

WRIGHTING BETWEEN THE LIONS

By FRED W. WRIGHT

Coach 'Spike' Leslie should have no particular reason to be looking down in the mouth this morning, even though Juniata's basketball team did make the Lions look a little slow and uncertain Saturday night. Leslie apparently did an excellent job of whipping his team into a position where they were able to give Temple, real eastern champions, one of the closest scares that the Owls are likely to receive this season, and Saturday night was just a bit of staleness or something working out of the boys.

Leslie, incidentally, is slowly but surely gaining for himself a reputation as a basketball coach of no mean ability. Three years ago he left obscure Mont-

Award Cornell Eastern Soccer Title for 1934

Intercollegiate Soccer Association Bars Penn State.

By WALT FREUNSCHE

Penn State's bid for the Eastern soccer championship was nullified on Saturday when the Eastern Intercollegiate Soccer Association announced the suspension of State for the 1934 season, at its annual meeting in New York City. Cornell, with a record of four league victories and two ties, was awarded the title by the representatives of the sixteen schools of the Association.

State was suspended on charges arising out of the Scotland trip of the Lion team last summer, when the Blue and White, because of injuries to the original squad, used players from other schools, as well as the coach. Consequently, the three league victories and a tie earned by the Lions did not figure in the awarding of the title, although State has been fully re-instated for the 1935 season. Director Hugo Bezdek, of the School of Physical Education and Athletics, and Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, represented Penn State at the meeting. Mr. Fleming, who is a member of the rules committee of the National Collegiate Soccer Association, reported four proposed changes in the rules for the coming season.

Probably the most radical of the changes proposed concerns the throw-in. The new rule permits the ball to be thrown in from out of bounds by almost any method, such as one-handed, instead of directly over the head with two hands, as before.

A second change would have the managers keep time and signify the end of the half and of the game by their whistles, instead of having the referee indicate the end of a period or the game. Other suggested changes would give the goalie more protection from concerted rushes and would provide for the infation of the ball at a pressure of not less than twelve pounds and not more than thirteen.

that Penn State doesn't possess a tall center (the Lions got the ball at the top-off three times against Temple), but still they make a creditable showing. Hunter, supplanting the towering Henning who was long on height and short on floor work, will develop into a valuable man with this season of experience. And Riley has been doing commendable work in relief.

Noteworthy, too, is the recent shift to the so-called western type of play, where an occasional long shot keeps the opposition on their toes. Recent Penn State teams have been concentrating on getting in close for a pot-shot at the basket, but this year's five is varying this system with pretty good results. Mix-em-up is a primary principle in sports. Leslie must do his coaching on what material shows up and it seems a pretty good omen when three regulars are sophomores. And basketball is one sport in which coaches seldom proselytize.

51 Teams To Compete In Basketball Tourney

Approximately fifty-one fraternity basketball teams have registered for the annual intramural tourney scheduled to begin sometime this week, according to William M. Scott '36, in charge of the tournament.

Contrary to previous announcement, the finals will not be played for several months, as the unusual size of the schedule and the limited opportunity to secure the gymnasium every night will lengthen the tournament.

Nittany Basketeers To Play W. Maryland Here at 7 Tomorrow

By CHARLIE SCHWARTZ

The Lion courtmen ought not to have much trouble tomorrow night in raising the 500 average which they now have, when they meet a comparatively weak Western Maryland quintet. The game is set for 7 o'clock in Recreation hall. The Green Terrors, here in the seventh encounter of the two teams, have an unimpressive record so far this season.

Spike Leslie's henchmen gave a haphazard exhibition of play on Saturday night in topping the Juniata College passers, 32-22. The Indians had the Leslie system doped out right and managed to stop a number of scoring plays by playing a zone defense.

The Huntingdon collegians held the Lions to the lowest score they have turned in this season in winning a game. Bill Scott, Juniata guard, turned in high score for the evening with ten tallies. Mike Kornick closely followed with nine, while Frank and Jimmie Smith each accounted for six. Captain Johnny Stocker began to re-find himself and accounted for a basket and three fouls. Glennon, McWilliams, and Hunter each dropped in net swishers.

Coach Leslie used two complete teams against the Indians, starting Stocker, Jim Smith, Hunter, Kornick, and Frank Smith, and replacing them with Riley, Fletcher, Glennon, McWilliams and Linton. Johnny Stocker injured his left hand when fouled by Matlack late in the first half and retired from the game. However, it is not believed the injury is serious enough to keep him out of action tomorrow night.

If history repeats itself, the Lions should triumph tomorrow night by a score of about 40-20. In the past, every game of which has been played in Recreation hall, the Lions have not scored less than forty points against the Terrors, while the Havensmen have not retaliated with more than twenty-two. Last year the Green and Gold were Maryland State champions, but that won't cut much ice here in Pennsylvania. The series between the two teams began back in 1928 and has continued every year with the exception of last year.

IM Fight Finals Open Tomorrow

'35 Matmen Win Interclass Meet With 24 Points

Well - Balanced Frosh Team Gains Second In Tournament.

Scoring twenty-four points, the seniors, as expected, won the interclass wrestling tournament Saturday, but the fine showing of a well-balanced freshman team which took second place with six points was the feature of the contest. It was the first time in 3 years that freshman were able to score. Junior representatives had four points and sophomores three.

Dirito scored first for the seniors in the 118-pound class, throwing Stegmaier, freshman representative, in five minutes thirty-nine seconds. Several upsets came in the 125-pound division when Clark, a junior, won a close time advantage over Don Ross, senior, and then lost to Reynolds, a freshman, who had more than a seven minute advantage.

Light took the 135-pound title for the juniors by defeating Zuzzi, another freshman, by a time advantage. Civitts defeated Waite, a junior, to win in the 145-pound class for the seniors. Bill Cramer gave the seniors another triumph in the 155-pound division, winning by a fall from Dutcher, a sophomore.

A peculiar situation developed in the 165 and 175-pound classes. On one mat 'Red' Johnston, senior intercollegiate champion, was having little trouble with his opponent, and he and referee 'Chuck' Eisenman spent most of their time watching the other mat where their brothers, Bob Johnston and Dick Eisenman were battling for supremacy in the 175-pound division. The latter, a sophomore, was the winner with a time advantage of only one minute eighteen seconds.

In the unlimited class the seniors were again victors with Yoder defeating O'Dovd by a time advantage.

In winning, the seniors scored wins in three classes by falls and in two by time advantages. They qualified three men. The freshmen won by time in one class and qualified three. Juniors had one winner and one losing finalist, while the sophomores had one winner.

She-Lions

Not much progress was made last week in intramural basketball. Kappa Kappa Gamma defeated Chi Omega, 17-to-14, thereby removing that team from its position as a contender for the championship of the blue team.

The Kappas cannot be considered a serious threat to the Theta supremacy since they have already been badly defeated by the Stone House sextet. Delta Gamma's coming game with Gamma Phi Beta will not endanger their lead on the white team.

Scheduled games are: Tuesday, Armory, 9:15 Alpha Chi Omega vs. Kappa Alpha Theta; Alpha Omicron Pi vs. Woman's Building; Wednesday, Armory, 7:15 Alpha Chi Omega vs. Down Town Girls; Kappa Kappa Gamma vs. Mac hall; Phi Mu vs. Woman's Building; Grange vs. Theta Phi Alpha

Tonight at a W. A. A. board meeting, the head manager of baseball for next spring's season will be elected. All women who wish to be candidates for this position are urged to sign up in Mac hall lobby before this evening.

Rifle matches will start the first Friday after the next semester opens. The ten high scorers and two alternates will be chosen after each Tuesday and Thursday practice to compete in the weekly matches with the men's teams.

Practices have been progressing in the Armory since before Christmas. Jerry Jennison, maintaining her record of last season, has been the most consistent high scorer, and Kitty Wagner and Selena Wunderlich are also making good records. Among the freshmen, Dotty Bollinger and Bobby Diehl have made marked progress.
