Hetzl, "All-American," Merrill High '98

Believe it or not, the handsome, virile gentleman at the left of the dude in the derby (at the reader's right) is none other than President RALPH D. HETZEL, member of the 1898 Merrill (Wis.) high school football team.
In after-school life probably the most notable class that ever graduated from M. H. S., these teammates have spread their activities over so wide an area that they cover most of America.
The picture was discovered recently in Wisconsin Rapids, Wis. It was printed in the Capitol Times and in the Merrill Daily Herald.

Players To Give 4th Show on January 25

Manning '36 will play a major character part in the role of Breitstein. Miss Jane Kennedy and Jackie Lee have been cast as the aristocratic Mrs. Simon's children by an earlier marriage. Other members of the cast will be announced as they are selected by the director.
The play is a tense and dramatic character study of a prominent, self-made criminal lawyer in whose New York offices the action takes place. The cast represents clients, members of the office force, family, friends, and others who drop in in the course of business transactions.

Sheep Expert To Talk

Giving two talks, "Sheep Breeding in England," and "Special Opportunities for the Sheep Breeder," Professor William L. Henning, of the animal husbandry department, will be chief speaker on the program of the New England Sheep and Wool Growers' Association meeting in Worcester, Mass., Wednesday, January 9.

Twedy Cites World's Need for Sainly Men

Pointing out the need in our world today for spiritually-minded men and women, Dr. Henry H. Twedy, of the Yale Divinity School, New Haven, Conn., spoke for the tenth consecutive year to the chapel audience Sunday morning.

"While we commonly consider a saint as being the opposite of a man of the world, this idea is wrong," Dr. Twedy declared. "The two can easily be combined into one person," he continued, "and it is such people who should lead the world."

"Anyone for whom people are thankful, men and women who are seeking life's supreme values, those who have taken a deep-rooted place in our hearts, and all really sincere people are saints," Dr. Twedy explained. "And so far as we know, there has been nothing in this universe that is finer than the saints

'Collegian' Candidates Will Meet Tomorrow

Freshman candidates for the editorial staff only of the COLLEGIAN will meet in Room 417, Old Main tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. Philip W. Fair Jr., '35, assistant managing editor, who is in charge of the meetings, announced. Business candidates will be called at a later date.

At the first meeting, Fair will outline the work in which the candidates will be instructed at the following sessions. Policies of the paper and the methods of covering the news sources of the College will also be discussed.

which have crowned our evolutionary process."
"To achieve a perfect world," Dr. Twedy concluded, "we can do no better than to follow the example of Jesus who was both the saint of saints and the supreme man of the world."

Beta Sigma Rho Wins Debate Cup

Majority of Debaters Believe
Subsidization Present Here
But Cannot Prove It.

Beta Sigma Rho's 7-to-14 defeat of Phi Delta Theta in the finals of the Intramural discussion contest prior to Christmas vacation seemed to show that a majority of the contestants representing the eight competing fraternities believe that Penn State is subsidizing athletics at the present time but that they have a great deal of trouble proving it.

Among thirty speakers engaging in the ten debates of the contest, sixteen of them took the affirmative side of the question and fourteen the negative side. However, among the twelve speakers in the four teams winning discussions only four of them maintained that subsidization is present while eight of them held the administrative viewpoint.

In the final contest four of the speakers, two on each team, took the negative side of the question and the other two the affirmative side. The Beta Sig team—Arthur E. Pollock '37, Lester M. Benjamin '37, and Seymour Wattenburg '37—took first, second, and fourth places, in that order; while the Phi Deltas—Richard S. Moffitt '35, Vance O. Packard '36, and E. Townsend Swalm '37—were awarded the other places by Judge Harold F. Graves, of the department of English composition.

In addition to a silver cup, the Beta Sigma Rho will hold the Delta Sigma Rho cup for one year. The Delta Upsilon and Phi Epsilon Pi fraternities, each with one leg, are the only other houses which have won this cup previously. Both awards will be made at the international debate with the University of Hawaii in February.

School of Agriculture Opens Short Courses

Open to anyone in the state with an average grammar school education, the short course in agriculture opened here yesterday, while the dairy manufacture short course will open Monday. The agriculture courses will close February 28, while the three two-week dairy courses will end February 16.

Included among the subjects to be covered in the agricultural short courses, according to Dean Ralph L.

Watts, of the School of Agriculture, are animal diseases, economic problems of the farmer, farm forestry, farm machinery, farm management, feeding and slaughtering, fruit growing and fruit and vegetable insect control, livestock breeding, selection and management, plant diseases, poultry management, rural life and soil management and fertility.

Testing dairy products and the manufacture of butter and cheese will be the subject of the first dairy short course from January 1 to 19. The second course, January 21 to February 2, will be devoted to ice cream making. Market milk and milk control will be studied in the third course, February 4 to February 16.

Group Plans Appraisal Of C. A. Finance Drive

Meeting for the purpose of making a thorough investigation into the recent P. S. C. A. finance canvass drive, a committee of seven will appraise its results Thursday in the Hugh Beaver room at 7 o'clock. Next year's drive will be guided by the recommendations of this committee.
