her '35, Charles B. Keiser '36, Edwin J. Griffiths '36, Ira Sendroff '36, William H. Randall '37, and James P. Unangst '38.

Costumes, which according to D. Henry Porterfield, Thespian scenic director, strike a new high for color and originality, were designed by Mrs. Harney W. Stover, wife of "Dink" Stover, tennis coach. The costumes were executed under the direction of Miss Kay Dixon, of Gable's department store in Altoona, and Mary D'Olier '36 by a large staff of volunteer co-ed seamstresses.

The sudden illness of Ruth Everett '36 has caused her place to be filled by Helen J. Hinebaugh '35, who has danced in the choruses of "Old King Cole," "My Stars," and "Bargin' Around." Other members of the chorus, which has been going through its many routines for some time are: Sarah C. McKee '36, Jane M. O'Connell '35, Gwendolyn M. Rapp '35, Janet M. Beman '36, Althea L. Butt '36, Jean M. Kalar '36, Helen P. Rountree '36, Peggy I. Doherty '37, Mary L. Fenton '37, Lillian M. Graham '38, Shirley R. Helms '38, Ethel R. Mihalyi '38, Bernice Noar '38, Louise H. Sutton '38, and Virginia Swart '38.

"Sammy" McKee and Bruce Gilliard, a new dance team, replacing the team of Ralph Vance and Helen Whelan of "My Stars," will make their debut in "Don't Let On." Their solo routine in the closing scene of the show is one of the most colorful and graceful bits of dancing the Thespians have ever attempted.
