Industrial Enrollment Increased, Keller Says

The engineering extension department is now conducting one of the most extensive programs of industrial training that it has ever carried on, according to Prof. Edward L. Keller of that department.

In Erie 227 supervisors and foremen are enrolled in a twenty-week course dealing with various phases of industry and leadership. In Lancaster three local industries have more than sixty of their supervisors enrolled in a course in industrial psychology taught by Dr. Bruce V. Moore and Dr. Robert G. Bernreuter, of the department of education and psychology.

The Mississippi State College for Women is the oldest state-supported women's college in America, and it is now in its 50th year.

Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr Described as 'Most Brilliant Mind Among Student Leaders'

Interviewed by mail by members of the P. S. C. A. committee in charge of arrangements for Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr's talks here this week-end, many prominent educators and leaders of student thought in the east had words of high recommendation for the Union Theological Seminary professor, who is scheduled to address four meetings in Schwab auditorium tomorrow and Sunday.

Dr. Henry 'Pitt' Van Dusen, Dean of Students at Union, who has spoken here often, said, "Reinhold Niebuhr is probably the most brilliant and able minded among the younger leaders of the church in this country today. He is an authority not only in the field of religion, but hardly less in politics and economics. His most important books, 'Moral Man and Immoral Society,' and 'Reflections on the End of an Era,' have had a very wide reading and great influence, not only in this country but abroad."

Continuing, Dr. Van Dusen said, "Although his is a brilliant intellect, and his addresses are always stimulating and challenging to the most mature minds, he has kept in touch with college students throughout his career. He is, without question, one of the two or three men most sought after as a speaker to university audiences."

Committee Choice Praised

Congratulatory words for the committee in choosing Dr. Niebuhr to talk to students here came from Dr. George S. Counts, Director of the International Institute, of Columbia University Teachers' College, in New York City, who said, "Let me congratulate you on your selection of Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr to address your student mass meetings. You could not have made a better selection. He is one of the most courageous and best informed men in the field of education, and speaks with great power and conviction."

Prof. Paul M. Lambert, also of Columbia University Teachers' College, asked to be quoted as follows: "Reinhold Niebuhr is one of the major prophets of our day. I go to hear him speak on every possible occasion. There is probably no writer or speaker on social and religious problems who has a greater influence with really thoughtful students in America today than Reinhold Niebuhr."

Dr. Henry Crane, who visited Penn State last year, said, when asked his opinion of Dr. Niebuhr's work, "Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr is, in my opinion, one of the most able Christian leaders in my generation, combining as he does the rational clarity of an utterly honest and fearless thinker and the religious passion of the truest kind of prophet. He is our best example of the most needed combination of social engineer and spiritual pioneer. And best of all, he is a magnificent friend."

Others Compliment Niebuhr

In addition to these messages to the committee in charge here, many leaders of thought in this country have spoken highly of Dr. Niebuhr. Norman Thomas, leader of the Socialist party in this country, said of him recently, "Dr. Niebuhr has one of the most stimulating minds, and one of the purest purposes in America. We need him and his guidance," while speaking of Dr. Niebuhr's book, "Moral Man and Immoral Society," Sherwood Eddy, world traveller and famous speaker, who visited the campus two years ago, said, "It was to me an epoch making book in its relentless realism, in ruthlessly destroying the sentimental delusions of the old easy liberalism. It is the most helpful and stimulating book I have read in a decade."

Dr. Niebuhr, who will arrive in State College tomorrow morning, will address four student meetings in Schwab auditorium, and a faculty meeting and luncheon in Old Main. Convocation for the student meetings will be held in the auditorium at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, while the faculty meeting will be held at the Sandwich Shop immediately afterward. He will continue his series at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night, 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and 7:30 o'clock Sunday night in the auditorium.
