Bill Cramer Acclaimed As Versatile Wrestler By 2 Mat Authorities

Cann, Spitzer Commend Varsity Grappler After Seeing Him in Action.

Bill Cramer, varsity 155-pound wrestler, was highly commended by two of the leading authorities on wrestling in America. Both W. E. Cann, referee of the Miami meet, and Paul Spitzer, referee at the Columbia meet, were enthusiastic in their acclaim of Cramer.

During the Miami meet, Cann said that Cramer is the most versatile college wrestler he has ever seen. Cann was coach of the 1924 Olympic team in Paris; was trainer and advisor to the 1928 Olympic team, and is unquestionably the most popular referee in the East at the present time.

Following Cramer's bout Saturday against Britz of Columbia, Paul Spitzer termed the bout as the most fascinating one he had ever seen. Spitzer is the chairman of the wrestling committee of the New York A. C. and vice-chairman of the wrestling Olympics.

Spitzer said, "I can honestly say that Cramer is one of the best wrestlers I have ever seen. In those ten minutes he tried practically every trick in the catalogue, and there wasn't an instance that he wasn't the complete master of the situation."

"The only possible criticism that I could make of Cramer is that he occasionally did not carry holds to their completion. For example, I believe that he could have thrown Britz when he had that 'cradle' on him if he had not become dissatisfied when it didn't seem to work perfectly, and switched to another hold."

Cartmell, Ex-Track Coach Here, Is Named Assistant Cinder Tutor at Princeton

Expected To Replace Earl Martineau, Tiger Backfield Mentor; Resigned Here May 14, 1933 After Meet.

By FRED W. WRIGHT, Sports Editor

The long-debated question of what assistant for the past two years, but who has not signed a contract for the coming grid season as yet.

Cartmell resigned as track coach here after a reported squabble with Hugo Bezdek, Director of Physical Education, over matters concerning what he should and should not do. Student sentiment at the time was overwhelmingly in Cartmell's favor, but after the affair died down most persons in the know were agreed that Cartmell "had it coming to him."

The first indication that Cartmell would soon tie up with Princeton came two weeks ago when he attended a national track conference, his first step out of sports retirement, except for occasional visits here for football games last fall.

Hamas Sails For Schmeling Bout

Arrangements Completed For Title Fight in Hamburg, Germany, March 10.

By JOHNNY MILLER

Steve Hamas left New York yesterday on the S. S. Washington for Hamburg, Germany, for his return bout with Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight champion, on March 10. The former Lion athlete was accompanied by Charley Harvey, his manager, and a trainer.

The last obstacle in the preparations for the fight was overcome when Walter Rothenburg, German fight promoter, posted $22,500 in a Paris bank and forwarded Hamas an additional $2,500 as a retainer. Preparations have also been completed for furnishing Steve's training quarters with forest paths for road work, with a golf course, and with tennis courts.

Because of the fact that no hall was large enough in Hamburg to seat the crowd expected for the fight, a new building, Hansatic Hall, is being constructed at the present time. It will have a seating capacity of 24,045 with standing room for 1,200 others. The admission scale for the bout will range between four and a half marks to twenty-five marks ($1.50 to $10.00), Rothenburg announced.

Because of the growing interest in boxing in Europe, Rothenburg has been negotiating with Ancl Hoffman, manager of Max Baer, to stage the championship bout in Vienna. A few days ago Hoffman was cabled an offer of $175,000 to bring the champion and his challenger to the Austrian capital.

Freshmen Cagers To Play Wyoming

Lion Yearlings Will Encounter Old Rivals on Home Floor Tomorrow Afternoon

Endeavoring to stage a comeback after its close defeat by Brown Prep, the freshman basketball team will meet Wyoming Seminary here at Recreation hall at 2:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The probable starting line-up: Miehoff and Katz, forwards; Reichenbach, center; and Proksa and Crossin, guards. Wear, Snook, Yoder, and Maltkams will also see action.

Both Penn State and Wyoming Seminary suffered defeats by Brown Prep in their opening games, but the Lion cubs are expected to repeat their victory of last year which was their first victory over the Seminary team since the beginning of the series.

Glennland Swimmers To Oppose Altoona 'Y'

The Altoona Y. M. C. A. swimming team will provide opposition for the Glennland A. C. team tonight at 7:30 in the Glennland pool. This is the second meet of the season for Glennland, which lost, 35-27, to Wilkes-Barre on Jan. 18.

The swimmers in the various races are: 50 yd.—Geiger, Keech, Wise, Harper, Walker, and Burleigh. 100 yd.—Dern, Helzeigel, Henderson. 220 yd.—Cumming, Dewalt. Back stroke—Lesko, Geiger, Burleigh. Breast stroke—Anderson, Lesko, Burleigh. Relay—Walker, Geiger, Dern, Keech. Diving men have not yet been chosen.

Women Plan Tourneys

Arrangements are being completed by the Women's Athletic association for an interclass basketball tournament to be played in the near future. Other women's athletic tourneys planned will include intramural volleyball, bad-minton, deck tennis, and shuffleboard.

Three famed grid coaches will officiate at Texas Tech's coaching school at Lubbock, Texas: Bernie Bierman, of the University of Minnesota, Frank Thomas, of the University of Alabama and Dana X. Bible, of the University of Nebraska.

Matmen Unsure Of Cornell Team

Ithacan Strength Still a Secret As Lion Wrestlers Leave For Annual Meet.

By VANCE PACKARD

The Penn State wrestling team has not the vaguest inkling of what it will bump into when it meets the Cornell team tomorrow afternoon.

It is not a question of whether Cornell is dangerous or not—Cornell is always dangerous. Cornell is the one team in all of the Eastern United States that has consistently been a threat to the Lions. Last year the meet ended in a 16-to-16 deadlock. This year the Cornell team has been going in spurts; consequently the Spieldmen are doing some painful wondering.

Cornell started off the season by overwhelming the last year's New England champions, Springfield, with a score of 23-to-11. Last week, however, they struck a snag and were nosed out by a supposedly weak Syracuse team to the tune of 13½-to-12½.

Only 5 Positions Certain

Whether this unexpected defeat was caused by a sudden showing of strength on the part of Syracuse, or whether it was caused by impotency on the part of Cornell is the problem that is worrying Capt. Johnson & Co. as they start their trek to Ithaca. According to Mgr. Mel Fox, the Lions will arrive at Ithaca in time for a short work-out this afternoon.

Only five men, Johnston, Cramer, Light, Wolfson, and Yoder are sure of making the trip. The representatives in the 125, 145, and heavy-weight classes are still undecided.

Sammy Wolfson's performance last Saturday against Columbia put him very firmly on top of the 118-pound heap. Sammy will have to show even more than his usual prowess if he hopes to survive Shallenberger of Cornell, who threw both his Springfield and Syracuse opponents in short order.

Waite May Wrestle

State's 125-pound wrestler is still very much in the fire. In the eliminations Scammy DiRito still looks like the best bet in the class. However, Scammy seems to have a habit of crumpling under the strain of meet competition; so that Don Ross may get the call. The Cornell representative will be either Bernstein or Nathan. And if it is Nathan—woe unto the Lion that has to meet him!

Either Floros or Weisheit, of Cornell, should give Jack Light a fairly good work-out in the 135-pound class. The 145-pounder is not yet picked. Civitts seemed to be the best in the eliminations, but Dick Waite, husky junior, may get the nod.

Both Cornell's and State's strength is concentrated in the 155 and 165-pound classes, and some really talented torso-twisting should ensue. Bill Cramer and Capt. Red Johnston will meet Capt. Shoemaker and Brownell, respectively.

Ray Yoder, 175- (one hundred and seventy-five) pounder will meet either Wilbur or Widner of Cornell. Either Dick Eisenman or Joe O'Dowd will meet George in the heavy-weight class.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin basketball rivalry is the oldest in the Big Ten.

Cutter-Richter Fuss Highlight Of Ring Card

Nittany Courtmen Bow To St. Thomas by Two Points.

Navy will play host to two Penn State sports teams Saturday, meeting the boxers in the afternoon and the basketball team in the evening. Both teams will leave State College at noon today.

By HARRY HENDERSON

Once again seeking to gain its first victory over the Navy boxers, the Lion boxing team left this morning for Annapolis where they will fight the Midshipmen tomorrow night. The entire State line-up has not yet been selected by Coach Leo Houck as we go to press but it is probable that Izzy Richter, State's bid for the heavy-weight intercollegiate crown, will be fighting Slade Cutter, who has yet to lose an intercollegiate bout, and who knocked out his opponent from the University of Virginia last week in thirty-eight seconds.

The big fight of the evening will be the Cutter-Richter go since Cutter is, according to Spike Webb, Navy coach, the best fighter in the intercollegiate field, while Richter was a national A. A. U. heavyweight champ in 1933. Cutter will have considerable advantage over Izzy in weight but Richter should make up for that in skill and speed. Webb, who once handled Tunney, says Cutter has more on the ball than Tunney ever did.

Ritzie To Fight At 155

Russ Criswell, Lion intercollegiate champ in the 115 pound class, will probably be fighting in that weight for the first time this season. Francis McAndrews, has been shifted up to the 125 pound class and Captain Mike Zeleznoek to the 135 pound class in an attempt to bolster up the strength of the lighter weights, especially the 135 pound class which has been a weak spot in the State team all year.

Lou Ritzie will be filling the 155 pound post for State. Lou has developed into one of the best boxers and consistent fighters in Coach Leo Houck's stable. He will fight Armigo, one of Navy's best men. The positions in the 165 and 175 pound classes were still to be filled with Leo having to choose between Rhoda, Freddie O'Neil, and Sawehak. Frankie Goodman, State's 145 pounder in the last three bouts, will probably see service against Midshipman Conkey.

By CHARLIE SCHWARTZ

If the Lions expect to make any sort of a showing at Annapolis tomorrow night they must bottle up one man and bottle him up tight! That man is "Colonel" Fred (Buzz) Berries, super-dreadnaught of Navy's powerful quintet. Responsible for most of his team's points this year, Berries captains the Middies and plays center.

As for the other four men—"Dusty" Dornin and Ruge, forwards; and Mandelkorn and Fellows, guards—they are no slouches either. Navy has only been stopped twice this year: by North Carolina and N. Y. U. Army defeated North Carolina, and the Lions took Army's count, but I predict Navy to win tomorrow night by at least fifteen points, probably about 43-28.

A fighting, fast-breaking, growling Lion quintet didn't growl quite loud enough Wednesday night, going down to defeat before a well-balanced St. Thomas team in the final minute of play, 39-37.

Government Volumes Given College Library

Three current volumes relating to Pennsylvania government have been received by the College library. The volumes include "A Survey of the Government of Pennsylvania," "The Preliminary Report of the State Planning Board" and "Unemployment Relief in Pennsylvania." All of these publications will be available for consultation at the charging desk of the library.

State legislature and contains the results of a thorough study of all departments of the State government and of all organizations which receive state financial aid or support and includes committee recommendations. The report of the planning board includes the findings and recommendations for the future welfare of the State's population, while the third publication is the second report of the director of the State Emergency Relief Board.

Prof. Paul A. Witty, of Northwestern University, has conducted experiments which have proven that genius is possessed by girls as often as by boys.
