreed they shall be legally bound to obey. Judge Leo N. Skemp '35 will preside."

The first two cases to come before the court concerned transfer students who had taken customs at their former institution of learning and who were asking release from them here. Both were dismissed on grounds that no man can twice be put in jeopardy of life or limb for the same offense. The defendants were Harry Hauser '37 and Richard Stewart '37 who were transferred from Muhlenberg and Haverford, respectively.

In the case of Alfred Alberta vs. Tribunal the defendant was judged not guilty of having crossed Holmes Field and not wearing the head insignia of a first-year man.

"Your Honor, the defendant, Charles Mascia, has been accused by various reputable citizens of this community of having broken all the laws laid down by years of tradition. The defendant pleads guilty."

"It is the opinion of this court, Charles Mascia, that enough evidence has been presented against you to convict you on serious crimes. In witness thereof this shall be your sentence: Beginning Friday morning at 8 o'clock you will appear at all times wearing a dress, a bonnet and two signs, each twenty-four by thirty-

Chorus Selected For Fall Revue

Men's, Women's Dancing Units For 'Bargin' Around' Hard at Work

Final dancing chorus selections for the fall Thespian and Men's Glee club production "Bargin' Around" were made early this week, and final dance routines are being put into shape for the show which will be presented to the annual fall Houseparty audience on Pennsylvania Day, Saturday, November 17.

Those who survived the dancing chorus eliminations for the girls' chorus are Lillian A. Eiters '35, Helen Hinebaugh '35, Dorothy Perkins '35, Gwendolyn Rapp '35, Janet Beham '35, Ruth Gehret '35, Emma Hosner '35, M. Jean Kalar '35, Betty Russell '35, Toni Ryan '35, Althea Butt '37, and Margaret Doherty '37.

The freshmen women who were successful in the tryouts are Lillian Gram, Shirley Helmes, Ethel Mahaley, Virginia Stuart, and Lou Sutton. Two freshmen girls, Ruth Edgar, and Hannah Judd form a trio of high-kickers with Sarah C. "Sammy" McKee.

The men's dancing chorus follows: Jacob C. Forney '35, George B. Terwilliger '35, William H. Randall '37, Harry A. Leitzell Jr. '35, F. Barton Henderson '38, Thomas R. Doran '38, Richard W. A. Flenniken '36, Thomas F. Fitzgerald '38, and Richard D. Langdon '36.

The rest of these gents wouldn't stand still long enough for a reporter to take their first names and class down but here are their last names anyway: Williams, Warfield, Ritchie, Foster, Griffiths, Broman, Moss. It is rumored that they are publicity shy but the editorial staff of this paper does not believe it. So there!

Perry '37 Heads Druids

Paul G. Perry '37, was elected president of Druids, sophomore class society, at the annual organization meeting. Other officers installed are George G. Rosenberger '37, vice-president; Luther R. Barth '37, secretary; and Leroy N. Sunday '37, treasurer.

Skemp Clarifies Customs Rulings

2-Year Agricultural Students Must Observe Same Rules Placed on Regulars

Two-year students in the School of Agriculture will be required to observe all freshman customs just the same as four-year students, Leo N. Skemp '35, president of Tribunal, stated Wednesday night.

In one of the cases to come before Tribunal, the freshman asserted that two-year students were not required to obey customs. Because of a mistake in printing the rules in the Student Handbook and the possibility that all students did not see the announcement in the COLLEGIAN at the first of the year Skemp has granted two-year students relief until Monday morning at 8 o'clock.

Another case to come to the attention of Tribunal concerned a freshman student who accepted a date made for him by a fraternity brother. The freshman did not leave the house as the girl was brought there and taken home by an upperclassman, according to the defendant. While this man was excused from the charge it was stated that any recurrences of such an action will be judged guilty by the Tribunal.

An investigation will be conducted by Student Board through information acquired at Tribunal concerning the throwing of bottles on the second floor of Frear Hall. Students accused of participating in this practice will be brought before Student Board and if convicted will be subject to suspension from College.

Last year a rule was passed by Student Board restricting attendance at Tribunal meetings to members of the various hall societies. The rule will be enforced this year, Skemp announced. Upperclassmen were requested to turn in those freshmen whom they find breaking customs and permit the Tribunal to work unhampered from that point, he stated.

A.A.U.P. Will Study Educational Report

Unable to secure advance copies of the forthcoming Carnegie report which will charge that Pennsylvania colleges are 'diploma mills', the executive committee of the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors has appointed a committee to study the recent report of the American Historical Association.

The committee, composed of Dr. Harold F. Alderfer and Prof. Sylvester K. Stevens, of the department of history and political science, and Prof. Willard Waller, of the department of economics and sociology, has been studying the report for several weeks. The report deals with the method of bringing the teaching of students and the training of leaders into line with the new social trends of today.

In connection with the report an open discussion has been scheduled for the first-floor lounge of Old Main at 8:00 o'clock Wednesday night at which time Prof. R. Adams Dutcher, head of the department of agricultural and biological chemistry, and Prof. Alfred W. Gauger, director of mineral industries research, will speak on the present condition of teaching and research work in German universities. Both men have visited Germany recently.

Journalists To Speak

William N. Hardy, manager of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' association, and Braton R. Gardner, publisher of the Montrose Independent, will address a general assembly of journalism students in the Little Theatre, Old Main, at 11 o'clock Monday evening. Mr. Hardy will discuss the "Liberty of the Press" Clause in the Newspaper Code, and Mr. Gardner will speak on the "Problems of the Small City Newspaper."

Grier, Brutzman, Fletcher Chosen To Union Boards

Committeemen Chosen To Plan Activities Of Organization

First All-College Ball Scheduled for Nov. 30

Student Union has appointed Harry D. Grier '35 chairman of the dance committee for the first all-College dance of the year. The affair will probably be held Friday, November 30.

Other members of the committee are Jean S. Kleckner '35, A. Kenneth Maiera '35, and Manlio F. DeAngelis '35. The committee made a preliminary report at the regular meeting of Student Union last night but at present plans are still pending.

In order to continue the investigation of honorary societies which was started last year, Vernon D. Platt '35, president of Student Union board, appointed John A. Brutzman '35 as chairman of the investigation board. He will be assisted by Douglas R. Borst '35, Elsie M. Douthett '35, and Grier.

John E. Fletcher '35 has been named chairman of the Student Union Loan Fund committee. Members of various extra-curricular activities who will work with him are William S. Bennett '36, who will represent Interfraternity Finance; Dorothy J. Ely '36, representative from Pan-Hellenic council; and Oscar A. Felker '36, a junior member of the board.

Others on the committee include Alexander J. Macdonnell '35, member from Inter-fraternity Council; John E. Miller '36, who will represent the COLLEGIAN; and Wesley C. Mohrken '36, representative of the Penn State Club.

Men's Athletic Association will be represented by Richard H. Maurer '36, and George E. Sperling '36 will serve for men's student government. Catherine L. Wagner '35 has been selected to represent Women's Athletic Association.

Selena A. Wunderlich '36 has been made a member of the committee to represent religious societies. As yet the honor societies on the campus have not selected a delegate to serve for them.

A letter was received by the Union from John W. Carnvath, chairman of Student Union board at the University of Pennsylvania, stating that Penn State students who come to Philadelphia for the Pennsylvania-Penn State game will make their headquarters at the Union office. He extended an invitation to all Penn State rosters to make use of that office for any assistance which they may need while there.

I. R. C. Will Hold Third Annual Conclave Here

Delegates from more than sixty clubs will convene here for the third annual Middle Atlantic International Relations clubs conference, which is scheduled to meet Friday and Saturday, November 24 and 25, under the auspices of the Penn State branch of the International Relations Clubs.

The general subject will be "Recent Trends in Nationalism," and will be taken up in three round table discussions of two sessions each. The main purpose of the conference is to review the different aspects of nationalism as a deterrent to world peace.

Dr. Otto Nathan, formerly economic advisor to the German government and now a member of the faculty of Princeton University, will address the conference on particular phases of nationalism. Berwyn L. Miller, '35, who will act as chairman of the conference, has completed plans for the program.

Penn Game Tickets Go on Sale Monday

Tickets for the University of Pennsylvania football game at Philadelphia, November 10, will go on sale at the ticket office in Old Main at 8 o'clock Monday morning. Sale will continue until 5 o'clock Thursday night. Tickets are all $2.20 and are for seats in the lower tier on the north side of Franklin Field.

Drawings for fraternity blocks at the Houseparty game with Lafayette on November 17 have been held and the results will be posted at the Student Union desk Monday morning. All fraternity orders, together with coupon books but without matriculation cards, must be handed in at Room 107, Old Main by 5 o'clock Friday night, November 6. Additional tickets at $2.20 apiece may be ordered with the fraternity groups at this time and paid for when received.

More Than 1,000 Grads Expected To Watch State-Syracuse Game

Sports Writer Compares Teams as 'Bludgeon Against Rapier'

Morrison, Smith Only Lions On Injured List

By DONN SANDERS

"And against the rapier comes the bludgeon of Syracuse. A big, raw-boned team, who are fighters all the way back. No tricks for them, but straight bone-crushing, earth-shaking football with seven linemen charging as one to ride the opposing line before them and let the ball carrier through. They like to feel the steady drive of legs as the line rises to throw back the runner and they like to smash thru a tackle with all the force and might of a battering ram."

This comment, written by Drew Middleton, sports editor of the Syracuse Daily Orange, before the Syracuse-Cornell game two weeks ago, perhaps best typifies the game which more than a thousand alumni will witness on New Beaver field at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The rapier which Syracuse will meet this week-end will be slightly dulled by the absence of Captain Merrill Morrison, who has been out for the past two weeks and may remain on the sidelines for the remainder of the season because of a bad leg. Lefty Knapp will start at left half.

The only injury of the Columbia game was suffered by Frank Smith, sophomore varsity end, who may be kept from the starting line-up tomorrow by a bad knee. Should he be unable to start, Bob Morini, another sophomore, will get the call.

The Orange promises to be as tough an obstacle as King Leo of Columbia. A team of veterans bolstered by several sensational sophomores is undefeated so far this season, having bowled over Brown, 33-to-0, last Saturday.

Bob Weber and Roy Schuyler, line tackles, will have probably their toughest assignments of the season when they meet up with Joe Vavra and Big Jim Steen, each of whom weigh about 210 pounds. Vavra was a sometime intercollegiate boxing champion and has had two years experience in the Orange line.

Steen is the outstanding lineman of an outstanding line. He specializes in the crashing of interference. He leaves the ball carrier to the secondary, content to throw his immense body at three or four backfield men running interference. He also has two years experience.

The orange may be without the services of Bustin' Barney Nevins, who sprained his left ankle against Ohio Wesleyan. He was replaced last week by Albanese, a sophomore line backer of no mean ability.

The backfield will be rounded out by Lou Stark, halfback and the Orange's passing threat; Nick Di Nunzio, who was recently shifted from quarter to left half; and Merz as signal caller.

Dr. Clausen To Speak At Alumni Day Chapel

Dr. Bernard C. Clausen, pastor of the First Baptist church of Pittsburgh, will speak on "Masters of Anger" at the Alumni Day chapel services in Schwab auditorium at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Following his graduation from Colgate in 1915, the speaker took advanced work at the Union Theological Seminary, and then received his degree of D.D. at Syracuse University. He was ordained into the Baptist ministry in 1917, although he began in 1915 to serve the Mt. Vernon, N. Y., church as an assistant pastor.

After three years here, Dr. Clausen went to the Hamilton, N. Y., church for a year, and then to the First Baptist church of Syracuse from 1920 to 1923. Since then he has been at his present charge. During most of the Great War he served as chaplain in the United States Navy, aboard the U.S.S. North Carolina.

This is the first time that Dr. Clausen has ever spoken here, although his predecessor at Pittsburgh, the late Dr. C. Wallace Petty, spoke annually at the chapel services here.

Green's Book Published

Dr. George R. Green, head of the department of nature education, is the author of a book just published by Edwards Brothers, Inc. Its title is "The Broadleaves," and it is the second of a series of books on the trees of North America. It is regarded by authorities as being an authentic key to all trees in this country and Canada.

Pep Meeting Set for Tonight at 7 O'clock

Steve Hamas, part of the Blue Band, and swarms of alumni will attend the second football "pep" rally of the year in Recreation hall tonight at 7 o'clock on the eve of one of the biggest games of the year.

Head Cheerleader William B. Edwards announced that all freshmen would be required to attend the meeting and other student leaders urged that the entire student body get out and show the visiting alumni that the "spirit of old State" hasn't died out.

At the rally the Hugo Bezdek Trophy will be awarded to Chi Upsilon fraternity, winner of the cup last year. The presentation will be made by Donald B. Ross '35, president of Intramural Board. This trophy is awarded each year to the unit showing supremacy in intercollegiate and intramural athletics.

Freshmen Pledges To Attend Dinner

300 Will Attend Affair Given By I. F. C.; Penn Crew Coach Will Speak

More than 300 fraternity pledges are expected to attend the second annual Penn State Interfraternity pledge dinner which will be held in the Nittany Lion Inn at 6 o'clock Sunday night. The dinner is designed to foster better relations between the first-year fraternity men.

Those who attend the dinner will be addressed by "Rusty" Callow, formerly crew coach at Washington, and at present coach of the University of Pennsylvania crew.

The dinner, which is sponsored jointly by the Interfraternity Council and the Penn State Christian Association, has long been a feature at a number of other universities and colleges but was not introduced to this campus until last year.

President Ralph D. Hetzel, Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock, Dean of the School of Agriculture Ralph L. Watts, Prof. Sheldon C. Tanner, of the department of history and political science, and Harry W. Soamans, F.S.C.A. secretary, have been invited to attend, as well as other administrative and faculty members, according to Jacob C. Forney '35, chairman of the committee in charge of the affair, and toastmaster.

Entertainment, which will be under the direction of William B. Edwards '35, Head Cheerleader, will consist of songs, skits, and short musical numbers which will be arranged beforehand, and which will be put on by the freshmen themselves.

Members of the committee who worked with Forney in preparing this dinner are John Bott '35, Harry D. Grier '35, A. Kenneth Maiera '35, Ralph P. Needles '35, Robert K. Paxton '35, Charles T. Potts '35, John Rinchimer '35, Alan C. Warhime '35, William D. Bertolotto '36, Herbert E. Bohren '36, and Charles H. Salt '36. John A. Clark III '34, and Carson W. Culp '34 served as advisors to the committee.

Loss of Sleep Caused by Ill Premonitions Supplies Drum Major with Weird Inhibitions

Rejoice and be exceedingly glad, O carefree cheering students and fun-loving alumni when you sit cozy and secure in your reserved seats at the Lion-Orange grid tangle tomorrow afternoon.

Consider momentarily the lot of Jimmy Townsend, Blue Band drum-major and baton whirler, waking from a sound sleep tonight buffeted by a host of soul-searing premonitions about the few hours hence when he must throw and catch his baton, the eyeshore of all eyes and the envy of all spectators.

If Mikelonis were to fumble the ball tomorrow just before a punt, he could expect little sympathy in the write-ups in the metropolitan papers. But the slip of the wrist by a drum-major is not a misfortune; it is a catastrophe. Loss of the plaudits of the crowd, the love of a pure woman, and the respect of friends and one's parents are the inevitable result of a goose-stepping drum-major's dropping his baton.

"It's throwing the stick over the goal post that is the hardest," Townsend confessed brokenly last night as the bleak winds of jittering began to blow through his heart. "after that

Homecoming Program Inaugurates Many New Features

Alumni Council To Hold Dinner at 6:30 Tonight

With a rejuvenated football team and the most extensive Homecoming program ever planned, Edward K. Hilsbman executive secretary of the Alumni association, expects the attendance at the fifteenth annual Alumni Homecoming this week-end to go well over the 1,000 mark.

Although the high spot of the week-end will be the Syracuse football game tomorrow afternoon, several entirely new features have been introduced into the alumni program. Most important among these is the new type of Alumni Council dinner planned for this year.

The fall meeting will be held at the Nittany Lion Inn at 6:30 o'clock tonight at which time all members of the Alumni Council, the members of the executive committee of the Board of Trustees, and all class secretaries will be guests of the College.

In the past there has been considerable criticism among members of the Alumni Council about the lack of an organized program, the insufficient time to complete discussions, and the type of meeting which has been held for them. This year's innovation is an attempt to overcome these difficulties and make the meeting one which will be decidedly worthwhile.

President Ralph D. Hetzel will be the principal speaker and his subject will be "The Alumni Council and the College." John T. Ryan '08 will preside at the meeting and J. Franklin Shields, president of the Board of Trustees, will speak for the Board.

Other speakers will include Miles Horst '14, a member of the State legislature; James R. Gilligan '12, superintendent of the Dunmore High School; Donald M. Cresswell '18, publicity agent of the state department of public instruction; and George R. Leursson '15, of Reading. Mr. Hilsbman will discuss certain phases of the alumni program.

Registration of alumni will start this afternoon in the first floor lounge of Old Main and will continue until tomorrow afternoon. Following the athletic mass meeting at Recreation hall at 7 o'clock tonight the Varsity club man will attend their smoker at the Nittany Lion Inn at 8:30 o'clock.

A golf tournament in charge of William P. Hall will be held at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning and students are requested to refrain from using the course while the tournament is in progress. During the morning also alumni will inspect the campus and various schools.

The week-end sport program will be opened when the freshmen grid-ders kick off to the Bucknell yarders at 12:30 o'clock on Beaver field. During the half the freshman cross-country team will finish their race with the Syracuse University first-year men. At 2:00 o'clock the varsity gridmen will oppose Syracuse and during the half of this game the varsity harriers will end their five-mile grind against the Syracuse varsity.
