

Enrollment Increases

"Judging from the great increase in the enrollment for correspondence courses, in agriculture, the back-to-the-soil movement is very far reaching in its extent," said Prof. Thomas I. Mairs, of the agricultural extension service.

There are about 2,300 new students this year, many of them people living on subservient farms or those working in large cities and farming on the side, Professor Mairs indicated. He added that among those taking courses were a group of criminals from the new Eastern State Penitentiary at Graterford.

Student Union Bulletins

TODAY
Student Tribunal will meet in 318 Old Main at 7:30 o'clock.

TOMORROW
Fraternity eaters will meet in 405 Old Main at 7:30 o'clock.

The Student Slavonic Society will meet in 417 Old Main at 7 o'clock.

Alpha Phi Omega will meet in 407 Old Main at 7:30 o'clock.

Christian Science meeting in 410 Old Main at 7:30 o'clock.

The semi-final matches in the Interfraternity Bridge tournament will be run off at the Nittany Lion Inn tonight at 8 o'clock.

THURSDAY
The varsity debating team will meet a team representing Seton Hill College on the subject of co-education in Home Economics auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

The annual Centre county fisherman's dinner will be held in the Old Main Sandwich Shop at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

The Penn State Club will meet in 418 Old Main at 7 o'clock.

The Penn State Grange will meet in 417 Old Main at 7 o'clock.

CLASSIFIED

FOR RENT—Single or double room, also garage. Phone. 295-M. 625

WANTED—Ride to Philadelphia Friday, April 5. Return Sunday. Call Smith, 203-M. 58-1tpdDW North Allen street. 55-21np CM.

WANTED—Ride to New York City and return, if possible, for Easter vacation. At driver's convenience. Call William Hothan at 670. 56-1tpdCM.

FOR RENT—Large front room, single beds. One-half block from campus. Also board. 130 Heister street. Phone 591-J. 57-1tpdCM.

LOST—Black Wallet containing driver's license and $10 check and other valuable cards. Reward. Call Way, at 37-R. 59-1tpdWHS.

'Europe Ahead of U.S. In Diesel Engine Use,' Schweitzer Declares

"In the use of Diesel engines for transportation, Europe is far ahead of America," said Dr. Paul H. Schweitzer, associate professor of engineering research, in an interview recently on his trip to Europe.

"Germany, alone," he continued, "has produced more than 20,000 Diesel trucks in the last year. In heavier transport vehicles, the Diesel engine is being used almost exclusively in Germany, France, and England. The chief advantage of the Diesel engine is its two-thirds reduction on fuel expenditure, as compared with the gasoline engine."

Dr. Schweitzer visited the Zurich Institute of Technology at Zurich, Switzerland, which he classed as the most modern technical school in the world. All of the European universities, he pointed out, are giving a great deal of attention to domestic substitutes for fuels. The work, he said, is carried out with so much secrecy that he had difficulty in gaining admittance to the laboratories.

Among The Creeks

Alpha Chi Sigma: Phi Lambda Upsilon held their spring election smoker at the house on Thursday night.

Beta Sigma Rho: Rabbi Davidson, Wilkes-Barre, was the speaker at the Judea Club meeting on Sunday night.

Kappa Sigma: Irvin L. Katherman '37 was pledged recently. The chapter donated a radio to the health service department of the College last week.

Phi Mu Delta: Newly elected officers were installed on Sunday night.

Phi Sigma Delta: Benjamin Zukor '35, a brother from the Western Reserve College chapter, visited on Friday and Saturday.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon: The initiation of twenty men on Sunday was attended by three province officers. A formal banquet followed.

Sigma Tau Phi: Newly elected officers were installed on Sunday night.

Theta Chi: Frederick W. Ladue, national president, will be present for the celebration of Founders' Day on April 6 and 7.

FOOTLIGHTS

"Ladies of the Jury," a play in three acts by Fred Ballard, presented in Schwab auditorium Saturday night by the Penn State Players under the direction of David D. Mason, with the following cast:

Rutherford Dale	Donald Dickinson
Halsey Van Styne	Lucas Brightman
Judge Fish	Israel Shulman
Lily Pratt	Harriet Bartges
Clerk of the Court	Edwin Kiser
Court Reporter	Gretchen Marquardt
Mrs. Livingston Baldwin Crane	Mary Louise Frear
Susanne	Alma Doran
Tony Theodophulus	Irvin Tersuhow
Yvette Yvet Gordon	Beatrice Conford
Dr. Quincy Adams James, Jr.	John Linton
Evelyn Snow	Betty Welles
Art Dobbs	Henry Brown
Mayme Mixer	Doris Sanford
Steve Bromm	Al Schwadron
Cynthia Tate	Betty Nichols
Mrs. Dixie Dace	Jean Woodruff
Jay J. Pressley	Harry Reed
Spencer B. Dazey	Isadore Levin
Alonzo Beal	Charles Robbins
Andrew McKaig	John Turner
Mrs. Maguire	Nelle Gravatt

If author Fred Ballard had, as was his much-publicized intention, visited the Penn State Players production of "Ladies of the Jury" here Saturday night, he would undoubtedly have been much pleased by a deftly adequate production of what even he must realize is a pretty weak play—one bearing all the stereotyped earmarks of 'amateur theatricals,' as producible by 'church groups, high school societies, and college organizations, for fun and profit.'

The Players, under the direction of Mr. Mason, did an excellent job of presenting the effort. Their work amused us most of the time, and actually held our attention, from an emotional point of view, a bit of the time. Aside from a little dirty work between the curtain and lights, which didn't seem able to get together, the play was well staged, and the technical end of matters handled smoothly.

Playwrights talk much nowadays, and most disparagingly, of "stock" characters. Mr. Ballard, however, in writing this little opus (which has, significantly enough, been produced at over fifty colleges), has drawn them all; neatly, efficiently he has designated the stereotype for each person—so well that names were really not needed. The society matron (Mrs. Livingston Baldwin Crane), the Smooth Lawyer (Halsey Van Styne), the Earnest Young Lawyer (Rutherford Dale), the Loving Young Couple (Cynthia Tate and her poetic Alonzo Beal), the Tough Baby (Tony Theodophulus), and the Comic Reliefs (Mrs. Maguire and Andrew McKaig), were all much present. So much present the local players, nothing could individualize the characters—they were labels and, with two exceptions, no more.

closes on the first act it is all too obvious that Miss Frear's character will win out. When the curtain swings shut on the last act, the audience says, "that's nice," and leaves.

It is unfortunate that Mr. Mason, in returning to work with the Players, could not have had something a little more open to real directing than "Ladies of the Jury." His work in direction had little chance to get into the spotlight—we could only feel it, nudging the silly plot along, carefully keeping the "this is an amateur play" idea as much suppressed as possible. We sincerely hope that he shall have something more suitable to his abilities for his next production.

The Players' Orchestra, under the direction of Robert Bassett, performed as uniformly well as has been its custom. We particularly enjoyed their work with Bix Beiderbecke's "In A Mist."

We doubt if "Ladies of the Jury" has been better produced and better acted by amateurs than it was Saturday night. We wish Mr. Ballard might have been among those to see it. But that his presence would have led to no cries of "author, author," we are quite certain.—J. G.

Junior League To Vote

Officers for the Junior League of Women Voters, which is affiliated with the Leagues of Pennsylvania Women Voters and Philadelphia Women Voters, will be elected in the near future, according to Katherine B. Humphrey '35, president. The Junior League, recognized by the W. S. G. A. as a student activity, is subject to the point system.

5 Houses Still Remain In I.F. Bridge Tourney

Five houses remain in the Interfraternity Bridge tournament that reaches the semi-final round at the Nittany Lion Inn tomorrow night. Three of these five will be eliminated at that time, leaving the remaining two to struggle for the title at a later date.

The five that survived last Wednesday's round are: Delta Chi, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa Sigma, Pi Kappa Phi, and Tau Kappa Epsilon. All five were closely bunched throughout a long evening of play that threatened once to get out of the hands of Captain George M. MacMullen, assistant professor of military science and tactics, and Clyde H. Graves, of the department of mathematics, who directed the competition.

HONEY
Light and Dark
Comb or Extracted
+
Sold by the
HONEY BOY
Phone 442-J
Noon Hours or Nights.

OUR WHOLESOME BREAD

APPROVED BY THE
American Medical Association

MORNING-STAR BREAD

Wholesome Baking Products

"Good to the Last Crumb"

DELIVERED FRESH DAILY TO YOUR HOME OR FRATERNITY

Announcing . . .

SPECIAL SHOWING of FINE CUSTOM CLOTHES

Just in time for the coming season, we announce an event of the utmost importance to men who prefer having their clothing made to personality in measurement and taste.

An expert stylist and fitter will be in attendance on

TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2nd and 3rd

He comes direct from the tailoring plant where our custom made clothes are fashioned and he brings with him a remarkable selection of the very newest and finest woollens in distinctive and exclusive weaves and patterns.

This custom tailor will give you his personal attention and aid you in the selection of styling and fabric best suited to your personality.

Suits, topcoats and tropicals—custom tailored—made to your individual measurements at the popular prices of today.

Paul A. Mitter

MEN'S APPAREL
146 S. Allen St. State College, Pa.

I'm your best friend
I am your
Lucky Strike

- to anxiety - - - I bring relief
- to distress - - - I bring courage
- to achievement - - - I bring content
- to loneliness - - - I bring companionship

They Taste Better

LUCKIES USE ONLY THE CENTER LEAVES . . . CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDST SMOKE