Orphan Crow Found On Windswept Steps In Wee Small Hours

The lost-and-found department of the Campus Patrol was stumped last Saturday morning. They run a bureau which finds articles that other people lose around the campus. They identify the article and put it in a pile somewhere until someone comes around to claim it. But the boys were stuck, because it was the first time anyone had left a baby crow in a cardboard box on Old Main steps.

The sluths got together and racked their brains, but even that didn't do much good. The directions in the book didn't cover baby crows. And then they figured it needed some bird seed or something, and a cage. But maintenance of lost-and-found articles isn't in the book either.

After consultation, they finally doped it out. The people over in the department of nature education know how to handle all kinds of articles like baby crows, which is a specialty with them. So the wait is on exhibition over at the department of nature education; and there are still a number of notebooks, pencils, texts, hats, and rubbers up in the patrol office, Room 321, Old Main.

'Ladies of the Jury' Dress Rehearsal Set For Thursday Night

"Chief Yougel, can you spare a spitoon?"

State College's lone gendarme can expect such a request next week when Elizabeth Balderston '37, property manager for the next Players' production, "Ladies of the Jury," begins a last intensive search for props.

"Ladies of the Jury," to be given March 30, has been the Waterloo of many an efficient property manager, according to Miss Balderston. After searching patiently for a spitoon in all the out-of-the-way places that she knew, Miss Balderston was told that the borough offices contained an excellent burnished brass creation.

The next most difficult prop, says Miss Balderston, is six steak dinners, steaming hot. These are only slightly harder than a lamb chop, a ukelele, a dozen striped jail pillows and sheets, two glasses of orange juice, a bunch of violets, and a wet towel.

Dress rehearsal for "Ladies of the Jury" has been tentatively set for next Thursday night by Prof. David D. Mason, of the department of romance languages. The technical staff is nearing the completion of the difficult set of the small New Jersey court room.

Lewis' Compilations Show 203,917 Books Loaned During 1934

The total Library circulation during the calendar year 1934 reached a figure of 203,917, according to statistics compiled by Librarian Willard P. Lewis, showing the various activities of the central Library and its branches during the year.

During this period, 9,592 books were accessioned and 1,301 books were withdrawn, while 1,085 volumes were catalogued. Books bound and mended numbered 4,191. There were 11,000 volumes placed on the reserve shelves.

Shelved in the library building and eight branch rooms were 215,002 books. Call slips handed over the circulation desk numbered 90,000 and catalogue cards filed numbered 21,956. Miscellaneous pamphlets received numbered 1,000, while 15,170 newspapers were checked in. Periodicals and continuations checked numbered 17,335.

Personal reserve notices numbering 14,500 were sent out and reference questions investigated in both general and periodical reference rooms numbered 16,756.

Rifle Team Will Enter National I. C. Matches

Ranking among the highest in rifle firing scores, the varsity rifle team will represent the Third Corps Area in the National Intercollegiate rifle matches sometime next month, it was learned today. Although the matches will not be held "shoulder to shoulder," the scores must be turned into headquarters for final recognition.

Prono, sitting, kneeling, and standing positions will be used in the contest. Three silver loving cups, which will be awarded by the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, will be in the possession of the winners for a period of one year.

Taylor '36 Wins Medal In Beaux Arts Contest

Charles C. Taylor '36, architectural student, has been awarded second medal in the annual competition sponsored by the national Beaux Arts Institute of Design and the Illuminating Engineering society. Taylor won fifth place nationally.

Taylor, who was coached by Prof. B. Kenneth Johnstone, of the department of architecture, is the first Penn State student ever to win an award in this competition. His prize winning design was of a bank interior.

Dear People who buy Arrow Shirts: Stop in and see them at: PAUL MITTEN.

An artist friend sends us this—

Dear people who make Arrow Shirts: I used to be known as the loneliest man on East 57th Street. Other fellows had dates with swell-looking girls. All I did was to draw pictures of them . . . Finally I discovered Arrow Mitoga shirts, S.S.* They looked great—they fitted great. As a result, look at me now up there in the picture. See that blonde clinging to my right arm, and that vision clutching my left. That'll give you just a rough idea of how I'm doing. And, my friends, I owe it all to Arrow Shirts.

Gratefully yours,

RUFELSON DATTERSON
