

Blue and White Soccermen Will Oppose Dickinson Eleven Here Tomorrow

Captain Fletcher, Graham, Sigel, Ambler, Masters To End Varsity Careers on Yet-Undeclared Team

Red Devils Have Lost To Bisons, F.&M., Gettysburg

By WALT FREUNSCHE

Five varsity players, all seniors, will don white and blue soccer jerseys for the last time, when they take the field against Dickinson tomorrow at 2 o'clock, on the New Beaver pitch. And we have a hunch that their big regret will be that the game promises little in the way of excitement or competition. Knocking the opponent may be poor taste, but many feel that the schedule should wind up in a blaze of glory, which the Red Devils, on form, won't provide.

The line-up changes will be few, although seniors may be given preference. Ben Palmer may start at goal, although a definite line-up will not be selected until Coach Bill Jeffrey corals the boys in the dressing-room just prior to the game.

Don Masters is certain to see action at some stage of the proceedings, as will Dick Sigel. The rest of the line-up is expected to be about the same, including "Nip" Ambler in the line, Captain Jack Fletcher at center half, and Bob Graham at left fullback.

Dickinson has dropped matches to Gettysburg, Franklin and Marshall, and Bucknell, and although the Bisons were the only opponent in common, State is figured to take the game by a wide, wide margin, possibly half a dozen goals. If the dope is upset and the game is close, it will be a reason for great joy. The Jeffrey men have displayed their best soccer in the closest tilts.

At present, the eastern championship situation is in rather a muddle, with State, Cornell, and Springfield in a triple tie for first place. Each of the teams is unbeaten although each has been tied. On Saturday, Springfield will tackle Brown, who boasts a victory over Dartmouth, the team that tied Cornell, thus creating the triple tie.

And if Cornell loses to ties Harvard on Thanksgiving Day, and if Springfield ties or loses to Brown Saturday, then State will have the championship. Those ifs!

College men and women are on the average taller than those young men and women who do not go to college or attend institutions of higher learning. It has been revealed.

The University of Mississippi has received one-quarter of a million dollars for building improvements during the past four months.

Universities in Japan have only 35 women students.

It was recently claimed that "a college woman when she becomes a wife makes more trouble than all the other classes of wives put together."

John Sitarsky, Bison quarter, does both the punting and the running back of punts for Bucknell. He averages close to forty yards from the line of scrimmage. He kicks left-footed. He is the inventor of the "sinker punt," a ball that bounces straight up in enemy territory.

But the Bison defense has not yet met a Silvano or a Sigel. It will take State at its best to beat the Bisons. It will take the team that held Columbia to a 14-7 score to down the Orange and Blue and finish the season with a better than .500 average.

WRIGHTING BETWEEN THE LIONS

By FRED W. WRIGHT

The "three dizzy ducks" who rule boxing in New York State went into a conference the other day. They didn't confer very long, but when they released the gist of the conference some of the lads who push typewriter keys, for sandwiches and coffee, together with Charlie Harvey and his protegee, Steve Hamas, went up in smoke.

It seems that Harvey has a contract calling for his pupil to meet Max Baer, now on a vacation that began last June when he whipped da Pream for the title and sauntered off declaring that "there ain't nobody good enough," but the Garden corp. wouldn't honor it. Harvey protested to what would have been the boxing commissioners in any other state, but the "three dizzy ducks" said the Garden corp. had no right to tie up Hamas' services for a period so far away.

So it looks as if Steve Hamas—the only college man ever to get so high in the racket—will have to go through another year of eliminations with second-rate pugs who hear bells in their heads. Granted, Schmeling won't be any set-up, nor will Art Lasky nor da Pream nor Tommy Loughran, all of whom he will probably meet before he will get any consideration from Baer.

And meanwhile, Steve isn't getting any younger fast. He must be about 29 or 30 now and that's the period when a fighter is either at the top or is sliding backward. There are a good many people who think that this husky ex-Lion has a pretty fair chance to knock off the California windbag and who even go so far as to state that Hamas can take anything Baer sends his way and meanwhile dish it out, when and where it hurts. Personally, I don't, but I'd like to see him get the country's No. 1 Conceit into the ring, with a chance of plastering his nose around behind his ears, rather than spending his life meeting second-raters and ending up with nothing financial for his efforts and a very, very bitter outlook on the boxing world every morning. Hamas threatens to quit rather than beg for a chance at the title.

A couple of years ago when the Navy did her greatest howling over Army getting college graduates and permitting them to play football while the Middies got none, we were prone to side with the plaintiff. That stand has taken a rude jolt, however, in light of the recent election of Dave Sloan, a Penn State varsity letter-carrier last year, to the captaincy of the plebe eleven.

Sloan, who weighs 204 pounds, would have come in very handy against such teams as Columbia, Syracuse and Penn—in fact, he could be used to advantage against Bucknell this Saturday, but he happens to be in a Navy uniform just at present and next year will probably wind up as the Middies outstanding sophomore guard, the year after that will make all-American, and the year after that he will be captain. All of which will remind nobody that he gained most of the football knowledge he ever knew here on the campus.

"Penn State: Incubator of All-Americans!"

scrimmaging against the varsity; however the bruised and swollen member may be in such condition by Saturday that he can play.

"Rabbit" Wear, tricky little Lion quarterback, is tentatively slated to start in the backfield combination of Roy Bolig, Owens, and Komine. Quarterback Wear has shown in the last few games a rather adept manner in getting away his passes, especially when pushed hard. In fact, it often looks more like luck than good football. Bolig, Owens, and Komine have been the most consistently good backfield that Coach Walke has tried as yet.

Carl Waugaman and Dolly Katz will probably be holding down the terminal positions with big Danny DeMarino, one of the best working tackles that has come along this mountain for a long time, and Corman or Fromm if he's in shape, playing tackle. Johnny Economos, a real shifty fast guard who means business, and Zachowski, a running mate for Economos worthy of the position will probably be playing center. Enders play this year has been outstanding, especially his defensive work.

Freshmen Football Team To Close Season With Gettysburg Tomorrow

By HARRY HENDERSON

The Lion's freshmen—Gettysburg freshmen football game which was announced in this paper a week early, through a misunderstanding, will really take place this Saturday afternoon on the Bullets' field, closing the Lion yearling season.

The Gettysburg team defeated the Mercersburg Academy eleven last week by a score of 7-0. According to the "Gettysburgian," the Bullets' freshmen completely out-played the Mercersburg boys and had possession of the ball most of the time. The State freshman also defeated the Mercersburg team early in the season, but by a score of 12-0. That was the first game on the Lion yearlings' schedule. Since that time they have met and defeated teams much more superior to anything that Mercersburg has.

In their game with Mercersburg on Saturday the Bullets were within scoring distance of the goal a great many times but, with one exception, were unable to score. The great threat of the Bullets will come in the form of a smooth working aerial attack. Last week it provided the winning punch for Gettysburg when Longnecker tossed a pass to Fetrow on the Academy's forty yard line and Fetrow reeled off for a touchdown.

This last Tuesday the Lion yearlings scrimmaged against the varsity and throughout the week Coach Nels Walke has been keeping his boys limbered up with scrimmages and intensive signal drills. While Gettysburg's aerial attack is to be most feared, their line is hardly one that can be considered light and has shown considerable strength throughout the season, despite the fact that the Academy team held it for downs repeatedly.

The Lion yearlings are in fine physical shape with only Manny Fromm, left tackle, on the injured list. Manny was kicked in the eye while scrimmaging against the varsity; however the bruised and swollen member may be in such condition by Saturday that he can play.

Bucknell Invites State To Sophomore Cotillion

Football fans from Penn State who are in Lewisburg Friday night are invited to attend the Sophomore Cotillion at Bucknell. A minimum, non-profit price of $2.50 a couple has been set for the dance.

Dancing will continue from 9 o'clock Friday night until 2 o'clock Saturday morning, with Ernie Holst and his orchestra, formerly of the Central Park Casino in New York City, furnishing the music. The dance will be held in the dining hall of the Women's College of Bucknell's lower campus.

Freshman Commission Will Organize Tuesday

Culminating in an organization meeting of the 1934-35 Freshman Commission, the concluding session of the '35 Forum will be held in the Hugh Beaver Room, at 7 o'clock Tuesday night. William L. Hammaker, part-time associate secretary of the P. S. C. A., will speak on "Religion."

Meeting weekly, the Commission will conduct a social, recreational and religious program throughout the year as an organized group. Any first-year men interested in taking part in this activity should attend this meeting, or see Charles H. Salt '36 at the C. A. offices, 304 Old Main.

S.P.E. NOSES OUT ALPHA CHI SIGMA IN I.M. GRID FINAL

Lyons Scores in Final Minutes; Dobbins Outstanding

By VANCE PACKARD

With only thirty seconds to play, just like in the movies, Kenny Lyons, S.P.E. halfback, ran five yards to make the only score in the game to decide the winner of the intramural football crown between Sigma Phi Epsilon and Alpha Chi Sigma, on the Practice Field Wednesday night.

With a crowd of 200 brothers, co-ed admirers, and varsity athletes witnessing, the underdog remained the underdog; but the victor knew that it had been in a battle when the final whistle trilled. The fact that three of the chemists' players (Beall, Probst, Stemmler), were carried off the field in horizontal positions, did not help that clubs cause any and suggests the ferocity of the combat.

S. P. E. Line Strong

Unfortunately, the game was not even as close as the score would indicate. Although scoring only one touchdown, the Sig Eps rolled up eight first downs to four for the chemists. S.P.E. simply had the more powerful team. As was predicted, either club resorted to deception or passing, but concentrated on straight line-plunging.

The secret of S.P.E.'s power, not only in this game but in its previous games, was in its steam-roller line, which tore open such gaping holes that the backfield corps could prance down the field with ease and impress the spectators with its spectacular performances.

Turner and Shipman did nice playing in the Sig Ep backfield, but the real star of the game was Right Guard Dobbins (or Gobbins, as you prefer.) On the offense he pulled out of the line and ran interference for the backs; and on the defense, he played secondary, backing up the line. In both positions he inspired the onlookers with awe, and the chemical aggregation with fear.

Score in Last Minute

Ricketts, Alpha Chi Sig threat, found the Sig Eps laying for him during the entire scramble, so that he had few opportunities to do stellar work. His side-kick, Filer, was given free rein because of this, and turned in the most brilliant performance for the chemists.

The Sig Eps began their final scoring drive when Dobbins intercepted a pass late in the fourth quarter. They couldn't gain so Tindle kicked the ball out of bounds on the eighty-yard line. With their backs to the goal, the chemists tried to pass, but it was promptly intercepted, giving the Sig Eps the ball on the twenty-yard marker.

In a smashing drive the Sig Eps made a first down and brought the ball to the five-yard line. With only a half minute remaining, Lyons plunged the last five yards. Tindle tried for a goal but missed. On the kick-off, with but seconds to play, the chemists tried the famous French. Dietrich lateral, but failed.

Line-up:

Alpha Chi Sig	S.P.E.
Probst	L.E. Love
Carlson	L.T. Fischer
Miller	L.G. Robitzer
Condon	C. Wagner
Beall	R.G. Dobbins
Stratton	R.T. Dewalt
Jacobs	R.E. Zwicky
Goyno	Q.B. Tindle
Stemmler	L.H. Shipman
Filer	R.H. Lyons
Ricketts	F.B. Turner

Substitutions—Alpha Chi Sig: Benion for Probst, Lewis for Stemmler, Householder for Beall, Stemmler for Lewis.

Officials—Referee—O'Hara. Umpire—Engle. Head linesman—Buckowski.

She-Lions

Tie scores seem to be popular with the hockey teams these days. The juniors and sophomores battled to a 1-1 tie Wednesday, with the sophomores scoring in the first half, and the juniors evening up in the last part of the game. The inter-class championship still remains undecided. Another game between these two hard-fighting groups will be played in the near future.

Finalists in the intramural volleyball tournament are Alpha Chi Omega and Kappa Alpha Theta. The Thetas seem to have the stronger chance of coming through as victors since their line-up includes such veteran players as Margy Lewis, Libby Shaeffer, and Betty Welles.

Women's Building forfeited to Theta Phi Alpha, and Theta Phi Alpha was defeated, 3-0-0, by the Thetas yesterday. Gamma was defeated by Kappa Alpha Theta, and Alpha Chi Omega won from Delta Gamma by a 10-12 score.

Basketball starts this week, although the new intramural set-up has not yet been approved by all the intramural units. Practices will be held in the Armory this week, Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, and on Thursday evening at 9 o'clock.

Games will start next Monday at 8 o'clock in Rec hall. The non-fraternity groups will be the first to enter the competition.

Putting

Qualification trials in the intramural putting tournament will end tonight at 6 o'clock, according to Hank Beard, golf putting manager. Entries not qualifying by tonight will automatically forfeit, Beard declared.

Ten fraternities, with 132 members are entered in the tourney; qualification trials for which have been held during the past two weeks. Fraternal organizations entered include: Alpha Chi Sigma, Alpha Gamma Rho, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Chi, Theta Kappa Phi, Sigma Nu, Phi Sigma Delta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Chi Upsilon.

Actual play will get under way early next week, weather permitting. The competition will be medal play and will be conducted on an 18-hole basis.

Can He Stop Silvano?

George McGaughey, Bison center and mainstay of the Orange and Blue defense, called the best defensive pivot man in the East. WILL HE STOP SILVANO?

First Penn State Physical Director Is Bison Trainer

George 'Doc' Hoskins Has Coached at Both Schools

From the Bucknell side of the field tomorrow, George W. "Doc" Hoskins will watch Penn State's team come onto the field with more than usual interest, for he has been coach of both teams in the past.

The name of Hoskins may mean little to undergraduates, but those who have followed the fortunes of Nittany Lion teams from year to year will remember this venerable figure as the first director of physical training at Penn State, and practically the father of football here. He was one of the famous Eastern coaches in the late '90's and the early part of this century.

Hoskins coached at Penn State from 1892 to '95. In the four years here his team won nineteen games, tied four, and lost but four, three of them to the then great University of Pennsylvania, and the other to the Penn A. C. Among the teams he defeated was Bucknell, four straight times.

In 1899 Hoskins became head coach at Bucknell, and in his first year defeated his former Penn State team, 5-0-0, and repeated the following year, 12-0-5. The Lions did not even year, 12-0-5. The Lions did not even year, 12-0-5. The Lions did not even year, 12-0-5.

For nearly a quarter of a century Hoskins has been a trainer for the Cincinnati Reds, National League baseball team. In 1930 he started leaving the Reds in early October to help condition the Bisons.

BUCKNELL AWAITS ARRIVAL OF LION TEAM, STUDENTS

10 Nittany Seniors Will Start Their Last Grid Game

From 1887. One contest, in 1881, was played under rugby rules, while another, in 1888, ended in a dispute.

The Lions have won sixteen games in the series; Bucknell has won seven; none has ended in a tie. State has scored 340 points to 136 for Bucknell. The 1930 game was the first played in Lewisburg since 1909.

"Penn State has the best all-around backfield we will face (this year)," Mose Quinn, Bucknell scout and assistant football coach, told the Bisons Wednesday as they worked on a defense for the Lions. "The State backs can do all that is necessary," Quinn continued, "and in Mikelonis they have one of the smoothest passers in the East." Sigel and Silvano are the Lion backs Quinn has told the Bisons to watch carefully.

Quinn claims that Cherundolo is the strongest man backing up the line that he has seen on an opposing team all year. But he believes that McGaughey, Bucknell pivot man, is his superior. McGaughey has been mentioned as the best defensive center in the East this year.

The chief thing that is worrying Coach E. E. "Hooks" Mylin, new Bison mentor, is the offense. He believes that the great defensive work of his Bisons will continue. Only five touchdowns have been made against Bucknell this season, though they have faced the East's highest scoring backs, Art Strutt of Duquesne and Bill Shepherd of Western Maryland. This duct has made only one touchdown on the Orange and Blue.

It is the Bison offense that has worried Mylin all year. Thus far Bucknell has maintained a consistent attack in only one game. Largely because the defense has been so strong has Bucknell made her record of five victories to one tie and two defeats.

John Sitarsky, Bison quarter, does both the punting and the running back of punts for Bucknell. He averages close to forty yards from the line of scrimmage. He kicks left-footed. He is the inventor of the "sinker punt," a ball that bounces straight up in enemy territory.

But the Bison defense has not yet met a Silvano or a Sigel. It will take State at its best to beat the Bisons. It will take the team that held Columbia to a 14-7 score to down the Orange and Blue and finish the season with a better than .500 average.

BEZDEK TO SPEAK IN PHILADELPHIA

Hugo Bezdek, Director of the School of Physical Education and Athletics, will address members of the Second District American Coaches' association in Philadelphia on November 30. His topic will be "Coaching Ethics."

Head Football Coach Robert A. Higgins '19 will accompany him to the convention. Glenn Killinger '24, present coach of West Chester State Teachers, is a member of the committee on arrangements for the meeting.

The occasion, to be staged at the Penn A. C., will mark the greatest coaches' convention in the history of Philadelphia football. Invitations have been extended to all officials, coaches and players in the Middle Atlantic district. Attendees at the convention will witness the Penn-Cornell game next Thursday and the Army-Navy classic two days later.

The program, which will cover practically every phase of the great fall pastime, includes such speakers as Bernie Bierman, Andy Kerr, "Pop" Warner, Lou Little, Fritz Crisler, Harry Stuhldreher, Dr. Arthur B. Light, Walter Oakes, Letoy Mills, and Bill Cowell.
