Board Offers Borough $100 For Repaving

Donation Is Made for Damage Caused In Student Riot.

Borough Council To Act On Offer Monday Night

A donation of $100 to be taken from the inter-class treasury will be offered to the Borough of State College for the damage to the paving at Co-op Corner during the student bonfire and riot last Alumni Homecoming Day, according to instructions to the secretary of Student Board at their last meeting.

The secretary was instructed to make this offer in a letter to the Borough Council, and it is expected that action will be taken on the letter by the Council at their next regular meeting on Monday night. The inter-class treasury receives its monies from class dues and profits on class functions.

Borough Estimate Was $203. According to members of Student Board, the College by offering this amount does not take responsibility for students' actions. It will be emphasized that the $100 is simply a donation, made to maintain good-will between the student body and the Borough.

The original estimate for repairs to the road, made by Borough Engineer Denithorne, was for $203. Student Board felt this to be high and appointed Richard A. Sigel '35 to try to reach a compromise satisfactory to both parties.

$100 Believed Fair Offer. For some time it was thought that the State Highway Department would repair the road, which is a state road, because of a bulge left there when the extension of Allen street up the campus was cut out. However, no satisfactory promise could be secured and this idea had to be forgotten. The letter to the Borough Council will maintain that $100 is a fair offer because of the age of the pavement, which was laid fifteen years ago, and because of its condition before the fire.

Forensic Council Fee To Continue

Student Board Decides Against Cut After Inspection Of Finance Statement.

As the result of a recent Student Board decision not to curtail the activities of Forensic Council next year, the fifty-cent fee paid by each student for such activities will remain the same during the next College year.

The question of reducing the debating fee arose in Student Board last fall but did not reach a head until recently. The Board requested a financial statement from Forensic Council and upon receiving it decided not to make any recommendations to the student body that the fee be reduced. The decision would have to be by vote of the student body in the spring elections.

The financial report, covering the first semester, lists total expenditures of $769.85 from a bank balance of $988.58 at the start of the semester. The bank balance was made up of $750 in student debate fees, and $13.85 returned from two trips of last year, plus a balance of $224.73 from the last College year.

The largest single expenditures were $341.67 for trips and an $85.50 guarantee for Oxford University in the International Debate. The total received from the student fee ranges from $1,800 to $2,000 a year. Because of the time of the debate season the expenditures for the second semester are considerably higher than for the first semester, accounting for the seemingly low total expenditures for the first semester.

Budapest String Quartet To Play Here After Long Australian Tour

The Budapest String Quartet, which will appear in Schwab auditorium Thursday night, March 7, at 8 o'clock as the fourth regular number on the Artists' Course series of eight concerts, has played more than 800 programs during the last ten years.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased at the Athletic Office window, Old Main, at seventy-five cents each by those who do not have season tickets.

Members of the quartet are Josef Roismann, first violinist, Alexander Schneider, second violinist, Stephan Ipolyi, violist, and Mischa Schneider, cellist. The men have devoted themselves exclusively to the playing of quartets and the music of their perfectly matched instruments is said to produce the effect of one single sonority.

The quartet was founded during the war and is making its fifth tour in America this season. After a series of concerts in the United States last year, the quartet crossed Europe from Norway to Italy, and visited

Correction

The bacteria count per c. c. of the milk of Roy Strouse is 1,935 and not 14,600 as published in the last issue of the COLLEGIAN. This puts Mr. Strouse's milk at the top of the list as having the lowest bacteria count average for the year of all the State College milk dealers.

Editorials of Hearst Declared Fascist Propaganda by Hensen

"It is putting it far too mildly to say that the editorials of William Randolph Hearst concerning communist propaganda in this country are extravagant Fascist propaganda," Francis A. Hensen, general secretary of the International Student Service, declared in an interview on Wednesday night. Upon being informed that an anonymous professor here had suggested the possibility of a libel suit against the COLLEGIAN because of an editorial condemning Hearst and McFadden, Hensen said that there was no possibility of such action being taken.

Bills which have been introduced in the New York and other state legislatures by the Hearst machine were cited by Hensen as examples of the Fascism which they are propagandizing. These acts which require teachers and students in all schools and colleges to take certain oaths of allegiance would, in effect, prevent anyone with socialistic leanings from attending or teaching in any schools or universities, he said.

In his speech, "Will the New Deal Lead to Fascism?" Hensen declared that this country is at an economic crisis and must soon choose between Fascism and Socialism. One or the other of these must eventually domi-

Glee Clubs Plans Near Completion

Combined Singing Organizations Will Hold Music Festival Here on March 11.

Final plans are nearing completion for the presentation of the combined glee clubs festival to be held in Schwab auditorium Monday night, March 11. Invitations have been sent by Director Richard W. Grant, of the department of music to Union College of Schenectady, winner of the New York State contest, and to the winner of the New England contest. Since the New England tourney is to be held during the first week in March in Portland, Maine, the identity of the winner will not be known until just before the concert here.

The program will consist of a group of compositions, one by each club as separate units and will include solos, quartets, and special numbers. Each club will total about thirty-five men and the finale of the evening will offer the combined clubs singing two prize songs prepared for the Eastern Intercollegiate to be held in Pittsburgh, Tuesday, March 12. Each club will also sing their favorite college songs.

A feature of the event will be the opportunity offered spectators to judge the respective merits of each glee club and to choose a probable winner for the following evening's competition.

College To Inaugurate Astronomical Course

Beginning during the summer session term a three credit course in astronomy will be offered students; it was announced by officials of the Astronomical Society. If student enrollment warrants sufficient demand for continuing the course, it will be added to the regular curriculum as an elective in the fall.

Taking into its scope the nature of the heavenly bodies, the course will entail observation of the bodies, the use of astronomical instruments, and the building of telescopes. Prof. Henry L. Yeagley, of the department of physics, will teach the course.

I. M. Board Invokes New Eligibility Ruling

Intramural Board took action Tuesday to make it impossible for students who have participated in any intercollegiate sports to take part in intramurals. This includes both the members of the varsity and of freshmen teams.

In explaining the new ruling, Donald B. Ross '35, president of the board, said that previously the matter had been left up to the discretion of the various coaches. He pointed out that under that system, members of the freshmen football, basketball, track, and cross-country teams have been automatically disqualified by the coaches, while members of other freshmen teams, such as boxing and wrestling, have been able to participate.

However, this ruling will not go into effect until next year. At the meeting, it was also suggested that besides giving a cup to the winning team in an intramural tournament, the board should also give a plaque to the second place winner. However, this resolution was not definitely accepted at Tuesday's meeting.

I. C. Finance Committee Allows Extra $200 For Affair

Oriental Motif Chosen As Decoration Theme

Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra were signed yesterday to play for the 1935 Junior Prom on May 3, according to Robert H. Small '36, chairman of the Prom committee, after the orchestra was approved by the Interclass Finance committee Monday afternoon.

The committee has granted an expenditure of $1,400 for the orchestra, contrary to the usual apportionment of $1,100 for junior class dances. The price of admission has been set at $4 per couple, tax included. Since with last year's comp list cut, the number of complimentary tickets for the affair has been reduced from 146 to 100.

14 Named To Committee

Members of the dance committee are: Robert H. Small, chairman; Richard H. Allen, Eugene J. Ambrogio, Charles E. Annatt, Daniel L. Backenstose, Janet M. Beman, Melvin D. Bennett, Margaret M. Campbell, Joseph M. Gallagher, Stanley H. Gallowsky, Louis P. Hoyer Jr., Morton H. Kagen, Edward Lewis, Michael M. Minor, and Leo H. Morrow.

This is the first time this year that the Casa Loma orchestra has appeared on any college campus. In addition to the nationally known fourteen-piece band, Glen Gray will feature "Pee Wee" Hunt and Kenny Saragant as vocalists. The orchestra has been playing at the Essex House in New York City for some time, and is at present a radio feature on Tuesday and Thursday nights over WABC and affiliated stations of the Columbia network.

Played Here Last '33

Glen Gray has been on this campus before. In 1933, he played for Interfraternity Ball. The orchestra includes four saxophone players who double on clarinet; two trombone and three trumpet players, one who doubles on trombone; the guitar player, who arranges some of the orchestra's music; pianist; violinist; bass violist, who doubles on violin; and the trap drummer, who also assists in the arrangements. Most of the members of the orchestra can double on one or more instruments. He was also here in 1932.

"Glen Gray has the most distinctive band in the country," said Prof. Hummel Fishburn, of the department of music education. "All of the members are outstanding technicians on their instruments. They mingle hot jazz with smooth dance rhythm, and they do both well. Their dance arrangements have given them a style that can be recognized anywhere. I think the band is consistently the best in the business, and has been for several years."

Decorations will follow a lavish oriental theme, using colored ceiling lights. The scenery, which will be erected by a well-known Philadelphia decorating concern, is more expensive than sets used at any other dance of the year, according to Chairman Small.
